

EMPEROR 1771

Chapter 1771: Purple Soul Flame Lantern

The Infernal Lightning Emperor and Deprived Soulstir Emperor looked at this scene with wide eyes full of disbelief.

The Blood World Emperor had died from the strange purple flame lantern floating behind him.

“When you three are using Legacy Artifacts against me, it’s not fair if I don’t use one, right?”

Davis sneered at them, which made their expression twist in rage.

He had already regained his balance and neared the flaming body of the Blood World Emperor that still withstood the purple flames as he raised his hand and pulled the purple flame lantern towards him with a swipe of his hands while also collecting two other things, including his spatial ring.

With the Blood World Emperor relatively being the weakest in terms of soul defense on top of losing his crimson halberd as he threw it towards him, Davis decided that he should take the Blood World Emperor’s life as it had the most success rate. And as expected, even with them being cautious of his mysterious life-stealing technique and protecting their souls to the fullest, the Blood World Emperor was unable to withstand the soul-extinguishing effect of the purple flame lantern.

“The Soul Palace lent you their Legacy Artifact, the Purple Soul Flame Lantern!?”

The Infernal Lightning Emperor raged. If this was the case, he felt that they should’ve raided the Soul Palace when they had the chance back then.

“Didn’t I already tell you two that the Soul Palace is mine? Did you think that we are in an alliance or something?”

Davis’s expression became amused. With the Purple Soul Flame Lantern floating above his palm, he felt more emboldened, not to mention the three wicked path hegemony had reduced to two now.

The Purple Soul Flame Lantern’s spirit had initially refused to submit to him, even after he displayed his Death Laws to it. It had become shaken a bit, but that’s all. It still held its pride and refused to submit to him, who forcefully conquered the Soul Palace.

However, after he used a strand of Fallen Heaven’s death energy on it during the time he spent training with Nadia, it became aghast and submitted, just like all other entities displayed immense fear towards it as though it was completely threatening their entire existences. This inexplicable fear once again told Davis that he couldn’t possibly near its purity in Death Laws, or any other laws it was capable of unleashing for that matter, for he was already convinced that it was an apex treasure sought out by even the most prominent powers in the world of immortals.

The inscribed words of Tian Cangjie in the abandoned temple still disturbed him more or less, but along with the Calamity Light, he knew that these were things that would only come to haunt him in the future, so he wasn’t that bothered.

His sapphire eyes flashed with a peculiar light when a fiery blaze suddenly descended on the Infernal Lightning Emperor.

Shriek!~

The cry of a phoenix echoed as the Infernal Lightning Emperor was engulfed in bright scarlet flames. However, using his crimson staff that became monstrously big, radiating an immense infernal crackling might, it defended against the scarlet flames.

Bang!~

The Infernal Lightning Emperor quickly retreated towards the side.

However, the crimson staff quickly caved in and plunged towards the ground before it finally hit the surface and smashed thousands of people into meat paste while its impact also crushed many. The scarlet flames caused a crack to form on this Legacy Artifact, causing the Infernal Lightning Emperor who used it to survive this attack to become aghast.

Fortunately, the scarlet flames faded as the crimson staff survived. However, cracks could be seen on its body as it trembled, trying to return to its master, but halfway through, it revealed more cracks, appearing as if it was on the verge of breaking.

Bang!~

Suddenly, a curvy crimson robed figure appeared as a fine leg stomped on the crimson staff, shattering it into many pieces.

Pui!~

The Infernal Lightning Emperor spat out a mouthful of blood as he trembled, feeling the connection he had with his Legacy Artifact become severed. His furious expression that displayed his raging emotions from seeing his prized daughter die right beside him quickly faded, replaced with the fear of losing his life again as he felt a lot of his blood essence wane from this severance.

Even the Emperor of Death was unable to harm his Legacy Artifact like this, so he finally understood what the Blood World Emperor had been trying to say before the Emperor of Death almost assassinated him.

‘How in the world did this wench become powerful enough to battle two levels higher!?’

His scalp turned numb as he looked at a woman make him feel fear, veins bulging on his head as he felt his pride and ego hurt.

He couldn’t remember the last time he was afraid of a woman, so this foreign feeling cast a heavy shadow on him, especially when he looked at an escaping silhouette in the distance; his eyes almost became dull in hopelessness.

Indeed, the Deprived Soulstir Emperor already seemed to have escaped using his blood essence at top speed when he sensed the presence of Sect Master Lea Weiss like the Blood World Emperor initially did. The Deprived Soulstir Emperor gained a lot of distance and managed to disappear into the horizons, and just when he turned to look at the Emperor of Death and Sect Master Lea Weiss, he saw that they were both looking at him as though they were eagles who had their eyes on their prey.

The Infernal Lightning Emperor suddenly stood still at a loss, not knowing what to do. He wanted to escape, but he knew that these two would exterminate his empire if he escaped. Unlike the other wicked path powers, he treated his family better than most in exchange for treating all other people like sh*t, but that just made him locked down here as he began to quiver.

“You can have him, but you won’t mind if I rob his treasury, right?”

Davis glanced at Sect Master Lea Weiss and spoke, knowing that she would probably fight him if he said that he wanted to kill.

“Don’t bother.”

Just when Davis thought she also wanted the loot, which was reasonable yet shameless, Sect Master Lea Weiss shook her head.

“The wicked path follows the strongest, which means that even if they have a Treasury, the most prized possessions are with their strongest, which is their hegemon. Considering that they would’ve expected this scenario as they offended you, all Emperor Grade and even King Grade Treasures are already with them.”

“This is also why they have only a single Legacy Artifact instead of many because once a Legacy Artifact reaches a certain level or they end up having two, they’ll just give in to their temptation and take it along with them as they ascend, leaving only one. Sometimes, the wickedest of them all would not respect the power that nurtured them and take even the only Legacy Artifact with them.”

Hearing Sect Master Lea Weiss’s sudden lengthy explanation, Davis smiled as he came to understand that she had calmed.

“Oh, I see. So that means that I have all, if not; most of the treasures from the Blood Reaper Underworld Palace?”

“Yes.”

Sect Master Lea Weiss nodded, and Davis promptly checked the Blood World Emperor’s spatial ring, which made his eyes go wide in astonishment towards the extreme amount of resources he had, especially resources that increased one’s Blood Laws and Darkness Laws. However, it also had many things he frowned upon, making him feel nauseous before he looked away.

‘If it’s like this, then the Spatial Blight Emperor’s would also be...’

Davis hadn’t checked Spatial Blight Emperor’s ring yet, but he took out a treasure from the Blood World Emperor, and it turned out to be the Grand Burning Phoenix Crown. He sent this Legacy Artifact towards Sect Master Lea Weiss as it floated towards her. However, she didn’t instantly take it but looked at him with a complex expression before she took the crown and wore it on her head.

The Grand Burning Phoenix Crown, which had not been bound, could instantly be used by Sect Master Lea Weiss as it accepted her. But at this point, Sect Master Lea Weiss felt that the binding they once shared was of no use to her as her prowess had already exceeded its support capability, for she knew that she could suppress even Ancestor Cornelia with her bloodline prowess if she wanted to, but she dared not as she possessed immense respect for such a character.

Nevertheless, once she wore the Grand Burning Phoenix Crown, the regal look of her became increasingly majestic, especially with her veil hiding her features, revealing on her eyes and a hint of her beauty over the semi-transparency.

She raised her hand and pointed at the Infernal Lightning Emperor, who had his expression churn in anger mixed with shame.

“Trash who killed my disciples and elders, I won’t let you die a painless death~”

Chapter 1772: Straight For The Treasure

The Infernal Lightning Emperor’s expression constantly changed from despair to rage was already an eyesore for Davis that he couldn’t help but mention to Sect Master Lea Weiss.

“You forgot to say that his descendants and ancestors would also meet a tragic fate as promised.”

Davis raised both his hands. His soul force surged as it entered the Purple Soul Flame Lantern and energized it, making it radiate into a bright purple glow before purple flames began to spread out as it plunged towards the city below like it was raining flames.

The Infernal Lightning Emperor’s eyes shot wide as he saw a huge number of meter tall strands of purple flames rush into his Infernal Mountain City and burn thousands of people, all powerhouses and experts who attacked the Emperor of Death earlier using their infamous infernal lightning and all kinds of lightning that Davis hadn’t seen before.

Some even used extinction lightning to defend themselves.

However, once the strand of purple flames fell on them in a ghastly manner, it instantly ignited them up and burnt their bodies to ashes. Some tried to escape almost instantly as they felt alarmed by Davis’s words, but even they were caught, and a very few opened up spatial tunnels to escape. However, the special kind of purple flames made sure to attach to them before their spatial tunnels could completely open up, which made them die when they appeared out of the tunnel on the other side.

As for the Peak-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouses and below, although their bodies managed to survive the onslaught of the purple flames, their souls shattered.

It was as if though it was purifying the entirety of the Infernal Lightning Palace.

Davis could also see that there were some unfortunate accidents like his purple flames harming the people with different robes or the wicked path powerhouse taking the lives of unrelated people with them to death. Perhaps, they were disagreeable to them. However, he made no moves to save them or even give them some kind of help.

The people here were all wicked path followers.

To Davis, they were nothing but strangers whom he would help if he pitied their plight or kill if they offended him, following the same rule as he followed for the righteous path people. However, with a glance using Fallen Heaven’s karmic powers, he could see that they were all more or less carrying karmic sin except the children and a few adults, but even then, he could see a bunch of children possessing karmic sin, which made him feel nauseous and biased towards their actions.

The wicked path truly corrupted people while citing the law of nature, making them overly inclined towards the vile nature of humans instead of the one that is appreciated and welcomed, not to mention that being good here would mean being vulnerable and easy to kill.

Still, just because this world is truly survival of the fittest doesn't make their actions and deeds any right. Instead, they took advantage of it and committed more vile acts, fueling themselves into thinking that it was the way of the heavens because that was how it worked for them until they died.

Davis understood that there was no changing that unless they were people like Schleya who knew what they were doing and accepted that they're what they say instead of justifying their actions with the law of nature to convince their own hearts to be able to do more evil.

After all, people weren't born good or bad. They just do what they do to survive and grow, even if it means stepping on others. It was just that in the cultivation world, doing it with a valid reason made a difference between the two schools of thought: the righteous path and the wicked path.

