

EMPEROR 2321

Chapter 2321 Squabble

Davis wondered if the Starlight Jade Wolf King personally came and announced such a thing to the world's major powers. If so, he felt like he could consider the alliance more sincerely.

However, before he could make contact with the Starlight Jade Wolf Clan, he wanted to know what truly happened through Mival Silverwind, but the other party hadn't contacted him yet. It made sense because he didn't tell them when he was arriving at the First Haven World. Perhaps, they might try to contact him once a month or if they found some valid news about him existing here, but he wasn't going to expose himself at this junction.

Or so he thought but noticing the Blue Luan Immortal staring into his eyes with her crystal blue pupils that shone through her veil, his fingers shook ever so lightly.

"Supposedly, the so-called Emperor of Death has a wife who has voluptuous assets. She wears purple like him, possesses purplish-green hair, and appears to have a sexy face that seduces the will out of men."

However, the Blue Luan Immortal took her eyes off Davis and raised her hand, stretching out towards Evelyann.

It caused Evelyann to stiffen. The hand was almost upon her body when another hand captured the Blue Luan Immortal's wrist, causing the Blue Luan Immortal to gaze at Davis.

"My wife is rather reserved," Davis uttered as he unbudgingly stared at the Blue Luan Immortal.

However, the Blue Luan Immortal directly ignored him and gazed at Evelyann, looking at the wisps of dark energy oozing out of her body.

"Darkness Laws...? A spirit fey? I suppose you're not the Emperor of Death's first wife."

"Of course not. I'm Feng Chu, and this is my wife, Daisy."

Davis angrily replied, causing both Evelyann and the Blue Luan Immortal to turn speechless at him.

The Blue Luan Immortal hesitated before she slapped Davis's hand gracefully from clasping onto her wrist.

"I found it extremely suspicious two mortals dare to venture out when the situation is no longer the same in the First Haven World anymore, especially since the Vacuous Beasts are still out there. But now I understand. Your grip is firm enough to be measured at the immortal level, and you don't have the Earth Dragon's aura on your body despite using Earth Laws. Moreover, you're willing to offend me to protect your woman."

"We have only each other left, so how can I not lay my life on the line?"

"Seeing that you're daring and not afraid of offending me, I can very well see that."

"Afraid? I'm very afraid. Can't young miss see that I'm keeping my trembling in check? If young miss became hostile, how can I survive? The heavens are unfair. They want to rob everything from me. They want to kill every last one of us."

"..."

Davis's unwilling expression instantly caused the Blue Luan Immortal to retreat two steps back in fluster.

"Don't misunderstand. I'm not here to rob you or kill you. I just felt that you're strange, and now that I have confirmed that you're not the person I expected you to be, I'll be leaving. Here, as compensation, have some immortal crystals."

The Blue Luan Immortal waved her hand, and about fifty-thousand immortal crystals fell; the concentrated energy in one area instantly burst outward as they spread.

"What are you looking at? Quick, take it before others could notice." The Blue Luan Immortal chided, causing the stunned Davis to react.

He waved his hand and absorbed the immortal crystals, looking like he was unable to believe he had gotten some money without working for it. Seeing his expression, the Blue Luan Immortal smiled as she nodded.

"This... I can't take this for free." Davis sounded embarrassed.

"Then, if you spot that Emperor of Death, send him a message that the Aurora Cloud Gate sent him an invitation. Whether he chooses to accept it or not is his headache, but my mission hasn't even started if he doesn't ascend. I'll be returning to my sect since this isn't going anywhere, wasting my time."

The Blue Luan Immortal began to ascend. However, she stopped at a sizeable altitude and threw something at Davis.

Davis caught it and saw a greenish-purple badge with the words: [Recruitment] etched onto it.

"I can't return empty-handed. You're powerful as I presume you've created a Supreme Immortal Crest compared to heavenly geniuses but compared to what the Emperor of Death is assumed to be, you're still lacking. But still, you'll make a reasonable substitute that would make the Azure Cloud Gate nod in satisfaction."

"If you're interested, you can come to attend the trial. As long as you activate the recruitment plate with your energy, it will lead you in the direction you should go. Now then, I bid you two farewell."

"Ah, excuse me. Your name-"

Whoosh!~

The Blue Luan Immortal silently left as she came, perhaps not leaving any tracks for the City Lord to pick up.

However, Davis below appeared stupefied before he shook his head.

"What was that about, Daisy?"

Evelynn was about to retort instinctively but then harrumphed, "Feng Chu. If you didn't protect me, I would've left you for real this time."

"Ah, don't say that. It breaks my heart to even hear such words from you."

Evelynn shook, but clenching her teeth, she uttered, "You better watch it next time. Relearn that I'm untouchable existence for you until you become a respected immortal. According to my ancestors, my background isn't normal, so I'm not giving myself to you no matter how I love you until you become strong for me!"

"Yes!"

Davis grabbed Evelynn's hand and walked away; all the while, Evelynn muttered 'shameless' underneath her breath as she had her head faced the other side, seemingly unable to accept her feelings.

In the not-so-far distance, a pair of crystal blue pupils couldn't help but blink as they watched the pair with a complicated relationship.

'Are they really just Feng Chu and Daisy...?'

The Blue Luan Immortal severely doubted their authenticity. Although they didn't exhibit the known traits, they were incredibly suspicious as both were strong enough to kill immortals.

Moreover, she had heard that the Emperor of Death and the rumored Hex Demoness would die for each other, but this relationship seemed like they were still wet behind the ears. The guy seemed to be a brute yet resilient, while the woman had a dark presence yet had a soft side to her.

She couldn't understand what was happening, wondering if she had truly guessed wrong.

Nonetheless, she began following them.

It didn't take the Blue Luan immortal much but seeing them talk about many things, like Daisy urging Feng Chu to go to the Aurora Cloud Gate while she would seek out her power, but Feng Chu declined, stating that he would only be together with her before they had a verbal fight, leading to Daisy sulking with anger while Feng Chu did everything in his ability to console her, the Blue Luan Immortal didn't know what to say.

Then, she saw them romancing as Feng Chu cornered Daisy to a tree, causing him to take advantage of her.

"..."

Things became hot as the man was close to the woman's body as his two hands moved, causing the woman's eyes to tremble incessantly while each soft touch of his finger traced along a sensitive path, making her quiver with pleasure.

"..."

"Feng Chu. Enough!~"

"Yes."

Daisy finally pushed Feng Chu away, causing Feng Chu to dejectedly put his head down and leave. Daisy stretched her hand, wanting to stop him, but then took it back and placed that longing hand over her bosoms, appearing to have complicated feelings over this matter.

The Blue Luan Immortal, hidden in the shadows of the night sky, stood up and flew into the skies, silently leaving the area.

After she was covered a vast distance, she stopped and looked at the moon. Abruptly, the image of two bodies overlapping appeared in her gaze, causing her to shake her head heavily.

"Curses! What am I doing!? I have things to do back at the sect, not look at those two... two... Ugh!~"

The angry cry of a bird echoed in the skies before it disappeared from the region.

Chapter 2322 Scariest?

Two days later, Davis and Evelynn finally made it to the peak of a mountain. They had met some bandits on the way, but they were instantly subdued with his fists, displaying his awesome strength that smashed apart mountains and valleys.

Unfortunately, the bandits were broke as beggars, causing him to break out into a cursing fit.

Nonetheless, once they were on the peak that had a view of the vast skies free from any kind of shadows, Davis turned to look at Evelynn.

"Did she leave?"

"I don't know."

"She must've left." Davis pursed his lips, "No sane and righteous person would stay with us after what all we did."

Evelynn blushed slightly. They hadn't gone beyond kissing, but even then, the atmosphere they created along their travel was nothing to scoff at as it was sensual. Still, being intimate outside while feeling the phantom gaze of an unrelated entity was uncomfortable to her but to survive, she clenched her teeth and endured.

However, little did they know that the Blue Luan Immortal didn't even last half a day.

"Evelynn, you did well to cooperate." Davis smiled, "Especially, I didn't expect you to release darkness energy laced with the Entombed Darkfall Wisp's aura, causing her to become confused. Your quick thinking was of immense help."

"Really?" Evelynn couldn't help but smile, becoming elated to be praised. She had prepared this move beforehand to conceal her aura. However, she touched his cheek, her gaze full of care, "You faced something like this while traversing alone when you were yet to marry me? This is scary..."

