

Eight Uncles 1021

Chapter 1021 The Return of the Mammon

Zachary observed his surroundings. Ever since being trapped by Maria, he knew how the ghost trap worked. This was something easy for him! He continued to walk as if he did not realize something was wrong. Suddenly, a female spirit appeared under the same street light. Her face looked eerily pale under the light; if he looked up, he would see someone familiar!

"Zachary... Zachary!" She called out to him. He ignored her and continued to walk, even though he was in a loop. The spirit continued to follow him. As long as he did not look back, his three vital fires would be burning. The spirit was enraged at him for ignoring her. She came closer to him, and she purposely created some faint footstep sounds behind him. He still did not look back.

Can this spirit run fast like the other one? Or can she take my life away? If she can run fast, I'll lose some time if I kick her now. Then I have to spend the night cornering her. He had packed all the talismans along the way, and he spent the entire noon trying to catch her with the help of those talismans. The spirit could not immediately take his life as his energy was overwhelming. She stared at his back and pressed on his shoulder. He felt it, but he did not look back. He peeked and saw a pale hand with long manicured nails. He instantly grabbed her hand and threw her to the ground.

Before she could react, she was on the ground. And he pasted talismans all over her. She groaned as she was burned. "Ah!" He glanced at her and snorted, "You're pretty dumb." She yelled, "Zachary, how dare you treat me like this?"

He was stunned when he saw her face! It belonged to his mother! Wait, isn't Mommy in jail? When did she die here? He was distracted for a moment. After all, he was just a kid, and he did not know how to feel facing his mother's death. "Why are you here?" he asked.

She said, "Help me up." She sneered, "I haven't been seeing you for years. And you're capturing ghosts now!" He stared at her hand in silence. She changed her tone and said, "Zachary, I was so miserable. No one knew that I was dead. Why didn't you visit me?" She cried as she cried toward him; she was about to grab his pants.

The next moment, her hand was covered with a talisman, and Zachary stepped on her! "Ah!" she yelled again. He snorted, "You're smart, but not enough." This was not his mother. His mother would not call him by his name; sometimes she would even forget how to address him. Usually she would call him "Zac" in front of his grandparents. But when no one was around, she would only say, "Hey, come over here." The spirit was not her mother, as she called him by his full name.

Chapter 1022 The Cooperative Cat

Two children were walking on the village road. Some of the villagers thought they saw ghosts when they got up to use the toilet. They hurriedly ran back into their rooms. Lilly looked at Zachary with a straight face. He asked, "What's wrong?" And she said, "I felt that you'd changed, but I can't tell." He also felt that something changed inside him; his brain was functioning well, and he was so agile that he could not believe it. He wanted to capture more ghosts to practice now. He felt that he had no place to use his skills. "Oh, where did you get this black cat?" He looked at the cat in her arms. She said, "I picked it up on the way!"

He was speechless. Lilly had been picking up a lot of animals whenever she went out. It seemed like she shared fate with them.

The next day, Jonas and Quinnie would finish shooting, and they were planning to go back. This was an easy scene to shoot, but Lilly could not understand the script. "Why do they always write stories like this? Mommy also kept a lot of similar novels. Why can't they write something else?" She looked at the script and asked, "Why did the female lead always enter the wrong room?" And she asked, "Why was the powerful male lead always poisoned?" She continued to ask, "Why did the side characters always try to harm the female lead?"

Jonas had no idea. but it was what the audience liked. Quinnie was amused by her question, and she said, "People usually like tragedies instead of happy ones!" Lilly asked, "Why?"

Quinnie answered, "Maybe... If everything goes smoothly, it will be boring. People barely have patience to watch it." She then said, "But if someone appears to fight for the male lead with the female lead, everyone will hate her and have the motivation to wait for her bad ending!" And hence, the view would be high.

Lilly shook her head and said, "The adults are complicated." The children were easy; they could simply make up after the fights. Everyone could be friends, but they would be fighting against each other. Zachary asked, "When are we going back?" Quinnie said, "Actually, we are only left with one scene now." She continued to say, "The side character has to signal her smart cat to dash toward the female lead."

The original cat was pretty obedient; they could attract it toward the female lead with a stick. But somehow it ran away two days ago. They found several cats as backup, but none of them dared to dash toward Quinnie. "The entire shooting crew is trying to tame the cats!"

Chapter 1023 Surprisingly Helpful

"Three, two, one... action!" The cameras were surrounding Esper. I'm the King of Gray Earth. Why am I acting here? It looked at Quinnie, who was not far away. The supporting female lead felt somewhat nervous holding Esper. Why do I feel so nervous, as if I'm acting like a veteran? She just wanted to finish her work and go home to scroll through her phone. "Little cat, please be good!"