"You heartless bastard! I treated you with respect and even gave you compensation while stepping over my pride. I swear I will take revenge for this! Just wait for your family to die!!!"

The Infernal Lightning Emperor screamed in pain, reveling in his heart as he looked at his family members, wives, children die one by one. He shed tears before he rushed towards the distance, his words making him look like he was going to the Alstreim Family to kill the Emperor of Deaths' relatives.

However, Davis didn't move but sighed as he still looked at the destruction that he caused below. He knew that he had killed at least a hundred thousand people who wore the robes of Infernal Lightning Palace.

Looking at his unmoving silhouette, Lea Weiss felt disheartened as she rushed back towards the Blood Reaper Underworld Territory to chase down the Infernal Lightning Emperor before he could do some serious damage to Davis's home, but then suddenly came to a stop as she saw the Infernal Lightning Emperor plunging towards the ground as he crashed into the wilderness, forming a crater.

Her eyes went wide in shock when Davis suddenly passed by her and reached the crater where the Infernal Lightning Emperor fell in a few seconds, noticing his body looking lifeless.

Sect Master Lea Weiss's figure flashed as she appeared beside him and absentmindedly looked at him collect the spatial ring of Infernal Lightning Emperor and also his body, which confirmed her thoughts that the Infernal Lightning Emperor truly died.

"Was it you...?"

She couldn't help but ask as she felt shaken by this scene.

There was no usage of energy as far as she could sense with her prowess that was two levels higher, but people at the apex of their world could drop dead just like that?

"I don't play or even take chances when someone wants to hurt my loved ones. I go straight for the kill using whatever means necessary..."

Davis simply spoke with a solemn expression on his face before he reached out his hand towards her, a bonewood sword appearing above his palm as he presented it to her.

“Here...”

“Why are you giving it to me just like that? Even if there was an alliance...”

“I gave my word to Ancestor Cornelia to retrieve the three Legacy Artifacts.”

Davis didn't allow any misunderstandings to ensue as he instantly cut her off, causing Sect Master Lea Weiss to bite her lips.

“The thing you said back then... wanting to take advantage of me... is it true?”

“...”

Davis wondered why she was asking this when he low-key made it clear that he would not like to speak about this anymore. Nevertheless, he shot a wry smile at her.

“Of course. You're so beautiful like a fine and mature empress...”

Sect Master Lea Weiss's heart instantly skipped a beat as she heard him continue.

“... not to mention that you're a Sect Master whose status is far superior to any woman in this Fifty-Two Territories. I would be lying if I said that I...”

Davis stopped speaking as he saw that tears began welling up in her eyes.

“Can you... can you give me a hug...?”

Davis's eyes narrowed.

What was this?

Was she imagining the 'Davis' from her Heart Demon Tribulation? Honestly, he already had enough with Tina Roxley's ideal version of him in her head. Fortunately, he felt that he had somehow managed to supersede that image in Tina Roxley's head, but now, even an acquaintance like Sect Master Lea Weiss now had an ideal version of him in her mind.

He couldn't help but want to overwrite that as it was tempting in its own way, but he shook himself out of it.

“I refuse.”

Sect Master Lea Weiss turned her head away as she sniffled.

“Why...?”

Her voice meekly echoed, causing Davis to be not able to look at her anymore.

“Look, I am not the Davis you saw in your Heart Demon Tribulation. I don't know what kind of perfect entity he was to you, and I'm probably not what you're looking for. Besides, you're a Sect Master, so act like one. I feel a bit of sorrow and distress to see you like this when I remember you being so prideful enough to shut me up all the time.”

Sect Master Lea Weiss lowered her head as her shoulders began to shake. However, Davis still continued even after noticing it.

“To tell the truth, I’ve already considered this matter. You’ve already been in the Burning Phoenix Ridge for five thousand years, and I can’t hope to understand what kind of attachment you would have with your sect. But I also understand that you’re a Sect Master who puts her sect above anything else. Let’s just say that I take you, the Sect Master of the Burning Phoenix Ridge as my woman. There’s no assurance that you would like my other wives and perhaps might even look down on them with your prideful attitude. No matter how tempted I feel, I won’t take a woman who’s not going to obviously be a part of my family that I’ve created for myself, not to mention-“

“Shut up!!!”

Hearing his lengthy explanation, Sect Master Lea Weiss abruptly exploded with anger as she screamed at him, tears flowing down her eyes as she clenched her teeth.

“Sect Master! Sect Master!! Sect Master!!!”

“I’m a damn woman before I’m a Sect Master, you heartless idiot!”

Whoosh!~

Sect Master Lea Weiss rushed ahead again, leaving a dumbfounded Davis, whose expression then twisted into one of anger.

“You crass woman! Who are you calling heartless? Get back here!”

Whoosh!~

He shot forwards and flew with immense speed, using the Waning Twilight Phantasm Steps that also increased his speed a bit because it was mainly used for spontaneous movements that increased his evasive movements. Nevertheless, that slight increase was enough for him to quickly catch up with the crying Lea Weiss, who also seemed to be using her movement technique.

His ghastly movements allowed him to near her without being pushed away by her overbearing aura before he caught her wrist. Sect Master Lea Weiss’s expression changed as she suddenly lost her footing in the air as she made a mistake in circulating her movement technique, causing her to tumble down all the way as they crashed into a river below from the momentum.

Splash!~

A fifty-meter long shark-like magical beast with black-yellow patterned skin opened its maws and was about to swallow them whole as it was normal reaction to eat whatever that came crashing down, but then, it suddenly realized their undulations and froze when a wave of heat emerged, evaporating its flesh and its entire body and soul along with the water of the river in a two-kilometer radius.

However, the heatwave died as Sect Master Lea Weiss saw that Davis still held her strong, not letting her go even as his hands were starting to burn up. Her lips quivered as tears ran down, confused as to what he wanted when it became painfully clear that he rejected her.

At this moment, the river water filled in the gap where the water evaporated and swept them in its wave. However, they didn’t even move much but floated in swaying motions of the river, looking into each other’s eyes as though they were entranced.

Indeed, Davis became quite charmed because Sect Master Lea Weiss's veil had come off, swept away by the river, not to mention that her crimson hair became undone, freely floating while becoming wet. On the other hand, Sect Master Lea Weiss herself could not remain calm under his hold, her heart seething with full of unresolved and unrequited emotions for him.

Davis suddenly came out of his reverie and noticed that he had his hand on her soft waists, his fingers sinking in while she held her shoulders. He wanted to separate but then felt her hands tightly hold him, shaking ever so lightly even though she did not need him for balance.

"I just know that you have feelings for me, but you never once said that you wanted me."

Davis unwittingly spoke in a soft tone.

"How am I supposed to take you just like that, huh?"

Sect Master Lea Weiss's eyes shook as her crimson lips slightly parted. She didn't answer but looked at him with glistening eyes as if telling him to make a move.

"Fine, if you don't want me, then push or blast me away."

Davis pulled in her waists and held her closer. Her big bosoms, whose outline was very clear from becoming wet, struck Davis's chest and visibly flattened against him before Davis took her lips.

Sect Master Lea Weiss shook ever so lightly as she felt a man's lips for the first time. Her eyes narrowed as she began to feel his lips sucking on her, doing naughty things that made her feel good and confused at the same time.

But after a few seconds, Davis let her go as he looked at her with a possessive light in his eyes.

Clearly perceiving his emotions towards her, Sect Master Lea Weiss's heart raced as she grasped the collar of his wet purple robe, her crimson eyes looking at him with passionate emotions brewing in her eyes.

"I want you~"

Chapter 1773: Hymn Abode Master

South of the Infernal Lightning Palace Territory is the Deprived Hymn Abode Territory. The latter's hegemonic power held strict control over the Territory through their ominous music sounding in low notes all the time through the usage of many formations built in a wide radius.

With the Deprived Zither City as the main base and the source of the main formation, these Territory-wide formations acted as extenders and had an eye on the people. However, it was not used for surveillance but for defending against attacks from enemies and others, including other wicked path hegemonic powers. After all, it wasn't like the wicked path hegemons were all allies as they had their own stories of alliance and betrayals ranging from time immemorial.

In the Deprived Zither City, the capital of the Deprived Hymn Abode, there was a huge floating abode that resembled a zither. It looked more like a construct than a building, but this slight differentiation didn't matter since floating palaces were also considered constructs. What's more important was that an array of High-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouses and Peak-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouses surrounded the zither-like abode and sat cross-legged, taking out a variety of musical instruments as they kept it ready to be played under their skillful hands.

“Quick! They could be here anytime after finishing off the Infernal Lightning Emperor!”

A stifled voice, seething with urgency, echoed from the zither’s top as a black-white robed man stood on top of it, sitting cross-legged. The abode’s top was wide enough to fit an entire battle arena meant for eighth stage experts, and there was also a separate formation embedded in it, one that appeared like a concealment formation.

Within the edges sat two Peak-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouses as they held two formation cores within their hands. However, it did not seem to be related to the concealment formation but the Territory-wide formation.

“Abode Master, you’ll take us along with you, right?”

“Of course, without you all, how am I going to survive? On the other hand, if I leave you all here, you would undoubtedly be massacred. Moreover, I can’t do all things by myself in the lavish world of the immortals, so I need some lackeys...!”

“Ahaha, good.”

That Peak-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouse, who similarly looked powerful, nodded his head. He was none other than two of the Ancestor-level characters in the Deprived Hymn Abode, but after the Abode Master naturally surpassed them, they would have to obey his words under the iron law of the survival of the fittest.

It could also be seen that they were reliant on him to cross the heavenly tribulation so that they could also reach the immortal world and make improvements as they felt resources there might be more obtainable and effective.

They started the formation as their energies surged through the two formation cores. At the same time, the other Law Rune Stage Powerhouses started playing their musical weapons as well, their music resounding through the entire Territory through the help of Territory-wide formation. However, the people in this Territory went about their way, doing their own work, but unbeknown to them, they were all in a beguilement formation, their lives in the hands of the Territory Hegemon.

The powerhouses who were not affiliated but under the rule of the Deprived Hymn Abode noticed the activation of this beguilement formation. However, knowing that they were not being targeted after a few seconds, they didn’t do anything about it, not like they could do anything about it.