"Those encounters couldn't compare to this one. Considering the scale of the difference between our prowess and the Blue Luan Immortal's prowess, this is actually the scariest encounter I ever faced."
Davis wryly smiled.

For a moment, even he thought he was going to have to enact self-sacrifice again to get a way out, but it was unknown if he could kill the Blue Luan Immortal whose prowess seemed to have entered the Immortal King Stage.

As for Lereza, she was in the city as he had left the Nine-Treasured Immortal Palace in the mansion. Even if he contacted her with their connection, it would take a few seconds for her to appear here. Even then, it was unknown if she would truly respond, but he felt like she would as she owed him, but he didn't want to depend upon that and make plans.

That's why he had ventured out, depending on himself, but this was more unexpected than unexpected.

Honestly, he never thought he would have a sharp immortal bird would spot them, so having been cornered and investigated, his subsequent actions to put her off must also be concise, from indifference to becoming offended and then scared that they had offended an existence that they couldn't hope to offend.

Even Evelynn was at a loss for Davis's acting skills at that time, as it was almost flawless. As for her, she tried her best while her expression was covered, giving her a massive boon.

"Fortunately, that nameless Blue Luan Immortal was truly not hostile. Otherwise, she would've killed us to get some treasures. After all, lower planes should have some goods that could only be obtained in lower planes. It is enough reason to consider plundering ascenders as long as you're greedy enough."

Evelynn patted her bosoms, causing Davis to glance at those quaking jugs as he nodded his head.

"Indeed. I've done worse things. For example, I've tortured Schleya when I had extreme leverage over her, but that Blue Luan Immortal wasn't like that to us, not even willing to scan us with her soul sense if I'm not wrong."

"She could've scanned me when I captured her wrist or caused me to explode, but she didn't do it. She genuinely just wanted to see if I was the Emperor of Death, trying to elicit a response to expose ourselves. However, it's a pity that I'm Feng Chu, a bad person..."

Davis shook his head.

"Silly..."

Evelynn lovingly pushed Davis's face, causing him to chuckle before he captured her wrist.

"Wanna reset the timer? I know you're frustrated with all the teasing you endured."

"..."

Evelynn blushed as she gazed into his attractive eyes before she lowered her head and nodded twice.

"Good. A decision well made as you can't afford to be distracted while undergoing your heavenly tribulation."

Davis lifted Evelynn up by her thigh and held her dear in a princess carry. Her soft yet voluptuous body was practically weightless in his arms. Of course, it would be another story if Evelynn struggled, but she laid in his embrace like a baby, looking at him with obsessed eyes while having her lithe arms wrapped around his neck.

Her fragrant scent wafted over, rejuvenating Davis.

He took her to a waterfall nearby that had caught his eye sometime earlier. In truth, he was tempted at that very moment to bed Evelynn but couldn't be too sure if the Blue Luan Immortal was still following them. He had no way to know.

Moreover...

Although he was in a situation where he could've almost died making the wrong move, he only felt like slapping that Blue Luan Immortal's butt and letting her go. The other party didn't try to make things worse for them but even gifted fifty thousand immortal crystals, which is a huge sum for mortals, enough to allow them to live for hundreds and thousands of years.

Even without Enigmatic Heart Intent, he could see that the Blue Luan Immortal was a good person. Her act of saving those women who suffered under the evil hands of the City Lord must be genuine.

Nonetheless, his thoughts only strayed a little before he cast a glance at Evelynn. Her purple eyes had already started turning sensual.

Just as Davis arrived before the waterfall, he passed through it and entered the small area where the shape of the wall was an inward slope. The rock surface was wet and slippery, just like someone in his hands was getting hornier by the second as her breathing became rugged after exiting the waterfall.

They were drenched heavily at the moment, and due to the fact that the sunlight was shining on them through the falling water, the reflective gleam shining upon them cast an aesthetic scene of lightly flowing like water on their skin.

The two of them could barely contain themselves as Evelynn removed the hat and threw herself to his face, plastering her searing hot lips on his rough lips as she heavily kissed him, while Davis also didn't let her be the only one passionate, letting her down as he wrapped his arms around her waist and pushed her forward to his raging member as he felt her plump bosoms pressed against his chest, making him wanting more of her exquisite taste as he plundered her delectable lips.

By the time they let go, their chins were covered with drool, and their bodies had become naked.

Evelynn held her hands against the wet surface of the dark wall, her body slightly bent and lowered as she waited for him.

"Hsss~"

Two hands caught her seductive waist when a furious rod touched her cave, proceeding to spread her open as it smoothly entered her, sending waves of warmth that caused her legs to twitch heavily.

Chapter 2323 Getting It Out (R-18)

"Haa..."

Davis let out a low growl as he felt his rock-hard member become covered in her fleshly embrace. It was warm and tight, bringing him immense bliss. He plunged deep into her as he kissed her womb's entrance, eliciting a seductive response as she shook her plump ass at him from being unable to endure the deep intrusion.

Wrapping his arms around her soft waist as he aligned his body with hers, reaching his lips to her fair-white neck, he began slowly grinding his way in and way out, sending pleasurable waves while there was a surplus of seeping wetness flowing down her thighs.

Pa~ Pa~ Pa~

His thighs met her ass cheeks as they collided softly. His hot member plowed her sweetly, and with each stroke of his hot rod, Evelynn passionately responded as she shook her hips back and forth with an ecstatic face. Her movements were not violent but the calm before the, her voluptuous breasts swaying momentarily as they jiggled, greatly attracting Davis even though he couldn't see it but hear it slap his arm that was wrapped around her waist.

"My sexy demoness..."

Davis rasped as his hands caught her breasts. His palms sunk into her thick meat and kneaded as he pleased while moving them up and down or in a circular motion.

"Aah~ Aahn~ Ah- no, not there~"

Evelynn cooed but enjoyed the sensation of him grabbing her big tits, pinching her pink nipples while fondling them. It gave her an extreme sense of fulfillment for her to know that he was obsessed with her body. It was one of her pride that she could never let go of, causing her to become wetter as he plowed her from behind.

"Uuh~"

Suddenly, he turned her around as he grabbed one of her thighs and placed her left leg on his shoulder while her right leg remained on the slippery ground, causing her to use one of her hands to capture his neck while using the other hand to maintain balance against him and the rock wall.

"You-"

This position instantly caused her to blush beyond compare as she was completely vulnerable, but at this moment, Davis took a step forward and rose deep into her as he stabbed his rock-hard dick inside her all the way in, causing Evelynn's eyes to turn wide as her lips went agape, quivering in intensity while her pupils almost rolled back.

Davis smirked with contentment as he grabbed her right breast with his left hand while holding her waist facing the wall with his right hand. Using both his hands, he pushed back his hips fully, his thick rod appearing to almost exit out of her tightly kissing vagina before he thrust back inside while at the same time yanking her towards him.

"Oh~ah~ooh~"

Evelynn's voice cracked amidst his furious pistoning movements. She could feel his thick intensity throbbing inside her, seeking to plunder her love juices while rapturously trying to impregnate her.

A hand suddenly grabbed her neck, and her agape mouth was sealed shut by his lips, his tongue sneaking its way inside as it began to plunder her sweet juices.

Evelynn's eyes were narrowed as her eyelids quivered. While being spread, she was forced against him, causing her voluptuous body to bend, but it was still something her body was capable of.

However, this close proximity in everything, from the way his scorching hot rod penetrated all the way deep to her mouth delightfully receiving his caresses, left her feeling extremely hot that she felt like she was burning.

"Chupa!~*

Davis let go of Evelynn's lips and lowered his head.

"Davis~ You should... try the ahn-"

Evelynn squealed as she felt her tits engulfed by his mouth. His tongue began to swirl around her areola, treating it with care before he sucked on her erect pink bud. It sent shivers down her spine, with his piston movements seeming like it was not stopping anytime soon.

"Try what...?" Davis had one last taste of her nearest teat and asked.

"Try the Aurora Cloud Gate..."

Her answer left Davis a bit surprised, but he didn't stop moving his hips, feeling like they were almost there.

"Why? I lied to that Blue Luan Immortal, so I just can't go say that yes, I'm the Emperor of Death, so allow me to enter, can I?"

"Exactly~"

"You want me to use the fake identity of Feng Chu?"

