

Elite Doting 1361

Chapter 1361: His Proposal (Part Four)

Xuxu blushed. She clenched her fists and pounded on his chest. "Stop laughing."

"I'll propose to you on the bed tonight." Yan Rusheng looked down and kissed her quickly.

Then he grinned. "You kissed me just now, so I'm returning the favor..."

Her heart softened. She hugged his waist, snuggling into his embrace.

The pure and ecstatic laughter of the kids surrounding them brought her back to their childhood.

'The bride and groom may now exchange the wedding rings...'

'You may now kiss the bride...'

'I'm not kissing her, she's so fierce.'

'Yan Rusheng, are you going to kiss her or not?'

...

"You were my wife since you were five. Why haven't you done your duty as a wife?"

Yan Rusheng suddenly broke the silence.

He looked at Xuxu, feigning unhappiness.

Xuxu snorted. "Have you done your duty as a husband?"

He had the nerve to mention this? She was by his side for so many years, being jealous of so many girls...

Yan Rusheng frowned. "I was still young back then. My organs weren't fully developed, how could I do my duty?"

Xuxu became annoyed. "Yan Rusheng, enough!"

She then blushed profusely.

Yan Rusheng smiled. "Haha. Wen Xuxu, you stupid woman, darned woman, annoying woman."

He chided tenderly, squeezing his arms around her.

The more he loved her, the more he wanted to tease her. How he wished he could bury her inside of him, never having to part.

Xuxu was indignant. She chided, "Yan Rusheng, you arrogant cry baby that cries easily. You have no guts."

Yan Rusheng calmly replied, "From today onwards, I'll show you just how gutsy I am every night."

Xuxu was dumbfounded.

This fellow couldn't hold a proper conversation without taking things out of context. She'd had enough.

Xuxu was speechless for a while before changing the topic. "Put me down quickly. Aren't you tired?"

"I don't get tired after doing it the entire night. Why would I be tired of carrying you?" Yan Rusheng ignored the crowd as he carried her to the cafe.

Xuxu blushed, gritting her teeth as she glared at Yan Rusheng. "Can you say three lines without bringing up anything inappropriate?"

"Yes." Yan Rusheng nodded, then he looked down at her.

"Really?" Xuxu became interested. "Let me hear it."

Yan Rusheng said, "Wen Xuxu, I love you."

Yan Rusheng continued, "Wen Xuxu, I really like you."

Yan Rusheng added, "Xuxu, Rusheng wants you to marry him. Are you willing?"

There weren't any rose petals forming a heart shape, nor a candlelit dinner. There were no friends or family witnessing it, neither was there a diamond ring. But tears rolled uncontrollably from Xuxu's eyes.

She bit her lip and nodded.

Xuxu Rusheng!

Wang Daqin's last words to her rang in her ears. She buried her head in his chest, crying uncontrollably.

"Wen Xuxu, why do you love me so much?" Yan Rusheng couldn't comprehend why she was crying so badly. He looked down at her, not knowing whether to laugh or cry. "Indeed, I'm too outstanding."

Xuxu laughed and rolled her eyes at him. "Narcissistic."

Chapter 1362: His Proposal (Part Five)

She wrestled out of his embrace and jumped onto the ground.

Xuxu reached for his hand and they walked hand-in-hand into the cafe.

"Despicable!"

A man wearing sunshades and in a black sweater emerged from behind the publicity poster at the entrance of the 9D movie theater. He glared venomously at Yan Rusheng's back.

He silently cursed him.

F*ck. Engaging in public displays of affection in front of so many people? Simply despicable!

A tall handsome man headed towards the movie theater, silently cursing Yan Rusheng for his high-profile public displays of affection.

Indignant was written all over his handsome face.

F*ck, f*ck, f*ck. Lu Yinan could follow Zhou Shuang around, and Yan Rusheng could kiss Wen Xuxu in broad daylight.

Yet, he had to act like a wanted criminal?

He was wearing his most hated sweater and wearing sunglasses although it wasn't sunny. How pretentious he felt! B*stard.

He made his way into the theater.

The twenty-minute 9D movie had just ended and the crowd was heading towards the exit.

He ran towards the exit, immediately spotting the small figure he was looking for in the crowd.

He neared her and suddenly took out a rose from his pocket, placing it in front of her. He said in a low voice, "Miss, would you like to buy a rose?"

