Chapter 871 Apart For A Year

In the end, Ivan was carried back by the harem spirit.

The harem spirit was a kind and amiable old man, but fortunately he was not a real old man after becoming an evil ghost, otherwise he would not be able to carry Ivan back with his old bones.

A ghost carried a man on his back to ride the wind for thousands of miles, Ivan laid on the back of the harem spirit, it was the first time he was carried by a ghost, and he felt surprised.

The harem spirit suddenly said, "Little buddy, you... You need to grow up quickly."

Ivan nodded, "Well, I know....Thank you, Grandpa."

He would definitely catch up with Lilly.

In Ivan's small heart, a goal was deeply buried:

To become stronger, to be able to protect Lilly when she needed protection... No matter when and where....

Ivan's face was still childish, but his eyes were full of determination.

The harem spirit suddenly laughed and said nothing.

Lilly and Ivan both left.

The two people in the car on the edge of the cliff prayed and begged to the air, and after an unknown period of time, the surroundings were quiet.

Only then did they venture to take a look, and saw a mobile phone lying quietly on the ground, and....

An underworld bank note?!

It turned out that Lilly was too impatient and ran too fast, but there were piles and piles of her talismans on the table in the Palace of the Underworld, and there were also heaps of the underworld bank notes.... She said she was going to save money for herself in advance.....

She just wanted to get a talisman to give them as a thank you, but who knew that she made a mistake and got the underworld bank note.

It was even the largest one..

The two of them were so frightened that their legs were weak, how could they dare to accept this coin. they thought to themselves that they must have seen a ghost.

This meal was prepared in a hurry, but it was not perfunctory at all. All the ingredients that could be served were carefully cooked.

Lilly felt the familiar cramps again.

A table of dishes, four or five bowls of rice, a pot of chicken soup....

Desserts, fruits, and fruit tea that remove greasy and greasy after eating-

Not only Lilly's belly was stuffed round, Polly's belly also became round.

After the meal, Lilly slumped on the sofa, and Polly slumped on her shoulders, each with a satisfied sigh:

"It's better at home!"

Old Mrs. Crawford brought another cup of yogurt over, and asked distressingly, "How long have you not eaten?"

Lilly was afraid that her grandma would be worried, so she said, "It's just one... One day."

Old Mrs. Crawford did not believe it.

Lilly started to feel sleepy after eating and drinking.

Being in the underworld for a year, there was really no sky, no day and night, no hunger or sleepiness.

Lilly felt that if she stayed for another year, maybe she wouldn't have to go to the Abyss, and she would be lost!

Blake was sending a message to Anthony:

Lilly has grown taller, and needs to buy new clothes... These are pretty good, take a look.

He sent over a dozen pictures in a row, all of which were small skirts, pants, and beautiful clothes.

A couture black shirt was mixed in the middle.

Lilly's tears froze and she suffocated for a moment.

"Summer homework?"

What, she had summer homework right now?

Drake nodded, "You are already in the first grade of elementary school."

Lilly, "!!!!"

"I am in elementary school?"

She was dumbfounded.

Three months underground, she was already in elementary school in the human world... Wait, she was not here, how did she go to school?

Josh the chatterbox answered her doubts, "My dad said that although you are not here, you still need to go through the process of going to school."

"Whether you go to school or not, you have to get the diploma first."

"Oh yes, for the exam... The first grade will not have a final exam, so don't worry! However, when you enter the second grade, remember to come back for the exam!"

Blake glanced at the rearview mirror.

He remembered that when he saw it yesterday, Pablo's white robe was clean and tidy.

When did it break again?

Pablo curled his lips slightly, and touched Lilly's small head. "It's fine if you can't sew it."

Lilly tore the talisman and stuck it on, saying, "How can you say not to mend it?"

Her talisman was omnipotent.

"Master, this is the mending talisman I just researched, look!"

She stuck the newly drawn talisman to the hole in the robe.

A bright light flashed, and the white robe returned to its original state.

Pablo,

She really could draw anything.

"Why do you want to go to Claudia?" Pablo asked, "You didn't promise that kid."

While sticking the talisman, Lilly said, "However, I still want to see it."

She raised her head and said softly, "Master, the best thing in this world should be family members. I want to see why there is such a thing."

It was the people closest to you who hurt you the most.

She did not understand.

The car soon arrived in Charade County, and Blake drove straight to Claudia's house.

Lilly got out of the car, this was a town under Charade County, it was not very lively, but it was not too desolate, there were various stalls on the street.

Lilly deliberately searched for it, but she didn't expect to hear a phrase of "so what".

"However, she is your own daughter!" Lilly's heart ached.

However, Gloria nodded as a matter of course, "I know she is my daughter, and I wouldn't be like this if it wasn't someone else."

"The daughter I gave birth to is a lump of flesh that fell from my body... I am at perfect liberty to do what I want...

Gloria still could not figure out why she was imprisoned for seven years.

The child she gave birth to was her own decision, she was the mother who gave birth to her and raised her, so it was her right to deal with it.

"Isn't it normal for parents to beat their children since ancient times..." Gloria felt more and more aggrieved the more she thought about it, "Shouldn't she be beaten for stealing food? If I did not beat her, she wouldn't remember the lesson!"

She still stole food at home, so she was born to be a cheap bone.

Lilly understood that talking too much was useless.

What she wanted to know was why she committed violence.

Sometimes it was just because of a concept, sometimes it was just because of an innocuous little thing

"Then today, you don't feel that you are guilty towards Leigh," Lilly stared at her, wanting to see if there was any trace of remorse in her eyes that was stubborn or dared not admit it.

Blake thought for a while and said. "If you ran away, Dad would hide and follow you secretly?