"Ah~ Yes~ I'm comming... ah~"

Evelynn's expression twitched as she looked at him longingly, and noticing the cue, Davis's eyes flashed.

"I can't leave you all..."

Davis pounced and kissed her salacious crimson lips as he pounded her into the ninth heaven. He was not at his limit, or rather, Evelyn's words made him lose focus, so he couldn't climax at the same time as her. On the other hand, Evelyn felt every submissive emotion she could feel when she informed Davis to go to the Aurora Cloud Gate, becoming afraid of his answer while at the same time feeling overwhelmed from being dominated by him.

On one side, she didn't want to let him go, but on the other, she knew that becoming a part of power would allow him to soar.

If the Aurora Cloud Gate wanted him despite knowing that he could use Death Laws, heavenly lightning, and heavenly flames, then they were either after his secrets or genuinely wanted to recruit him. Their lack of greed and sending a righteous individual made her think that they were sincere in their invitation to him.

She had thought of it all these days and even spoke about it to Feng Chu when she acted as Daisy, telling him to go, but this was real. She truly wanted him to soar and not waste much time looking after them. However, it was a conflicting feeling as she did not want to be separated no matter what, so if Davis used his moniker as Feng Chu, she felt that she should be able to follow him into the Aurora Cloud Gate along with a few others.

Even if she could not go with him, she still wanted him to try entering the Aurora Cloud Gate and soar before anything else.

The encounter with the Blue Luan Immortal had actually taught her an important lesson- no, made her realize that was in front of absolute strength, they were back to being nothing but helpless.

Paaah!~ Paaah!~ Paaah!~

With Evelyn overflowing with her yin essence while his rod struck while the valley tightly held him for life, Davis continued to thrust as heavy squelching sounds kept echoing. It wasn't long before he changed the tide of their union as he burst inside her, letting out loads and loads of yang essence into her womb.

His body tightly wound around her as he kept ejaculating inside, feeling an intense sense of fulfillment as he kept pouring his seeds into a true Empress. This kind of aura completely made his brain go haywire, disallowing him to focus on anything but her warm and alluring body.

After five whole minutes, Davis and Evelyn regained their sanity, both her legs already on the wet surface but still holding each other with their hands as they stood together. They looked at each other with a bit of lustful gaze, but there were also complex feelings revolving in their orbs.

"You truly want me to go?"

"Mhm~" Evelyn softly nodded, "Don't worry about the others. If you want, I'll stay and protect them as you would. All I have to do is become an immortal, and even if I'm lacking a bit, I'll be able to battle Immortal Kings as long as I enter the Mid Immortal Stage."

"Or I can bring you all in with my palace..."

"But that would cause temporal instability in the palace. That does not-"

Davis placed his hand on Evelynn's lips as he smiled lightly, "Wealth is not a problem as the temporal formation would just consume the same energy while giving us less time. I can easily earn, not to mention that you, Isabella, and Shirley could be practically loaded. But if I'm going to enter a power, we're going together. For now, let's do a bit more before we clean up and work on entering the Immortal Stage first."

Evelynn's eyes glazed in love before she nodded her head. His final words were like a boulder that had been lifted off her shoulders, causing her to fully focus on him as she jumped and wrapped her legs around him, her four spider bones jutting out from her lumbar spine as two of them struck the ground while two others stabbed into the wall.

She let herself dangle before him, grabbing his thickness as she let him enter her hot and moist cave and seized his face, bringing him closer to her mountainous bosoms as she wanted him to suck and worship them while Davis did the obvious and devoured her with intense passion.

Their lovemaking sought no end until they welcomed the next day and set out early morning.

Chapter 2324 Choosing Turns

From their location, Davis and Evelynn surveyed the space they were in from the other cities marked on the map and scouted a five hundred-kilometer radius. It took them about a whole day to ensure the area's safety before reconvening at the center.

"Other than mortal realm beasts roaming around and living their lives, there wasn't anything else to be worried about."

Evelynn reported, causing Davis to nod.

"This location is good. All the activities mostly ended six hundred kilometers away. There are no immortal entities here, probably because they fear the Vacuous Beasts that could still be on the prowl. Most importantly, there's a natural barrier with the mountains blocking the view from the far skies in all directions while we can't even see past a few hundred kilometers as the foggy atmosphere restricts vision."

As far as they had surveyed, everything seemed to be good for them to continue with their plans.

Two rays of light shot out from Davis's forehead as a black-robed, pale-white gorgeous beauty with a crescent moon on her forehead and a purple-skinned beauty with scintillating white hair and a white crown emerged.

Davis turned to look at Eldia. The blue robe she wore accentuated her bluish-black pupils flickering with a strand of heavenly lightning. A wide smile was on her face, pale purplish-blue lips curving into one of delight.

"Master, it's my turn, right?"

"Alright, first is Eldia. Then, you, Nadia."

Davis swiveled his head at the black-robed beauty, who also seemed a bit excited as she nodded.

"Finally, it's you, Evelynn."

"I would have two immortal protectors by that time. How reliable."

Evelynn nodded, not fighting for a spot at the first as the three of them looked at each other.

After all, whoever became immortal first would have the chance to impress Davis. But since Eldia voiced out her wishes and Davis arranged the order, they didn't fight for it.

Davis pursed his lips, thinking that it would be better if Nadia or Evelynn was first strength-wise. After all, if they become immortals first, they would definitely be stronger than Eldia. However, with all of them exhibiting known traits that point out to the Emperor of Death, it really didn't matter which of them came first.

Compared to Nadia and Evelynn, who were addressed as the wicked wolf and the Hex Demoness, Eldia's presence was little known as most of the time, she just stayed guard in their palace or was inside him all the time. He had gotten Eldia's help in the battle with the Vacuous Beasts, but it was done mostly by sharing her energy with him.

Even though she had come out, there was little known about her, making it so that if they were caught at this moment, he could play ignorant, try to hoodwink, or even kill whoever came to investigate.

After all, it was unlikely for Immortal Kings to be randomly present here, and since they were far away, with the dense heaven and earth energy clouding the skies and the heavenly tribulations transpiring in the cities by the residents themselves, it was difficult to find heavenly tribulations happening more than a hundred kilometers away.

Moreover, this place acted as a natural barrier, not to mention that the heaven and earth energy here was slightly denser at the valley.

"Eldia, you may begin."

"Yes~"

Eldia's melodious voice echoed as she transformed into a streak of black-silver lightning as she descended into the valley while Davis, Evelynn, and Nadia stayed at the peak of the surrounding mountains.

Nadia transformed into her winged-wolf form, and her tails split from her body, leaving her with one tail. As for the two other tails, they transformed into two doppelgangers as they rushed to the other sides, covering the valley in their range as they were on the lookout.

"Good Nadia~"

Evelynn raised her hand and patted Nadia's head for being vigilant. Surprisingly, Nadia didn't react with displeasure, seemingly taking pleasure in Evelynn's caresses as she willingly turned her head to get more massages.

Davis's expression became gentle as he looked at them. Since both were Emperor-Tier existences, Nadia was finally able to accept Evelynn's touch without her bloodline becoming offended. Evelynn, being herself, took full advantage of Nadia and rubbed her into being pampered before the latter licked her face reactively in joy.

"..." Davis's thoughts churned in the wrong direction when suddenly a rumble brought them back to reality.

They glanced down, looking at Eldia become covered with a purplish-black light while dark clouds began to gather above her in the skies.

Her heavenly tribulation had begun.

Rumble!~

More dark clouds gathered as arcs of lightning flashed everywhere, lighting up the skies that had gone dark from the clouds blocking the sunlight. The foggy atmosphere only made it seem eerier.

"This aura... as expected..."

Davis uttered before he inwardly sighed. Indeed, it was a destructive heavenly tribulation.

Considering that Eldia had absorbed heavenly lightning, it was a foregone conclusion. However, he also wanted to know to what extent his karmic burden caused Eldia's tribulation to become powerful, but he didn't have a scale to measure, so he could only guess upon witnessing its might.

"There's no heavenly flame tribulation. That's good..."

Davis commented as he saw that crimson clouds didn't form. Eldia's karmic virtue was also good, having some karmic virtue formed as quite a number of people seemed to have acknowledged her unidentified presence lurking during the battle.

