Chapter 1051 For Whom

A thought flashed through Nicole's mind. She immediately said, "It's impossible to get you a team now. If you really need help, I'll lend you some people from the Night Elf Empire."

"The Night Elf Empire?"

Jacob paused.

Then he quickly nodded.

"Alright, thank you, Mrs. Green."

Nicole hesitated for a moment and asked, "Jacob, you've been with Samuel for so long. There's something I want to ask you."

"Yeah, sure."

"Who designed my wedding dress?"

Nicole's question stunned Jacob.

"Mr. Green found someone abroad to design it. What's wrong?"

"I got married in such a hurry, but it took time to design that dress. I just want to know...."

Nicole couldn't continue.

She felt a little conflicted.

It had been so long. No matter whom this dress was designed for, she was the one who married Samuel.

She shouldn't dwell on the dress.

Thinking of this, Nicole said, "Forget it. I got to go."

"Mrs. Green."

Jacob stopped Nicole in time.

Nicole's hand froze. She did not say anything. Obviously, she was very nervous.

"What?"

"That dress was prepared for you."

Nicole was shocked.

"But he disliked me before we got married."

"Has Mr. Green ever said that to you?"

Jacob smiled. "Mrs. Green, Mr. Green had seen you in college. He thought you were an elegant woman at the first glance. At that time, he had an alumna who majored in wedding dress design. She was looking for inspiration, so Mr. Green gave her your size and asked her to try it. So, she came up with the one in your hand. They never thought that it could come in handy at his wedding. At that time, she praised that Mr. Green had foresight. Now I think Mr. Green should have fallen in love with you at first sight. But he didn't realize it. After all, Riley didn't attract much attention from Mr. Green at that time."

It really melted Nicole's heart. She was touched.

"But how did he know my size?"

"Do you remember that the drama club bought custom-made clothes for you? They had your size. Mr. Green got it easily. There's one more thing I have to tell you."

"What?"

"At that banquet, Mr. Green exchanged the wine you drank."

Nicole was thunderstruck.

Nicole couldn't help but recall Finn's broken arms and legs.
She had seen Finn as her friend. She trusted him with all her heart. However, they ended up with betrayal. And Finn was very pitiful.
Nicole said nothing. She got a lot going on.
Jacob did not rush her and waited patiently.
After a long time, Nicole said.
"How is he now?"
"His arms are well, but his legs are crippled. He could only sit in a wheelchair."
Nicole felt worse for Finn.
She could forgive him easily. And she knew that Finn had been waiting for it.
After thinking for a long time, Nicole whispered, "Tell him that I forgive him."
"Alright."
Jacob was a smart man.
With that, he knew that Nicole had allowed him to borrow some people from Finn.
Nicole hung up the phone, and pain flashed through her eyes.
Finn used to be a promising young man. But now he became a disabled person. Today could be considered as an end to everything that had happened in the past.

Nicole just wished that her forgiveness could help Finn get over his obsession and guilt and start a new life.

Nicole took a deep breath and tidied up the wedding dress. She was so happy that it was prepared for her by Samuel.

Then she took a few things out from the storage room and drove to the hospital.

Evelyn was feeding Tim. Seeing Nicole, Evelyn smiled and stood up.

"Nicole! Come and sit down."

Nicole looked at Tim, all judgy. Then she said, "I remember that you hurt your leg. Now you can't even use your hands?"

Evelyn flushed.

But Tim was not affected. "You have a problem with our love?"

"Yeah. My husband is not here. I will be sad if you two get too intimate in front of me."

Nicole was not ashamed to say that.

Tim did not care about her. "Then go find Samuel."

"Evelyn, look at him. He married and doesn't like me anymore. He wasn't like this before."

Nicole turned to complain to Evelyn.

"Mrs. Green."

Cara was surprised that Nicole came to pick them up. So, she walked to Nicole quickly.

Laurence was also stunned when he saw Nicole. But he wore a pair of the sunglasses, so nobody noticed it.

"Mrs. Green."

"You two had a fight?"

Nicole looked at them and asked.

Cara and Laurence both shook their heads.

"Then why are you a long way away from each other? Laurence, be a gentleman and help Cara carry her luggage."

When Nicole blamed Laurence, Cara immediately explained, "No, Mrs. Green. There are not many things in it. I can carry it myself."

"Why we need a man? We go out with them, and they are meant to carry our bags."

"Darling?"

Cara's face flushed. She glanced at Laurence. But he remained indifferent. Shyness that had just arisen in Cara's heart shattered and disappeared.

Nicole said "carry", but Cara heard "darling". Cara did have deep feelings for Laurence, but Laurence didn't know it at all.

Nicole didn't want to say anything.

