

Eight Uncles 771

Chapter 771 A Biomarker

The nine-headed bird suddenly became angry, and its other eight heads screamed and wanted to bite Lilly.

Lilly took out the pan and hit it on the other eight heads. The nine-headed bird felt dizzy and fell to the ground.

Lisa yelled, "How dare you attack me! I'll stew you!"

The harem spirit stroked her chin. "No, it's disgusting. It must not taste good when stewed. Let's roast it!"

The ghost bride shook her head. "I don't think roasting is good. It's too hard and too old. Why don't we make a hot pot?"

The weakling spirit pondered. "The bird is too big to be stewed in one pot. It's better to kill it first, pluck its feathers, and cut it into ten parts. Oh, ten parts are still too big. Let's chop it up!"

The nine-headed bird was stunned. A group of devils!

At this moment, Lilly took out a sword and chopped off one head of the nine-headed bird.

The nine-headed bird was terrified. It thought those ghosts were only joking, but it did not expect Lilly to chop its head! And it could not resist her attack!

The nine-headed bird struggled to fly up and fled in a panic.

Lilly stared at the nine-headed bird and whispered to others, "Okay, let's follow it!"

Daddy said, if I encounter a ferocious beast, the quickest way to make it frightened is to show it my power.

The nine-headed bird should be obedient now, and Lilly immediately ran after it.

Ms. Ugly hugged Tinkerbell and asked, "Where are we going?"

The weakling spirit said, "Follow it. It'll fly back to the locust forest to avoid danger."

The rebel ghost did not take it seriously and asked, "How do you know it must fly back? Not fly to other places?"

The weakling spirit sneered coldly. "Wouldn't you go home to find your mother when you got beaten?"

The rebel ghost was speechless. I'll go home, but not to my mother!

All the ghosts followed behind Lilly. Seeing Lilly running tiredly, Lisa was about to pick her up. But the weakling spirit was one step faster than her. He lifted Lilly and flew forward. Lisa was pissed off.

The weakling spirit was proud of himself. How is it? So what if she has a cold body? Can she fly?

Lisa ran after him cursing. After following the nine-headed bird for a long time, they finally saw a dark forest.

Before reaching the dark forest, the nine-headed bird saw Lilly and others still chasing after it and screamed angrily. It looked like it asked why they followed it.

Lilly held a head and said, "Hey, your head fell off! We brought it to you. We've chased you for ten miles!"

The nine-headed bird screamed, flew into the forest, and disappeared.

The trees had no leaves, and the twisted and jagged black branches overlapped like iron rods. A thick bad aura spread out from the depths of the forest. The forest was dense, and it was difficult to see inside. It looked like there were countless monsters in it.

The weakling spirit took out the book, compared it, and said surprisingly, "It's here!"

Lilly was so proud that she finally found the locust forest, which meant she had found hope!

"Master, wait a second! I'll bring you food!"

Lilly looked carefully and first carved a mark on the edge. In case she could not find her way after she came out.

It seemed that she worried the mark was not safe enough. She thought about it and then squatted down in the nearby grass to pee.

All the ghosts were puzzled.

Lilly apologized while peeing, "Sorry, I didn't pee on purpose! Daddy said that if I'm worried about the mark being discovered and destroyed by the enemies, I should use biological means."

She asked Blake what biological means were. He gave examples. Dogs urinated to divide the territory, antelopes marked their places with tears, and bears rolled on the ground to leave a smell.

Lilly felt she could not poo in such a short time. She could have tears, but she could not smell the tears, so she could only pee.

Blake said even though biomarkers were uncivilized, they were the most effective.

The enemies would not guess the opponent to use the biomarkers to determine the location. He also told her it was original and that she could not tell others!

After Lilly came out, the weakling spirit asked in a daze, "Lilly, what are you doing?"

Lilly waved. "Don't ask about children's affairs!"

The ghosts were speechless.

Lilly took the Hell Ruler Palace to cover herself and stepped into the forest after confirming everything was safe.

The weakling spirit was sad. Now Lilly had learned to be cautious. She suffered a lot and endured a lot of pain before she had the experience she had today.

Not long after Lilly stepped into the forest, the King of Cities followed slowly. He cast a glance and saw the mark Lilly had made on a stone.

"Hey, does she still want to go back?"

With a wave, the King of Cities smashed the stone into powder.

Although he would make Lilly unable to return, what if she escaped? She would not find the direction she came from.

After the King of Cities destroyed the stone marker, he looked around again and frowned.

What a dirty kid! She peed here!

King of Cities spat and was unaware that it was Lilly's biomarker.

Chapter 772 Lilly's Unique Idea

King of Cities continued to follow Lilly and the others silently. He felt like a cat playing with a mouse. King of Cities continued to follow Lilly and the others silently. He felt like a cat playing with a mouse.

The poor mouse did not realize she had walked into a dead end. King of Cities enjoyed teasing her!

He was not worried that he would fail.

In the desolate land of the underworld, where no rules could control him, no one could say anything about what he did!

He was the king here! Lilly was only a mortal child now. He could even kill Pablo, let alone a child!

In the forest, Lilly walked for a long time while holding the Hell Ruler Palace.

"Where is Hidden Valley..."

The underworld was so big. There was more than one Hidden Valley and more than one soul flower.

The weakling spirit flipped through the book and analyzed, "Hidden Valley is a valley. The terrain of the valley is relatively low. We should go down..."

The harem spirit shook her head. "After entering here, there's no direction. The terrain here has its ups and downs. Do you still remember whether you're going uphill or downhill?"

The weakling spirit shook his head.

"According to the knowledge in geography books, it can also be distinguished by contour lines..."

The iron trees were too tall and densely packed to cover the sight not far away. Even if they floated to the top of the trees, it was foggy, not to mention the high mountains. They could not see clearly within a hundred meters nearby.

Lilly broke off a small tree and looked at the annual rings.

"Well, this way!"

Daddy said, after finding a direction, go ahead!

Lilly called Lisa, "Aunt Lisa, come and feel it carefully! The feeling in this direction is right!"