Bzzz!~

In the valley, Eldia hovered above the ashen rocky surface. Arcs of black-silver lightning jumped around her as her prowess grew more and more. If one excluded the heavenly tribulation's tyrannical and oppressive aura, one would find Eldia was already stronger.

To be on the safe side, she was already gathering her power, concentrating huge waves of heavenly lightning into concentrated arcs as she kept them ready around her. They were like hundreds of heavenly swords, ready to pierce through the skies.

However, surrounding her was also heavenly lightning web arcs that appeared like a prison.

Rumble!~

Amidst the darkening skies, the arcs of lightning gathered at the center, turning into a bolt of meter-tall blue lightning, radiating immense pressure before it flashed, lighting up the skies.

Bang!~

The heavenly lightning fell, striking Eldia!

However, before the heavenly lightning could strike her, she sent a lightning sword at heavenly destructive lightning, causing it to significantly weaken!

But at the same time, it survived and rushed towards her. However, before it could reach her, it was caught by her heavenly lightning prison, after which the heavenly lightning strike began to stubbornly fight back!

However, Eldia reached out her hand and clenched it, causing the heavenly lightning prison to separate into another spherical layer of black-silver lightning. At that point, the new layer condensed and trapped the bolt of destructive heavenly lightning.

With her hand clenched, Eldia pulled it back, and the suppressed heavenly lightning strike went straight into her body, causing her to quiver for a moment before she raised her head and looked at the skies, a disdainful glint appearing in her bluish-black eyes.

Rumble!!!~

The heavenly tribulation roared at Eldia in anger.

"Awesome! She's absorbing the heavenly lightning through her own will!"

Davis thought he would help her absorb the last strike of the heavenly tribulation like the last time Eldia encountered her heavenly tribulation to become a spirit from a spirit attribute source, but now, Eldia went beyond his expectations, beginning to absorb the heavenly lightning from the first strike itself and that too made it look easy.

He wasn't heavily surprised because he knew that Eldia's prowess was able to reach five levels higher and more, while this heavenly tribulation strike's prowess didn't exceed four levels higher, but he was still elated.

Unless this destruction heavenly tribulation was extremely strong, Eldia made it seem like she could absorb heavenly lightning as she pleases!

It made Davis wonder if he could do the same with his Tyrannical Heavenly Firestorm Physique without having to use life energy to tame them in the first place! If he could do so, the energy focus he would have to use to counter the heavenly tribulation would considerably lessen!

Roar!~

Davis and the others instantly recognized it to be a Vacuous Beast, but it possessed three heads and appeared like ancient water dragons or serpents, causing Davis's jaws to drop.

"A hydra?"

Chapter 2325 Lightning Spirit's ImmortalTribulation

Three seconds later, another destructive immortal tribulation lightning plunged without making a sound.

Bang!~

The blue monstrosity clashed with black-silver swords, becoming sliced into a bolt of smaller heavenly lightning, cut short into less than a meter from two meters tall. Its prowess was still higher than the first strike as it hovered a little above the eighth level of the Ninth Stage.

However, it was still easily caught by the heavenly lightning prison made by Eldia before she proceeded to absorb it by fusing it into her body.

Her body, which was made up of half heavenly lightning and half extinction lightning, became purer and purer.

But instead of the tribulation clouds, her gaze was at the roaring newcomer in the distance. It was almost upon her, its chaotic undulations blaring at Level Two Immortal Stage.

Davis leaped to the back as the three-headed hydra was the nearest to him, coming from his side.

It had a bipedal dragon's body, but three heads extended from its neck, each having similar facial features while their eyes radiated a bloodthirsty light. Even though he was the nearest, it was looking at Eldia, who unleashed heavenly lightning in excess while also occasionally watching the skies as it roared at the heavenly tribulation.

It was as though it hated the heavens to the core, causing Davis to blink.

The Vacuous Beasts had an intense reaction whenever he used heavenly lightning and heavenly flames, making him wonder if they hated the heavens instinctively.

For what? For making them like this?

The Vacuous Beast didn't even see Davis, flying past him with its giant body.

But from below, an intense air tunnel shot up as a figure pierced through its body, destroying its central head.

Davis had his hand raised, his figure covered in a bloody hue. Surprisingly, the blood was unable to affect his chaotic body, causing him to become pleasantly surprised. Just as he was about to strike the other two heads with his legs, he noticed the Vacuous Beast freeze and fall to the mountain peak.

Bang!~

The moment it fell, the third heavenly tribulation strike simultaneously fell.

Eldia didn't even look above but sent a few more heavenly lightning swords at the three-meter tall heavenly lightning strike, causing it to be weakened before she repeated her motions, capturing the struggling heavenly lightning that tried to harm her before absorbing it.

Davis landed beside the corpse of the hydra. He thought he needed to crush all three heads, but it seemed like crushing the head that carried the core of the hydra did the job.

However, he couldn't help but take a good look at it, his brows frowning, 'Was it asleep but became attracted by the heavenly tribulation?'

When it ignored him, who was straight ahead of it to target Eldia, who was beyond him while occasionally looking at the tribulation clouds, this assumption of his became clear.

If that's the case, then all Vacuous Beasts should be forced outdoor at this moment.

He couldn't help but look around while the others did the same. Fortunately, they didn't find anything of concern.

No Vacuous Beasts were breaking free from the ground to leap into the air, making it known to them that there was only one Vacuous Beast in this region.

Their gaze then returned to Eldia, whose bluish-black eyes and the silver lightning mark on her forehead were turning sharper and sharper with the amount of heavenly lightning she was absorbing. By this time, she had encountered the fifth strike and was in the process of absorbing it.

Her expression was... delectable, to say the least, as though she was completely enjoying it.

Davis couldn't help but smile. Her strategy was something copied from him. Weaken the strike and then capture it to refine it and finally absorb it. However, since her body was something made out of heavenly lightning, it seemed that she could essentially forego the refining process, able to withstand the will of the heavenly lightning all by herself.

She was basically oppressing the immortal tribulation's heavenly lightning with her heavenly lightning, which he was incapable of.

However, after creating the Tyrannical Heavenly Firestorm Physique, he wondered if he would be able to do the same thing as her.

Rumble!~

Eldia's eyes flashed with a silverish tint. She raised her hand and received the heavenly lightning strike on her hand, directly absorbing it as arcs of blue and black-silver lightning kept shattering the earth around her. The dirt crumbled, causing lava to spit out and engulf Eldia.

However, a burst of lightning strike plunged and pierced the lava, causing it to lose its momentum and fall.

Davis and the others couldn't help but blink. Was the tribulation even necessary at this point?

She wasn't shaken by anything that transpired.

In fact, Eldia's concentration was attuned to the dark tribulation clouds.

Not only could she feel when the tribulation lightning would fall on her without missing a microsecond, but she was also able to feel that the will of the heavens was trying to destroy her, but in front of her power, it was quickly tamed.

Even she was surprised to feel this way but confirming it through her plan to catch the heavenly lightning in her palm as she enclosed it with a concentrated sphere of heavenly lightning prison and directly absorbed it, she practically verified that as long as her level was higher, she was in control of the heavenly lightning and not the other way around.

'My body is capable of controlling all sources of heavenly lightning...?'

Eldia suspiciously wondered. After all, this was a destruction heavenly tribulation. For her to be able to triumph over its killing will with her own, she assumed that it was because her body could be considered a source of heavenly lightning itself.

Bzzz!~

Nonetheless, Eldia didn't dare look down on the heavenly tribulation. Using all her resolve, she summoned out her essence, body, and spirit energies as they all gathered at the center of the palm that she raised.

The seventh strike, appearing to be seven meters tall after being condensed from a hundred-meter wide sea of lightning, mercilessly crashed down, but she subdued it as it fell on her palm, her body continually absorbing them.

The eighth strike also struck, but other than Eldia shaking a bit, she received with ease with no changes to her expression.

Rumble!~

The heavens seemed to be angered at her disposition and indifference to robbing from it, thundering with rage as a sea of lightning descended. It crossed about three hundred meters in length and exuded a prowess almost six levels higher, causing Eldia to narrow her brows as she measured it to be a very the peak of the ninth level of the Ninth Stage.

She didn't think her heavenly tribulation would be this powerful, to say the least, as she expected a much easier tribulation.

Davis also looked at this powerful phenomenon strangely, his brows twitching as he looked at that heavenly lightning dragon that tried to kill him from below the clouds.

