

Enchanted 300

Irish knew that he did not really care about Joseph's wound, instead, he came here to cause trouble for him. Joseph replied indifferently beside him, "According to our agreement, you lost."

"Yes, you did get the diamond mine only with 200 million dollars, but don't forget that it is an empty diamond mine, and it's worth 170 million dollars at most. Joseph, you don't have to do that to win and keep your status in the jewelry industry. It is not worth the loss."

Joseph smiled faintly but didn't argue with him.

But Vincent said again, "But it is just a game, and I am not going to force you to withdraw from this area if you admit you lost before the public. What's more, I think there is no need for my mining team to exploit this diamond mine for you since it's only worth 170 million dollars."

Irish stared at Vincent and was a little annoyed by him.

However, Joseph still smiled faintly and said, "Mr. Vincent, perhaps you will be disappointed, and your mining team has to work for me."

Irish was shocked and didn't know why he was so confident.

"Oh?" Vincent was also interested and said, "You might put fine timber to petty use."

Joseph didn't say anything but turned to Daisy, and Daisy soon stepped forward, handing a paper to Joseph and saying in a low voice, "The legal documents for the transfer have taken effect. You have the right to mine."

Joseph took a look at the document and then asked, "What is the situation inside?"

"Just as you expected," Daisy said mysteriously.

Joseph finally laughed, and the smile expanded into the deep of his eyes. He then handed the document back to Daisy, staring at Vincent, "Now that Mr. Vincent is so interested in M100-2, why not come to have a look with me?"

"Well, I would like to." He agreed since he hoped to have a look within. After finishing his words, he pointed in the direction of M100-2 and asked, "Where is the car? Don't tell me that we have to walk there."

"It is unnecessary. We could go there through the M 100-1 diamond mine that also belongs to the Runestone group." Joseph said with a smile and then turned away.

Vincent was astonished but followed him.

They directly entered the M100-1 diamond mine, while Irish supported Joseph and Daisy led the way in front of them. There were many mining workers who greeted Joseph on the way to M100-2 while Joseph also nodded to greet them. Finally, they arrived at the deepest part of the diamond mine.

Irish had never been to such a depth, and it was not until they arrived there that she realized this was the place Joseph required to make a channel reconstruction. There were several people that had arrived there earlier, and a lot of equipment was installed beside them, which looked very expensive and professional.

One of them saw Joseph and hastily walked to him with great astonishment. He said cheerfully to Joseph, "Mr. Dover, we have detected the diamond storage of this diamond mine."

"How much is it?" Joseph looked eager to get the answer.

"This is an unprecedented giant diamond mine. From the results of the preliminary survey, the M100-2 diamond storage is 70% of the total mine. Once this amount is announced, it will be amazing!" The man was excited and then added, "A total of nearly 9 billion tons of storage!"

The plot reversed quickly. A moment before, M100-2 was worthless, but now it was a priceless diamond mine. Irish saw clearly that after the man finished his report to Joseph, his smile expanded on his face and the depressing cloud finally vanished from his eyes.

She was shocked since the story was reversed so fast, while Mr. Vincent was astounded and grabbed the arms of the man reporting, asking with a shrill voice, "You said there is 9 billion tons of diamond storage in this mine?"

The man was frightened by him and looked at Joseph for help, so Joseph said to Vincent with a calm voice, "Mr. Vincent, now it is the time for you to fulfill your promise."

"It is impossible. It must be impossible." Vincent loosened his hands and gazed at Joseph with stunning eyes, "It is an empty diamond mine, how could this be possible? You must have the wrong number."

"It seems that you received inside news before betting with me." Joseph smiled faintly and added, "However, God bless me."

"What is done can't be undone, so asking the reason is nothing more than asking for trouble." Obviously, Joseph didn't intend to tell him the truth, and perhaps he didn't want to tell him, or perhaps he thought it would waste his time. Soon he added, "The right saddle must be set on the right horse, so I have to thank you for betting with me, or I couldn't enter the BRIGHT Group, and your mining team also wouldn't work for me. Now it has saved me a lot of money, so Mr. Vincent, please choose the best store positions for our Runestone Group."

After a long time, Vincent gazed at Joseph and said, "Well, you did win!"

Vincent left, and Joseph escorted him personally. When he came back, his face was still pale, but she could perceive the smile in his eyes. It was 9 billion tons of diamond storage, and no one could be indifferent to this news, let alone Joseph, who had been depressed because of the pressure from the board of directors and the rumors from outside. But now, as long as it was going to be mined, it would bring inestimable profit.

Joseph determined the mining position with the survey team and asked them to act carefully in every movement. Daisy spread the layout schematics, and Irish could see it was covered with numbers and symbols, which she didn't understand.

"Mr. Dover, we have successfully outlined the general shape and internal structure of the M100-2 mine according to your request. You can take a look." Daisy handed it to Joseph, pointing at one of the points, and said, "The mine is divided into three vertical zones: A, B, and C. Alston and other diamond dealers only looked at zone A, which was the outermost layer, and the diamond storage was extremely low. Actually, he was right since there were only 170 million tons of diamond storage. Zone B. is in the middle, and there was no diamond storage in this layer. That's why many people thought it was an empty mine. However, the huge storage capacity is in Zone C. The most favorable mining entrance in Zone C can only be found through M100-1 which belongs to the Runestone Group. Mr. Dover, your assumption was right, and this is not an empty mine; instead, it's a priceless mine!"