Lisa answered, "Understood!" Although she could not tell the direction, she could follow her feeling after determining it.

The human compass Lisa picked up Lilly and left.

The ghosts were speechless. Their efforts were in vain.

The rebel ghost asked Lilly, "Why don't you use the spirit compass?"

Lilly said, "You're so stupid! The spirit compass points to a bad aura. There's a bad aura everywhere. I can't point a direction!"

The rebel ghost choked.

Lilly was lucky. The direction she chose was exactly the direction where Hidden Valley was.

Not long after walking, there was an open space. The wind blew in a canyon. There was a red and beautiful flower in the middle.

Lilly and all the ghosts blurted out, "Soul flower!"

With vigilance in Lilly's eyes, she said, "Master got injured when he returned. It's dangerous inside. We have to be careful."

In the underworld, Hell Ruler Palace should confront the wind from Hidden Valley.

Lilly was not sure. She controlled Hell Ruler Palace and let it go in first.

As a result, the wind was strong and violent. Although there was nothing wrong with Hell Ruler Palace, she could not control it.

The wind was too strong. If Lilly could not control it, the wind would blow Hell Ruler Palace away.

"I'm so weak!" Lilly felt disappointed.

The harem spirit comforted, "Don't be sad! Let's try again!"

They were ghost generals now. They might be able to enter Hidden Valley.

All the ghosts pulled together and turned themselves into a rope. After Jessie was injured, she was buried in the evil energy vein to heal her injuries, so the weakling spirit was at the front. But as soon as they stepped into Hidden Valley, they were almost torn apart by the strong wind. They quickly returned.

The ghost bride said, "Let's try my red veil..."

If ghosts can't go in, is it okay to throw things in and fish for flowers?

As a result, the red veil was torn to pieces as soon as it entered. It was too late for the ghost bride to save it.

"Ah! My red veil!"

Lisa frowned. She looked around for a long time. She tried herself but could not get in.

What should I do? Lilly was so worried. She finally found the soul flowers, but she met an obstacle!

No, I must get the soul flowers! If I can't get in, I can take it away!

Lilly had an idea and shouted, "Alright! I'll take it away!"

Hell Ruler Palace suddenly enlarged. It was bigger than the entire Hidden Valley and swallowed Hidden Valley in one gulp!

Hell Ruler Palace had internal and external spaces. The outer was the main hall, and the inner was similar to the spatial ring, which imprisoned King Libra.

Lilly put Hidden Valley into the internal space.

The ghosts looked at the empty valley and felt Lilly dig out a piece of the place.

What the hell? The ghosts were dumbfounded while Lisa praised, "Lilly is amazing!"

Lilly said happily, "Let's go back first!"

Daddy said not to be greedy. Our strength isn't enough. If we get something, we can go back first.

One was to confirm whether the soul flowers were useful. If they were useless, they would not look for this thing again.

Second, explore this place slowly as a trial. Lilly could constantly strengthen her strength and then go further. So Lilly decided to go back first.

Bettany must have been waiting for her for a long time. Lilly did not want Bettany to be worried.

However, just as Lilly turned around, she saw a tall man with a gloomy expression floating behind her and laughed.

He said evilly, "King of Hell, I haven't seen you in a long time! I never thought we would meet here today! What a coincidence!"

Lilly was alert. She quickly turned around and ran into the forest!

This man is dangerous! Daddy said, run away immediately if I encounter an enemy!

Lilly ran fast without any hesitation. King of Cities was stunned for a moment.

Chapter 773 Tough Resistance

After Lilly ran out, she immediately burrowed into the woods. There was nothing around for her to hide from, so she could only choose the locust forest.

After Lilly ran out, she immediately burrowed into the woods. There was nothing around for her to hide from, so she could only choose the locust forest.

The weakling spirit wanted to sacrifice himself for Lilly. After meeting the King of Cities, he realized that ghost generals were nothing in front of the Ruler of Hell.

Although the King of Cities belonged to the Eighth Palace, he was also a Ruler of Hell.

The weakling spirit gritted his teeth. He was no match for King of Cities, but Lilly could run away if he could stop King of Cities for a second!

He was so eager to protect Lilly that he did not think further.

The harem spirit pulled him and ran away without saying a word. Then, she lifted Lilly and flew out desperately!

"Have you forgotten what Mr. Blake said? Don't resist the King of Cities! The first thing to do is run!"

Any resistance was useless!

She only felt that the weakling spirit, who was always clever, looked stupid at this moment!

There was a disparity in strength. If the weakling spirit wanted to resist, the King of Cities would kill him!

Even if all the ghosts stayed to block the King of Cities, they could not stop for long. Everyone should gather together to get stronger. Even if the King of Cities killed them, they could die together!

"Hahaha! Interesting!" King of Cities chased after them playfully.

There's something neither human nor a ghost, and there are so many ghosts around her! It's a pity. She can't defeat me!

King of Cities waved hard toward Lilly and the others!

The locust forest was like a slender twig under his palm. It flew away instantly. Lilly turned pale, and she subconsciously raised her hand.

The red bracelet suddenly glowed red and confronted the King of Cities' attack!

The shock wave instantly destroyed the locust forest and turned out to be bald.

King of Cities was startled. At first, he did not take Lilly seriously, but now he changed his mind. He squinted slightly and looked at Lilly's wrist.

"It turns out to be Life Bracelet!"

It was the King of Hell's magical artifact and was powerful. If it were before, he could not attack Lilly. But now Lilly was only a mortal child, not King of Hell yet!

King of Cities showed a cruel sneer. With all his strength, he attacked Lilly fiercely.

Lilly could not resist his attack, and the red bracelet emitted the last red light. After blocking this palm, there was no light anymore!

Lilly looked down and saw the red bracelet broken. She held it tightly and felt not reconciled.

What should I do? Are we going to die? I'll never see Daddy and Uncles! Will I see Granny again?

Hell Ruler Palace, which Lilly supported with all her strength, flew aside in the blow of the King of Cities. She also fell aside, and all the ghosts almost got wiped out.

Lisa held Lilly tightly in her arms. She got injured from the locust branches that were as hard as steel.