Su Yue was holding a drink in one hand and her phone in the other. She was looking at the picture he had posted on his Moments a few minutes ago. When she heard someone ask her if she wanted to buy a rose, she rejected him without thinking. "No."

She didn't even lift her head.

The man was persistent. He followed after her. "It's very cheap."

Su Yue frowned. "I don't want it even if it's cheap."

She then increased her pace.

He quickened his steps as well, his voice kept low. "Then I'll give it to you."

"No." Su Yue frowned. She was annoyed and turned off her lock screen. She turned to look at the man who was selling her the rose.

She was about to scold him when she saw his face, and her mouth hung open.

He smiled tenderly. "It's free. I'll give it to you."

"Uncle Ming?" Su Yue asked, in shock. She blinked. Was her eyesight failing her?

Why was Uncle Ming here?

Ming Ansheng ignored her and returned to his usual voice. "Was the movie good?"

"Yes." Su Yue nodded. Then she recalled something and grabbed his wrist, pulling him to a corner. She whispered, chiding him, "Uncle Ming, why are you here? My third sister-in-law and third brother are outside. You have to leave."

Then she grabbed his elbow and pushed him towards the exit.

She looked around as though she was a thief.

This scene made Ming Ansheng recall the loving moment between Yan Rusheng and Wen Xuxu earlier. His heart clenched.

He looked left and right, then gave in to his desires.

He grabbed her waist with one hand and held her head with the other. Then he lowered his head and kissed her red lips.

In full view of everyone.

Young Master Ming was secretly satisfied. He could finally express his love openly.

Su Yue's eyes widened in shock. She tried to push him away, but she was no match for him. Ming Ansheng didn't move an inch.

Chapter 1363: Uncle Ming, Hide Quickly (Part One)

She frowned in frustration. She forcefully bit his lip.

Ming Ansheng bore with the pain, not letting go of her until the taste of blood entered their mouths.

"Little lass, that was too harsh," Ming Ansheng scolded, wiping the blood off his lip. "Luckily you didn't bite my tongue. You would've surely bitten it off."

His heart ached when she lost a strand of hair. Can't she take more pity on him?

She had no qualms about biting him.

And she had made him hide in a cupboard, almost suffocating to death.

"I've said it before: we have to keep low. Why did you kiss me in front of so many people?" Su Yue glared at him. She chided, "What if my third brother and third sister-in-law saw us?"

She looked around guiltily, afraid that Xuxu would appear.

Su Yue was on tenterhooks.

Ming Ansheng lost it at the mention of Yan Rusheng and Wen Xuxu. "They're too busy for that."

He knew that Su Yue didn't want to go public about their relationship, not just because she was afraid of his grandfather's objection, but also because she didn't want Wen Xuxu to know.

She felt that dating him was embarrassing.

Of course, he knew that it wasn't because he was inferior. It was because, like himself, she felt awkward because of his brotherhood with Yan Rusheng.

Su Yue didn't understand what he meant. "What do you mean?"

What was third brother and third sister-in-law busy with?

Her eyes suddenly widened. She looked at him in panic. "You... You've seen my third sister-in-law and third brother?"

How else would he know that they were busy?

"I saw them from afar," Ming Ansheng replied. "Your third brother carried your third sister-in-law into the amusement park hotel. I estimate that they won't be out for one or two hours."

Su Yue frowned in confusion. "What are they doing in the hotel when it's still bright outside?"

She never liked to think deeper into things.

In actual fact, she was too pure and innocent.

"If you want to know, you can go in with me," Ming Ansheng smirked.

Su Yue immediately recalled something when she saw the dirty smile on his face. She blushed and bowed her head, pinching his chest. "Uncle Ming, you're a rogue."

Ming Ansheng feigned innocence. "What did I say?"

Su Yue knew that he was pretending and decided not to pursue it further. But she was still uneasy. "My third brother and third sister-in-law really went to do it in the hotel?"

Ming Ansheng nodded.

All the things he thought he never had to do in his lifetime when dating, he did today.

From hiding in a cupboard and hiding at familiar faces, to lying...

That's right. Yan Rusheng and Wen Xuxu had entered the cafe, not the hotel.

But if he didn't lie to her, she would definitely chase him away.

He felt so aggrieved...

Su Yue nodded and her gaze swept over his face. Then she took his sunglasses from his hand, putting it on for him. "Then put on your sunglasses. Don't let them see you."