Seeing this scene of their beguilement formation encompassing most of their Territory, the Deprived Soulstir Emperor felt emboldened as he relaxed and looked at the formation core he held in his hands.

It was none other than the concealment formation that deceived the eyes of the heavens. Not to say that it can completely deceive the eyes of the heavens, for it had some limitations. For one, the formation core should be in the hands of the one undergoing the heavenly tribulation, constantly pouring energy into it and treating it as a weapon. Although it wasn’t much, it still did the job it was intended to do, although they were still more limitations, both explored and unexplored, as one cannot simply deceive the eyes of heaven and remain unscathed when messing up.

'I used up a bit of my blood essence to escape, but it shouldn't be a problem. Additionally, with this Heavenly Sin Deceiving Formation, the heavenly flames would also be easier to tackle, and finally, with the beguilement formation, I should be able to buy enough time to ready myself to receive the heavenly tribulation and withstand it.'

The Deprived Soulstir Emperor thought with confidence brewing in his eyes, but he turned to look at his Ancestors one last time.

"Make sure to use the Burning Phoenix Ridge's Legacy Artifact to bait them around. Otherwise, they might quickly find a way out and break out of the beguilement formation."

The two Ancestors nodded as they had already done the preparations.

'Hmph!'

The Deprived Soulstir Emperor deeply smiled as he inwardly harrumphed.

'So what if your prowess is two levels higher, Sect Master Lea Weiss? Your soul is still weaker even if you're a Soul Empress. Therefore, you would be unable to overcome my Dismayed Constellation Formation, which should even be able to fool the Emperor of Death for a period of time, and that is more than enough time for me to ascend with everyone else, leaving you with nothing but an empty Deprived Hymn.'

'Furthermore, when I ascend after this ordeal, I'll be sure to warn the others of the Emperor of Death's and your peculiarity and instigate them saying that you have obtained a frightening treasure that allowed you both to become overly powerful in a short time.'

"Hehehe~"

The Deprived Soulstir Emperor couldn't help but snicker, becoming more and more sure of his plan.

Surely, since he had not died already like the Spatial Blight Emperor, he assumed that there was some kind of limitation on the Emperor of Death for using that mysterious life-stealing technique.

Perhaps, the Emperor of Death could only use it once a day?

The Deprived Soulstir Emperor then checked again for any strange inscriptions or hex on his body, but he frowned as he could not find any other than his own. He even went as far as to check if own inscriptions he used on his body had been tampered with, but he still couldn't find anything strange. Before long, he snickered.

'Heh, whatever. I doubt he could use that to kill me after I ascend, as the expanse we are in should be different and wide apart. Once he ascends, I will get him before he gets me, so I don't need to worry.'

Clenching his fists at the formation core, the Deprived Soulstir Emperor began to activate the concealment formation.

The two Ancestors also saw this monumental moment and nodded their heads, wanting to see their majestic Abode Master cross the tribulation. They knew as long as they weren't within a three-kilometer radius of the heavenly tribulation, they would be absolutely fine. Even if they were inside, as long as they don't have any intentions to harm or protect the tribulation taker, they would still be fine and wouldn't incur the wrath of the heavens, attracting it to them or making it more powerful against the tribulation taker.

This was also one of the reasons why no cultivator dared to disrespect the heavens, for they knew that it could see through their intentions even if it were a superstition.

Bzzz!~

The concealment formation became activated as a resonance could be felt, but there was no change visually in their eyes. They looked at the Deprived Soulstir Emperor sit down cross-legged, closing his eyes and concentrating on breaking through to the next stage on circulating energy according to the cultivation manual, an Immortal Grade one.

The Deprived Soulstir Emperor suddenly hung his head even though he still sat straight as a pillar, so the two Ancestors didn't notice anything. But before long, they saw the concealment formation naturally become undone as they could no longer feel the resonance.

"Abode Master?"

The Peak-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouse, who spoke with the Deprived Soulstir Emperor, looked confused as he called out with a bit of hesitation. However, even after waiting for two seconds, he received no answer, causing him to slowly stand up.

"What are you doing, Killnight? Stay there and concentrate on the beguilement formation. Those two can enter our Territory at any time even though they might already be cautious of our Dismayed Constellation Formation."

The other Peak-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouse spoke with a harrumph, looking dissatisfied. But regardless of his words, the previous Ancestor titled Killnight slowly walked towards the Deprived Soulstir Emperor in a daze, his eyes struck with a bit of disbelief.

"You...! Stay back! It's not like you don't know that the Abode Master is injured. He is recuperating and will shortly begin his tribulation. At that time, if you're within three kilometers of him--"

The other Ancestor suddenly stopped as he saw Killnight stand before the Abode Master and open his mouth agape. His heart couldn't help but feel shaken as he also slowly stood up.

"...!?"

Killnight was also deeply shocked as goosebumps ran all over his body. However, seeing that nothing happened to him even after a few seconds, he looked at the other Ancestor once before looking at the unmoving body before him. He instantly waved his hand and shot towards the opposite side, not hesitating to use his blood essence as dark gaseous energy took over him.

"Impudent! The Abode Master is dead! Capture Ancestor Killnight! He's escaping with the Abode Master's body!"

Greed also flashed in the other Ancestor's eyes, but Ancestor Killnight was one step ahead, escaping with the Deprived Soulstir Emperor's corpse. The other powerhouses were dumbfounded at this sight, unable to react. They could even use the beguilement formation to trap Ancestor Killnight because he still possessed one of the two formation cores.

Nevertheless, they only delayed for two seconds before chasing Ancestor Killnight. However, it was already too late by then as he had gained considerable distance.

Chapter 1774: What Should I Do?

Davis and Lea Weiss only had eyes for each other at this moment.

Holding the collar of his wet purple robe with both her hands, Lea Weiss moved her head and smacked her lips on him, wanting to experience that feeling that made her heart flutter with overwhelming emotions.

Without missing a beat, Davis also held the back of her nape and kissed her crimson lips. Her beautiful face that seemed desperate for him made him feel giddy, and the warm heat of her body in the cold water was a source of immense pleasure for him, not to mention that his other hand couldn't help but roam over her silky, wet crimson robe that clearly outlined her assets.

They drifted towards the riverbank under the wave they created before finally leaving their wet lips that were wet with saliva, noticing how intense they were with each other as they gasped for breath. Especially, Lea Weiss looked at him with passionate eyes while gasping, making him want to eat the ripe and mature fruit that he had in his embrace.

Nevertheless, the fact that he spent so much time logically thinking about this matter left Davis feeling so stupid! Stupid holding himself back when it was apparent that she would've accepted him regardless of how he took her.

If he knew that it would come down to this, he would've taken her when he woke her up!

However, he floated while carrying her, getting out of the water before making it to the tall woods beside the riverbank.

Davis let Lea Weiss go to make her feel relaxed, and as expected, she ended up turning around, placing both her hands on her heaving bosoms as she couldn't believe what she had done. However, she bit her lips and turned to look at him with misty eyes.

The woman in front of him had loose crimson hair and wet crimson robes that perfectly aligned her curvy assets, especially her perky bottom. However, it didn't invoke his lust but made him feel more than what he felt for her before. There was no pity anymore but only possessive feelings of wanting to make her his woman.

"Hold my hand..."

Davis released a breath as he smiled at her words. He walked to her but didn't grasp her hand. Instead, he hugged her from behind as he wrapped his arms around her soft and thin waist, causing her to tremble as she felt his warmth embrace her. She did not feel uncomfortable as she thought she would but felt relaxed, laying her head on his shoulder before she turned to look at his face with captivating eyes.

"Can I really love you...?"

"Looks like you finally made up your mind."

Davis kept his smile as he nodded, while Lea Weiss became shy as she looked away on receiving his confirmation.

"I... I can't help myself. I like... want to be with you. I want to stay together with you... but... I'm harming Shirley... I still don't know what to do... or even if I made the right decision..."

Lea Weiss spoke out her thoughts as confusion and sadness became apparent.

Davis wanted to answer her question right away that Shirley wouldn't be opposed to it, but then, he wanted to know.

"Was it any different in your Heart Demon Tribulation?"

Lea Weiss jerked as she turned to look at him as her eyes trembled.

"I don't know..."

Davis pursed her lips, already knowing that she was lying or didn't want to say.

"Just say what happened... you owe me an explanation. Besides, I want to get to know more about you and your thoughts. I know very little about you, Lea, so be truthful to me, okay...?"

Hearing his soft words that were spoken with a gentle expression, Lea Weiss's misgivings melted. She took a deep breath before her lips started to move as though she was cast a love spell.

"In my Heart Demon Tribulation, I was naturally able to pass the heavenly tribulation without encountering any trouble. But at the moment after I withstood the ninth strike of the heavenly tribulation, you and your entire bevy of women came to seek my aid because you were suddenly ambushed and hunted down by the entire wicked path... You also said that your Alstreim Family was destroyed and needed to ascend along with me."

"However, when you arrived, the wicked path had already entered and invaded my sect, killing a lot of my disciples and elders even though Ancestor Cornelia tried to defend. My immortal powers were also restricted and quickly pulled into the void, as seen in many heavenly tribulations of my ancestors, leaving me no choice but to grab you and leave even though my heart was in pieces as my sect was destroyed right before my eyes. Furthermore, except Earth Dragon Queen Isabella, every one of your... wives died, including Shirley."

"After we ascended together, you were... shattered. I took care of you along with Earth Dragon Queen Isabella, pitied you, gradually fell in love more but even then, I did not reveal my feelings to you. But after you became an Immortal, you took advantage of me one night and blamed me for being unable to protect your wives after the deed, leaving me heartbroken. However, seeing that I was... with your child, you forgave me while I... did the same and accepted you. We then married before I gave... birth to our child but then shortly got attacked by an immortal who lusted after me, becoming separated..."

Even before Lea Weiss finished explaining, her face was already crimson in embarrassment.

On the other hand, Davis was speechless as that was some vivid explanation. Basically, she was saying that he violated her and blamed his shortcomings on her?

How was that ideal? Did she have this kind of fantasy? Or was it because that the Heart Demon Tribulation had a hint of realistic feeling to it so that she wouldn't be able to differentiate from reality?

Davis didn't know which of the two, but he couldn't help but smile, "Who was it that lusted after you?"