The weakling spirit shot his deathly energy toward the King of Cities, but it crushed into powder before it got close.

The unlucky ghost also shot his unlucky charm and tried to make the King of Cities unlucky, but it still could not get close to the King of Cities.

The harem spirit, rebel ghost, foolish ghost, and passionate spirit also could not move.

Jessie came out with the spliced soul and tried to fight with the power of the ghost lord, but it was in vain.

The weakling spirit yelled, "Lilly, run away!"

The rebel ghost's eyes turned red. "D*mn! I'll fight him!"

The harem spirit stood up, gritted her teeth, and said, "Let's fight him together. Block him for Lilly..."

The unlucky ghost looked back at Lilly. We must let Lilly escape!

Lilly gritted her teeth. Where can I go? Can I escape the forest? I can't sacrifice all ghosts and Aunt Lisa! Harem took me flying but failed to escape. Where can I run by myself?

Lilly endured the pain, took out Pablo's soul lamp, and threw the jar of souls out forcefully!

The jar of souls instantly became bigger and smashed hard on the head of the King of Cities.

After throwing the jar of souls, Lilly had no strength left. She held on and threw out the purple sledgehammer, golden dome, dumbbell, and golden dome.

However, she did not have enough strength to support those magical artifacts. Now those powerful magical artifacts were only like rocks. Even if they hit the King of Cities, it would not cause any damage.

Lilly took advantage to take all the ghosts and ran away again.

King of Cities was only vigilant to Hell Ruler Palace and the jar of souls. Facing the jar of souls, he finally took out his weapon. It was a broadsword.

The broadsword was more mighty than the palm. King of Cities slashed out with the broadsword, and the jar of souls broke a bit.

As for those magical artifacts, they rolled to the side like stones.

King of Cities excitedly looked at the Hell Ruler Palace and the jar of souls.

These two things are good stuff!

It was a pity that Hell Ruler Palace and the jar of souls recognized their master. But he might have a chance to become the master of Hell Ruler Palace after killing Lilly and making her disappear.

He wanted to get Hell Ruler Palace and the jar of souls!

Chapter 774 Offsite Help

"Do you think you can escape?" King of Cities sneered cruelly. "I plotted to get you here. Do you think I'll let you run away?"

"Do you think you can escape?" King of Cities sneered cruelly. "I plotted to get you here. Do you think I'll let you run away?"

All the ghosts gathered together and tried to support Lilly and Lisa to fly a little faster. King of Cities followed them effortlessly.

"The gap between us and him is too big! What should we do?" The weakling spirit gritted his teeth and roared with anxiety!

Lilly hugged Pablo's soul lamp tightly while holding the pen of judgment.

"Master, I'm sorry. I didn't mean to be disobedient."

There were tears in Lilly's eyes, but she showed a fortitude that ordinary children did not have.

"Sissy Sugar Cookies, Sissy Slimwaist, Sissy Will... Help me!"

Lilly's tears finally rolled down. She kept murmuring from the bottom of her heart. I don't want Aunt Lisa and the ghosts dead! I don't want to die! So please, help me one more time!

The pen of judgment emitted a purple light, and the surroundings instantly turned into a vast galaxy. In a second, all these galaxies disappeared at the tip of the pen of judgment without any more response.

King of Cities had blocked Lilly and the others. He raised his broadsword while smiling coldly.

"Go die!" He shouted, and the broadsword slashed down!

King of Cities had no intention of playing anymore. This attack exhausted all his strength!

Although the King of Cities wanted to tease Lilly, he did not idle when chasing them to confirm no one around would come to interfere suddenly.

He even activated his ghost ambience. Even if the King of Transformation arrived, he could kill Lilly.

Desperation appeared in Lilly's eyes. She hugged Pablo's soul lamp and Lisa tightly while crying. "Aunt Lisa, I'm sorry!"

Sorry guys! We can't go home anymore!

Seeing the devastating broadsword was about to strike Lilly and the others, a palm suddenly extended from the void and slapped the King of Cities away!

"F*ck you! King of Cities!"

That slap made the King of Cities fly away with such force that half of his face swelled!

King of Cities was horrified that someone could break his ambience and slapped him in the face.

"Who are you?" King of Cities shouted.

"I'm the winner who defeats you! Remember, my name is Speedboat Rider!"

Upon saying that, another slap came over. King of Cities flew out! The slap was so powerful that it sent him back to his home.

King of Cities smashed down a corner of his Eighth Palace. King of Reincarnation, who happened to come to him, was stunned and asked in surprise, "King of Cities, what's wrong with you?"

King of Cities felt embarrassed to say he wanted to kill Lilly, but he got slapped twice for no reason. He even vaguely heard that person muttering, "D*mn, I came in a hurry and didn't prepare any tricks!"

That was a slap without any spiritual power! And he could not resist it!

King of Cities was startled and angry. He clenched his fists, gritted his teeth, and said, "Nothing. I was practicing just now."

King of Reincarnation was puzzled.

King of Cities felt unreconciled. Although he was afraid, he could not help but continue to fly out. He refused to let go of the chance to kill Lilly.

On the other side, Lilly froze. The ghosts were also dumbfounded and murmured, "Who is he?"

The ghost bride said, "I heard his name seems to be Speedboat Rider."

Lilly's eyes lit up, and she said happily, "It's offsite help!"

That was the helping tool given by the pen of judgment!

"Thank you, Speedboat Rider!"

Lilly got up, took back all her magical artifacts, and ran away quickly.

All the ghosts were dumbfounded. How did they not know that Lilly had offsite help?

A slap suddenly protruded from the void and slapped the King of Cities back home. It was too absurd!

Lilly stepped out of the locust forest. The locust forest was gone. It was quiet. The nine-headed birds probably died in the attack of the King of Cities just now.

She could not find the stone she marked and threw out a half-headed dog.

"Good doggy, help me find where I peed just now!" Lilly urged eagerly.

The half-headed dog immediately sniffed everywhere.

They were lucky as it was not far away. The dog quickly found Lilly's biomarker and barked.