Ming Ansheng was speechless.

He should've felt fortunate that it was still daytime. Since he was wearing sunglasses when it wasn't sunny, the worst he would be called was pretentious. If it were in the night, bystanders would think that he was crazy.

Chapter 1364: Uncle Ming, Hide Quickly (Part Two)

At the start, she was still looking around with uneasy eyes as she walked. However, she let her guard down after a while.

Mainly because she forgot.

Ming Ansheng led her in the opposite direction from the cafe. The amusement park was large and the further they walked away, the less likely they would encounter them.

The amusement park was filled with screams. The more screams there were on the ride, the more popular it was.

There was a rollercoaster up ahead and the riders were screaming wildly.

There were many people queuing for it.

Su Yue's eyes brightened when she saw the roller coaster go past her at breakneck speed. She pulled Ming Ansheng's arm and said, "Uncle Ming, let's go on the rollercoaster later."

Shock flashed across his eyes when he heard her. He frowned and asked, "Haven't you ridden on it before?"

"I want to go on it again," Su Yue pleaded. Then she thought of something and frowned. "How did you know that I went on it already?"

She squinted at him in suspicion, and before he could reply, she asked confidently, "You were following me the whole time?"

Ming Ansheng didn't shake or nod his head.

Silence means consent.

Su Yue clenched her fists and pounded her fist on his shoulder. "You're too brazen. What if..."

Ming Ansheng interrupted, "There are no 'what ifs'. The truth is that I wasn't discovered."

He then tilted his chin up slightly in an act of annoyance.

Su Yue pursed her lips. "Let's ride on the rollercoaster."

She grabbed his elbow and dragged him towards the queue.

Ming Ansheng refused to budge. "Let's not. There are so many people and we'll have to queue for a long time."

Su Yue saw his blushing face and held in her laughter. "You're afraid?"

Ming Ansheng frowned and denied. "How could I be? I've surfed and even street raced. What haven't I done before? How could I be afraid of rollercoasters?"

Su Yue couldn't tell if he was really afraid or not. She was just trying to ridicule him until he gave in. "If you weren't afraid, do you dare to ride it with me?"

This tactic of hers worked.

To be exact, only Su Yue's taunting tactic would work on him. There was a saying... One would willingly act stupid in front of a loved one.

Even if you knew that he was lying or teasing you, you'd still do it willingly.

He patted his chest and declared, "Why not? You'd better not scream in my ear later."

Su Yue rolled her eyes at him. "Don't you know? Riding a rollercoaster is only thrilling if you scream."

Ming Ansheng mumbled, "Actually, screaming is even more thrilling during something else."

Although his voice was small, Su Yue still heard him. She asked in curiosity, "What activity is that?"

"Nothing," Ming Ansheng replied with a shake of his head. Then he diverted her attention, saying, "Let's join the queue."

Both of them joined the queue. Su Yue instructed, "Stay in the queue, I'll get us drinks. I'm thirsty."

Ming Ansheng replied, "You queue. I'll buy the drinks."

"Alright." Su Yue nodded.

Although the queue was long, it moved quickly.

It was almost their turn and Ming Ansheng hadn't returned. Su Yue anxiously looked in the direction in which he left earlier.

Chapter 1365: Uncle Ming, Hide Quickly (Part Three)

Ming Ansheng returned at the same time, holding a drink. He drank from it as he headed towards her.

Su Yue frowned. "Didn't you get one for me? Why did you only buy one?"

"Can't we share?" Ming Ansheng questioned, raising his eyebrow at her.

Su Yue suddenly remembered something and chuckled. She took the drink from him and drank a mouthful. Then she said, "Actually, I despise my third brother's various public displays of affection."

Ming Ansheng tapped her nose lightly and said, "Little one, you're just jealous."

Then he bent down and snatched the straw out of her mouth, taking a huge slurp.

"You're annoying." Su Yue blushed, pushing him away forcefully. Then she looked away and said, "I don't want it. Third sister-in-law always rejects him. She obviously dislikes it."

She despised her third brother doing it, but... if it were Uncle Ming doing it to her instead, it seemed good.

Men loved it when their women were shy. Ming Ansheng was no different. He liked it when Su Yue blushed. He found her exceptionally attractive.

He wound his arm around her waist and whispered seductively in her ear, "Women like to refuse even though they actually want it."