'As I thought... my karmic burden has affected Eldia. Otherwise, her tribulation wouldn't be this powerful...'

Davis knew a few factors involving spirits and their heavenly tribulations.

A destructive heavenly tribulation would naturally increase the prowess of the tribulation by one as a result of making the heavenly lightning extremely aggressive. This applied to all races.

When spirits peak their soul and body along with the essence cultivation, the prowess of the heavenly tribulation will increase by one. This applied to both humans and spirits, but he wasn't sure about magical beasts as it was vague if they could practice their Essence Gathering Cultivation while still being mortals.

Nonetheless, that would make it so that there are three remaining levels of increase in the tribulation's prowess that are unaccounted for.

If plundering heavenly tribulation was a serious crime according to the heavens, then he felt that he could allot at least one or two levels to it. That would make it so that the remaining one or two level prowess, which could belong to his karmic burden, was infecting her.

He couldn't tell the precise difference as they could also be sharing a half-half addition in prowess but refused to believe that his karmic burden could be any more than one level higher.

How could he affect her so much? It was true that she ate heavenly lightning almost every day from him, causing his karmic burden to flow down to her, but it should not be accounted for much.

Otherwise, it would really be a case of headache as every one of his women had directly benefitted from him.

In any case, his eyes couldn't help but frown at the tyrannical and vicious nine-meter tall heavenly lightning dragon in the skies.

'Eldia, block it with all you got. That heavenly lightning dragon's will is not easily handleable...'

Davis had informed Eldia before of the danger, so he trusted that she would do as she was told.

Chapter 2326 More Tyrannical

Rumble!~

The dark clouds of the heavenly tribulation roared at the tribulation taker.

Eldia was naturally prepared, all three of her energies surging around her as they formed a thick heavenly lightning prison while there were incredibly sharp and overpowered heavenly lightning swords swirling around her.

She had poured ten percent of each of her energies into performing this attack, overdrafting her focus which caused her eyes to narrow as she felt faint but still stood undaunted, waiting for the tribulation lightning dragon to descend.

Davis, Evelyn, and Nadia all had their eyes on that dragon.

But at this moment, their expressions couldn't help but freeze.

The nine-meter tall blue dragon raging with a tyrannical aura and oppressive might, turned to look at Davis, causing his heart to skip a beat.

Its eyes flashed with a silverish gleam before it returned its gaze to Eldia, turning into a flash as it shot down in an instant.

Bang!~

Nine black-silver swords of lightning pierced through the heavenly lightning dragon, causing it to roar before it pounced on the heavenly lightning prison, biting it down with a thunderous momentum as it plunged towards her.

"Eldia!"

Davis and the others shouted as they felt their hearts leap!

Puchi!~

However, despite feeling the enormous pressure, Eldia transformed into a sword of lightning herself and pierced through tribulation lightning dragon, causing the light in its big eyes to dull. Then, as though time had stopped, its crackling body that had frozen in mid-air began to be engulfed by a gluttonous figure who opened her mouth, sucking in its entirety as her entire body absorbed the heavenly lightning dragon.

Amidst the three pairs of eyes, Eldia devoured the heavenly lightning dragon as she refined it. Her bluish-black pupils turned white while her scintillating white hair turned more silverish. She seemed to look as though she was almost possessed, her body quaking before a few arcs of black-silver lightning burst out of her eyes, returning the bluish-black hue of her pupils.

Rumble!~

The dark clouds angrily roared at Eldia, lingering with resentment as they gave off a tyrannical aura. However, no matter how they thundered, they began to disperse, leaving the skies.

However, her purple-skinned figure quickly became enveloped in a black-silver light, her tyrannical aura of heavenly lightning becoming more profound and frightening.

The cracks below her on the surface of the mountain enlarged as they spread, causing lava to surge once again. Despite the terrifying heat threatening to swallow her, the crackling lightning around her kept the lava from building up, causing the rising lava to recede to the sides in waves.

Bzzzz!~

Its prowess quickly rose higher and higher, entering Level Three Immortal Stage.

However, it didn't stop, reaching Level Four Immortal Stage in a minute, but Eldia's transformation still didn't seem to stop. Her step into immortality wasn't over yet.

Three minutes later, the prowess of her black-silver lightning finally reached Level Five Immortal Stage, causing Davis, Evelyn, and Nadia to smile widely.

They had finally gained their first ever immortal into their family, and all that remains is to welcome Eldia.

Eldia's heavenly lightning arcs swirling around her became more and more profound and tyrannical. Her eyes remained closed as she checked the changes that had occurred in her body.

Her Essence Gathering Cultivation and Soul Forging Cultivation would increase simultaneously as they were tied together, while her Body Tempering Cultivation would be increased individually. But now, she sensed that she no longer had interconnected paths to Essence Gathering Cultivation and Soul Forging Cultivation.

Instead, all three of her dantians were connected through a unique spirit meridian pathway that never existed before, causing her to discover that every cultivation system would increase together now whenever she improved her cultivation.

This made her feel elated, her eyes shooting wide open. The first thing she saw was Davis, her figure moving as she rushed towards him.

Whoosh!~

A black-silver strand of lightning flashed, causing Eldia's figure to disappear from everyone's gazes. They couldn't even track her down, but when Davis blinked, she was already in front of him, appearing to be overjoyed as she flew around him.

"Master! I've become an immortal spirit!!!"

Davis swiveled his head and turned his body along with her, noticing her features that had improved ever so lightly. She still had her purple skin, spotted with starry skies, but her crown had grown bigger, twisting around her head as it formed a black-silver halo, while her hair had a scintillating turned silver, occasionally crackling with black-silver lightning.

However, before Davis could reply, Eldia stopped and looked into the distance, her silver brows frowning.

"Master, there are a few people approaching from the south."

"Crap. That direction leads deep into the Fire Phoenix Prefecture. Let's go."

Davis had no idea how they found out or if it was just timely patrol, but he trusted a spirit's senses, especially his Eldia, causing him to instantly decide to leave.

Evelynn and Nadia had just arrived before Davis, but they all quickly fled towards the northwest.

Because Eldia's immortal undulations were spiking without control, she entered Davis's soul sea and disappeared. But still, Davis's soul sea only managed to form a layer of defense. Eldia's immortal undulations kept leaking from him, but like a phantom, Nadia appeared on Davis's shoulder and opened her maw, sucking in the electrifying air as she ate in gulps, clearing any tracks left on the scene.

They both cast their concealing techniques in tandem as they flew away, exiting this mountain range whose name they didn't even know.

In a distant valley a short time later, an empty cave along the center of the wall suddenly lit up with a pinch of flame lighting up the ground before three figures appeared to be standing in a circle.

They were none other than Davis, Evelynn, and Nadia. At the same time, Eldia shot out from Davis, her black-silver lightning crackling on her body once before it receded.

Ultimately, Eldia learned how to control her undulations a bit, causing her aura to be kept in check. She dropped to the ground as her bare feet touched the cold surface, causing a web of heavenly lightning to slither like serpents around her once.

Davis stared at Eldia, wanting to touch her crown and every other characteristic that attracted his gaze but couldn't help but sigh. He had no need to ask about how she felt as her emotions were on her face while her bluish-black eyes remained looking at him with a reverential gaze to aid her to rise to this level.

Raising his hand, he patted her head.

"Congratulations, Eldia."

"Mhm!~"

Chapter 2327 Heavenly Resources?

"Finally, we have an immortal capable of vast destruction."

Evelynn smiled assuredly as she looked at Eldia before Davis nodded to her comment.

It must be known that a Purgatory Extinction Lightning's ultimate move was to bring down annihilation in dozens of kilometers of radius after expending all its energy, and now that Eldia had achieved immortality, he assumed that her terrifying aspect that she never got to show had only improved beyond his comprehension.

"Yes~" Eldia joyfully answered and reported to him the discoveries she made when her body shed mortality.

Davis became surprised to hear that now all three of her cultivation systems enhances simultaneously. That oddly seemed in line with the Transcendent Path of humans as he had heard that it connects all three cultivation systems from Myria, but nevertheless, he shared with them the information he collected.

"That's alright, but what spirit race and grade do Eldia belong to? Could she be considered an Immortal Grade Spirit? Are there Immortal Grade Elemental Charts?"

Evelynn couldn't help but ask curiously, causing Davis to hold his chin as he thought for a few seconds.