The weakling spirit was puzzled. When did Lilly take the dog? I didn't notice at all.

Chapter 775 Take a Rocket

"Run!" Lilly yelled.

Although she could no longer see the King of Cities, it was better to run first.

The harem spirit lifted Lilly, while the passionate spirit took Lisa. All the ghosts ran out in a flash and soon arrived at Crescent Valley.

This desert was different from other places. So it was easy to recognize. But after entering the Crescent Valley, different stones were everywhere. It was difficult to tell the direction.

Lilly pointed straight in one direction, "This way!"

The ghosts chose to believe in Lilly and walked in the direction Lilly pointed without thinking.

Soon they passed by the boulder Lilly had lifted, the swaying dead tree, and even two big birds guarding a nest. There was a baby bird in the nest. The three birds looked at them in bewilderment.

"Lilly, do you know the directions?" Lisa asked.

Lilly nodded. "That big rock looks like a lion! Behind the lion's rock is a little rabbit rock. Behind the little rabbit rock is a heart rock. A big wolf is about to pick up the heart and give it to the little rabbit! Behind the heart are a group of stones that look like monsters. The monsters are fighting!"

Although those stones looked the same, some looked special. Children had rich imaginations. Adults only saw similar stones, but children had different shapes in their eyes.

In this way, Lilly remembered the way she came here.

The harem spirit was stunned. Sometimes it was good to be childlike. Lilly found the entrance where they had come.

When Lisa came here, she switched from the mortal world to the underworld. So she would be sensitive to the underworld.

After staying in the underworld for a long time, when the underworld switched to the mortal world, she also sensed the exit.

"This way!" Lisa pointed to a gap deep in the valley.

They saw a huge hole that looked like a giant once slashed at it with a knife.

All the ghosts were overjoyed, but at this moment, overwhelming coercion came!

Without looking back, the weakling spirit knew that the King of Cities was chasing after them again!

"Ah! Run!" The ghost bride was anxious. "Go!"

The rebel ghost yelled, "Shut up!"

Lilly did not dare to look back. She stared at the gap and rushed over with all her might.

Boom! The sharp attack from behind struck near.

Lilly gritted her teeth and raised the Hell Ruler Palace to resist.

A spell suddenly appeared in her mind. Rises with the wind! Soars upwards!

Lilly turned Hell Ruler Palace around and took advantage of the fierce wind the King of Cities beheaded. Hell Ruler Palace took her to fly straight into the gap!

She was so fast that the King of Cities did not even react.

Boom! The rocks and sand buried the gap, and Lilly and the others disappeared.

Only then did the King of Cities realize Lilly used him. He was so angry that he slashed at the gap!

However, he did not know how far he had sent Lilly away.

King of Cities smashed the valley but could not find Lilly and the others.

He chased for a certain distance without giving up and suddenly felt the restrictions of the mortal world rules. He could not make any further progress. If he chased after Lilly, he would trigger the Rules of Heaven and Earth.

Emperor Prosper set the underworld rules to restrict the balance between the underworld and the mortal world. He did not allow Hell Palace Rulers, ghost lords, and ghost generals to go up.

A spell suddenly appeared in her mind. Rises with the wind! Soars upwards!

Lilly turned Hell Ruler Pole around and took advantage of the fierce wind the King of Cities beheaded. Hell Ruler Pole took her to fly straight into the gap!

She was so fast that the King of Cities did not even react.

Emperor Prosper set the underworld rules to restrict the balance between the underworld and the mortal world. He did not allow Hell Pole Rulers, ghost lords, and ghost generals to go up.

Emperor Prosper would probably notice and crush the King of Cities if the King of Cities sabotaged it rashly.

King of Cities clenched his fists unwillingly. The more he thought about it, the more angry he became. He almost vomited blood.

"Damn it!" King of Cities vented his curses while smashing all the rocks in the desert into powder.

Lilly felt as if she was on a rocket and flew up.

The collapsed rocks and soil buried the road behind her, and Hell Ruler Palace fell on a relatively stable terrain.

Lilly got up and immediately picked up Pablo's soul lamp, then stuffed the ghosts into the jar of souls together.

Lisa lifted Lilly and ran. She relied on her intuition to run wild and finally saw an exit above her head.

However, something blocked it at the top of the exit. It was black, but the light came in from the edge.

Lisa slammed the thing lying on the exit with her head while taking Lilly.

Bang! An iron pot flew out. Someone was handling the ingredients. He used the iron pot as a basin and washed vegetables.

After Lisa slammed away the iron pot, the carrots' leaves were on her head. There were several vegetables on Lilly's head.

They looked blank, blinked, and looked at Blake, who was also stunned.

Blake set up a bonfire not far away. An iron cauldron was on the bonfire and boiled a pheasant.

Blake held half a carrot and peeled the carrot in the iron cauldron. The aroma was overflowing.

Lilly shouted happily, "Daddy!"

Blake was dumbfounded.

Chapter 776 Lilly Is Hungry

In the evening, Lake of Confusion was eerily quiet. Unknown birds were frightened into flight and made noises.

Blake, Lilly, and Lisa looked at each other.

Blake was calm. He looked at the big hole, the round-bottomed iron pot that flew aside, and asked, "Have you two eaten?"

Lisa and Lilly shook their heads honestly. Lilly's stomach even rumbled.

Blake saw Lisa had bruises, and Lilly also got injured on her face and arms, but overall there was nothing serious.

They met danger.

Blake suppressed his pain and worries, silently picked up the iron pot on the ground, and said, "Sit down and rest for a while. The stewed pheasant will be ready soon."

Next to the bonfire was a deck chair, fully unfolded at the moment, where Blake should rest at night.

Lisa threw herself on the deck chair as if out of consciousness and hugged Lilly.

Lilly lay softly in Lisa's arms with her limbs stretched out.

"I'm so hungry." After escaping from danger, Lilly realized she had exhausted all her strength. She felt so hungry that she wanted to cry. She did not want to move and could only lie down.

Blake scooped up the pheasant. He had not completed stewing it, but its flesh on the outside was the most tender. He tore off the outer layer from the pheasant and filled two bowls of soup.