Su Yue snorted. "I won't reject it if I like it."

In reality, that didn't seem to be the case...

Ming Ansheng nodded. "Yes. I have figured that you'll take initiative."

The corner of his lip curled upwards.

Su Yue understood what he meant immediately. She blushed. "Annoying."

"Next."

The ride attendee called. Su Yue and Ming Ansheng looked over. The visitors in front of them in the queue went on the ride one by one.

Su Yue saw the number of people in front of them and said to Ming Ansheng, "I think we'll be able to ride in the next batch."

"Oh." Ming Ansheng answered, sounding... deflated.

He looked at the rollercoaster carriage, his palms sweating.

"The next three." The attendee said waved.

The next three? Su Yue looked forward and smiled happily. "Uncle Ming, it's our turn."

She held his hand and sprinted forward.

Ming Ansheng followed unwillingly. At the entrance, the attendee made her put the drink aside before letting her in.

On the rollercoaster carriage, Su Yue smiled at Ming Ansheng. "Uncle Ming, let's take a selfie later."

Ming Ansheng looked at her weirdly. "With that speed? The phone will fly away."

This lass was indeed one of a kind. On rollercoasters, didn't girls usually hug the elbows of their boyfriends tightly, saying 'I'm scared'?

To think she wanted to take selfie...

Su Yue shook her head. "It won't. I have a secret weapon."

Then she took out her phone from her pocket, followed by a small pouch with a long string. She placed the phone in the pouch and hung the string around her neck.

Then she looked up and grinned at him. "See, this way, the phone won't fly away even if I don't hold it. Isn't it a perfect plan?"

Ming Ansheng stared at her secret weapon, smiling.

Was he that lame?

"Buckle your seatbelt," the ride attendee said, going around to check if all the riders had their seatbelts fastened.

Chapter 1366: Uncle Ming, Hide Quickly (Part Four)

Su Yue and Ming Ansheng were the last two. After they checked them, the attendee nodded towards somewhere. Young Master Ming's heart skipped a beat and his handsome face turned pale.

He gritted his teeth and the carriage started moving.

Su Yue was incredibly excited. "Let's take a selfie first."

She then raised her phone high, grabbing Ming Ansheng's hand with her other arm. She helped him make a 'peace' sign. "Uncle Ming, cheese!"

In the frame, Ming Ansheng's expression was stiff. He grinned along with her, saying 'cheese'.

Su Yue took the photo and Ming Ansheng's stiff expression hardened.

"Ah..." The carriage suddenly increased in speed. Su Yue shrieked before grabbing his elbow, exclaiming, "Uncle Ming, it's starting, it's starting!"

Her eyes were bright and shimmering with excitement.

Ming Ansheng pressed his lips together and nodded. He grabbed tightly to the railing in front of him, closing his eyes, as though he was sending himself to his grave.

Undeniably, the ride was thrilling.

Screams filled the air, each getting more high-pitched than before. Su Yue was shrieking loudly as well.

Su Yue turned to look at Ming Ansheng. When she saw that his eyes were closed, she pressed her lips together, as though she was holding in something. She frowned and said, "Uncle Ming, you should scream. It's not embarrassing. They say that you're supposed to scream on roller coasters. The more you scream, the more exhilarating it gets."

Ming Ansheng opened his eyes and gave her a look. "Screaming on the bed is even more thrilling, yet I didn't see you screaming."

He knew that Su Yue wouldn't agree to it, so this way, he wouldn't have to shout either.

F*ck. He was the President of Bright Vision. Screaming would affect his image.

Especially his image in front of Su Yue. He knew that he was a steady uncle figure to her. Her love for him also held a tinge of admiration.

He was determined not to ruin Su Yue's image of him. He had to maintain his steadiness.

Su Yue blushed. "Uncle Ming, you're gross. You're incorrigible. Ahh..."

Su Yue screamed at a sudden turn before she could finish her sentence. Then it slowed and she looked at Ming Ansheng with a frown. "Are you going to scream or not?"

Although he was pale and he was sweating profusely, Uncle Ming was determined to maintain his steady image. He kept a straight face and asked her, "If you promise to scream tonight, I'll scream now."

It was such an inappropriate topic, but he negotiated with her so formally.

“Are you going to scream or not?” Su Yue asked, her tone threatening. Before he could reply, she suddenly hugged his neck, pulled him downwards and kissed him on the lips.