Yet, Esper did not move at all after some time. She could not see its face, but it was not happy. The director was in doubt too; Lilly told him that this cat could work, and he somehow agreed with her. "Erm..." Lilly said, "Please give me some time!" She rummaged through her bag and said, "Luckily, I still have it!" Bettany gave her a lot of snacks before she came out. And Bellflower's dried fish was nice, so she took a cat too. She ate half of it when she was on the way here. She ran to Esper's side and fed him the snack. "Esper, you can do it! It's all on you now!" Esper replied, "Do you think this dried fish can..." Lilly put two dried fish against its lips, and all it could smell were the fish. The smell was seducing him. He finished them and said, "I'll only do it this time." She patted it and said, "Yes. I'll be at the side; I'll feed you more if you want later!" She looked at him expectantly. Esper decided to do her a favor, as she would be the future Ruler of Hell. He was not influenced by the fish. Not at all.

"Action!"

The supporting role held Esper and said, "Cutie, can you see that woman? You have to pretend to be playing later. and then scratch her face for me!" Esper looked at Quinnie as if she were its prey. It then played on the grass. But it looked too fierce at that moment. So Lilly attracted him with the snack and said, "Esper, please jump around!" She said, "Can you see the butterflies? Catch them!" It looked at the snacks. Alright... He gave in and acted as instructed. And it dashed toward Quinnie when the butterflies flew away!

It looked fierce, and it startled Quinnie, but she thought, Finally, we can shoot this scene; I have to do well! She was about to pretend to fall to the side so that it would not look fake when they edited it. But she was somewhat frozen on the spot when Esper approached her! She saw its paw, and she was terrified! Her eyes widened, and Jonas hurriedly dashed toward her. And Esper was about to scratch her face.

Chapter 1024 Acting In Front of the Veteran

Quinnie was in a daze after the false alarm. She looked at the cat, but not Jonas first. His face darkened, and he was a little upset. She looks at the cat. Instead of me first? The supporting actor hurriedly took her phone out and took some photos of the two. Oh my god! They're becoming a real couple! I'll only take two pictures for my collection! Everyone looked at Jonas and Quinnie meaningfully. Quinnie was awkward, and she was worried that she would trouble Joan. She whispered, "Mr. Jonas, I'm sorry!" He replied, "Just like this?" Quinnie said, "Oh, thank you for saving me!"

She looked at him, worried that his fans might know about this. She tried to push him away. "Erm, Mr. Jonas?" And he simply said, "My legs are numb." Everyone beside them was packing up and pretending to be busy. But they were all paying attention to the two of them. Lilly squatted in a corner and looked at them excitedly. Pablo said, "You're just a kid; let's go." She clinched onto the stool and said, "I don't want to!"

Seeing Esper come back, she waved and said, "Great job! C'mon, I'll give you the dried fish!" She then said, "I only have some, but it's alright; you can follow me home and get more from my grandmother!" Esper kept a straight face and elegantly jumped into her arms. And he casually ate the snacks. She was happy; she hoped that she could attend all her uncles' weddings before she went to the underworld. Esper is a great help today!

Lilly was happy, but others were not. Jonas' schedule was leaked, and some of his fans followed him into the village. They climbed onto a tree, waiting to see him, although it was dangerous. They all saw him protecting Quinnie, and they were furious. And one of them snorted, "Who does she think she is? So what if she's getting popular? She's just a b*tch trying to seduce Jonas!" Another one said, "That's right, she could have reacted when the cat dashed to her just now!" The third one said, "Goddammit! She's so sly! Our innocent Jonas is played by her!" They would never allow Jonas to be with Quinnie!

They all dashed toward Jonas and Quinnie once they were out of the shooting location. "Jonas, you can't go with her! Come with us; we have rented a car for you!" Another fan said, "You're beyond everyone's reach; rubbish like you can't get near him! One of them purposely pushed her. She was not aware and almost sprained her ankle. Then the fans said, "Ah... I'm sorry, Ms. Quinnie, I didn't mean it. Please forgive me." She looked like she was about to cry, as if Quinnie was the one bullying her.

Chapter 1025 My Phone Has the Proof

Everyone was shocked by Quinnie's b*tchy act. But her expressions were so natural, as if she were really sorry. Everyone would feel sorry for her just by her look. Lilly asked, "Master, what strategy is this?" Pablo answered, "Don't learn it from her." But he said, "You may use it when it's necessary."

