Impulsive Vow to an Enigmatic Husband ( Cornelia Stewart ) Chapter 1521

Chapter 1521

Abigail said, "What's the big deal? You're asking me what's the big deal? With so many people watching this live stream today, their eyes on your husband are as blatant as they come. Who knows who might fall for him in private?"

Cornelia laughed and said, "I knew how many people liked him when I worked with him. Back then, many people tried to impress me with money, cars, and even houses, all in an attempt to get me to bring their women into his bed."

Abigail said, "Good thing you resisted the temptation. Otherwise, you would have been accepting people's money to betray your own husband."

Cornelia said, "Resisting temptation and not doing bad things are part of it. The more important reason is that I'm afraid he'll get angry."

Abigail laughed and said, "You never imagined he was your husband who disappeared after registration, did you?"

Cornelia said, "Yeah, I wouldn't dare dream of that."

Abigail said, "Look at the hostess's eyes. Oh my god, did she forget this is live?"<sup>e2</sup>

Not only did Abigail think so, but many viewers also noticed the hostess's unusual gaze. The barrage of comments kept rolling, "Stop staring at my husband with those eyes."

Cornelia wasn't worried at all, "My husband is so excellent, it's only normal that he attracts the opposite sex. Others may like him, but he only likes me. I'm not worried about him being snatched away at all."

Abigail said, "There are more people who have seen him after he appeared in public, and there are more people who are interested in him. There are also more outstanding women. I'm just worried that he might be charmed by someone else."

Cornelia said, "That won't happen."

It was not that Cornelia blindly trusted Jeremy, but that they had been through so much together. and she knew his character and personality too well. Jeremy wouldn't give anyone the chance to scheme against him.

After replying to Abigail, she looked at the rapidly scrolling barrage. Some comments were very cute.

"Ah! Rich, handsome, fit, and charismatic, which woman could possibly have such a man?"

Comelia quickly typed, "It's me."

Before she could send her message, the screen was already full of "It's me" and "Of course it's me." The two words Cornelia sent were quickly drowned out by the new barrage.

Abigail said, "Cornelia, your man is really charming. Let me be his ex-girlfriend in my next life, even if it's just for a few days."

Before Cornelia could say anything, she heard Dylan's voice on the phone, "Babe, repeat what you just said."

Abigail said, "What did I just say?"

Dylan said, "Hmm?"

Abigail said, "I didn't say anything, um..."

Then, the call was cut off, and Cornelia couldn't hear a thing. Cornelia laughed, put away her phone and continued to watch the live stream.

"The work-related interview was over, and now it was time to learn about his personal life."

When his personal life was mentioned, everyone noticed that a gentle smile immediately appeared on Jeremy's face. It was completely different from the smile he had when facing the crowd. He looked at the camera very seriously, not only addressing the audience watching the live stream, but announcing to the world, "I'm married and have a child. My wife's name is Cornelia, and our child is Hope Stewart

Suddenly, the barrage went wild.

"Ah..."

"Ah, he's married!"

"Oh my god, the man of my dreams is married!"

"Why is such a great man already taken."

"Who is it? Which woman owns him?"

Chapter 1522

Cornelia silently replied, "It's me! It's really me!"

Among all the doubt and questioning, Cornelia's response stood out. Many noticed and someone commented under her reply, "What a coincidence, I also think it's me."

Another person replied, "Girl, your husband is my husband and my husband is also yours."

Everyone responded to Cornelia with humor, and she joined them in the joke.

"Wow, I really like this type of man. He publicly declares he's married and has kids, doesn't leave any hope for other women."

"Right, being his wife must feel really secure and happy."

"Who's his wife? Can she be brought out for everyone to see?"e2

"Yeah, can his wife also show up?"

The chat was filled with calls for Jeremy's wife to make an appearance. Due to the lack of such plans in the live stream, the interviewers dared not pass the message to Jeremy. After all, getting an interview with Jeremy was already a tough feat.

Cornelia came with their child to accompany Jeremy at the live interview, they were resting in the VIP lounge and had no plans to appear on camera.

Jeremy, who couldn't see the live chat or hear the audience's call, suddenly said to the host, "Please wait two minutes, I'll go get my wife and child."

Cornelia was speechless: Wasn't it agreed that she was only here to accompany him for the interview, and she and their child would not participate in it? This man's words couldn't be trusted.

Soon, Jeremy disappeared from the live stream and soon showed up in the VIP lounge, in front of Cornelia.

He opened his arms and hugged her, "Cornelia, I'm sorry; I didn't discuss this with you beforehand."

How could Cornelia blame him,. She said, "I'll accompany you. Hope is too young. Let's not expose him."

Jeremy said, "Don't be afraid. All dangers have been eliminated, and no one can threaten us in the future. I want the whole world to know you're my wife."

Cornelia laughed, "You've been live streaming for a while and you've gathered so many fans, I'm afraid I'll drown in their comments."