“Oof...” Ming Ansheng frowned, his eyes widening and silently cursing.

Darn it. This little thing is too brazen.

For his safety, he continued gripping tightly to the handrails in front of him, while Su Yue hugged him tightly.

At another sudden turning, both of them instinctively sucked each other’s lips.

At that moment, both of them felt amazement like never before. The carriage came to a slow and it was about to an end.

Su Yue was still hugging his neck and sucking his lips.

The carriage came to a halt, and Su Yue only let go of him after everyone unbuckled their seatbelts. She then mischievously raised her eyebrow at him.

“Uncle Ming, this is how you do a high-profile, high-level public display of affection. My third brother’s are all too low standard.”

Chapter 1367: Let’s Make Our Relationship Public (Part One)

Ming Ansheng was speechless.

His heart was pounding furiously and he hasn’t recovered fully.

But Su Yue’s remarks effortlessly cracked him up.

Come to think of it, those roller coaster rides were nothing as compared to the excitement that came along with dating a young girl.

A combination of surprise and shock.

He had barely recovered himself when she sprung another surprise on him once again. How strong must his heart be to endure all this excitement and surprises?

“Uncle Ming, do you want to try it again?” Su Yue saw Ming Ansheng’s blank expression and she grinned slyly.

Ming Ansheng declined immediately, “No.”

He removed his safety belt and leaped off agilely.

Su Yue followed closely behind.

“Uncle Ming, what shall we do next?”

She had barely finished talking when her phone started to ring. After glancing at the phone screen, she became considerably tense. "Uncle Ming, hide quickly! My third sister-in-law is calling me."

Su Yue tugged at Ming Ansheng's arm and her eyes wandered around at her surroundings, trying to find a hiding place.

Ming Ansheng frowned, wasn't she panicking too much? It was just a phone call.

He puffed up his chest and straightened his back. The thought of hiding had never crossed his mind.

Su Yue became anxious and left him behind instead. She walked away from Ming Ansheng and answered the call. "Hello, Third sister-in-law."

Xuxu's anxious voice sounded. "Yueyue, where are you? Where did you go?"

"Hmmm..." Su Yue opened her mouth when a scream interrupted her. She answered hastily. "I'm at the roller coaster ride."

Ming Ansheng was exasperated!

Why was this girl so honest? Would she die if she told a lie?

Xuxu smiled and said, "We guessed that you might be there. Stay there, we will be there shortly."

Su Yue widened her eyes. "Both you and Third Brother are coming?"

She glanced at Ming Ansheng as he stood there with his hands in his pockets. He looked completely at ease and relaxed.

Xuxu could detect the anxiety in Su Yue's voice and she grew suspicious. "Yes. Is there a problem?"

"Nothing! I'm hanging up now." Su Yue ended the call hastily and turned around. She spluttered, "Uncle Ming... I... My third brother and third sister-in-law are coming. Go hide now..."

She nudged Ming Ansheng and motioned to an area near the huge trash cans.

She soon realized that the trash cans wouldn't be able to hide Ming Ansheng.

Ming Ansheng was exasperated and frustrated at the same time when he saw how anxious Su Yue was.

Sounding defeated, he said, "Alright, I'll go somewhere else."

Su Yue heard him and grinned happily. "Okay!"

She tiptoed and gave Ming Ansheng a peck on his lips. "Uncle Ming, thank you."

There was a trace of helplessness in Ming Ansheng's smile.

She could easily dissolve his unhappiness and frustration every single time with a single kiss.

"I have something to attend to, see you tonight," Ming Ansheng whispered before putting on his sunglasses. He bent and kissed Su Yue's plump cheek.

He swiftly turned around and walked off in the opposite direction.

As the man began to fade away from sight, Su Yue suddenly felt a twang of pain in her heart. She had an urge to chase after him.

Chapter 1368: Let's Make Our Relationship Public (Part Two)

"Yueyue."

Wen Xuxu's voice prevented Su Yue from chasing after Ming Ansheng. Her attention was diverted and she snapped back to her senses.

Su Yue retracted her gaze and turned towards the direction of the voice.

Xuxu was strolling towards her with Yan Rusheng.

Su Yue smiled and threw a furtive glance at the direction where Ming Ansheng left. He had vanished from her sight.

"What are you looking at?" Xuxu eyed Su Yue when she noticed her gazing absentmindedly into the distance.