So, can I learn or not? When Lilly was wondering, the fans snorted, "You're doing it on purpose!" Another of them said, "You're disgusting for acting innocent! You're bullying us!" And the other fans said, "Wow, so what if you're a star?" One of them recorded her with her phone, as if the one recording must be correct. She thought that Quinnie would be scared to have a rumpus about her. But Quinnie continued to cry, "How could I be intentional? You did the same thing, but you didn't mean it?"

The fans turned and looked at Jonas. "Jonas, look at this b*tch!" Look at her true self! Jonas must be able to tell that she did it on purpose! Quinnie also looked at him and said, "Jo, you'll believe me, right?" And she tried to act tough. Jonas was speechless. He was about to ask his assistant to chase these fans away, but now he was stunned by Quinnie's act. Lilly was confused. Is Quinnie being possessed?

Jonas was speechless when he saw those fans' expectant looks. He knew them, as they always stalked him. And he did not manage to run away from them all the time. Sometimes they would purposely bang on his car just to see him. And sometimes they knocked on his car window. Some other actors may be scared of this kind of crazy fan, but Jonas was not one of them. He worked for his family's company, and he had the best working environment.

"Jay, bring them out!" He said it sternly. His assistant hurriedly brought some bodyguards over. The fans were dumbstruck. Why can't Jonas see it? This woman is a b*tch!

"Jonas..."

"Ah, I don't want to leave Jonas!"

"Jonas, I want to eat with you! I want to serve you! I will do everything for you."

He suddenly said, "Wait." The three of them thought that he actually cared about them! But he said, "Delete the photos on their phones." His assistant went to them and snatched away their phones, despite their crying. He deleted everything, including the photos and videos. The fans were brokenhearted. How can Jonas do this to us? He must be under this bitch's influence! He wouldn't do this to us! We love Jonas; how can he not understand us?

They were chased away. Jonas brought Lilly into his car, and he looked at Quinnie and said, "Hop in?" She shook her head and said, "Thank you, Mr. Jonas, but I have my own transportation." He said, "I think you can't fit into it."

Chapter 1026 Car Accident

The unlucky ghost dashed out first, and he said, "I'll do it all by myself!" The rebel ghost said, "Why should you?" The weakling spirit ghost silently bypassed the unlucky ghost. The Harem spirit said, "Why do you guys act like a bunch of stray dogs?" And she went to the weakling spirit's side. The ghost bride thought, This is the first time I see people addressing themselves as dogs! She then muttered, "But I'm not them." She then walked slowly.

The fans were furious. "How dared they delete our gallery? These bodyguards must have some sort of immoral relationship with Quinnie!" The director overheard their conversation and sneered, "Why couldn't they delete it? Everything was confidential before the film was released! You guys are exposing our privacy!" He then said, "You guys should be glad that it was deleted, or else I could have served you!" They were stunned.

The director sneered, "I hope that you guys aren't being serious. If you guys spread untrue rumors, I wouldn't mind suing you all." And he left saying that. He was very excited about the cat's acting! He thought that the cat would have hurt Quinnie! Others might not see it, but he could see the cat's claws were out, and it withdrew them the moment it touched Quinnie. The cat was splendid! Every director would dream of having one. They did not even have to edit much later on! The scene ended with a perfect notch. He actually rushed out to talk to Lilly. But he missed her. He was wondering if the cat was willing to act for him. He was willing to pay ten thousand cans of dried fish to hire it. He was obsessed with it; the other cats would never be as good as Esper.

The fans said after the director was gone, "This director must have slept with Quinnie before; that's why he was defending her."

"Hmph, look at how holy she is! But she's not like this in reality!"

"This director must be a pervert!" They said whatever they wanted when there was no one around.

The harem spirit said in the back seat, "They are having vicious thoughts, which are worse than malignant ghosts like us." The unlucky ghost said, "We're no longer malignant ghosts." The walking spirit said, "Let's get our work done!" The fans were speeding on the village roads just to catch up with Jonas. They were approaching Jonas' car.

The weakling spirit put his hand on the girl's head, who was driving. The unlucky ghost said, "I'll make their car crash!" The harem spirit said, "Let's not create trouble for Lilly." The unlucky ghost replied,

"Alright, I'll join in later." The girl on the passenger seat exclaimed, "I could almost see Jonas' back! Drive faster!" The girl in the back seat said, "Bypass them and block them from the front!"