"I can't remember... Other than you and a few individuals, it's all vague..."

Davis nodded his head, believing her words.

When he faced his Heart Demon Tribulation during Tia's heavenly tribulation, he had faced with a vague entity who also tried to rob him of his Evelyn. He cursed the heavens for that episode, so he could understand what kind of emotions Lea Weiss faced when she went through all this just to have him. Perhaps, the answer to her Heart Demon Tribulation was to understand and accept him or forget about him as that was her intent in invoking her heavenly tribulation. But since she failed to do the latter and remained indecisive for some time, she failed the tribulation and later fainted.

After all, there seemed to be some time limit to this so-called Heart Demon Tribulation as the tribulation clouds seemed to disperse.

Nevertheless, pondering that she was unable to forget him alone told how hopelessly she had come to like, no, love him. Perhaps, the more she hid her feelings, the deeper they grew inside her. Thinking like this, Davis couldn't help but want to make love with her and assure her. He closed his eyes for a few moments before his eyes opened, flashing with a passionate light.

"Lea!"

"Ahn~"

Lea Weiss let out a shameful moan as Davis grabbed both of her big bosoms and bit her ear lobe, causing her crimson cheeks to almost become the color of her robes as blood rushed to her head. Feeling him grope her and fondle her big bosoms with skill as his fingers sunk and fiddled with her pink buds, she felt her legs starting to become limp. The moment she rested on him, she could feel something long and hard poke her back, making her tremble.

"No... Davis~"

"You didn't say anything about how you felt until I held you down..." Davis sucked on her earlobe and fair white neck while placing gentle kisses, "Perhaps, you will become scared of betraying your own morality and leave me, trying to ascend again foolishly. As I said before, when it comes to my family, I don't take any chances. And since I chose to make you mine, you're not going anywhere, Lea."

"...!"

"I will strike while the iron is hot..."

Davis rasped over her ear as he kept feeling her up, wanting her to get into the mood. However, Lea Weiss bit her lips as she struggled in his embrace. Noticing her movements, he saw that she was overly reluctant and controlled himself, letting her go. But, she didn't escape from his embrace but reached out her hand and placed it on his cheek, her eyes looking misty from all the teasing as she turned to look into his sapphire eyes.

“Don’t be so foolish... I’m not going anywhere, especially after I obtained you...”

Lea Weiss uttered with gentleness, vastly different from her prideful and cold voice, which made Davis widen his eyes.

“Then what’s wrong?”

“Killing the Deprived Soulstir Emperor before he could ascend is more important. Once he ascends, not only will we be unable to do anything, but he will have an advantage over us. When we ascend, immortals would already know about us and come to apprehend or kill us. They would never let us grow!”

Looking at Lea Weiss appear firm, Davis’s confused expression faded, replaced with a heartened expression on his face as he reached out his hand caressed her cheek.

“My Lea is indeed a Sect Master, worthy of the prestigious title and even considerate.”

Lea Weiss clenched her teeth even while blushing.

“This isn’t the time to be praising me...”

“Haha.” Davis couldn’t help but chuckle at her adorable expression, “Did you think that your forceful husband has been taken over by his lower body and failed to consider this?”

“...?”

“I already took care of him when I held you down at this moment. Didn’t I say that I don’t take chances when concerning family? You are more important than killing Deprived Soulstir Emperor with my own hands, Lea Weiss.”

Lea Weiss’s heart skipped a beat.

He already considered her to be a part of the family that he cherished?

Even the matter about killing the Deprived Soulstir Emperor seemed insignificant at this moment when she heard his honeyed words.

“That’s why...”

The sound of clothes rustling could be heard before Lea Weiss turned to look at him, seeing him stand nude and long underneath, ready to embrace her. Once she looked at his hard thing, her entire body became stiff, her eyes becoming wide in shock that she couldn’t help but fall back on her butt when she tried to retreat as she saw him approaching her.

Davis walked towards her and stood in front of her, unwittingly bringing his hardness in front of her face that Lea Weiss couldn’t help but completely freeze.

However, Davis reached out his hand and captured her wrist, lifting her up as he cornered her to a trunk, his eyes looking tempestuous as he held her cheeks.

“... become mine.”

“Mhm~”

Lea Weiss's mind had already stopped working at this point that she couldn't help but nod when her crimson lips were suddenly taken again.

Chapter 1775: Ambiguous Woods (R-18)

"Nnn~ Fua~"

Held down by the naked Davis, Lea Weiss kept wrapping her pink tongue over his rogue tongue in a tantalizing manner, wanting to become one with him. The previous hesitation she possessed was no longer seen, replaced with passion as she held his naked shoulders tightly while receiving his love.

The hot kiss poured her heart with intense emotions that she could not stop from taking over her, causing her to have no resistance towards his advances.

"Ahn~"

She kept moaning into his mouth as her big breasts were roughly fondled over her wet crimson robe. Whenever her pointy pink buds were caressed or even touched ever so lightly, she couldn't help but leak a moan of pleasure. This kind of treatment and forcefulness from a man had her completely feeling different, especially when Davis cornered her and pushed her back against the tree trunk, causing her heart to pound crazily.

She was deeply embarrassed that he would sense that she lost her composure, but looking at him kiss her intensely with narrowed eyes as if he wanted to devour her, she couldn't also help but forget her shame and shamelessly respond.

Davis had one of Lea Weiss's long legs wrap around his waist while using his left arm to hold her butt cheek. He pulled and pressed, sinking his fingers on her softness underneath as he occasionally pushed his hardness against her hole, trying to get in but couldn't because of the robe. Still, he relentlessly groped and fondled her big bosoms with his right hand, feeling some weight but also the disproportionate softness when his fingers sank, molding to his force accordingly.

"Mhnn!!!~::~"

When he pinched her nipple, Lea Weiss's erotic scream resonated but was forced into his mouth. The vibration he felt with his tongue made him go crazy as he forcefully sucked on her lips and tongue as though wanting to become one with her.

Suck!~

A heavy kissing sound echoed before Davis separated his lips from her, looking at the five thousand and two hundred years old virgin heavily gasp for breath in front of him. It gave him an extreme sense of accomplishment as well as increased the temptation of wanting to conquer her more that he could no longer hesitate as he reached out his hands.

Lea Weiss looked to the side as her bosoms shook from her heavy breathing. Her eyes glistened, and her expression looked befuddled with pleasure. Then suddenly, Davis grabbed her robes and began undressing her. Her body froze as a result, but she did not resist and let him do whatever he wanted as her waist belt came undone, removing the robe that gave her status as the Sect Master of the Burning Phoenix Ridge.

She was quickly stripped of her robe like he had done this many times, and she did not find it surprising considering the number of women he had. Nevertheless, being stripped into her naked form left her feeling that she was nothing more than a woman.

When Davis removed her upper inner-wear as he pulled down on it, her voluptuous bosoms came bouncing at his face, causing him to look at them dumbfoundedly. However, as an instinctive reaction to hide her chastity, Lea Weiss hurriedly hid those two peaks of hers with her palm, blushing as her cheeks became crimson again just when it calmed a bit.

“Show me, Lea...”

Davis sounded like a man who was parched for a long time as his voice sounded hoarse. It garnered Lea Weiss to look at him with surprise as her eyes slightly widened.

Was her body that tempting to him?

She couldn't help but feel prideful before she bit her lips and moved her hand away, following his words.

The sight of Lea Weiss revealing her big bosoms that possessed two beautiful pink protrusions lit up a fuse inside Davis as he hurriedly threw himself to her.

Suck!~

“Ahnn!~”

Lea Weiss moaned loudly as she threw her head up because Davis grabbed her big breasts with both his hands and sucked on her right pink nipple, sucking on it with ferocity at the get-go. His hands didn't stay still but wantonly kneaded her twin peaks, his fingers sinking into her softness while they also fiddled and flicked her other nipple, causing her to feel strange and constantly moan under his actions that were foreign to her.

Suck!~

As his tongue constantly licked her hardening nipples and sucked by his mouth as his lips enclosed her, an intense pleasure washed over her body. That strangeness gradually made her feel weird down her body when she suddenly felt his rock-hard dick that was previously poking against her belly now constantly rub her lower lips over the white underwear as it entered the valley between her legs.

“Ahnn~ Ah~ Ann~”

She feverishly moaned under his hold while she could also feel that Davis's breathing became heavier as he seemed to take an intense liking to her bosoms as he pushed his head against it as though wanting to be choked by them. He began to vary his attack to her other lonely breast and began to take care of its pink protrusion as well, pulling on them and incessantly sucking with his teeth and lips.

Lea Weiss's face was already dyed with shame from looking at his actions. However, she craved this feeling and even locked his head as she wrapped her arms around his head, keeping him on her breasts. This kind of feeling made her want to forget about everything and just leave her body to him as she didn't imagine that it was possible for one to experience this much pleasure.

It made her think of why she remained celibate all this time to adhere to her morals and standards, but then, finally obtaining the love of her life who looked as if he was head over heels for her body at this moment, she felt that it was all worth it at this moment.

“Aaa~”

Soon, the left hand that was holding her breasts and caressing her body left her, making her give a moan that reflected her disappointment as she couldn't help but feel wanting more of it. But then, that left hand began to strip her of her last piece of clothing, causing her to jerk above.

Davis felt that her underwear was already wet through his hand. He separated from her irresistible breasts and saw that a string of warm fluid dripped from her lower body and connected to her underwear which he half-removed. He couldn't help but smile and strip her of her underwear and show it to her embarrassed face.

“Proof that you are a naughty woman...”

Lea Weiss clenched her teeth as her eyes shook. She couldn't help but throw a fist at his face, which dodged easily.

“Pervert! You're the naughty one who has many women...”

He simultaneously caught her hand that went past his head before he turned his head towards it, laying gentle kisses over her arm, starting from her wrist all the way to her neck, causing her breathing to become heavier.

Davis left a soft, warm kiss on her neck before he looked at her, locking lips with her. Lea Weiss knew what was coming as she nodded, her eyes glistening under his warm hold before she suddenly felt scalding hotness roam in between her legs. It touched her lower lips, causing her to tremble as she felt a distinct shape open her up a second later before it pierced into her and entered.