Su Yue shook her head and managed a faint smile. "It's nothing much."

She glanced at Yan Rusheng. "I thought you wanted to take a rest? Why did you come back so soon?"

She only took a ride with Uncle Ming.

Su Yue felt rather despondent.

Xuxu said, "I'm worried about you. What ride do you want to try? Let's go together."

"I don't feel like playing anymore. Let's go back," Su Yue replied softly and hung her head.

At the thought of Ming Ansheng's forlorn-looking figure, she suddenly lost all of her enthusiasm.

She promised herself that she would come to the amusement park with Uncle Ming the next time. She could enjoy to her heart's content without hiding from anyone.

"What's wrong?" Xuxu sensed that there was something wrong with Su Yue and it had her concerned.

Su Yue bit her lips and shook her head. "I'm fine. I took the roller coaster ride just now and I'm tired."

Although Xuxu didn't know what happened to Su Yue, she seemed rather dispirited. Xuxu guessed that she wasn't in the mood to play any longer.

She gazed in the direction where Su Yue was looking at just now and her suspicions began to bubble.

Yan Rusheng was definitely in favor of ending their day at the amusement park. He trailed behind Xuxu and Su Yue as he carried Xuxu's bag for her.

Su Yue appeared to be gloomy and down the entire day as she watched how Lu Yinan and Zhou Shuang bickered with each other. Yan Rusheng and Xuxu continued to display affection for each other openly. All that was on her mind was Ming Ansheng.

After she took a shower, she collapsed on her bed and stared at the ceiling.

When will she be able to declare her relationship with Uncle Ming? She wanted to hold hands with him openly, just like how Third Brother and Third sister-in-law did.

Without worrying about anything...

'He will never let an illegitimate daughter whose mother was a mistress, enter the Ming family's doors...'

'I heard that Grandfather Ming doesn't like your family...'

She heard that Uncle Ming's grandfather was a very prideful man who emphasized heavily on social status and proper upbringing. There was no way he would approve of her.

She was even more afraid that she would implicate Third Brother and Third sister-in-law.

Su Yue had never felt so troubled and conflicted in her life.

What could she do? What exactly should she do?

It was almost 9 p.m., but Ming Ansheng wasn't back.

After a long day, Xuxu was also exhausted and didn't look for Su Yue.

The room was dark, and Su Yue tossed and turned in bed.

Ming Ansheng didn't contact her at all ever since they parted ways.

She wasn't sure if he was angry with her. He wanted to make their relationship public, but she refused.

At that moment, her phone rang.

Su Yue excitedly seized her phone and looked at the screen. Her eyes lit up; it was Ming Ansheng.

She picked up the call and eagerly answered, "Uncle Ming, why aren't you back?"

Chapter 1369: Let's Make Our Relationship Public (Part Three)

Ming Ansheng answered gently. "I'm at the hotel's entrance. Can you come down? I want to bring you somewhere fun."

Su Yue immediately agreed. "Okay!"

Ming Ansheng told her to look out for a black Maserati that was right outside the hotel.

Su Yue took out her suitcase and rummaged for a pink top, which Xuxu had previously said that it looked good on her. She paired it with a white skirt and polka dots leggings, before putting on a pair of silvery-gray boots.

She looked girlish and fresh.

She took a sneak peek at the corridor after opening the door. She stepped out after making sure that it was empty.

She was acting like a thief as she trod to the elevator.

She heaved a sigh of relief only when she entered the elevator.

It was freezing in the night.

A blast of icy wind mercilessly attacked her, and it made Su Yue grip her clothes tightly. She walked down the steps and gazed into the distance.

A black Maserati was parked next to the fountain.

She walked to the back of the car for a closer look.

Initially, she had no idea how the logo would look like, so before she came down she made a quick search online. After making sure that it was the Maserati, she opened the door.

“What are you looking at?”

Su Yue’s hand had barely touched the car when a man’s head peeked out from the window. He grinned at her.

After a moment of hesitation, she spoke, “Uncle Ming?”

She seemed startled.

There was someone else in the driver’s seat and it was a man with golden hair. She couldn’t catch a proper glimpse of the man’s features.

There was another person in the front passenger seat, and Su Yue threw a casual glance. But she couldn’t tell if it was a man or a woman.

“Why are you still standing there? Come in.”

