

Eight Uncles 81

Chapter 81 How Long Will I Remain By Your Side?

Debbie was cursing viciously. "All you are is a little bastard! You are the lowest of the low! So what if you're the little princess of the Crawford family? The blood that runs through your veins still belongs to dirty trash from the lowest rungs of society!"

She harbored all that resentment within her. Every word out of her mouth was vicious and blunt.

Pablo frowned. With a snap of his fingers, he had a talisman seal her lips shut!

"What a dirty mouth you have," Pablo said with disgust.

Debbie whined and whimpered now that she was no longer able to spew curses.

"Take a shower and go to sleep, Lilly. I'll deal with her," Pablo said.

The resentful energy and aura that Debbie carried with her were already being absorbed by the jar.

Her soul body would no longer be able to maintain its form. She wouldn't be able to harm anyone but it was still better for her spirit to be extinguished.

Something like that wasn't something he was going to subject Lilly to.

Lilly seemed to want to ask more but decided against it. She obeyed. "Okay, Master."

She ran into the room with Bunny in her arms, took a set of pajamas, and went to the bathroom.

Pablo turned to Debbie. "I'm curious. How did you die?"

"You said it was Stephen who did it so how did he die?"

He stroked his chin with great interest as he sized her up.

She stubbornly turned away.

He raised a brow. "Hah, still have a stubborn streak, do you?"

He waved a finger and extinguished half of her soul.

Debbie let out a muffled grunt of pain.

"I was just curious. It's not as if I have to know. If you won't tell me, I'll just send you on your way."

"..."

She didn't really have a choice but to speak now but that still required him to remove the talisman!

only then that he realized his mistake. "Oh, I forgot hopelessness washed

the talisman was peeled off. She simply lay kicked me to my party. They had gone to the trouble of visiting the Crawford family from the them off on for getting in his way in the vehicle and had repeatedly kicked her head in his specially designed to escort prisoners. There were seats on both sides of the car, surrounded by iron railings. Those railings are locked... kicks had been so ruthless, they sent was when her head right through her skull and ruptured her cranial arteries. That was would've just been locked up for a few days before being released for spreading of film, was going to she got her identity changed, her beautiful appearance would've allowed her an early debut. The early bird got the worm as a nanny for the Crawfords. She could do anything to get close to deal with her without were most

a way to climb into Jonas's bed... were all cut short because snickered and asked, "So, you think? I'm a resentful spirit who can scare people to their living a miserable viciously oppressed. His only source of drinking water was the times to a brick by now. "Are you done? You should have no other reason to I already told you everything I know. Why aren't you letting I ever say I was going snapped his fingers and watched as she ceased to exist.
them in the room in her cherry-print pajamas after her shower. "Hey, "She left."

took Lilly by surprise. "We don't need to catch endanger anyone. Her soul will vanish from temporarily kept in the jar of souls. They would be free to go once the opportunity for Lilly nodded. "Okay.:"
to nag at the girl for not yet sleeping obediently got into bed and listened to Bettany reading her a story kiss the child on her forehead but couldn't stand up and