“Hickk~”

Lea Weiss threw her head as she felt his scalding hotness insides her, beginning to feel intense pleasure sweep over her, not pain. It was long and hard, stretching her insides and rattling her. On the other hand, Davis felt like he was melting when he entered her as his expression became befuddled. Her fleshly walls were holding him tightly and undulating as if it wouldn't let him go and wanted to squeeze him to death.

Blood dripped over his dick as he took her virginity, but he began to slowly absorb it, learning from his two previous experiences, perhaps three?

“Ohhh, Lea Weiss... your little cave is so tight and wet...”

Davis intentionally rasped as he worded out his thoughts to tease and began to move his hips, causing her to become more sensitive than ever.

Perhaps, the best thing that turned him on more than ever was the fact that the Grand Burning Phoenix Crown was still on her head, cementing her status as the Sect Master even if she was butt naked.

His needy voice made Lea Weiss's heart skip a beat while intense pleasure rocked her lower body. His rock-hard dick that stayed still pierced more into her insides as he pressed against her, causing her to open her mouth, which was then suddenly captured by him.

Davis kissed her crimson lips and forcefully moved his hips, stabbing her insides despite its tight hold over him that disallowed him to be wanton. His mouth suppressed her alluring moans as he grabbed her waists and thrust into her, feeling his climax near already from the hold of her tight and slippery cave hole that refused to accommodate his size.

The fact that a humongous amount of energy from her primal yin was pouring into him didn't help at all!

Chapter 1776: Sensitive Beauty (R-18)

The Fire Phoenix's intrinsic nature was yang as the Fire Dragon. However, the purity of the energy that burst into him made him tremble intensely that he wanted to make Lea Weiss climax before he could enter a meditative or semi-meditative state to absorb the copious amount of energy he plundered from her.

After all, different from Zestria Domitian's primal yin that was not immortal in quality, Lea Weiss's primal yin was nourished by the three drops of Fire Phoenix Immortal's blood essence given to her by Shirley and combined with her cultivation that was at Ninth Stage and even two levels above, she produced a lot of energy for him to absorb.

"Ugh!"

Davis let her lips go as he grunted.

Lea Weiss's legs were already wrapped over his waist as she received his thrusts. The feeling of her soft body embracing him was more than enough to provide enough pleasure for him, but her wet insides that wrapped around him made him almost go crazy.

The supreme pleasure he experienced from fucking such a crowned queen was already enough to bring him to a climax. He felt hard-pressed to endure that he couldn't help but start using his will to sever the urge to explode inside her. He wanted to thrust into her more, feel her insides clasp him as if it would never let him go, and in return make him thrust inside her without reserve.

"No~ Ahnn~ Aaah~ Softer, ahh~~"

For Lea Weiss's first time, he knew that he was being too rough but also wanted to make it unforgettable for her and imprint his image into her more than she was already plagued with, and he could see that he was doing a good job at it with her constant moans and words that subconsciously came out of her mouth.

"Too pleasurable~~"

Lea Weiss couldn't endure this intense pleasure nor his continuous thrusts that shook the soul out of her body as she started to quiver in his embrace. Every nerve ending inside her screamed with pleasure as it undulated to capture him and perhaps wanted to make him impregnate her. The thought of it pushed her to the end that she threw her head and started to tremble heavily.

Davis also got the cue and broke out into a tempestuous rush as he vigorously moved his hips.

Paahh!~ Paaah!~

The sound of their flesh slapping against each other became more apparent as Davis moved back and forth with all his might, making a mess of her little cave hole before he tightly embraced her voluptuous body and exploded inside her with a mating call.

“I want to love you, Lea!”

Pssst!~

Even the sound of his yang essence pouring could be heard clashing with the yin essence in varying frequencies as he buried himself deep inside her.

Lea Weiss's body was held back against the tree by Davis while being pressed from the front by him that her big bosoms could be seen flattened against his chest. Even then, she tightly held him, pasting herself on him, clearly wanting to become one at this moment as she could feel his thick, hot essence fill her insides and make her orgasm last longer as she kept trembling under his hold.

“Mhh~~~”

While releasing his seed into her raw, Davis kept kneading her butt cheeks and kissing her, taking in her saliva as he sucked on her small mouth while her vaginal walls kept sucking him off. She violently trembled in his embrace, and those small movements she made kept giving him extensive pleasure that made him shoot loads into her.

At the same time, the energy that was pouring into him mixed with her yin essence caused him to be no longer endure that he began breaking through with every few circulations that carried an immense amount of energy.

Boom!~

Essence energy undulated as he stepped into the Mid-Level Law Sea Stage.

Boom!~ Boom!~

Two more resounded later as he reached the Peak-Level Sea Stage before the energy finally ended. All this happened within five minutes, two minutes after he finished releasing his yang essence into her. But that wasn't the end as comprehension flooded his mind once more. However, due to the incompatibility with the phoenix flames that was more overall in aspects than a single aspect like destruction, he refused to comprehend its intricacies and only gathered the ones he needed.

Even then, it caused him to reach Level Three Fire Abstruse Intent within ten minutes, almost reaching the peak if he wasn't wrong.

Only then did Davis open his eyes and look at Lea Weiss, who had her crimson eyes open and looked at him with shyness and love written all over her expression.

Davis felt embarrassed from her gentle look, not to mention that uttering all those dumb lines made him feel stupid, but at the heat of the moment, none of it seemed dumb nor redundant as it heightened the emotions they felt towards each other.

They were still connected intimately. However, things became awkward soon as they only looked at each other, refusing to speak something as the silence became relevant before Davis felt that he had to break this state.

“Husband...”

Lea Weiss suddenly uttered as she glanced down, not daring to match gazes with him. It left Davis dumbfounded before he couldn't help but reach out his fingers as he gently lifted her chin, making her look at him.

Her misty eyes were stricken with love for him, which then suddenly turned pleased as they narrowed because he had moved back and thrust into her again, invoking her lust. She embraced his neck with her hands and pulled him closer, wanting to kiss him as she pressed her big bosoms against him.

Davis could feel her hard pink protrusions rub over his chest, perhaps wanting to be pleased. Feeling her intensity, Davis grabbed this mature woman's thick thighs and pulled her towards him as he buried his dick deep inside her.

“Hngg!~”

Lea Weiss clenched her teeth as she trembled, and then, she felt him lift her up before dropping her on him with force, causing her to violently quiver.

Paah!~ Paah!~

The sound of his thighs slapping her butt cheeks resounded within the dark woods. His thick hardness pierced her insides continuously as he made her dance on top of him, lifting her up and dropping her down with force. The sight of her big bosoms bouncing also served to fuel his actions.

“Annh!~ Ahhhn~ Aaaa!!!~”

Lea Weiss let out erotic moans under his thrusts as she shook her head, unable to endure the intense pleasure that assaulted her each time she slid down on his dick all the way to its base. Her hands that held his shoulders wrapped around his neck again as she closely attached herself over him, but that action of hers caused to push her big bosoms against his face ended up being a big mistake.

Suck!~

Davis sucked on her tits as he shook his head against her bosoms like a beast. He took in her rich bodily fragrance much as he could while fucking her silly from below, thrusting his meat stick back and forth to make her moan crazily.

“Aaaa!~ Husband...! I can't... endure... mh-aaah!~ Deeper!~ no~ not that spot...!~ It- It's coming!~”

Lea Weiss deliriously moved her lips while Davis relentlessly attacked her sweet spot that he managed to find now. Unwittingly, she began to move her hips to match his thrusts and increase the pleasure she received.

Davis confirmed that his celibate Lea Weiss was a sensitive woman who liked pleasure, and combined with her additional movements that started to perfectly sync with him as she danced beautifully, it caused his mind to short-circuit.

“Fuck!”

“Aaaaaa!~”

Davis couldn't help but curse as he reached climax instantly. He lifted her one last time before dropping her on his dick with force, causing her body to tremble as she once again threw her head up violently. Her fleshly walls spasmed with undulating pleasure that tried to squeeze him dry, and it succeeded since he was already sensitive from staying in her for too long during his breakthroughs.

Copious amounts of yang essence rushed into her womb, wanting to impregnate her. Davis didn't care if she got pregnant, for he was willing to be a responsible father and a lover to her. He poured his seeds inside her as he held her close and tight, practically crushing her convulsing body as his hips shook and dick quivered inside her warm and wet embrace.

Her lower body that struggled and wriggled on top of his dick while moaning served to increase his stimulus that he couldn't help but reach out his hand and grab her nape, which he then pulled to his head as he gave her a hot, unforgettable kiss to her glistening crimson lips before moving his head a bit below and sucking on her neck, causing her to shiver violently and tightly hold his neck as though she was going to die without him from the intense pleasure.

Davis's taut body began to relax in a few minutes, although Lea Weiss still kept shivering as she had somehow orgasmed a third time from her sensitivity. He didn't tease her this time but caressed her fair and willow back while planting gentle kisses on her face and neck, even her bosoms to make her adjust to the pleasure.

While Davis was sucking on her tits softly like a baby, Lea Weiss's eyes narrowed as she uttered with lingering pleasure.

“Husband, I love you~”

Davis stopped his action and raised his head, passionately gazing into her crimson eyes.

“Lea Weiss, my sensitive beauty. From now on, you can depend on me!”

Chapter 1777: A Whole Package

Davis held Lea Weiss with warmth, reaching out his hand to her face, caressing her cheek with gentleness. The lust in his expression had already receded, replaced with a complex expression as though he couldn't really bear the weight of her loving words.

After all, once the lust receded, what replaced his mind was calmness and the consequences of his actions that became clear to him. He had done something which couldn't be taken back.

“Mhm~”

Lea Weiss nodded her head as she still had her arms wrapped around his neck, sharing a lover's embrace. She couldn't help but lean and plant a soft kiss on his lips as she shed a tear, which made Davis's heart tremble.

He didn't need to be a genius to figure out that Lea Weiss was letting herself become vulnerable to him before becoming overcome with emotions that she shed a tear. That spoke volumes about the amount of trust she decided to place in him.

"Lea, don't cry..."

He gently uttered as he wiped the tears falling on her face.

Still hard inside her body, he began to move again, but he wasn't forceful or rough this time.

His movements were gentle, passionately looking into her eyes as he moved her body that was on top of him, thrusting inside her as he created many waves of pleasure.