Chapter 1027 Outcome

The car fell off the road into the paddy field. The harem and weakling spirits hurriedly dragged the car midair so the fans would not die in a car crash. But the car was in ruin. The driver and the girl in the passenger seat fainted as they were cushioned by the safety airbag. The girl in the backseat did not fasten her seat belt, so she flung herself out of the car into the paddyfield.

All the ghosts looked at each other, fearing that they had made a mistake. Especially the rebel ghost; its face was pale and it was stunned. Lilly asked them to block them, not kill them. The harem ghost hurriedly flipped the girl in the paddyfield around, only realizing that she had passed out and was not breathing. Luckily, she was turned around, and she suddenly gasped and coughed. The harem spirit was relieved; she thought, As long as they're not dead... Jonas won't be responsible for it either.

"It's time to go!" the weakling spirit said. The unlucky ghost was bored; he thought, I haven't even done anything yet... "Consider yourself lucky!" He snorted, "If I ever see you again, you'll fall into the toilet bowl next time!"

The girl's eyes widened. Am I dying? Why am I seeing ghosts? A bunch of them! They look scary. and there's a ghost bride standing far away... She groaned and fainted.

The weakling spirit felt sorry and told Lilly about what had happened before. "We accidentally caused a commotion." The harem spirit also apologized. The unlucky ghost said, "But don't worry too much; I didn't do anything. Although they're injured, they'll recover within months." The passionate spirit said, "We didn't control well, and maybe there were too many of us. We shouldn't all go next time." None of them mentioned the rebel ghost losing his temper.

But he surpassed being touched and said, "It had nothing to do with then; I did it!" He continued to say, "I couldn't hold it. Just punish me! You can lock me up, and I won't have any objection!" Lilly patted each of them, and then she said, "You guys didn't do it on purpose, right?" She also asked, "The rebel ghost didn't mean it too, right?" The rebel ghost was stunned, and Lilly waved to send them all back into the jar. He pondered for a very long time.

Lilly looked behind her, but she could not see the three fans. Because of the ghosts, they could not continue to chase Jonas. But Jonas' driver still did not know about it, so he was still speeding up.

Actually, Lilly had seen that accidents would befall the three of them, so she did not blame her ghosts. But Lilly told Jonas honestly about what happened. Jonas said, "It's okay." Anyone would be fed up if they were being stalked by perverts. And they might even wish to kill the perverts. Jonas patted Lilly's head and whispered, "Good job!"

The villagers reported it to the police when they saw the car crash. After an investigation, the police realized that they crashed because they were stalking the actor. The dash cam even recorded their entire conversation. "You guys are breaking the law!" The policeman said this in the hospital as he was taking notes. "It's proved that this isn't the first time you guys are doing it. You guys even blocked other people's cars illegally on the road before. Haven't the three of you learned after being locked up a few times?"

Chapter 1028 Lilly, SOS

Lilly thought something serious had happened, looking at how panicked he was. But everyone was fine. "Josh, what happened?" She asked. Nothing matters as long as my family is safe!

Josh replied, "I caught the Holy Mother Ghost when you weren't around!" Lilly gasped, "That's great! But why are you worried?" He answered, "She was gone when I checked on her just now." She was right there half an hour ago. He found a hole in his bag, and the ghost broke out all the layers of talismans. He was dead worried; he did not feel that this ghost was vicious when he caught her...

Lilly said, "Calm down, Josh. It's impossible for her to escape." She protected their home with a spell formed by talismans; no ghosts except hers could freely come in and out of it. Josh sighed. "That's the problem. I used the tool to search every corner but couldn't find her." And he said, "I was worried that she possessed someone... I checked, and she didn't."

Lilly was surprised. The Holy Mother Ghost could not get out, even if she possessed someone. But this was what made Josh even more worried; if she could get out, it meant that she was extremely powerful. He was worried about her finding a substitute.

Zachary commented, "You s*ck." Josh snorted, "Are you that great? You should catch one yourself!" Hmph, do you think it's easy? Zachary said, "Wait and see," and he left. Josh felt that something was weird with Zachary. Oh, it's his reaction time!

Lilly suddenly said, "Josh, do you know that Zachary can catch the ghosts now?" Josh thought, No, impossible! Lilly said, "He caught a few ghosts today, including one that almost became a malignant ghost. And he overcame his inner demon." Josh could not believe it. Lilly felt sorry seeing Josh like this; she did not want to make him feel worse. So she dragged him to search for the loose ghost.

"Did you search for every corner?" Lilly asked, "Including my room?" He nodded, but he was still in shock about Zachary's experiences. Lilly muttered, "Then it's so weird..." She looked around herself; there was no one but the tortoise sleeping in her room. "Polly?" It was not inside the room. "Bellflower?" It did not answer either. Esper sniffed around when it was in her arms.

