

Eight Uncles 112

Chapter 112 A Daddy Who Can't Cook Is Not A Qualified Daddy

In the garden, a maid craned her neck and twisted her body stiffly.

She quickly adjusted her head and body to face the same direction.

Her arms were in a position of holding something as if she was used to it.

She grabbed a flower basket and held it in her arms. Only then she showed a satisfied smile.

Blake turned around abruptly as he felt something. He saw a maid carrying a flower basket and holding a cutter in her hand quietly minding her own business.

Blake couldn't tell what was wrong with her.

If he had seen the female spirit just now, he would have been able to recognize her due to the identical movements. Unfortunately, he couldn't see spirits.

It turns out that Lilly's accidentally kicked the female spirit into the maid's body.

Blake took Lilly back into the house and the conversation just now was stopped.

"Are you hungry, Lilly? Gronny..." Old Mrs. Crawford was about to say 'Gronny will cook something delicious for you', but she said, "Gronny will ask your daddy to cook for you."

A successful dad had to have superb cooking skills to feed his child.

The food outside was not healthy compared to home-cooked food.

Hiring a maid to cook was not an option. What if she had an attitude problem?

"Are you sure?" Blake asked as the only time when he held a knife was to hurt people.

He saw the Crawford family staring at him.

Lilly made a cheering gesture and said, "Daddy, you can do it!"

"Okay."

Since Lilly said he could do it then he must be able to do it.

Cooking is just a matter of preparing the ingredients, throwing them into the pot, and taking them out after they were cooked. There is nothing difficult about it.

In the garden, a maid craned her neck and twisted her body stiffly.

She quickly adjusted her head and body to face the same direction.

Her arms were in a position of holding something as if she was used to it.

held it in her arms. Only then she felt something. He saw a maid carrying a flower basket and holding a cutter in her hand quietly minding her own tell what have been able to recognize her due turns out that Lilly's accidentally kicked the back into the house will cook something delicious for you', but she said, "Granny will ask your daddy to cook for had to have superb cooking skills to feed his

not an option. What if she had an

as the only time when he saw the Crawford

gesture and said,

"Okay."

it then he must be able to

of preparing the ingredients, throwing them into the pot, and taking them out after they were

Blake loosened a button.

shirt and pants

must have valued earned some points from the

the kitchen, you have to kill them. You'll need to make three different types as he rolled up his sleeves,

nothing compared added, "Add on a dish of eggplant. Lilly loves them. Ask Margaret if you don't the ingredients in the kitchen. You probably have to cook eighteen dishes. Oh, cook some omelets too.

The kids

surprised. So many

Blake was in the kitchen, Josh whispered, "Lilly, let's about not finding the kitchen while saying, "Wait! I'll go

In the kitchen.

“Mr. MacNeil, kill the chicken first! Do you need a hand? The chickens are very running in, the words that were about to dignity in but he didn’t know what to do. He had only seen people killing took a knife and was shocked and stood in front of Lilly to protect feathers first,”