"Haa~"

Lea Weiss heaved a pleasurable sigh as she feverishly held him. She couldn't help but feel that it was different than before, as though she could experience more affection in his movements than ever, making her heart flutter.

During this time, they instinctively dual cultivated.

As the Sect Master, she had learned the circulation method for dual cultivation long ago, even while she was not a Sect Master, except the dual cultivation methods she learned as a Sect Master was far more useful than what she learned when being a disciple, which came into use now. His yang essence was instantly refined by her powerful essence energy, which rushed to her Body Tempering Cultivation that was at the Low-Level Martial Overlord Stage.

However, instead of an increase in cultivation base, she could feel an increase in foundation from his vigorous yang essence.

For hours, they continued to crave each other, and the more he filled her up with his yang essence, the better the increase was, and before long, her Body Tempering Cultivation's foundation advanced from Flawless to Unblemished Foundation.

She couldn't tell that Davis refined her yin and sent it back to her as yang energy, letting her grow more. However, Davis didn't feel like it was a loss since he had gained more while robbing her off of her primal yin. But, this was more like exchange as they both tended to gain.

They experienced bliss together for a long time that lasted slowly together until dawn broke out.

Finally, he carefully took her to the river and cleaned her with care.

Although Lea Weiss was deeply embarrassed, she knew that her life would be filled with moments like these and tried to accept it, feeling his hands roam all over her body, especially at that place which made her feel giddy. After that, he even tried to dress her up, which made her feel more strange yet convinced that this man truly cared for his women.

Still, feeling like her heart was going to explode from shame, she declined his help and dressed herself up.

Today, her life had gone through a tumultuous change, and when she understood that she had done the deed without getting married, her heart couldn't help but tremble.

However, two hands suddenly wrapped her waist from behind, causing her to feel secure as a smile appeared on her face.

"Don't worry. I'm more foolish than you think..."

"Mhm~" Lea Weiss shyly nodded and voiced out with fondness, "I've decided as well. As long as you're with me, no matter what, even if the consequences are good or bad, I will not leave you. I don't fear adversity. I fear being betrayed and becoming a lifeless husk, devoid of emotions."

Davis's brows raised before he smiled with content.

"That's my line. But still, I promise that I won't leave you."

"The Emperor of Death's words are valuable. You can't go back on it."

Lea Weiss turned to look at him and cracked a teasing smile, which was unlike her, but Davis was totally blown by her unseen demeanor, which was all new to him before he couldn't help but chuckle, becoming inwardly glad that he decided to accept her.

"Indeed."

He suddenly held her hands as his smile faded, replaced with seriousness. It caused Lea Weiss to blink, making her heart skip a beat and wonder what he was going to tell her.

"I don't want to force you, but I will be immensely joyous if you can get along with my women."

"That..." Lea Weiss appeared taken aback before she sighed, "I don't know... I'm not a person who knows how to mingle as I've always been alone after Raka's passing..."

Davis knew that she was talking about her Burning Phoenix Rakaela, who Grand Elder Valerian killed. Nevertheless, he smiled.

"Don't worry. My women are mostly casual and will make you laugh and embarrassed when you're together with them. As you said, you're a woman before you're a Sect Master, so don't be so hung up on your status and let yourself become carefree if you feel like it. Also, I won't allow you to prioritize your sect anymore, but I'll help you look after it. What do you say?"

Davis made his thoughts clear, which made Lea Weiss unhesitatingly nod her head, making his eyes widen.

"Are you not going to say anything?"

Lea Weiss appeared confused, "Why would I? My duties as a Sect Master come second to being your wife."

"..."

Davis's expression became blank again. As far as he knew, Lea Weiss wasn't the type to be speaking empty words, and her confused expression added a layer of truthfulness to her words that he couldn't help but believe, rubbing his nose before he commented.

"It comes third if you're carrying my child..."

Lea Weiss's expression blushed as her cheeks became crimson. She turned around to hide her embarrassment that was unable to be suppressed before she looked ahead into the horizon, moving her lips.

"Let's go back."

Davis was about to nod but then remembered.

"Wait, there's a delivery..."

"Delivery? What do you mean?"

Lea Weiss wondered if he was making fun of her in her embarrassed state as she turned to look at him with narrowed eyes. Even if she got pregnant, how could she give birth so soon?

She didn't find this hilarious if it was meant to be.

"Well, follow me..."

Davis didn't explain but headed towards the Blood Reaper Underworld Territory.

"..."

Lea Weiss pointed towards the south as she wanted to go to the Deprived Hymn Abode and at least see the aftermath of Davis's mysterious life-stealing technique, whether if the Deprived Soulstir Emperor truly died or not. It wasn't that she doubted Davis's abilities but Soul Emperors always had a few methods to block invisible attacks like Davis's that she couldn't help but worry.

Still, believing in him, her man, she took her hand back and followed him, quickly appearing beside him.

Davis smiled at her and held her soft hand, causing her to be taken aback before she closed the distance and stuck close to him. They didn't exchange any words but entered the Blood Reaper Underworld Territory whereupon they made their way to the Crimson Blood City, specifically its outskirts.

By this time, millions of wicked path cultivators were making their way out in droves. Some even used this chance to camp at certain points and hunted down the people of lower stratum to make them either submit or take their wealth. This Territory that the Blood Reaper Underworld Palace ruled had collapsed under the crumbling city even though the fires were taken away by Sect Master Lea Weiss, becoming even more anarchic, and it was precisely in these times that new candidates for taking control over the Territory would emerge.

In a valley that was devoid of light, billowing with fierce winds, Davis's soul sense rushed over before he found the person he was looking for amidst the many he found in a large ten thousand kilometer wide radius.

"Ah, there is our delivery..."

While grasping Lea Weiss's hand, Davis languidly used his other hand to point at a black-robed person who was disguised, seemingly walking along with the plethora of people who made their way out through this area as though it was a mass exodus.

Chapter 1778: Delivery Arrived

Davis let go of Lea Weiss's hands and took a step forward, his body appearing to become ghostly spectral as he disappeared out of Lea Weiss's gaze. Her eyes went wide as she couldn't find him momentarily, but then instinctively saw him appear right beside the person he pointed moment's later and elegantly spun around with a greyish-black scythe suddenly appearing in his hand.

The next moment, that person's head fell silently without anyone noticing, and before it could even make a 'thud' sound on the floor, both the head and the body disappeared from existence, obviously taken into Davis's spatial ring.

'What terrifying assassination arts...!'

Lea Weiss's heart couldn't help but tremble.

She didn't know why Davis killed that person, but she could sense Peak-Level Law Rune Stage undulations lightly spread upon their death. It was so vague that if she hadn't looked at the scene, she wouldn't have been able to perceive it with her eyes, not to mention those remnant undulations that were released upon death were instantly suppressed by Davis's seamless soul force, which made his assassination arts seem more skillful.

She felt charmed, but the thing was, she never found despicable moves like this entrancing in her life as she looked down on people who didn't agree to a fair fight but stabbed from the shadows. However, her man appeared to know both, which made her feel complicated, both proud and a bit conflicted.

After all, she couldn't easily get rid of her five-thousand-year-old bias against Darkness Law cultivators who wreaked havoc in her Territory and other but fortunately, she personally knew Davis wasn't like them, using these powers wrongly, at least, she believed that it was the case until she could find evidence that it was different.

Besides, even Ancestor Cornelia, who had a wide overview and wise character, approved of Davis, so she was more assured of her decision to accept as her love.

Davis returned to Lea Weiss using the Waning Twilight Phantasm Steps.

Only then did he check who it was and couldn't help but be astonished.

'This person has the insignia of the Deprived Hymn Abode...'

Davis predicted the anarchy and chaos at this moment where many people's fate interwove, a place where many schemes were plotted and created a bubble where things got out of his hands, that is if he was weak. However, with him being becoming strong enough to kill Peak-Level Ninth Stage Powerhouses with his base cultivation alone, there was nothing for him to fear in this First Layer, so without much reservations like before, he used his ability to manipulate using Fallen Heaven and had a random person steal his kill's loot, which is the Deprived Soulstir Emperor's spatial ring and his body.

It could've been anyone, even some infamous assassin that was lying in wait to kill the Deprived Soulstir Emperor to take advantage of his plight and escape. However, it turned out to be one of the two Deprived Hymn Abode's Ancestors, who then followed his manipulation of bringing that spatial ring to hide amidst the chaos, which was either this place or the Infernal Lightning Palace's Infernal Mountain City, in a specific set of black robes that should've been nothing more than a hint of suggestion but was more closer to reality as he imagined and fueled.

However, Davis figured that this place would be implied as it wasn't the closest and also not the farthest to the Deprived Hymn Abode, making it optimal enough to hide underneath one's foot. After all, this Ancestor seemed to have escaped from his own power, which made him a traitor, but not really, as that was what the wicked path cultivators did upon seeing an opportunity to make it big.

'Although I missed out on collecting the Deprived Soulstir Emperor's karmic sin, the loot will do...'

He meant it when he said that Lea Weiss was more important. Even if he didn't get the loot, he would've been fine, but he could see that his manipulation over controlling the movements of people through Fallen Heaven had worked.

"Who was that?"

Lea Weiss's voice echoed with curiosity, causing Davis to come out of his reverie.

"The one who carried Deprived Soulstir Emperor's body. Oh, I also gained his spatial ring as it seems like one of his Ancestors stole it and ran away. Lucky me..."

To his nonchalant voice, Lea Weiss shook her head in confusion.

"How- How did you-"

"... know that he was carrying Deprived Soulstir Emperor's body?"

Davis continued her question before he shot a secretive smile at her.

"Well, I could simply say that I marked him with my mystical arts but let's just say that it involves something that shouldn't be spoken about. It complicates things more than you could think..."

Lea Weiss pursed her lips before she nodded, seemingly having managed to suppress her curiosity.

"Alright."

Investigating the secrets of others, including trump cards and treasures, was taboo, and Lea Weiss knew that all too well. Besides, she knew that she hadn't done anything to earn his boundless trust, so she wasn't discouraged at all but instead relaxed that he wasn't a total fool instead, although she also felt that she would've been happy to know his secrets as it would make her feel closer.

'What...?'

Lea Weiss couldn't understand her own thoughts as it was all over the place.