Ming Ansheng opened the doors and grabbed Su Yue’s tiny hand.

Su Yue nodded and got in.

There was a light and pleasant fragrance in the car. At the first whiff, she knew it belonged to a woman.

Su Yue glanced at the front passenger seat and finally got a good look at the person. She had long golden curls.

She was wearing a wine-red coat and she exuded sultriness from head to toe.

Su Yue was silently surveying the woman when she turned around to look at her.

Their eyes met. Su Yue didn't feel embarrassed when she got caught scrutinizing the woman. She merely pursed her lips and averted her gaze.

She didn't even introduce herself or say hi.

The woman didn't seem to mind as she glanced at her. She smiled at Ming Ansheng and asked, "Is your girlfriend underage?"

She was obviously teasing him.

Ming Ansheng smiled and replied, "She just turned 18."

The woman nodded. "She is cute."

Ming Ansheng nodded and agreed readily. "Same sentiments."

His Yueyue was not only cute. She was so adorable and lovely that she completely melted his heart.

"She is beautiful," Dasmond, who was driving, interjected suddenly.

He pressed the ignition button and drove the car out of the hotel premises.

Ming Ansheng grinned. "That's what I thought too."

He pointed at the man and introduced to Su Yue, "Yueyue, that is Dasmond."

He then gestured to the lady and said, "His wife, Victoria."

Chapter 1370: Let's Make Our Relationship Public (Part Four)

Su Yue responded with a grunt as she wasn't used to such introductions. She merely showed that she had heard him.

Ming Ansheng understood her too well and merely smiled. "I have spoiled her."

Su Yue snorted quietly to herself. When did he spoil her? Why wasn't she aware?

Ming Ansheng continued to chat with the couple. When the car fell silent, Su Yue inched closer to his ear and whispered, "Uncle Ming, where are we going?"

Didn't he say that he was bringing her somewhere fun? Why did he bring her to meet strangers?

Will they be with them?

If that was the case, it would be such a damper.

Ming Ansheng quipped, "We will grab a bite first. I'll bring you somewhere else later."

"Just the two of us later?" Su Yue knew that they would eat together with the couple. But she dreaded that he would say that they would be with them for the entire night.

Ming Ansheng could decipher her worries and he stroked the tip of her nose affectionately. "Yes, just the two of us," replied Ming Ansheng in a tender voice.

Su Yue was delighted and she leaned forward to kiss Ming Ansheng on the corner of his lips.

Ming Ansheng grinned and wrapped his arms around her. He raised his eyebrows and questioned her. "Still want me to hide?"

Su Yue hung her head and mumbled, "You're angry with me, right?"

Ming Ansheng asked instead. "What do you think?"

In a hushed voice, Su Yue replied, "I know you are."

That could be the only reason he didn't contact her after he left.

And when he was forced to leave abruptly today, she could sense his frustration and anger.

Ming Ansheng grinned. "Silly girl, why should I be angry with you? You should be angry with me."

She was merely afraid that his grandfather would object, and it was a fact. So why should he be angry?

Su Yue's eyes lit up and she peered at Ming Ansheng. "So Uncle Ming, you're not angry?"

"Of course not." Ming Ansheng squeezed Su Yue tightly and bent to kiss her on the forehead.

Su Yue smiled sweetly and replied, "Uncle Ming, you're the best."

She snuggled against Ming Ansheng's chest.

Victoria smiled and commented, "Both of you look so loving."

"We are loving indeed," Ming Ansheng replied loudly as he cupped Su Yue's face and kissed her.

As though no one else was around.

Su Yue widened her eyes in shock.

There was someone else in the car, alright? Was it a good idea for them to flaunt their relationship?

Caucasians didn't make a fuss regarding such intimate behaviors. Dasmond and Victoria didn't even bat an eyelid, and Dasmond even turned on romantic music.

The song played softly and everything seemed mellow and beautiful.

Ming Ansheng wound his arm tightly around Su Yue's waist. They could finally declare their relationship openly to someone he knew.

And to get blessings from his friends.

Although it was his friends from abroad.

...

It was morning in the capital city.

All the employees at Bright Vision weren't in the mood to work.

Their boss would be away for the next couple of days and everyone felt less stressful without his presence. The atmosphere was comfortable and relaxed.

"Chairman."

The President's secretary's voice suddenly rang.

The atmosphere began to stiffen and everyone was tensed.