"This is according to Founder Alstreim Windstorm as I asked him for more information on spirits, but apparently, it is said that all Spirit Attribute Sources from Mortal Grade to Emperor Grade are considered Earth-Tier Spirit Sources. This applies to Spirits and Spirit Attribute Sources that have become Spirits. They're all considered Earth-Tier without a doubt, and their ranking is what determines their nobility or rather, their prowess is what determines their nobility and, in turn, become ranked under the perception of the world."

"For instance, Founder Alstreim Windstorm said that the Windstorm Binding Wisp ranked second in the Emperor Grade Wind Elemental Charts, is capable of unleashing a prowess that's two levels higher. If it became a pure Windstorm Binding Spirit, then it is capable of unleashing a prowess that's three levels higher and possibly even four levels higher if it perfected its Body Tempering Cultivation."

"The same thing could be said about the first ranked Regal Sky Gale Wisp and the Regal Sky Gale Spirit, except they are more powerful than the second-ranked Windstorm Binding Spirit."

"Ah~"

"Another example is that I fought an Unrestrained Lightning Heir, ranked second- no, fourth in the Emperor Grade Lightning Elemental Charts in the First Haven World. Despite being a mature spirit rather than a source, it was only able to unleash a prowess that's two levels above. Clearly, this Earth-Tier Lightning Spirit was ranked fourth, and it was unable to compare to a Spirit Attribute Source that's ranked second in terms of prowess. That's how much the difference separates the top three, and their limits are plain to see."

"The same way, our Eldia is a Purgatory Extinction Lightning Spirit, ranked third in the Grand Beginnings Continent but ranked sixth in the First Haven World. Her prowess would not exceed three levels higher even if she maxes out her cultivation and strengthens them to her innate potential."

"Then how did Eldia become this powerful?" Evelynn couldn't help but incline her head in confusion, "Wasn't it because of absorbing heavenly lightning?"

"She did become powerful because of heavenly lightning." Davis shook his head with a smile, "However, there is something you must understand. Unlike magical beasts that are unable to absorb anything other than their elemental nature in order to evolve or mutate, spirits are different. They are sources of a particular attribute. As long as they find another energy source of their attribute, they can absorb it at higher efficiency and improve themselves, evolving into their limit before transcending into something else."

"Something else?" Eldia blinked.

Was she no longer a spirit?

Davis chuckled at Eldia's blank expression before revealing the answer, "Heaven-Tier. In other words, heavenly sources that can almost be equated to heavenly resources."

Eldia gawked at Davis but unceremoniously returned his gaze to his first wife. The source of this content is you should know the Poison Essence you refined had absorbed many Spirit Attribute Sources of different properties, right?"

"I understand." Evelynn's brows widened, "As long as spirits have a source of elemental energy to absorb from, they can grow in a limitless manner until they reach the next level, which is evolving into a Heaven-Tier Spirit Source or Spirit. There is no bloodline limit suppressing them, and even if it is there, it is breakable like bottlenecks."

"Exactly." Davis smirked as he turned to look at Eldia, "I believe you have become a Heaven-Tier Spirit."

"Heaven...?" Eldia blinked a few more times, "Me...?"

Davis shrugged, "Of course, Heaven-Tier Spirit Attribute Sources are also naturally born into this world like Earth-Tier Spirit Attribute Sources, but unlike the latter, it seems that the former is difficult to encounter that their rarity is said to be equivalent to King-Tier and Emperor-Tier Immortal Beasts."

"Even the ranking charts of Immortal Grade Elemental Spirits are under wraps of major powers since they want to keep it as mysterious as possible so those who luckily encounter them don't have the chance to recognize them."

"Woah~" Nadia reacted with interest, her eyes surging with battling intent as her voice echoed in a challenging tone, "Since the spirits are categorized and ranked on prowess, what pushes them to be considered Heaven-Tier?"

"I'm not sure, but according to Founder Alstreim, an Earth-Tier Spirit Attribute Source's prowess wouldn't exceed three levels while an Earth-Tier Spirit's prowess wouldn't exceed five levels increase in prowess. After they become immortals, their prowess lowers by half. Since Heaven-Tier Spirit Sources are immortal level existences, they are able to at least cross three levels at the very least."

"I see..." Nadia widened her brows. It was no wonder Heaven-Tier Spirit Attribute Sources were said to be equivalent to King-Tier Immortal Beasts.

"Yes." Davis nodded, "For our Eldia who's able to reach five levels higher in prowess even in the Immortal Stage, I am convinced that she's a bonafide Heaven-Tier Spirit."

"With no conclusive proof to claim from the charts and only your Founder's words?" Evelynn alluringly smiled, causing Davis to shrug again.

"Well, she mutated from a Purgatory Extinction Lightning Spirit into this heavenly form, her prowess exceeding five levels even after she became an immortal. We might as well as categorize her as a Heaven-Tier Spirit and increase her reputation among us."

Chapter 2328 wish To Serve

"Reputation?" Eldia squinted her brows, "I don't care for such things. I only wish to serve master."

Davis stared at Eldia with a suppressed smile, "Oh? How do you think you can serve me?"

"You're mischievous." Evelynn made a fist, looking like she was going to beat up Davis as she smirked.

At first, Eldia didn't understand. However, seeing them react strangely, she recalled how Ilesha was held by Davis recently before the image was cut off, causing her to stiffen.

Her purple cheeks flushed red, her silver hair crackling with black-silver lightning as though it was a manifestation of her nervousness. A moment later, she took a deep breath, her bountiful breasts covered by her blue robes swelling and contracting before she moved her pursed lips.

"Then I'll be in your care, master."

This time, it was Davis and Evelynn's turn to be stunned. The both of them looked at Eldia with some doubt before Evelynn wondered if she truly liked her purple skin as he had said to her before, causing her to swivel her head and gaze at him.

"You want to accept Eldia as your woman?"

"Not now." Davis shook his head.

Although he was tempted as Eldia was beautiful, he didn't find it appropriate nor felt it was the right time as Eldia was sincerely devoted to him. He didn't want to use such devotion to take advantage of her newfound feelings that she probably had no idea of.

"Master, it's not fair. Although you give me many resources, you treat Ilesha with more care. Why can't I receive the same affection? Have I done something wrong?"

Eldia's eyes slightly turned red as tears emerged.

"Eldia... I..."

Davis became stumped.

How should he go about and say that he wasn't opposed to embracing her but instead only wanted to make sure that she grew up enough to know what she was feeling enough to accept her?

In his gaze and even through his Heart Intent, all he could find was a feeling of reverence and loyalty to him and jealousy and competitiveness towards Iesha. It was not love in the exact sense, even though he was positive he could cause her to develop a love for him after he slept with her.

In fact, there was a kind of attraction he felt for Eldia, similar to what he felt for Myria, although not exactly powerful. He knew that it should be beneficial for his growth in heavenly lightning.

How could Eldia not be a pillar for his growth in Lightning Laws? She was practically a heavenly source! They can transfer energy by simply exchanging energy, or dual cultivate for better results. In fact, he had dual cultivated with Iesha, refined her yin into yang, and splurged that refinement into Natalya, causing her to better comprehend Yin Laws.

When there was such an immense benefit over making love with Eldia, how could he not take her? Should he give her to someone else?

She was already his in his mind, but Eldia just hadn't understood what love was.

Even Immeth Alstreim, his mother's enemy who tried to seduce him, contained a bit of love for him other than scheming in her heart, but for Eldia, he couldn't find such a thing as she only had reverence and devotion while the feelings of jealousy spurred her to be bedded by him.

Back then, when this woman had transformed into a spirit, she had kissed him, saying that she wanted to thank him like Iesha did without knowing what it represented.

That's why he was still opposed to embracing Eldia.

"Eldia, do you know what will cause your master to embrace you?" Evelynn suddenly asked.

Eldia straightened her posture and seemed like she was all ears, her black-silver halo glowing with radiance.

Evelynn raised two fingers, of which she lowered one, "You have respect, but you lack love."

"Love..." Eldia's bluish-black eyes shone as she nodded as though she understood. The source of this content is Freewebnovel.com.

Meanwhile, Davis had an unamused expression as he stared at Evelynn. If explaining could develop love, he would've done it long back. However, he was surprised that Evelynn supported his relationship with Eldia and even found what Eldia lacked.

