Chapter 1251 Canceling The Dramas

Ivy had no peace that night. After the police left, she sat on the sofa in the living room in a daze for a long time.

Was she really wrong?

Could it be that the peephole didn't open or something malfunctioned, so she saw darkness?

No matter what, there was nothing outside, no one, and nothing sticking to her peephole...

At this moment, there was another strange sound at the door!

Ivy's whole body was covered with chills. She stared at the door and swallowed. Somehow, she stood up uncontrollably and quietly walked towards the door.

Then she stuck her eye on the peephole and looked out.

The peephole was normal. She could see it this time. She could see the black and white scene outside, but there was nothing.

Ivy just breathed a sigh of relief, but a shadow of a person suddenly appeared in the black and white picture!

It was a woman...

She lowered her head, her hair hanging in front of her face like a ghost, and she stood in the stairwell, motionless...

Ivy's eyes widened, fear crept into her heart, and she wanted to leave quickly, but she froze in fear and couldn't move!

The woman outside the door suddenly screamed and stuck on the peephole. A pair of rolling eyes suddenly appeared in front of her!

"Ahhhh--"

Ivy turned over suddenly, her face turned pale with fright, and then she realized that it was a dream.

She cried.

The pajamas she was wearing had long been soaked with sweat. The night amplified her fear. and she suddenly thought of a possibility--

There was nothing on the peephole. Could it be that there was someone outside at that time.

The wretched man in the rental house got the photo and his eyes flashed.

After doing some scandalous things, Raven showed up at his most critical moment...

"I'm dead, and you still come..." Raven's voice was faint, with a sick smile on her face, "Do you want me to help you?"

She stretched out her hand, her nails were long...

The man never expected to see a ghost suddenly, a female ghost wearing a white dress with hair hanging down like a ghost!

He was so frightened that he lost all his 'functions' on the spot. He screamed and wanted to rush out of the toilet, but he slipped and hit the ground with a clang. His nose started to bleed...

Raven looked at him coldly.

She looked as though she was disgusted, turned away and left, feeling angry and depressed.

Lilly floated cross-legged, propped up her chin... And moved her fingers.

All the "resources" on the man's phone were completely deleted.

The man was so frightened that he had no idea that he would be traumatized forever...

Raven followed the Internet cable and found the "boss" who posted her photo resources in the group.

"Wish you a prosperous life? Is this what you call a good person?" Raven was very resentful, and she was really a little crazy.

"Haha!" She laughed in a weird manner, "I heard that men are the most..."

At this point, she suddenly shut up, glanced at Lilly and said nothing.

Lilly was surprised, "The most what?"

Raven remained silent.

She also saw it accidentally.

Chapter 1253 Committing A Crime

Ivy was so scared that her heart jumped out of her throat.

She heard footsteps, very fast, running down the stairs.

However, sometimes humans were so hard to explain. The more anxious they were, the more panicked they became, and the more they wanted to exert themselves, the less they could do it.

Ivy's key couldn't be inserted into the keyhole at all. She regretted it very much at this moment. Because the house was rented, she was reluctant to invest in replacing it with a fingerprint lock.

However, then she thought about it, what if she changed the fingerprint lock? If she was controlled, others could still press her finger to open the door.

This thought only passed by in a flash. Ivy, who was about to cry, gritted her teeth, gave up on opening the door, turned around and ran towards the elevator.

She didn't want to open the door, she wanted to run down. As long as she could run down, there would be security guards at the security booth at the entrance of the residence.

Even if the security guards were lazy or sleeping in the security booth at this time, it was still better than being alone here!

Ivy pressed the elevator button very anxiously. The elevator had just stopped upstairs, and the numbers were changing and coming down.

Every second was so painful.

"Quick... Quick!"

The rapid footsteps in the stairwell had reached the door of the emergency exit.

Ivy's heart was beating too fast and her head was buzzing. Finally, the elevator dinged, and her face lit up with joy!

However, the next second, her joyful expression froze on her face. There were two men in the elevator. When they looked up and saw her, they stared at her.

Ivy turned around and ran, but the two men on the other side of the stairs were already surrounding her. She could only turn around and run to the neighbor's house on the other side of the elevator, banging on the door.

Josh couldn’t hold it any longer.

“Zac!”

Zachary was very calm.

The young man said with sharp eyes, “The price to pay for the crime is too low. There were many people only sentenced to three years.”

It was obviously something that would ruin a girl’s life. Three years was an understatement. Three years was already considered a serious conviction for this crime. There were even sentences of one year, a few months, or two years.

Josh said angrily, “Do we really have to wait for it to happen?! Zac, you are too cold-blooded!”

He angrily shook off Zachary’s hand and was about to rush out.

Zachary said coldly, “The child just can’t keep calm.”

Josh went crazy, “You!”

Zachary said, “The crime of attempted rape is a serious one and will be sentenced for at least ten years.
If the circumstances are ‘not serious’ and the suspect has a good attitude when pleading guilty, he will be given a lighter sentence.”

If these people dared to do this, they must have considered how to evade legal sanctions.

The attitude of confessing to the crime was one.

Denial or other means was another.

“Criminal impulsiveness” was another one.

However, if it could be confirmed on the spot that they were organized, premeditated, and of a bad nature, it would be difficult for them to overturn the situation.

They had just called the police, and now the fastest response time was five minutes.

Five minutes might be too late for Ivy, and for those people, someone might have done what they wanted to do...

All the guys had to do was to delay it, to stop the crime from being committed at the most appropriate moment, and wait until the police arrived.

Chapter 1255 Shrieking

When Lilly was stunned, she heard a knock on the door!

Joe and his people were so frightened that they all fell silent.