"I won't let you find out. When you get tired from playing and think about looking for your father, you suddenly find that your father is gone..

This time, the child should be panicking. When she cried enough and really knew that she was afraid, he would show up again.

"Of course, that's just Dad's style of doing things."

There were also some parents who took the trouble to respect and teach, and kept talking in the children's cars.

There were also parents who beat them up, and dutiful sons were born under the stick.

There was also simple and rude verbal violence from parents: Don't dare to come back no matter what you do.

While talking, there was another pair of father and son on the road. The son took the new toy and assembled it enthusiastically.

The father kept urging him to hurry up with the things, but the child seemed not to hear, so angry that the father confiscated the child's toys.

The child who was concentrating suddenly lost his toy and started crying... The father got impatient and scolded and reprimanded him on the street.

There were many parents with children on the street.

Every parent was different.

Lilly held the pen in her hand, and didn't write for a long time.

Pablo looked at her quietly, wondering what she would write down.

After a long time, he finally saw Lilly slowly write a line of words on a new booklet:

All evils in the world: There is a kind of violence in the world, which is the violence of parents against children.

This violence existed in almost every family.

Gloria screamed.

"Ahhhh-

She backed away in horror, stuck to the sofa, and shouted, "Don't come here!"

Gloria thought that she had already forgotten what her daughter looked like.

However, tonight, a bloody head suddenly appeared on the phone screen.

The few memories about her daughter in her mind suddenly became clear!

"You. Don't come here!" Gloria yelled in horror, "Get out, get out!"

The phone floated faintly.

It rose to about one meter, which was exactly the height of a child....

It seemed that there was an invisible body standing in front of her, and the head connected to the neck of the body happened to be the head on the screen of the mobile phone.

It walked forward step by step- the mobile phone moved forward one by one.

“Mom, have you forgotten about Leigh?” The phone slowly floated closer, “How could you forget Leigh?”

Gloria screamed, grabbed something on the sofa and threw it at the phone.

However, luckily, such a big pillow just missed and landed on the side coffee table.

“Mom, it seems that you still remember Leigh,” There were two lines of blood and tears in the eyes of the head, “Mom, have you seen it? I am in so much pain that I cried until my tears disappeared, and I was bleeding from crying.”

“Mom, I’m really hungry... I want to know why mom doesn’t give me something to eat!”

“Mom, look at Leigh’s mouth and throat... The hot oil was poured by my mother, it’s so scalded and rotten now!”

A sound of “Mom” should have been the warmest and most cordial salutation in the world.

However, at the moment it seemed terrifying.

Leigh’s mouth grew wide, and even two small blue and purple hands appeared on the screen, opening her throat.

Everything she did to her daughter played back in hell.
She couldn't bear it just once, and the screams and cries didn't stop.

Finally, the bad news stopped, and she was paralyzed on the ground like a pile of feces.

“Finally... Is it over?” She cried, with snot, saliva and tears all over her face.

“Do you think this is the end?” The ghost messenger who carried out the retribution said blankly,

“This is just giving you back all the atrocities you have done to your daughter.”

The next step is your real retribution!”

Her shitty limbs struggled and crawled, “No—I want to go back, I want to go back!”

She did not want to die, it was terrible to die!

She used to be complacent because the laws of the world could not punish her. Even though many people scolded her in the past, she would suffer retribution. She thought it was something after death. What else do people know after death?

I didn’t expect it to be so scary!

Seeing the crazy Polly, the corners of Pablo's mouth twitched, and Lilly's eyes were filled with amazement.

"Master and father said that Polly would not get knocked off easily, and sure enough, he has become more powerful, as expected of Polly!" Lilly boasted fiercely.

Polly was very excited when he was praised, he bear Bellflower!

Wow, wow, it was so awesome, it could not only talk, sing and fly, but now it could also attack with magic!

“It’s okay, Rookiel” Polly raised a paw and danced, “I’m sorry, I’m sorry, it’s too powerful and I won’t stop it for a while!”

Not sure where it learned the lines, and it even looked smug when it said them.

Bellflower limped over, just now Polly was instinctively counterattacking, but he didn’t know it himself, so it was no wonder...

Bellflower pitifully stuck to Lilly’s feet, meowing as though complaining, with tears in its eyes,

Lilly hurriedly comforted him, “Bellflower is injured? It’s alright, don’t cry, I’ll cure you right now. Polly didn’t do it on purpose, don’t provoke it next time.”

Bellflower was even more aggrieved, “Meow!”

Why did this damned bird become so powerful, it’s not fair! It also wanted to travel with the little master, and it also needed to become more powerful!

Beep!

Seeing that Bellflower was fine, but with an aggrieved expression on his face, the proud Polly sang happily:

Chapter 880 Retentive Memory, Lilly's Super Brain

In the study room, there was a language book in front of Lilly, and Drake was teaching her patiently.

Lilly listened very carefully, and quickly sank down.

Because of the epiphany in the Abyss, Lilly quickly entered a state of efficient and focused learning. The words and vocabulary she had learned could be fully memorized after reading it-

Whether it was writing or memorizing, she had no difficulties at all!

Furthermore, Drake had taught her to read and write before, and although most of the characters she learned at that time were traditional characters, she also learned simplified characters,

So Lilly learned the language quickly, and she memorized it completely after flipping through the book.

Drake couldn't believe it, her speed... People who didn't know would think she was just flipping through books!

"You can write these and see. Drake put the classroom exercises of last semester in front of her.

Lilly nodded, picked up the pen and swished...

Soon she discovered: She could do it all!

She remembered it vividly in her mind! Every stroke, every punctuation mark... Were all very clear!

In less than half an hour, Lilly finished the whole classroom exercise.

Drake opened his eyes wide, "No way...