She couldn't help but feel love was truly blinding her eyes, and her experience of watching many other women be ruined because of a silly promise from men in her long life flashed in her mind, but above all that, it still made her feel happier than before, making her want to know more about him.

It was a feeling that she couldn't describe properly, one that kept building up the more she saw his handsome face fill up her heart and soul.

On the other hand, Davis relaxed that she didn't pursue further.

As he returned his gaze back to his spatial ring, he felt that he was becoming more proficient in manipulating his victims and dancing to his tune when using Fallen Heaven. However, he also looked at the plethora of peak powerhouses who have gathered in secret.

Yang Hellflame Emperor...

Fiendish Yin Empress...

Myriad Poison Emperor...

Dark Ironroar Emperor and even a few others he wasn't aware of but still radiated an aura as powerful as them. They were all here, not in the ravaged Infernal Mountain City nor the empty Poison Rift Valley devoid of their powerhouses, but specifically here.

Clearly, the manipulation of fate would ultimately result in his death if he had been much weaker, and considering that killing and stealing loot from a peak wicked path powerhouse shouldn't have much of a change in fate as he was stronger, the resulting consequences were also lower, allowing him to walk free of consequences.

Davis was beginning to feel that he was getting the gist of how Fallen Heavens's karmic manipulation power worked now that he had used it enough times, but still, he knew he wasn't wise enough to be calculating all the ways of 'twisting fate' could screw him over. After all...

'Perhaps, this is how most of Fallen Heaven's previous hosts died, most of them succumbing to twisting fate that screwed them in the end...'

Suddenly, a soft feeling took hold of his hand. He turned to look at Lea Weiss, watching her intensely look at him with those misty crimson eyes of hers as though she wanted a kiss. Due to their position on top of the mountains, they were also not in anyone's gaze, so they naturally moved to kiss.

But suddenly, two figures flashed beside them, causing Lea Weiss to jerk away from him while he remained relatively unshaken but still possessed an awkward expression on his face as he turned to look at the two newcomers.

"Evelynn... Isabella... What's up?"

Lea Weiss instinctively let his hand go as she couldn't help but feel that she was doing something wrong, especially when viewed by his two powerful wives, the Hex Demoness and the Earth Dragon Queen.

Both of them seemed to be soul bodies, looking at them with sharp, narrowed eyes that struck a bit of shame and a heightened sense of anxiety into her heart.

Nevertheless, they cast their look at Davis.

"We were wondering what's taking you so much time to kill a few mere wicked path hegemony, but now we could see what made you take so long..." Evelynn coldly uttered.

“Scoundrel, pervert, and a big deviant...” Isabella harrumphed with a fierce voice, “Shirley even gifted you Zestria Domitian, but you couldn’t keep your hands to yourself from touching her Sect Master?”

Lea Weiss turned to look at him once as soon as she heard about Zestria Domitian from Isabella’s mouth.

“Wait... I can explain...!”

Davis raised his hands as he looked at the three of them.

“Shut up! I was completely worried about you for nothing!~”

Isabella threw herself at him, embracing him while screaming at him, causing him to not be able to utter anything other than to blink.

Chapter 1779: Disagreement?

Davis wryly smiled at Evelynn as he caressed Isabella’s purple hair that felt realistic to the touch.

Unlike Evelynn, who knew that he was safe with the soul connection they shared, not to mention that she was able to view through his eyes with her third eye, Isabella didn’t have such an ability, nor did she know how he was faring and could only get updates through the All-Seeing Towers.

Although both Evelynn and Isabella could’ve just disturbed his avatar or his main body and asked him what he was doing, it seemed like they personally left their studies to find where he was, and when he was got caught flirting with Sect Master Lea Weiss, even if he came to possess thick skin in his current years, he could not help but feel shameful of his actions, especially when they were genuinely worried about him.

Nevertheless, hiding his embarrassment, unlike Lea Weiss, he held Isabella’s shoulder and stared at her face.

“My empress, I’ve decided to marry Lea Weiss.”

Isabella looked at him with narrowed eyes. She didn’t answer but turned to look at Lea Weiss, her black eyes flashing with a golden glint as she scrutinized her demeanor.

Lea Weiss couldn’t help but inevitably return to her elegant state as she matched Isabella’s stare. Even if she felt greatly embarrassed, especially from Davis’s words that made her feel happy, she didn’t want to appear weak in front of any woman, for the only person she allowed herself to be vulnerable was her man.

“Sect Master Lea Weiss, did you happen to seduce my emperor, or did he force himself upon you?”

“I seduced him.”

Hearing Isabella’s question, Lea Weiss answered without hesitation.

“I would like to say both-“

Isabella shot a look at Davis, who interfered, indicating him to be quiet. However, he saw that both Evelynn and Isabella didn’t seem to be surprised. After hearing that Davis wanted to marry her, they were almost sure that he had done the deed with her, and sensing the emotions Lea Weiss directed at him, Isabella could tell that she wanted him too.

“Honestly, you should know that we’re all one group. I left my empire to become his third wife. Can you do the same, leave the Burning Phoenix Ridge behind to become one of his wives?”

Lea Weiss narrowed her eyes as she shook her head, “No.”

Isabella raised her brows, “What’s your reason?”

“I can’t betray the sect that brought me to this level.” Lea Weiss’s expression appeared solemn, “That’s why we already reached a conclusion that I will still look after my sect but prioritize it the least.”

“Mhm... not bad.” Isabella looked away and glanced at the mass exodus below in the valley, “I admire your thoughts. However, if you think you can come inside our home, become close with Davis, and leave just because you feel like it, I’ll be the first to sever your neck.”

Lea Weiss narrowed her eyes with discontent, “Ridiculous. You’re going too far with your words and imagination.”

She was trying to be polite, but the other party was already threatening her?

“Shameless woman. Do I have to remind your age? Even if Davis were a hundred times older, he would not be your age.”

“...!”

Lea Weiss clenched her teeth as her fists trembled. However, she didn’t lash out but merely shot a death stare at Isabella, who matched her gaze equally and moved her lips.

“What makes you think you deserve him?”

“You’re just lucky.” Lea Weiss didn’t answer as she forced a smile, “You’re from the Forsaken Phoenix Realm, where the talent of the people is sub-par at best, not to mention it was our people who managed to get in first but turned traitorous, wanting to monopolize the Immortal Inheritance. Nevertheless, if I had attained the Immortal Inheritance, I would already be an immortal at your age.”

“Heh!” Isabella sneered, “Luck is also a part of strength.”

“On that note, aren’t I lucky for obtaining Davis?”

Lea Weiss raised her brows with equal tenacity, causing Isabella’s eyes to flash.

“No, you’re despicable.”

“Davis, is this your Earth Dragon Queen?” Lea Weiss turned to look at Davis as she appeared to be no longer willing to talk, “I’m disappointed by her character.”

Davis looked at these two prideful women grab each other’s throats with an agape mouth. Wouldn’t his little empire be choked to death if it truly went like this for some more time?

“Isabella, your usual tactics of trying to measure a person’s character through blatant provocation wouldn’t work because she’s even more prideful than you and wouldn’t like to give in...”

Davis sighed while Lea Weiss's eyes narrowed. She turned to look at Isabella, who then shot a dazzling smile at her.

"I truly admire your character, Lea. I'm also thankful that you're with us as strong women are more attractive to me. However, I'm also worried because your experiences are vast and different from ours. Honestly, I'm scared to accept you as one of us that I had no choice but to provoke you and see how you would answer them back. Although this test doesn't have fixed answers, I just should not feel, 'Ah, this person is not right for us.', for me to accept you."

Despite Isabella's explanation, Lea Weiss looked unamused as she moved her lips.

"And you think you have the right to test me?"

"I'm his third wife." Isabella raised her brows, "What do you think?"

Lea Weiss calmed, feeling that it had been a long while since someone dared to test her.

"I don't need to gain your approval. I only need Shirley's and his first wife'..."

She turned to look at the Hex Demoness, who still kept her silence, and as far as she knew, as long as the first wife accepted her, there wouldn't be a need for her, a woman who came later to earn the approval of others.

"I still think you're misunderstanding something..."

However, Isabella shot a wry smile at her.

"We're all the same."

"Who said that?" Lea Weiss narrowed her eyes.

"He did."

Isabella pointed at Davis, causing Lea Weiss to turn to look at him.

"Indeed." Davis nodded as he walked towards her, "Maybe you were not listening back then when you screamed at me, saying that I'm a heartless idiot and rushed past me, but I did say that I fear that you would look down on my women for their weaknesses and inadequate cultivation base."

Lea Weiss's expression became crimson as she shook her head, "No, I wouldn't look down on them as I'm going to have to live with them, but still, isn't strength-

"Strength, beauty, and status." Davis cut her short, "This all comes second after you become mine, for I wish to treat you all the same, and I strive to do it as far as I can, as foolishly as possible so that there is little to no discrimination in my little empire. You understand what I'm trying to achieve?"

"That's..." Lea Weiss blinked, "... not possible..."

"Precisely."

Looking at him nod that it was a matter of fact, Lea Weiss was absolutely confused.

Did he want to treat them all the same or not? Which was it?

In this kind of relationship, it was inevitable that cat-fights would break out if there wasn't a hierarchy that withheld them all in their place. She was even willing to come under the rule of the first wife and Shirley so that she doesn't trouble Davis, but he stated that she was equal to them?

She couldn't understand.

"Come, let's go back together and introduce you."

"..."

Isabella boldly took her hand and looked into her eyes, causing Lea Weiss to look past the previous friction she had with her. Still, she bitingly shook her head.

"I want to go back to my sect first and take care of unfinished things."

"Sure, Nadia is still there..."

Isabella giggled while Lea Weiss became taken aback but relaxed at the same time.

She thought that they would come at her with more hostility for none other than the reason that she was stronger than them and had more chances to gain Davis's favor than them due to her talent to grow along with him, but they welcomed her?

At least, Isabella seemed fine and even approving of her, but what about the first wife who still stayed quiet?

She didn't know.

Nevertheless, two soft hands grabbed her hands when she wanted to go back to Davis's side.

"Come, you should fly with us since we don't know you and want to know more about you."

Isabella insisted while holding both of Lea Weiss's hands.

Lea Weiss thought for a moment before she nodded at Isabella.

"Alright~"

They left for the Burning Phoenix Ridge as they flew away, not waiting for him as though it was a punishment for him.