Lisa watched Lilly gobble up the pheasant soup while blowing. She immediately passed her bowl over.

"I'm not hungry!" Lisa said, "You eat it!"

Lilly shook her head. "No, you eat it!"

Lisa insisted on giving her soup, so Lilly ate it.

Lilly, who drank two bowls of pheasant soup, was still hungry. She stared at the pot of pheasant.

Blake suddenly understood why Bettany had to come to Malie City.

"Lilly, we'll go home after we eat the pheasant." Blake felt his heartache. He could not help but hug Lilly tightly in his arms.

Once Lilly consumed too much energy, she would be hungry.

Lilly was so hungry that Blake dared not to ask her what had happened in the underworld.

He was afraid that he would not let her go down again.

After stewing the pheasant, Lilly ate all of it. Blake and Lisa were reluctant to eat any. Lilly was too hungry.

After Blake put out the bonfire, he quickly threw the pots and pans into the trunk and immediately drove to the house.

The nearest county town to Apex Mountain was Malie City. Lilly fell asleep in the car after eating a pot of pheasant soup.

It took about 40 minutes to descend from Apex Mountain and about an hour to return to Malie City from the foot of Apex Mountain. Blake called Bettany and said they would be home in an hour. The SUV drove down the mountain.

When Bettany heard Lilly was returning, the quiet house was suddenly noisy.

"Margaret, get the frozen lobster out of the freezer!"

The lobster was cooked and frozen in the refrigerator. If Lilly did not return today, they would eat the lobster tomorrow and replenish fresh ones for Lilly.

"Wash the veggies and take the chilled beef out! And that chicken! The chicken we bought today! Kill it!"

The Crawford family developed a space to keep pets. That was what the designer understood. If the designer saw that the pet room was for raising chickens, he would be stunned.

Commercial buildings could not raise chickens. So they used a lot of money to build the pet room to solve the problems of disturbing residents and sanitation. They only wanted Lilly to eat fresh chickens.

Bettany heard Lilly was hungry and worried she would eat too fast. It would be bad for her stomach. So Bettany immediately chopped up the stuffing and wanted to make minced meat eggs for Lilly to fill her stomach first.

"Quick! Lilly will be home in an hour! Hugh, slice the mushrooms! Where's Drake? Wash the veggies! Margaret, that stuffing..."

Drake came out of the room and went into the kitchen to wash the vegetables. The vegetables became sparse after washing.

Meanwhile, Hugh clumsily cut the mushrooms into different sizes.

Bettany felt anxious. "You two are so stupid! Get out!"

Drake and Hugh looked at each other after being kicked out.

Drake put on his shoes and went out. Hugh asked him where he was going, and he answered coolly, "Go for a walk."

Hugh was baffled. He sat outside on the balcony to watch the news while looking at the intersection in the distance from time to time.

When Drake arrived at the community gate, he sat on a seat at the bus stop.

He could see Apex Mountain from the bus station. The way back from Apex Mountain also passed here, and he could see it from a distance.

Drake stared at the road in the distance. After a long time, he finally saw Blake's SUV.

He immediately stood up and went to the store downstairs in the community to buy two ice creams.

One ice cream was for Lilly, and another one was for Lisa.

When Blake's car was about to enter the community, he saw Drake coming out of the store with a bottle of sauce and two ice creams.

The car stopped. Blake rolled down the window and glanced at the ice creams in Drake's hands.

Drake did not change his expression. "I came down to buy sauce for Granny."

Blake raised his eyebrows.

Chapter 777 Lilly, It's Good That You Come Back

Lilly had an ice cream as soon as she woke up.

She ate a pot of pheasant on the mountain but was still hungry. So she woke up a little stuffy and thirsty. She became more energetic after eating ice cream.

The SUV drove to the open-air parking lot outside the side door of the community. There were parking spaces in the underground parking lot, but after entering the side door, it was the building where they lived. Blake wanted to take Lilly back as soon as possible and park the SUV in the parking lot later.

Blake said, "Come on! Your granny must have cooked the meals."

Lilly nodded and ran toward the community.

On the 16th floor, the elderly woman took her grandson to watch TV. Her grandson sat on the floor while playing with toys. Suddenly, the sound of chopping meat came from upstairs.

The elderly woman put down her phone sternly and cursed, "It's so noisy! Why did they chop meat at night? Is there any family that cooks now? They did it on purpose!"

She was going to go upstairs to make trouble.

Reid sat on the sofa playing with his mobile phone. He frowned and said, "If you want to find faults, you must find a good time! It's only 7.30 pm. Many people are still cooking. Don't provoke trouble!"

She had to find a good time to find faults. It was useless to argue unreasonably.

The elderly woman felt uncomfortable. The more she listened to the noise, the more she was annoyed! She went to the balcony and saw Lilly and the others downstairs.

The elderly woman suddenly realized. "It turns out that their child is back!"

It had been too quiet upstairs these past few days, and she could not find anything to make trouble.

She thought Lilly would run around the house and make noises. Then, she could go up later and say the Crawford family disturbed her!

As soon as Lilly stepped out of the elevator, she smelled the aroma of food. She had never been so hungry and wanted to eat the meal.

"Granny, I'm back!" Lilly yelled while opening the door.

Bettany, who served the dishes, froze and hurried over to check on Lilly.

Hugh said solemnly, "It's good to come back! It's so late. Come back earlier next time."

So that Lilly won't starve.

Bettany hugged Lilly and murmured, "My dear! You finally come back..."

Seeing the scars on Lilly's face and arms, she was so distressed that she wiped away tears quietly. She was afraid that Lilly would not come back.

"Go to wash your hands and eat! The meal is ready..." Bettany thought of something and said quickly.

Lilly obediently went to wash her hands, sat on the chair, and could not wait to pick up the fork.

"You can eat it now!" Bettany served the food again. She urged Lilly when she saw Lilly had not eaten yet.

Lilly shook her head. "I can't start eating until the elders are seated!"

Bettany smiled. "Okay."