Evelynn smiled back at him and winked.

Eldia was with Davis all this while. If he wanted to have his way with her, who could stop him? Yet, he didn't touch her, causing Evelynn to smile.

She many times sighed in relief over the fact that he could be stubborn, requiring his partners to have both love and respect towards him while he displayed sincerity towards their wishes, like waiting for marriage before taking them, treating them special.

He was way better than most men who simply used women for dual cultivation and left them alone in their rotting and cold palaces.

Just a while ago, she had received his love. She didn't get tired at all but found herself wanting more. It was all the even more profound and complex as she treasured it when she knew that he could possibly leave them and go to the Aurora Cloud Gate.

Such feelings can only be experienced when one has love in their heart.

As for Eldia, she might be loyal and reverential, but she would never feel heartbroken over a simple few years of separation. That was the difference between love and reverence, at least according to how Evelynn thought.

"I will try to love master." Eldia clenched her fists as she waved them.

Davis and Evelynn gazed at her and smiled, thinking that her peaks could rival Isabella's, but her mind was still that of a clueless teenager.

"Sure." Evelynn's lips curved more, "When you love him, instead of wanting to kiss to thank him, you'll want to do it just at the sight of him like this..."

She abruptly turned around and captured Davis's shoulders, tip-toeing as she pasted her lips on him. Then her tongue unceremoniously extended out and twirled along with Davis's tongue that subconsciously responded to her without the need for a command.

In fact, he even wrapped his arm around her soft waist and grabbed her plump bottom, feeling her body rub against him as he took in her flavor.

Eldia and Nadia watched them with wide eyes, and within two seconds, they let go as though not wanting to become fully enamored with themselves again.

Evelynn heaved a hot breath at him before she turned to look at Eldia.

"Surely, there is also the feeling of lust, so you must not mistake it for love. Your reason for wanting to be with him must come from the depths of your heart, not because you want to reward him because he provides for you and takes care of you."

Eldia's expression churned.

"I... I... don't understand..." In the end, she lowered her head, wondering what the difference was.

Looking at her dejected figure, Evelynn's face withered while Davis also felt bad, but he only shook his head, not intending to deal with it at the moment. However...

"Go on. Kiss her."

Evelynn patted his back, causing Davis's eyes to widen.

His first wife, of all people, told him to kiss another woman in front of her?

Davis still eyed Evelynn, but she gestured with her head to go attack. Honestly, he couldn't help but feel ecstatic over such a forgiving and supportive wife and was tempted to listen to her encouraging proposal that fell to his mind.

He turned to look at Eldia, his eyes becoming focused as he reached out his hand.

Davis captured her wrist with one hand, pulling her to his embrace before he held her waist with the other. Holding her close, he looked into her eyes while Eldia had simply gone stiff over this close contact. Her heart started to beat faster while her expression had become frozen.

"Eldia..."

Davis expressed his love for her with his gentle voice, causing Eldia to quiver. Their foreheads touched, and a soft feeling overwhelmed their lips.

He kissed her gently, savoring her purplish-blue lips that tasted exquisite. There was a numbing feeling that made him want to explore more, but he didn't dwell further as his head moved back, glancing at her expression.

"Master..."

Eldia's bluish-black eyes glazed, her lips quivering. This feeling that she had felt now... was foreign yet sweet, perhaps even heartwarming.

Davis was not able to feel what she felt through Enigmatic Heart Intent, but through their soul resonance, he could now vaguely feel a hint of affection surging through their pathway.

"Form a seed of love in her heart... she's yours, after all." was what Evelynn sent him, and he couldn't believe that a kiss did it.

After all, he and Eldia had already kissed, so what was different about this kiss? The way he had done it?

He could only think that was the case.

"Evelynn, thank you. Not only will I protect master, but I'll protect you even if I have to die..."

Eldia innocently smiled, causing Evelynn to be taken aback before she returned the smile.

"That makes me happy~"

Nadia also looked at them with a knowing smile, knowing that her time would soon come.

"Nadia, Eldia. Could you two go out and be on the lookout?"

"Yes, master~"

There was no hesitation in their voices as they flew out of the cave, leaving behind him and Evelynn.

Davis turned around, his fiery gaze landing on Evelynn as he pointed at his lower body.

"Look at what you did again. How are you going to take responsibility for it?"

Evelynn pouted with a knowing smile. Without a word, she arrived in front of him and knelt on the cold surface, removing his robe's sash before she lowered his pant. A huge rod jumped out and hit her cheek, causing her to feel the searing line of heat spread across her face. However, she closed her eyes and even took an intense whiff out of manhood, seemingly addicted.

Then, she positioned herself in front of his head and kissed it thrice with loud erotic sounds, parting her lips slightly as she took him inside her wet mouth, bobbing her head back and forth as she looked at him with her sexy eyes.

"My good wife..."

Davis rasped as he held her head with both hands while he moved along with her skilled and alluring rhythm.

Being together with Evelynn was dangerous. Her voluptuous body seduced him, her scent attracted him, and her Emperor-Tier aura charmed him to no end. There was this grand urge of wanting to impregnate that he didn't want to fight at all, and his love for her only made that feeling worse, leaving him unable to forget his Hex Empress.

It wasn't long before he burst a full load into her throat while she happily sucked and drank without leaving any bit of it, after which he took care of her needs, licking and sucking on her cave inside the dark cave before splurging lots of love seeds inside her.

They had a quickie, finishing their needs in fifteen minutes before exiting the cave.

Chapter 2329 Cleaning Up

A group of silver-armored immortals arrived in the mountain valley where Eldia successfully crossed her tribulation. Their blazing undulations scorched the air as they didn't seem to suppress their power.

Each one of them seemed to be on an immortal beast, and if Davis and the others were here, they would recognize these beasts to be the Windblade Stripe Hawks, Cloud Descending Sparrows, and Sky Reaching Cranes.

Their silver-colored armor was not awkward or disproportionate but almost skintight to their figures as though it was made for them. These armors seemed to be made of powerful silk and threads, and there were literally hundreds, and thousands of such threads wound and knit around each other to make a sturdy yet light armor.

There also seemed to be runes on top of the armor inscribed by the threads themselves. It was unknown what their value was, but the fact that there was not only one rune but many powerful runes capable of blocking Late Immortal Stage attacks indicated that these armors were significantly expensive and even perhaps determined status.

In front of all of the silver-armored immortals, there was also a Burning Phoenix carrying a golden-armored immortal who seemed to be their leader. His armor seemed to be more robust than the others.

Nonetheless, this party appeared as though most were Fire Phoenixes, while some were feys and humans with Fire Phoenix blood within them. There was not a single spirit among them.

"What's this?" Instantly, a long crimson-haired silver armored immortal noticed something on the peak of the valley's hill, "Isn't that Vacuous Beast's blood? There was one hiding here?"

He was a man who exuded Level Seven Immortal undulations. He alighted his Windblade Stripe Hawk and neared the pool of blood. He looked around, noticing that the Vacuous Beast had fallen to the other side and was genuinely dead.

"Idiot. The question should be who killed it."

A female silver-haired immortal moved forward with her Cloud Descending Sparrow, causing the long, crimson-haired man to scoff.

"You're the idiot. Judging by the aura of the blood, the Vacuous Beast should've been nothing more than a Level Two Immortal Vacuous Beast. Any random immortal with a perfected Immortal Vessel should be able to kill it. What are you going on about?"

"You-! Can't you see that there isn't anyone here? If they killed the Vacuous Beast, why wouldn't they want a reward? Do you not know killing a Vacuous Beast of this level can net them twenty-thousand immortal crystals!?"

"Perhaps, they don't know of a reward..." The golden-armored immortal commented in a bland tone.

His indifferent tone caused the two of them to become silent.

"Look at that..." Another silver-armored immortal pointed towards the valley, "At the place where the lava is surging... there's signs of the aftermath of heavenly lightning strikes while its aura is slightly detectable. The skies were also darker when we were in the distance, but now, it has slightly cleared. I think it's plausible that the one who killed that Vacuous Beast underwent a heavenly tribulation."

He also had crimson hair like everyone else in this group, but he also sported a stylish beard, appearing suave as he hypothesized.

"You mean to say that that person had just become an immortal but slain a Level Two Immortal Vacuous Beast?"

The female immortal raised her brows while the long-haired man smirked.