Jeremy asked, "What do you mean by fans?"

-Cornelia picked up the tablet used for live streaming to show him, "See for yourself."

Jeremy glanced at the live chat and suddenly laughed, "Are you jealous?"

Cornelia said, "I'm not jealous, but proud. They can only call you handsome in the chat, but I can hug you."

Jeremy suddenly leaned down and kissed her lips. No matter how he kissed her, it was never enough. Cornelia, worried about his recklessness, quickly pushed him' away, "Stop messing around, we're still live streaming."

Jeremy turned around, picked up Hope who was playing happily, "Baby, let's go do the interview with mommy and daddy."

Hope looked at Jeremy and suddenly said, "Daddy."

This made Jeremy extremely happy, "Son, what did you just say?"

The little baby opened his mouth and managed to utter, "Daddy."

Cornelia was overjoyed, "Dear, our Hope can call 'daddy' now."

Chapter 1523

Christmas was just around the corner.

Hope was already ten months old. At ten months, most babies could start uttering 'mama' and 'daddy'.

Jeremy, after planting a kiss on Hope, said, "Once you've called me 'daddy', you must call mama too."

Hope, with his big round eyes fixed on Cornelia, tried to reach out with his tiny arms. He babbled 'daddy' but refused to say 'mama'.

Cornelia took Hope into her arms, feeling a pang of disappointment that her child, whom she bore through nine months of hardship, refused to call her 'mama'. "Do you think it's because I spend too little time with him that he won't call me 'mama'?" Cornelia asked.

After her postnatal recovery, Cornelia had devoted herself to her work on her comics. Her work had gained popularity, and their San Manga Studio was doing better by the day.

Her work kept her so busy that she had little time to spend with Hope, who was primarily looked after by Jeremy. This was something she rued, especially when compared to the time Jeremy spent with their son.

Concluding that this was probably why Hope was not as close to her, Cornelia resolved to spend more time with him, no matter how busy she was.

Hope was growing fast, from a tiny baby who could fit in the palm of her hand to a nearly twenty-pound bundle of joy. She did not want to miss his growth, knowing that once missed; those moments could never be relived.

Jeremy, not wanting to see Cornelia upset, comforted her, "Don't overthink it. Our Hope is not even a year old. He's just starting to talk. He won't master the whole vocabulary overnight."

Just as he said this, Hope uttered, "mama."

At the sound of this, Cornelia's face lit up with joy. She showered Hope with kisses, saying, "You naughty boy, mama thought you were upset with me because I didn't spend enough time with you."

Jeremy, hugging them both, chimed in, "Buddy, you can't upset mama like that anymore, okay?"

Hope, not understanding what was being said, stared at Cornelia and giggled. His radiant smile told them how happy he was to be with his parents.

Jeremy playfully pinched Hope's nose, "Just because you're smiling at us doesn't mean we'll forget how you upset mama."

"No, Høpe didn't upset me." Cornelia quickly defended him, then suddenly remembered that the live stream was still going on, "Honey, we should go back to the live stream. We can't keep the organizers waiting."

The organizers didn't mind waiting at all. Even though Jeremy wasn't in the frame, the number of viewers kept increasing, and the comments were pouring in. Everybody was guessing who Jeremy's wife could be.

What did she look like? She must be beautiful to be married to him.

Finally, Jeremy, accompanied by his wife and child, reappeared on the live stream.

The host was taken aback when she saw Cornelia. She had expected Mrs. Artis to be beautiful, but she hadn't imagined Cornelia's beauty, especially her clear and, bright eyes, would be so captivating.

The host, maintaining her composure, welcomed them, "Mrs. Artis, welcome to our live stream."

Cornelia replied, "Thank you! I'm also happy to be here with my husband for the interview."

The viewers of the live stream were once again excited.

"Oh my God, the CEO's wife is so beautiful!"

"She's far more beautiful than those Instagram influencers."

"She's a true lady of cla**. Her grace alone outshines many influencers."

"They make such a lovely couple!"

Chapter 1524

"Did you notice the way the hostess was looking at our CEO? She's been giving him those puppy dog eyes for awhile now. But now she's also looking at the CEO's wife in the same way. She wouldn't be trying to snag them both, would she?"

"The hostess is just like us, just a pure adoration for handsome men and beautiful women."

"A handsome man and a beautiful woman, it's quite the treat for the eyes. Who wouldn't like that?"

“Oh my god. I really hope they have more kids. It would be such a waste not to pa** on those amazing genes.”

As the online viewers pa**ionately expressed their opinions, Jeremy gently led Cornelia to the front and center, ensuring all the cameras were trained on her. He announced to everyone who could see the live stream, “This lovely lady by my side is my wife, Cornelia.”

The hostess didn’t want to interrupt their moment, but as a hostess, she had to say something, “You two look so in love.”