Margaret brought the lobster and said, "We've eaten just now. Little Miss, eat if you're hungry. Mrs. Crawford, I'll do the rest. You guys can sit down."

Bettany nodded. Everyone sat down at the table, and Lilly started eating.

Lilly ate the minced meat eggs hungrily. Bettany kept picking food for her, and she ate them all.

It was the first time Bettany could not keep up with Lilly's eating speed.

"Eat slowly. There's more!" Bettany's eyes were full of distress.

"Lisa, hurry up and eat too!"

Bettany piled the dishes in front of Lisa. Drake peeled all the shrimp meat and filled them into a small plate.

Hugh looked at Lilly and gave Lilly all the chicken pieces.

Blake held the bowl pitifully. "I haven't eaten a bite."

Bettany did not even look at him. "The dishes are on the table. Take them yourself!"

Blake grinned.

Lilly and Lisa ate voraciously and quickly finished a table of dishes.

Although Bettany and Margaret prepared the meal temporarily, Lilly and Lisa could finish eating. It was evident that they starved.

"Have you not eaten for ten days?" Bettany felt distressed.

Lilly was taken aback and asked, "Ten days?"

Blake nodded. "You two have been away for ten days."

He also did not return for ten days and had been waiting at the Lake of Confusion.

He cooked dinner and could not place the iron pot on the flat ground, so he put it in a notch.

Unexpectedly, Lilly and Lisa flew out directly from under the pot.

Lilly exclaimed, "Wow, I feel like it's only been one day, but it's been ten days!"

One day in the underworld was equal to ten days in the mortal world. Lilly did not understand and did not care too much.

After eating, Lilly returned to her room immediately. She wanted to feed the soul flower to Pablo. The ghosts rested for a while and then came out.

"We took the entire Hidden Valley back. The soul flower is still in the Hidden Valley. How do we get it?" The weakling spirit pondered.

The harem spirit said, "The strong wind in Hidden Valley is still there. We can't get it in the underworld, let alone now..."

After Blake heard about their experience in the underworld, he was shocked. This trip was only to pick flowers, but it was still dangerous. It was too difficult!

Lilly stared at the Hell Ruler Palace, waved her hand, and zoomed in on the Hell Ruler Palace. With another wave, all the ghosts and Blake could see the inner space of Hell Ruler Palace.

Blake raised his eyebrows slightly. "King Libra? I suddenly have an idea."

Chapter 778 Wage Earner, King Libra

Blake smiled evilly. "How about we let King Libra help us get the soul flower?"

Hell Ruler Palace was Lilly's. It was too easy for her to take something from King Libra.

They could wait for King Libra to get the soul flower and take it away immediately before he could react. Then the soul flower was theirs!

The weakling spirit felt surprised. "I even forgot about him! Look at him now! It seems that he also wants the soul flower!"

The soul flower was a fatal attraction to King Libra, who was seriously injured and kept disappearing!

The harem spirit stared excitedly at King Libra. "That's a good idea!"

At this moment, King Libra worked hard to get the soul flower. As the King of Hell, he had fallen to this point.

He stared at the soul flower and almost drooled. He had not had any supplements for too long and was too weak. The feeling of hunger was comparable to Lilly's just now.

"Soul flower!" King Libra gritted his teeth and stretched out his hand with difficulty.

He had long since lost his arrogant appearance. His eyes glowed with hunger, and he desperately wanted to pick the soul flower.

After hard work, he had wiped out the strong wind around Hidden Valley.!

There was still the most central layer of strong wind. As long as King Libra passed through it, he could get the soul flower!

No matter how embarrassed King Libra was, he was still a King of Hell, so he could still compete with Hidden Valley. It was just that King Libra felt aggrieved!

In the past, he could go straight in and pick the flowers. The strong winds could not hurt him or even mess up his hair! But it was so difficult for him to get a flower now.

King Libra took a deep breath and finally took another step forward, only a few steps away from touching the soul flower!

He had no idea the people and ghosts outside Hell Ruler Palace were all waiting for him.

"Come on!" Lilly said sincerely, "It's up to you!"

The ghost bride looked nervous. "It's almost there! I can't wait to go up and help him!"

Everyone was holding their breath, but Polly's voice caught them off guard. "Hey! Can you do it? Let your Dad do it if you can't!"

Everyone was startled.

Lilly was stunned. "Polly, why haven't you slept yet?" The parrot would go to sleep at night.

Polly sang, "I can't sleep without you at night..."

Everyone endured and finally listened to Polly finish a love song.

Meanwhile, King Libra finally arrived at the center and caught the soul flower!

Blake squinted. "Lilly, be ready!"

Lilly answered, "Yes, I'm ready!"

King Libra caught the soul flower, and the strong wind of Hidden Valley instantly wanted to crush and tear him apart!

King Libra did not dare to be careless and immediately left Hidden Valley.

"Haha! I got it!" King Libra was excited. "Soul flower!"

After he swallowed the soul flower, his soul would recover a small half.

He wanted to take this opportunity to escape Hell Ruler Palace and swore to kill Lilly!

King Libra opened his mouth and wanted to bite the soul flower!

Immediately afterward, the soul flower was gone!

King Libra was stunned. Then, he quickly realized and cursed angrily, "D*mn it! You little trash! Give me back the soul flower! That's mine!"

Lilly caught the soul flower!

Although it was hard for King Libra to get the soul flower and look pity, it was not easy for her to go to the underworld.

Lilly, Lisa, and ghosts also worked hard to get the soul flower. She must save Pablo.

Lilly immediately stuffed the soul flower into the bottle that contained Pablo's soul.

The bright red color of the soul flower turned into dots of light, which quickly disappeared. The soul lamp had become brighter!

The harem spirit's eyes lit up. "Wow, look! Master Belmont's soul is brighter!"

The ghost bride was excited. "That's right! It's brighter!"

Lilly was overjoyed. "Wow! It works! Master's brand bulb lights up!"

The weakling spirit and Blake were speechless.

Pablo's shattered soul seemed in a hazy glow. It almost disappeared before, but now it was bright and reassuring.

Blake said, "It's good as long as it works! So the soul flower is still useful."