"Cover her!" Joe said, "I'll deal with it."

He left the bedroom, not forgetting to return the fallen chair, napkin box, etc., and then opened the door.

It turned out that there were two children at the door – a teenager and a child to be precise, but they were still considered children.

He couldn't help but be stunned.

These two kids look familiar...?

"What's the matter?" He made a fierce look, thinking that children were afraid of fierce people, and then they wouldn't dare to ask further.

Zachary frowned and asked, "We heard someone calling for help."

Joe was impatient, "You heard it wrongly!"

Josh loudly, "Impossible! Someone just knocked on the door of our house. They were banging on the door and shouting for help."

Joe was trying hard to recall where he had seen these two children – when he followed Raven that day, the narrow-minded ghost was still on his head. He focused all his energy on Raven, so he ignored that Josh and Zac were also following Raven.

He felt like he was about to recall it. The feeling was very uncomfortable, almost...

Then he heard Josh and he immediately came back to his senses.

So they were the neighbors next door!

These kids better be minding their own businesses!

“It was nothing. It was just a joke between my girlfriend and I. I’m sorry.” Joe stood motionless and stared at Josh.

Josh immediately pointed at Zachary.

"Why are you staring at me? Stare at him! He kicked you!" Josh.

He won't take the blame, absolutely not!

He could take the blame for his younger sister, but not for Zac.

Josh looked around, wondering if the unlucky ghost was behind this. Otherwise, how could the knife be so accurate and landed in the right place?

Lilly said, "Josh, there's no need to look for him, the unlucky ghost is not here."

She was now in the human world in a state of astral projection, so the unlucky ghost would not be here.

The ghosts were all in her soul jar, her soul jar was hanging on her wrist, and she was still the underworld.

Josh muttered, "Okay!"

He was displeased, hmph, his sister and Zac secretly agreed not to take him with them

The police caught three other men in the bedroom. They were like rats crossing the street. They were so frightened that they fled in different directions, but how could they escape?

Ivy cried until she was out of breath. "These rapists! They... They broke in, and attempted to humiliate me..."

She told them what had just happened. She was very frightened and angry, and said she would not let them go.

Chapter 1257 She Could Hear Their Minds.
Lilly looked at Joe blankly.

Wait, why did she feel like she could “see through” what Joe was thinking?

Lilly was concentrating, she only heard noises. Everyone present was muttering or cursing in their hearts, some were angry, some were swearing, some were disdainful...

She seemed to be standing outside the Three Realms, with a heavenly perspective... She could “hear” other people’s minds!

Lilly confirmed it several times, then suddenly turned to look at her brother.

She could hear him thinking anxiously in his heart: What happened to my sister? Why does she have such an expression??

Lilly was speechless, “...”

Mom!

Dad!

Master!

Great, something big happened! She had mutated!!

Lilly quickly stood up and ran outside.

Josh was stunned, “???”

Zachary was also stunned.

As if hearing their voices, Lilly turned back and said in a hurry, “Josh and Zac, I’m leaving first! I have urgent matters! I feel like I’m about to get a big upgrade!!”

After that, she disappeared.

Chapter 1258 What a Wretched Thing

The King of Transformation had just finished settling matters in the underworld when he saw the King of Styx running frantically toward him.

The King of Styx grabbed his arm as his entire body shook.

"What happened?" The King of Transformation asked curiously.

"She broke... I patted her, and she broke!" The King of Styx said with a trembling voice.

What broke? Did you break a plate or something?

"I broke Little Hades! She's gone! Ahhh! Emperor Prosper won't forgive me!"

The King of Transformation was speechless.

The underworld is peaceful. The Order hasn't crumbled. Little Hades must still be safe.

Before he could ask any other questions, he watched The King of Styx run toward the Fifth Palace while flailing his arms and screaming madly.

The King of Transformation quickly followed behind him.

He was not a gossip, but he was also concerned about what happened to Little Hades.

Over at the Fifth Palace, Jean poked her head at the window and asked, "Hey, are you still okay? Is it over yet?"

Blake, who was practicing calligraphy, said nothing.

A few seconds later, he said without turning his head around, "Have you ever wondered why the medicine had such a drastic effect on us back then?"

“You’d better give me a satisfactory explanation,” Blake said coldly while resisting the urge to slap the King of Styx away.

Even Jean hadn’t hugged his thigh before. He was angry that this fat guy did it first.

The King of Styx looked at Jean with teary eyes before blowing his nose on Blake’s thigh.

He didn't say he was almost scared to death.

Blake frowned. He took Jean's hand and stepped out of the door.

In a flash of golden light, they appeared in the Second Palace.

The King of Styx was still hugging his thigh tightly.

Huh? What happened? I was at the Fifth Palace earlier, but why am I suddenly home? He thought.

Jean was also surprised. Since when did Blake learn all these skills? Is he still mortal?

Meanwhile, the King of Transformation arrived at the Fifth Palace, intending to watch the drama. He saw no one inside.

What? That was a total waste of my time!

In the sunroom, Matthan was playing happily with a rattle while making cute noises with his mouth.

Jean was frantically looking around for Lilly, but she saw Blake take out his phone and snap photos of Matthan.

Huh... Looks like he's not that worried after all?

Blake crouched in front of Matthan and said, "Hey, you....you're having a lot of fun with Grandpa, aren't you?"

Hugh was surprised. "Blake? When did you come home? Where's Lilly?"

He looked behind Blake but didn't see Lilly or Jean, and he wondered if the girl was with Bettany.

No, I need to see her! But I can't show Blake that I'm worried, so I'll just sit here and pretend that I'm cool.

Blake said while looking at Matthan, "Lilly and her mother will come home later."

Hugh settled down after hearing that.