Jeremy gripped Cornelia’s hand tighter, gave her a tender smile, and turned to the hostess, “She is the light of my life. Her presence has made my world a beautiful place.”e2

Cornelia felt a pang in her heart as she listened to him. She knew about the many wounds he had suffered in the past and the dark times he had gone through. She was relieved that she could bring him light and fill his world with hope again.

The hostess turned to Cornelia, “Mrs. Artis, Mr. Artis has spoken his heart out. Do you have anything to say in response?”

Comelia glanced at Jeremy, then smiled at the hostess, “He is also my light. He has illuminated all the paths in my life, so I am no longer afraid of loneliness.””

A beautiful love story was always about mutual commitment. The hostess saw that in the couple, “Thank you for making us believe in love again.”

Cornelia responded confidently, “We haven’t made anyone believe anything. As long as there is love in your heart, anyone can find their own love story.”

Even while seated, they held hands. Jeremy also cradled a little one in his arms. Their few-month-old baby was at the age when everything was a source of curiosity. His eyes darted left and right, round and curious. He was not shy at all, melting the hearts of everyone on set.

“Oh my god, their son is so cute.”

“He’s so soft and adorable.”

“I wish I could hold him.”

“Oh Jord, bless me with a baby as cute as him.”

Jeremy introduced their child, “This is our son. We named him Hope.”

“Hope, what a lovely name.”

“Try calling him Bob.”

“Even if his name were Bob, he’d still be adorable. It wouldn’t matter.”

The live stream continued with its influence growing, causing a global sensation. Hannah surely knew about it.

The Ablesón family was busy preparing roast chicken for Hope’s dinner, and Farley was in his room doing homework. Only Hannah had nothing to do. She lay in her room, watching the live stream on her tablet.

Chapter 1525

Through her screen, Hannah could feel the burning love Jeremy held for Cornelia.

Undoubtedly, Cornelia was blessed. And of course, she was incredibly accomplished. Everything she now possessed was the result of her own hard work, and she deserved it all.

And Hannah?

Thinking of herself, Hannah shook her head and chuckled. Both her career and love life were in shambles.

Oh well, forget about that. Hannah continued watching the livestream.

It had been several months since she had seen Jeremy since leaving Harbor City. Months later, this man seemed more appealing than ever. His matured charm and his elegance in every gesture was truly captivating.

But what caught Hannah’s eyes the most was little Hope in Jeremy’s arms. Even though she often video-chatted with Cornelia to see the little munchkin, it wasn’t the same as being able to touch and hold him. Every time she saw Cornelia cradling Hope and showering him with kisses, she felt envious.e2

Hope was growing quickly, changing every day, and becoming more adorable. Hannah kinda wanted to steal him away and raise him herself. She secretly decided that after Christmas, she would fly to Riverton to cuddle this little bundle of joy.

“Hannah.” Farley walked in, holding his phone, “This is your friend Cornelia, right?”

Hannah said, “Yeah, what about it?”

Farley said, “Is that guy Jeremy really her husband? And the beautiful Hope, is that her son?”

Hannah asked, "What else would they be?"

Hearing this, Farley seemed disheartened, "I thought she was divorced and hadn't remarried."

Hannah said, "Cornelia was never divorced. But whether she was or not, why does it upset you?"

Suddenly, Farley's eyes welled up, "I like her. I had planned on marrying her when I grew up."

Hannah couldn't help but laugh at his pitiful, aggrieved expression, "Look at her husband, do you really think you stand a chance?"

That was exactly why he was upset. Looking at the handsome face on the phone screen and realizing he stood no chance, Farley let out a loud wail. His sobs were so loud they startled Jeo and Pandora downstairs.

Pandora called out from the bottom of the stairs, "What are you two up to?"

Hannah was doubled over with laughter, "Our Farley is heartbroken, ha-ha."

Heartbroken! His beloved sister was not only unsympathetic but also mocking him. Feeling even more hurt, Farley's sobs grew louder, almost shaking the roof.

Downstairs, Pandora shook her head and sighed, "When he was little, he was often bullied to tears by his sister. And now as a grown-up, he's still being teased to tears. Can't the men in the Ableson family show a bit more backbone?"

Jeo replied, "As long as he finds a capable wife like I did, he'll be fine."

Pandora glared at him, "Don't think you can appease me with words like that. Men need to be the head of the household, or they'll be taken advantage of."

A few months ago, the usually timid and weak Jeo had stood up against the local bullies. Since then, no one dared to bully their family anymore, and no one dared to badmouth Hannah. People in the village became very friendly towards their family. So sometimes acting out could deter people from messing with them.

Jeo said, "Our Farley is clever, and he'll definitely be successful and responsible in the future. Don't worry."

Farley's aggrieved cries again reached their ears.

Pandora sighed, "Did you hear that?"

Jeo said, "Let's send them to the market to buy some fish, so they won't bother us."

Pandora said, "Good idea!"

And so, in the middle of winter, the Ableson siblings were sent by their parents to buy fish in the market.