"It's just that according to the record in The Utmost Secrets of the Spirit Realm, the effect of the soul flower to condense the soul is only one month. We still have to find the amphibious soil as soon as possible."

Otherwise, it would be too dangerous for the current Lilly to go down to find the soul flower frequently.

The weakling spirit thought and said, "Could amphibious soil also be called Black and White Soil? Could something that can inhabit the underworld and the mortal world be between the two worlds?"

Blake asked, "Did you all see different soil when you went down and up?"

The ghosts shook their heads. Lilly shook her head too.

"Daddy, we didn't see it when we went down, and we flew too fast when we came up, so we didn't see it..."

They discussed it and decided not to cross the underworld next time but to look around the entrance.

It would be best to find it without stepping into the underworld.

"Okay, it's 10.00 pm! You've been tired for so long. Hurry up to take a shower and sleep!" Blake said.

Lilly nodded, but at this moment, she heard a knock on the door!

She wondered. "Who's here?"

Outside the door, the elderly woman on the 16th floor looked viciously and yelled, "Open the door! You all are so noisy! We need to sleep!"

The elderly woman took out her mobile phone to open the owners' group chat, then made a voice message.

"The owner on the 17th floor! Can you stop making noise? You chopped meat and made the floor slam! Can you take care of your children? It's so noisy! I've been enduring you guys for days. You don't even care about the children running around on the floor! Even if you're rich, you can't indulge children!"

After speaking, the elderly woman sent the newly recorded voice message to the group chat.

She was very proud of herself. That was the sound she made at home just now. She must make everyone hate the family on the 17th floor!

So what if you're rich? Everyone hates rich people!

Chapter 779 Misunderstandings Are Sour

After the elderly woman sent a voice message to the owner group, several other owners started expressing their opinions.

Some tried to persuade everyone, saying, "It's not right for them to be running around during break time. We have to work tomorrow! Let's try to understand each other!"

Others showed empathy, stating, "The most annoying ones don't even consider the fact that children are living in the building! In the past, I had noisy neighbors upstairs who would curse at others in the middle of the night. Selfish runts, just because they can afford a villa, doesn't mean they can act however they want! Nobody cares if they jump around like that!"

The owner on the 15th floor raised suspicions, asking, "Are you sure it's the 17th floor...? I heard the noise coming from the 16th floor."

Similarly, the owner on the 8th floor was puzzled, commenting, "Is the soundproofing that bad? How can the noise from the 17th floor affect the 15th floor? This must be extremely noisy!"

The elderly woman responded angrily through her voice message, scolding the 15th and 8th floors, "Are you siding with the 17th floor? They don't even know you when they first moved in. You're siding with them because of their wealth aren't you?"

The owner on the 15th floor became infuriated.

There had been a long-standing grudge between the 15th floor and the elderly woman on the 16th floor. Even before the 17th floor became vacant, the elderly woman's family had been troubled by the noise from the 16th floor.

Late at night, it was clear that it was the family from the 15th floor who caused disturbances by playing with a ball.

However, the elderly woman was boisterous, and whenever they tried to reason with her, they were scolded and forced to back down, leaving them with no choice but to endure their anger.

Bettany also witnessed the commotion in the group and was familiar with the situation involving the elderly woman on the 16th floor.

Once, when she and Margaret went out to buy groceries, the elderly woman intentionally approached them and asked what kind of vegetables they were purchasing.

Upon seeing that Bettany and Margaret were buying large lobsters, the elderly woman made a snide remark, saying, "Elderly people shouldn't consume seafood. It can increase the risk of gout."

Typically, Margaret would go out to buy a significant amount of vegetables, and the elderly woman assumed she was a relative. Consequently, she confronted them with a sarcastic comment, "Why are you buying groceries for this family? Isn't that someone else's responsibility?"

Margaret explained that she was their helper responsible for cooking at home and taking care of both Bettany and Lilly. This statement further fueled the elderly woman's bitterness, causing her to exclaim, "Oh, you hired a helper. You must be from a wealthy family."

The elderly woman believed that the term "wealthy family" would serve as a mockery of the Crawford family. Little did she know that the Crawford family was wealthy.

Margaret ignored her, which fueled the elderly woman's anger even more.

Bettany maintained a serious expression, as she was preoccupied with her concerns for Lilly these days and had no desire to quarrel.

However, at that particular moment, her interest was suddenly piqued, and she felt the need to take a more serious approach.

The Crawford Mansion in Alford was quite extensive, with neighbors being separated by a lake, so conflicts were less likely to happen.

Bettany felt a tinge of excitement and anticipation. She opened the group chat and handed the phone to Hugh, saying, "You should start a live stream later! Oh, and remember to record the screen!"

Hugh took the phone with a speechless expression and replied, "You're still so spirited even in your seventies. Why do you get so fired up?"

Bettany gave him a disdainful look and retorted, "If you have nothing to say, then keep quiet!"

Hugh chuckled and touched his nose.

Observing that Lilly, Blake, Lisa, and Drake had all joined the discussion, Bettany made a gesture for everyone to be quiet.

Despite her childish words, Bettany displayed a conniving nature in her actions.

Meanwhile, the knocking on the door persisted.

The elderly woman noticed that the live broadcast was being aired in the group, causing her to knock politely.

Bettany, with a stern expression, forcefully swung the door open. The elderly woman's hand almost hit Bettany's face.

The elderly woman momentarily froze, then said, "You're all here, perfect timing! There's something I need to discuss."

Bettany emanated a strong presence, her eyes piercing, and her face devoid of any expression. She coldly asked, "What is it?"

The elderly woman was taken aback and hesitated for a moment. She nervously crossed her arms and stammered, "Y-you... your children were running around in the middle of the night..."

Bettany sneered, "And?"

The elderly woman was once again taken aback, unable to muster her anger.

Look, how arrogant and impolite wealthy people are! They lack manners!

Her children were running around and still didn't know what they did wrong.

This was the perfect opportunity to showcase the quality of their household to the other owners in the group. It made sense to start a live broadcast!