Zachary came back and said, "I can't find her." It's impossible that I can't find her with my skills. Am I too weak? Josh said, "I've told you!" They had been searching over and over again but still could not find the ghost. "Could she be hiding underground?" Zachary asked. Josh said, "No, I've searched the garage and also the basement."

Chapter 1029 Nobody Can Withstand Polly Nagging

The Holy Mother Ghost could not take it anymore. She should be all about love and peace. But she could not stand this nagging bird. It did not stop talking the moment she attacked it! She was worried that it would attract Josh with its voice, so she spent half of her leftover deathly energy to silence it. But Polly was noisy; nothing could stop it. It still hummed even though its mouth was tied.

"Shut up!" The ghost got restless. "I'll cook you if you continue to sing!"

Polly replied, "Why would you want to eat me? You won't be full, and you might be poisoned." And it said, "By the way, you can't get out. Just accept your fate. I'll really die from exhaustion if I continue to fly now." It then asked, "Hey, how did you die?"

The ghost punched its head and yelled, "Shut the f*ck up!" Polly said, "Alright, alright, I'm doing it now." Two seconds later, it said, "Okay, time's up. So how did you die and become the Holy Mother Ghost?"

The ghost regretted possessing such a noisy bird. But she burned most of her deathly energy breaking out the snakeskin bag, so she had no choice. She thought that she could escape, but the Crawford residence was protected by layers of talismans that captured her. She controlled Polly and dashed toward the protective layer! She found the weakest spot, which was midair. Polly yelled, "Waaa... Somebody help! I'm being killed!"

The ghost was exhausted; she still had to silence it with her leftover deathly energy. It suddenly saw that Lilly came back! It moaned because it could not talk. And the ghost was using its body to slam against the enchantment. Polly did not stop trying to make some noise to reprimand the ghost. What the f*ck... How can it still scold me?

Lilly and Josh found a drone and tied a "grenade launcher" to it. Josh drove it up to the sky and saw Polly banging on the enchantment layer. Polly burst into tears after seeing the drone. It was making noises to tell them that it was right there. The next moment, the drone shot out a talisman containing special paint. Polly was terrified by it when it got shot. It suddenly dropped to the ground.

Suddenly a light flashed, and it was in Lilly's hands. It cried, "Waaa! Lilly! Why did Josh shoot me?" It said, "My entire body is in pain!" It then said, "Eh? I can speak again! Waaa! Hug me!" Lilly carried it with one hand, and it did not affect her performance at all. She pulled the ghost out of Polly, and it passed out in her hand. I'm so tired!

Chapter 1030 The Holy Mother Ghost's Death

"Who are you? And how did you die?" Josh asked sternly in Lilly's room. Pablo was surprised at his seriousness. The Holy Mother Ghost looked around and realized that a judge was present and a lot of ghosts were nearby. And some kids were peeking by the door... She felt like she was in a ghost's house instead of being captured. She sighed and acted with pity since she could not break free. "Why did you insist on catching me?" she looked at Josh and asked. "I've never harmed anyone."

Lilly was having fruit yogurt at the side when she said, "How can you lie? You're full of deathly energy."

The harem spirit said, "That's why. You must have a lot of body counts."

The ghost bride thought, Is she making a suggestive joke?

The unlucky ghost commented, "This is rare. How can Holy and Ghost be one?"

The crying spirit said, "That's why; why didn't you pity your victims?"

The Holy Mother said, "I'm just ending their miserable lives so they can go next."

Zachary sneered, "Then what about us sending you off too?"

She hurriedly said, "No, no... I'll... I'll tell my stories, alright?" She sighed. "I'm Mila, from..."

The harem ghost nudged the passionate ghost, "She's from your era!" He shook and said, "She's way older."

How dare you? You look old yourself! She sighed and said, "It was unpeaceful back then, but I did a lot of good deeds!" She said, "I was from a rich family." She continued to say, "Many people starved to death due to drought... I gave them all the food from my family." She tried her best, and she had to buy more food once her house food was finished.

"Mila, I know you're kind, but we will starve at this rate!" her mother said to her. The young Mila snorted, "Mom, how can you be cruel? Do you want to see people dying in front of our house?"

Her father said, "It's not that... But we can't afford to say all of them."

Her mother wept. "We can give them other options besides the best food from our house." It's all about survival now, not luxurious food. And we can afford more food if we don't buy the most expensive ones.