Davis looked at them, specifically Isabella, as he inwardly sighed. He wondered why she always made herself look like the villainess to test others and couldn't adopt a more soft approach, but more than that, he deeply appreciated her taking the initiative to do these things when she had no reason to do so and could just purely concentrate on him and cultivate.

Essentially, Isabella wasn't the type to be mingling with people, but he also wondered if it was because they were two of a kind, the same prideful existences that they hit it off together, seemingly approving of each other.

After all, if it were not for their prideful attitudes that they approved of, Isabella would've probably died in Lea Weiss's Heart Demon Tribulation instead of dying along with the others and having sole ownership of him in her delusions.

Chapter 1780: So This Is How...

Davis took a step forward and flew into the skies, following them.

The wicked path hegemony who had come to see the chaos did catch their figures, but they didn't go as far as to risk their lives to start a conversation with them.

Davis looked at them and wondered if they would intentionally spread the information about him to the immortal world, which he felt was a given. But to silence them, he couldn't go asking or forcing them all to swear an oath or die as that would make him a tyrant than someone trying to protect himself.

'Heck, even some righteous path hypocrites or pure strangers would leak my ability to the immortal world. Who knows? One of them might've already ascended and started to spread information about me already...'

There were many secluded places, like the Poison Rift Valley's many rifts and the sealed lightning space in the Hundred Devil Thunder Archipelago. Even mini-realms that were occupied like the Forsaken Phoenix Realm could be considered secluded locations, still being able to ascend from there.

He knew that it was possible for secluded peak powerhouses to secretly ascend and begin plotting against him or go about their own way, but the former could be advantageous for them, considering that they might earn status and wealth for warning them off a future danger or even a future genius that they could nurture.

That's how powers worked, so he was already cautious enough to make Heaven Gazing Emperor and Mandate Emperor swear to not reveal about Clara and Tia until he said so, but the fact that his ability was already out in the open made him a clear target to be aware of, although it did help him walk freely in this place and struck fear into the hearts of his enemies.

'If killing those wicked path fools gave me a chance to remain unknown, I would've most likely done it, but it seems like I can only take this disadvantage to the face and not fall before it, huh?'

Davis decided that it was useless to kill them and let them go.

Of course, he already made an example out of four wicked path hegemony today, so he wanted to see who would dare to plot against him.

Suddenly, he caught sight of the Fiendish Yin Empress looking at him with charming eyes as they matched gazes, her sleeveless and scantily wore clothes becoming looser as her voluptuous body became more visible as she blatantly tried to seduce him with the Yang Hellflame Emperor by her side.

'Uh-uh, that's a no-go...'

Davis instantly moved his gaze away, learning that there was already one wicked path hegemony who wanted to ride on his 'coattails' instead of going against him, reminding him that there were also opportunists or pure pleasure seekers like her.

"I've been wanting to ask this, so you love Davis, right?"

Suddenly, he heard Isabella's voice after that short awkward pause after they flew away that his ears couldn't help but perk up.

Knowing that Davis was listening, Lea Weiss seemed unperturbed as she answered.

“Yes.”

Isabella and Evelynn smiled as they could see a crimson hue emerge on her face and even take over her neck and ear. Although her voice seemed unperturbed, it seemed like her pounding heart was truthful to her words.

“Why? Is there a reason?” Isabella asked before she shrugged, “It’s fine if you don’t have one because mine is a bit unnatural and selfish, stemming from jealousy...”

“... I see.”

Lea Weiss didn’t know what to say to her words.

Another woman talking to her this close was utterly foreign to her, but she knew this would be her life from now on and forcefully answered.

“I am not aware when, but after he took revenge on my behalf and initiated a few good deals for the Burning Phoenix Ridge, I gradually felt... a bit close and wondered if it would work out if I can be together with him despite his dubious background and from then on, it went downhill, to say the least...”

“Ahahaha!~ I can understand!”

Isabella couldn’t help but grab her belly as she broke into a fit of laughter while Lea Weiss also smiled along with Isabella, finding her peal of laughter to be music to her ears even though she still felt embarrassed.

“Back then, I didn’t think he had such a relationship with Shirley and merely mistook him for a person who could be her uncle and slightly younger than me as he was unheard of despite using Death Laws to that degree... so...”

“Ah, don’t worry.” Isabella smirked as she interrupted, “Age doesn’t matter to us cultivators, as you may already know. Your character and longevity matter more, and even while talking, I can see that you’re a woman of integrity.”

Lea Weiss felt flattered and accepted by Isabella’s words. However, she raised her neck to look at the quiet Hex Demoness towards the right end while she was at the left end.

“Why don’t you say something?”

“Isabella already speaks for me.”

Evelynn calmly smiled as her melodious voice echoed, causing Lea Weiss to feel confused.

“Are you just a figurehead then?”

Judging by how Isabella spoke and Davis asked for her permission, it was like Isabella was the first wife.

“You jest.”

Isabella couldn’t help but suddenly giggle as if she had heard something funny.

“If Evelynn speaks out strongly, it’s almost the final say we could have.”

Lea Weiss became shocked as her eyes widened as she stared at Evelynn.

She possessed Davis’s favor to that extent!?

Then, she quickly became confused again as she returned her gaze to Isabella.

“Didn’t you say that we’re all the same?”

“He says that but ends up giving Evelynn preferential treatment most of the time because she’s his first. That’s how it is, and we all know it, so try not to become jealous.”

“Who would...?”

Isabella shrugged and teased Lea Weiss, causing her to blush as she looked at Evelynn’s calm expression with a complicated expression on her face.

That was the look of an absolutely confident swan, who was convinced that she would stay at the top no matter what. Somehow, this irked some vague indescribable feelings inside her, making her want to remove that look of confidence from Evelynn’s face, but as soon as it came, she looked away, knowing that this was jealousy, something which she hadn’t experienced for thousands of years.

Nevertheless, Lea Weiss calmed and felt that she was starting to understand how the hierarchy within his harem worked.

‘So there is no concubines, mistresses, or affairs but just his women or wives that he wanted to adore and make love with them all?’

She felt that it was ridiculous and unrealistic, but at the same time, it also meant that...

‘I can have him dot on me more without having to inevitably offend his other women...?’

Lea Weiss’s eyes couldn’t help but tremble when she realized this matter.

On the other hand, Davis could only helplessly fly alone in the back while the three beauties conversed as they flew in front of him. Nevertheless, him being him, he admired their backs adorned by their beautiful robes outlining their curvy shapes, accentuated by their long hair swaying in the wind as he etched them into his mind.

The three of them were certainly the most powerful women who probably didn’t even need him after he died to rule this First Layer. They certainly looked good together, each having their own type of attraction while exuding a boundless charm that would make the hearts of men stir. Both fortunately and unfortunately, with the Calamity Light inbound, even that kind of tragic scenario in his head was squashed before his cautious mind could even create plots against him.

Suddenly, Lea Weiss turned to look at him, appearing to look at him with glazed eyes as though she had become needy.

Davis instantly got the message that she wanted more attention from him after learning a few things about him from his women, but he wasn’t surprised.

Human emotions were like this... practically no one would be satisfied if they were not first or treated preferentially. A small minority may not fit into this rule and would instead be satisfied with just living their lives as they please, but when the time comes, they would still act like the former, becoming needy or violent enough to gain it through soft or hard force.

“I could hold you down and kiss you deeply right in front of them if you want...”

Hearing his soul transmission, Lea Weiss’s body shook as she turned to look away, not replying to his words, but he could see that her ears became crimson.

‘Ah, the Sect Master’s like a newlywed young, innocent woman...’

Davis couldn’t help but feel a sense of fulfillment whenever he saw Lea Weiss blush without being able to suppress it. It invoked his desires as a man, making him want to protect and cherish her more. Although he could see that there was some communication gap due to their age and experiences, he felt that it would eventually resolve itself, especially with Isabella helping him ease the situation.

By this time, they had broken through the Territory Fog and arrived at the Burning Phoenix Ridge, which seemed to have already finished repairing and constructing new structures.

That’s how fast cultivators were in building things.

Who needed cranes and other stuff when they could move it with their own strength?

Nadia’s figure flashed as she appeared in front of them.

While Lea Weiss thanked Nadia for guarding the Burning Phoenix Ridge and left to see her duties as a Sect Master, Evelynn turned to look at him and moved her lips.

“Davis, there were a total of four thousand, six hundred and eighty-two assassins that were found in the territory of the Alstreim Family. The Emperor Beast Stage Magical Beasts from the Magical Beast Sanctuary were extremely great as they managed to literally sniff out the assassins with their senses, but one of the assassins, a High-Level Law Rune Stage Powerhouse, managed to get into the Alstreim Family’s Ancestral Palace and almost killed Ancestor Dian Alstreim. Fortunately, Nadia took him down, resulting in Ancestor Dian Alstreim escaping while losing only one of his legs which is treatable.”

Davis’s brows raised as his pupils dilated. He calmed the next moment before he asked.

“No one died, right?”

“Zero casualties, and also, I’ve captured that weak Hidden Night Emperor alive.”

Evelynn confidently answered as her purple eyes majestically shone, causing Davis to smile at her deeply.

He had always done things on his own. It was his first time relying on someone other than Nadia and Isabella to protect his family in his stead when danger strikes, and the fact that Evelynn successfully defeated the Hidden Night Emperor and even went as far as to succeed in capturing him made him feel gratified, as well as crave her that he almost wanted to grab her head and plant a hot kiss on her sexy lips.

Unfortunately, she was a soul-body at this moment, and so was Nadia, who also led the defensive forces lent by the Magical Beast Sanctuary to take care of numerous weaker assassins.

“Thank you so much, Evelyne and Nadia.”

“No need.”

“I’ll do anything for master.”

Evelyne rejected while Nadia smirked, both of them smiling at him with warm expressions.

“The despicable wicked path sent so many assassins.” Isabella looked angered, “Davis, since you killed four of their hegemony, you better have swiped them clean till they have nothing to offer to their descendants.”

“Of course, it’s all in here.”

Davis raised his hand as he pointed at his spatial ring and started to investigate the loot that he obtained from four hegemony, including all the powerhouses and experts who died, amassing a massive amount of wealth and resources that would last for generations upon generations if they don’t use it for themselves.