The group chat exploded with outrage, as they realized that the situation on the 17th floor was unreasonable.

The elderly woman placed her hands on her hips, displaying her strength, and exclaimed, "So what? We still need to sleep while your family is awake! Your children were making noise and playing ball in the middle of the night. How shameless!"

Bettany coldly stared at her and retorted, "How would you know that you saw our children running around? Are you just basing it on the voice note you sent to the group? You created the disturbance yourself and recorded it, didn't you!?"

Bettany's fierce response generated dissatisfaction among the sympathetic individuals in the group.

"The 17th floor is being unreasonable! Shouldn't they apologize?" one person exclaimed.

"I can't believe it... the residents on the 17th floor have such low quality?" another person commented.

"Running around and playing ball in the middle of the night, and they dare to be so aggressive. There's a negligent parent behind every misbehaving child!" someone else chimed in.

Lilly gazed at the elderly woman, perplexed by what was happening.

However, all she sensed was a ghost hovering over the woman.

If Master were here, he would raise an eyebrow and exclaim, "Is this even possible?"

Chapter 780 She's a Hypocrite

As Lilly observed the jealous spirit atop the elderly woman's head, the woman continued her tirade, exclaiming, "You're being so unreasonable! You're disturbing everyone. I didn't complain about you, but I came here to tell you that you're being unreasonable!"

Bettany turned to the side, coldly looking down at her, and retorted, "Take a good look. Our house is fully carpeted, so the sounds you recorded in the group couldn't have come from our home!"

The elderly woman's face froze, and she shouted, "Having carpeted floors might be great for you, but it's disturbing us..."

Bettany called out, "Blake."

Blake glanced around and realized that there was no basketball for him to play with.

However...

He got a mop from the store room and began performing an impromptu act.

He struck the ground with the mop.

Despite the thickness of the carpet, the brand of which remained unknown, the sound was remarkably muted—there was no sound of the mop hitting the floor, only a dull thud.

The elderly woman stared, and protested, "I didn't say you were making noise in the living room... you were causing a stir in the bedrooms!"

Lilly immediately began running back and forth, asking, "Do you mean this room?"

Lilly followed suit.

"You mean this room?"

"Or maybe this room?"

The elderly woman could not let it go and followed along, only to realize that the entire house was covered in carpets!

She did not expect this to happen.

Who would carpet their house like this?

Taking care of a fully carpeted house could be troublesome, with high maintenance costs and the need for regular cleaning to keep it hygienic. Accidental spills or dirt could be exhausting to deal with. The elderly woman believed that carpeting the entire house was pointless and wasteful as if it were money that had no better use.

However, the elderly woman was not willing to back down. She argued, "You still play basketball and jump rope, yet there's no sound when you hit the mop, and even when the child purposely ran lightly, there's no noise..."

Her gaze fell upon the table, noticing the spacious dining room and a vase of flowers placed on it.

In just two strides, the elderly woman rushed forward and shouted, "You're acting so as not to make any sound. Why don't you smash that vase on the floor?"

Blake's smirk disappeared as he responded coldly, "Oh? We don't have a basketball at home. Do you want me to twist your head off and use it to play on the floor?"

"I think that would make quite a loud noise!"

The elderly woman froze, suddenly feeling terrified. She took a step back unconsciously and stammered,

"No... it's fine if you don't do it. You... you're threatening an old woman..."

Bettany glared at the old woman, her anger palpable as she said, "Do you see it now? Our entire house is carpeted. Even if a group was having a disco inside, the noise wouldn't reach downstairs! If you find fault again, be careful that my son-in-law might beat you up!"

Blake clenched the mop with both hands and snapped it into two pieces, his voice dripping with coldness as he uttered, "Get out!"

Bettany's mouth twitched.

Such wasteful behavior!

After the old woman stumbled in fear and fell to the ground outside the door, Bettany promptly closed the door. She turned to Margaret and instructed, "Margaret, please arrange for deep cleaning and disinfection, especially the area she stepped on."

Hugh suggested, "What deep cleaning? Just replace the carpets."

Lilly intervened, "Grandpa, we shouldn't waste things!"

Hugh agreed, "You're right, Lilly. We should hire professional help."

Meanwhile, Bettany turned off the live broadcast, and the group erupted with excitement and admiration. Many of them had never seen the 3000 square feet flat on the 17th floor, known as the largest in the entire community.

The comments in the owner group reflected their astonishment at the luxury and size of the flat.

"Wow... It's so eye-opening! How luxurious!"

"My god, what's a mansion? This is a mansion!"

"I know the carpet they used! It's a professional sound-absorbing carpet. I saw it at a trade show! Not to mention, it wouldn't make any sound if you're playing basketball."

"I live downstairs, and I didn't hear the sound of basketball at night. Their carpet works!"

The owner of 1602 confirmed the lack of noise, saying, "They demonstrated it just now, and there was no sound. We live opposite their kitchen, and while there was some noise from chopping meat, it was after seven o'clock and not bothersome at all. It's understandable that every household cooks and makes some noise while preparing meals."

The owner on the 15th floor mentioned their previous encounter with the old woman, suggesting that she was intentionally causing trouble and being bitter. The owner of the 8th floor noted the high value of the carpet, with each square meter priced at 2,000 dollars, estimating the total cost of the carpeting to be around 500,000 to 600,000 dollars.

One person jokingly offered their services for carpet cleaning, saying, "Sir! Are you short on workers? I can come over and clean the carpets tomorrow!"

The situation in the owner group took a positive turn, with most members acknowledging the efforts made by the Crawford family to minimize noise and appreciating the luxury and quality of their home.

After the elderly lady outside the door fell and struggled to regain her footing, she experienced a deep sense of embarrassment and shame...

Observing the group of people once more, it appeared that a heated discussion was underway about the luxurious furnishings adorning the 17th floor, and the carpet there was remarkably soundproof...

There was also a group of people expressing admiration for the 17th floor and seeking favor from the Crawford family.

Some even said that she blocked the elevator with a chair!

The elderly woman's emotions suddenly erupted.

She allowed herself to do so, but she forbade anyone from talking about it.