"Then that means that immortal should've at least created a perfected Immortal Vessel as I said..."

"But the thing is that this person is a spirit who seems to have fought with heavenly lightning up to this place before disappearing."

The suave silver-armored immortal continued as he pointed at the center of the valley to the hill.

"A spirit?"

The others only slightly raised their brows, but it didn't seem to be a problem while the suave man still kept frowning his brows, wondering what had happened.

"Perhaps they used a spatial talisman?" The female immortal guessed.

"Then that would've left spatial undulations..."

"What about an Obtrusive Spatial Talisman? Didn't we just receive word that woman had one to leave and return?"

"An Obtrusive Spatial Talisman?" The suave man gawked at the crimson-haired beauty, "Do you think those things are easy to obtain? Do you know how much a single one of them costs? If this immortal who broke through could afford something like that, then they wouldn't come to this abandoned and unprotected place to make a breakthrough."

"How do you know if-"

"Enough!"

The golden-armored immortal interrupted the both of them, his stature remaining high as he sat on the huge Burning Phoenix. The immortals who went to investigate returned as they had their heads lowered, not daring to say a word.

"Report to the Starsky Flame City's City Lord that there was an anomaly that needs further investigation in this region. That's it for us. We'll continue our journey to retrieve the Thirty-Fourth Fire Phoenix City Lord's corpse after we attend his funeral. Move out."

The golden-armored immortal commanded, causing everyone to stand at attention as they raised their voices. Follow current novels on Freewebnovel.com.

"Yes!~"

Subsequently, the group of armored immortals left, seemingly leaving the scene as it is.

Shortly after, this group of immortals arrived at the Thirty-Fourth Fire Phoenix City and looked at the devastated ruins of the City Lord Palace, becoming shocked and enraged, but they held their anger in check before they attended the funeral and claimed the City Lord's corpse, bringing it back to the Starsky Flame City.

"It's unfortunate that this City Lord already used his species technique to revive himself in his early years of working hard for our race. There's no way he can be brought back to life through Nirvanic Rebirth, especially not this late."

The suave man sighed, and perhaps the others were influenced by his words, the female immortal could no longer control herself and threw her head above, screaming out loud.

"Aghh! How dare the Aurora Cloud Gate treat us like this? Do they think that they can appear from nowhere and behead one of our City Lords just like that and leave!? Why are we, the Great Fire Phoenix Race, not doing anythi-"

Quickly, the long crimson-haired man appeared beside her and sealed her mouth with his hand, causing her to stiffen as her ears turned red.

Chapter 2330 Exaggeration?

"Idiot," The long crimson-haired man suppressed his voice, speaking in a hushed tone, "What do you know about the Aurora Cloud Gate? It is said that their power is immeasurable, and even our heavenly geniuses are affiliated with it. Our Fire Phoenix Race could offend anyone except the Aurora Cloud Gate."

The female immortal became shocked. She blinked at him thrice as she shook her head.

"You... you're exaggerating! I don't believe you!"

The man shrugged, "I don't believe myself either, but that's what our City Lord said when that Blue Luan bitch killed one of our City Lords and walked away, saying that this matter will be dealt with diplomatically instead of enforcing our laws upon her."

The crimson-haired woman appeared quite dumbfounded.

She never thought that their Fire Phoenix Race, which had warred and won in many battles without even retreating in the face of death, would be this wary of the Aurora Cloud Gate. Just what kind of power was that?

As though answering her questions, the suave immortal neared them and opened his mouth.

"This is something that I just heard from hearsay recently but to join the Aurora Cloud Gate as an ordinary disciple, a person must at least have an Earth Immortal Vessel. In other words, one must possess a prowess that's two levels higher, and this applies to all races."

"What? You're kidding. Two levels higher for an ordinary disciple?"

This time, even the crimson-haired man was shocked. As for the woman, her shapely eyes twitched.

"When did such beings start growing like leaves on a tree?"

"Of course not." The suave immortal shook his head, "That's why they're so powerful. Instead of widening their pool and concentrating their resources on individuals who would most likely lead the power in the future, they lower the pool and allow for a competitive environment where even a beggar could become an emperor, but the starting point is so high, and their members are made to side with them no matter the issue, making it so that they do not have much loss while their gains remain enormous."

"Besides, they own a Domain all to themselves, which makes this kind of distribution all the more possible."

"..." The female immortal's expression became deadpan.

"On top of it, the competition is ruthless. Just having a prowess that's two levels higher won't allow you entry into the Aurora Cloud Gate, and even if you enter it after passing the competitive trial, you would be kicked out if you don't pass certain standards within a time limit."

"Just like that?" The long-haired immortal's brows twitched.

"Yes, kicked out until they could no longer see your ass in their domain."

"Ah? That ruthless?" The long-haired man shook his head, "I'm glad I'm in my Fire Phoenix Race where I could still live off of my income as a First Tier City's Royal Guard."

"Right?" The suave man smiled, "We take care of our power and younglings while they are just power-crazed bastards who don't know gratitude. The two cannot be spoken off in the same length."

The female immortal couldn't help but also nod as she agreed. It was unknown how hard she worked to get to this level, but it still wasn't enough for someone like her to apply for the Aurora Cloud Gate that houses geniuses like they housed chickens in a chicken pen.

She was left saddened and demotivated by the world that had just become big for her, having her horizons broadened.

Hearing this, the others also had their hearts sink as they came to know that their power wasn't almighty felt a bit of unease in their hearts before they relaxed.

However, the golden-armored immortal's lips curved into a wry smile. Although he didn't open his mouth, he knew that they were just consoling themselves.

After all, for as long as he lived, he didn't see a single interaction or dispute where the Aurora Cloud Gate came on the losing end, even against the Dragon Race! And that could only mean one thing, that they were an extremely strong power not to be messed with!

Otherwise, the way his Fire Phoenix Race tried to deal with it diplomatically didn't make any sense to him, as even he was angered over this move.

If the City Lord was at fault and involved in shady things, it was up to their Fire Phoenix Race to deal with it and not some character from the Blue Luan Race, the race that they had defeated and gloriously claimed victory in a war millions of years ago.

However, that Blue Luan belonged to the Aurora Cloud Gate, essentially forming a protective barrier for her. Otherwise, would any random immortal try to make trouble with them?

Moreover, the Aurora Cloud Gate's reputation... the golden immortal couldn't help but shoot a momentary glance at the female immortal of his corps and shake his head as he knew that the people of the Aurora Cloud Gate mostly never ventured out of their domain. They were practically unknown and portrayed themselves to be mysterious, making it so that there were occasionally some people who didn't know about the difference between heaven and earth and inevitably offended them, causing a blood bath to follow.

It was the case of a person using an egg to shatter a boulder, making him think that if this was intentionally planned out by the Aurora Cloud Gate to be known as an apex power once in a while.

The golden-armored immortal's brows subconsciously frowned.

The Aurora Cloud Gate was quiet for hundreds and thousands of years, but it seems as though they were now slowly emerging, revealing themselves to the world! He didn't know what that had in store for them but vaguely knew that the First Haven World would undergo a considerable change after the disappearance of the dark hole in the skies.

=====

Only then did they realize that they had accidentally reached a good place to make a breakthrough involving heavenly tribulation. Therefore, they didn't waste any time but decided to do it here.

Along with Nadia and Eldia, they surveyed the land for half a day to ensure nothing of danger or alarm was present.

Two figures stood in the valley's center as their lips embraced, leaving behind a soft lingering feeling and a doze of affection that reeled in their hearts.

"Nadia, you're ready, right?"

Davis's expression became solemn while Nadia also equally returned a sober yet sharp gaze.

"Yes~"

Davis nodded and gave her space while the others did the same.

However, Nadia's gaze was still on Davis while he also didn't take his gaze off of her.

Only the two of them knew what she would go through in her heavenly tribulation, and there was a valid reason why they didn't share the information with others; it was an unnecessary and additional karmic burden.

Nadia's existence was more special than Davis thought, and it was likely why Myria hadn't said a thing about Nadia. Or perhaps, she simply didn't know of it at all.

In any case, he watched Nadia with a bit of worry as she began her breakthrough, her purplish-golden eyes flickering with a ghastly motion while her aura surged, leaving behind a deathly air that instantly caused the skies to rumble, provoking a heavenly tribulation to descend as dark clouds began to gather.