"Let's get in the car first. We'll talk about it after we get back. There's a lot of shit waiting for us."

Nicole said disdainfully.

This time, Laurence took the suitcase from Cara as Nicole said, which surprised Cara.

Mrs. Green's words worked.

Cara was upset and followed Laurence.

They got into the car, and Laurence drove.

Nicole and Cara sat in the back.

"Cara, I got a hard job for you."

"Okay."

"I need you to work as my grandpa's nurse."

Nicole looked at Cara and whispered, "I'll take Viola to my grandpa's house. And she'll live there. My grandpa is an upright man. I'm afraid that Viola will play tricks on him. When you get over there, I want you to check his meals and drinks every day. Don't let anything go wrong with him. Can you do it?"

"Yes."

Cara was proficient in medicines.

Laurence listened and did not interrupt them.

Nicole gave Cara a listening bug.

"Put this in my mother's bedroom. If I'm right, Viola will not live in the room that my grandpa prepared for her. She will take my mother's room. I need to know everything she did. Viola hasn't seen you before. Just tell her that you're a servant at the Shaw's. She won't doubt it. Contact me if anything happens."

"Alright."

Cara took the bug over.

Chapter 1054 Stay Safe

Laurence paused for a moment before leaving.
Nicole drank a glass of milk, sat in Samuel's chair and closed her eyes. She went through everything.
Then she got relieved after making sure that she was well prepared.
It was now or never.
Around 3 pm, Rebecca's parents started to make a fuss in front of the Eternal Group.
After Daisy found about it, she protected Rebecca as Nicole instructed.
Rebecca cried when she facetimed Nicole.

"Ms. Bush, I'm sorry. I'm so sorry."

"There's no point in apologizing to me now. You're working for me. I won't leave you alone. Let me handle it. Just stay out of it and listen to Daisy."

Rebecca mellowed out because Nicole looked quite calm.

"But my parents are leeches. They won't stop until they drain me dry."

"Do you have any records when you transfer money to them?"

Rebecca nodded.

"Yes. I got the records."

"Print it and give it to Daisy. Leave the rest to us."

"Alright, thank you, Ms. Bush. If I could get it over with, I will work hard and earn more money for the company."

Rebecca did not know how to express her gratitude.

For some reason, seeing Nicole so calm and relaxed, Rebecca believed that she could get rid of her leech-like parents.

"We'll talk later. Just work hard."

Nicole hung up the phone and sent a message to Daisy.

"They have found out that Rebecca was raised by her grandmother. Her parents didn't give her any money. If we can find her grandmother, the problem will be solved."

Daisy replied quickly, "Ernesto has brought her grandmother here. Mr. Green has collected some evidence. I will hold a press conference now. This time, I'll call Rebecca's parents' bluff."

Nicole paused.

Samuel did these things?

He must have done it when Fernanda came to the company for Nicole. But Nicole was sleeping at home that morning.

Samuel always did everything without letting her know, which melted Nicole's heart.

Had Samuel arrived in South Africa? How was the situation there? Was he having neuralgia again?

Nicole's mind drifted.

"OK, let's do it. I'll leave Rebecca's parents to you."

"Alright, Ms. Bush."

'Viola?'

Nicole thought she was mistaken.

She checked her watch. It was half past five in the afternoon,

Didn't she say she would arrive at eight p.m.?

Why did she get here so much earlier?

And she didn't seem to see Mike.

Did something happen?

Nicole was thinking a lot.

However, she absolutely could not let Viola slip away.

Otherwise, her plans would fail.

However, Emory's men haven't arrived yet. They would arrive at six o'clock and there was still half an hour away.

Half an hour would be enough for Viola to do what she had planned to and leave.

Nicole frowned tightly.

It was true that plans, however meticulous they were, could never keep up with changes.

But Nicole had no more time to consider.

Viola took out her phone and started calling. It seemed that she had schemed with Dominic in advance. Perhaps Mike was under their control.

Nicole frowned slightly. She quickly put on her hat and walked out of the lounge.

Just as Viola got through to Dominic, she was bumped by a woman wearing a cap and her phone fell to the ground.

"Are you blind?"

Viola was instantly enraged.

Nicole glanced at the phone and found that she was actually calling Dominic.

She smiled, but she lowered her cap and said, "Sorry."

Nicole kept her voice low. She was about to leave, but Viola grabbed her arm.

"You bumped into me and smashed my phone. Do you think you can just get away with a 'sorry'? I'm not that nice."

Viola was no less arrogant even after what she had experienced not long ago. Instead, she was more aggressive because of Dominic's being in the Seapolis City.

Nicole sneered. Then, she abruptly took out from her sleeves the syringe that Ashley had given her to defend herself and moved towards Viola with lightning speed.

"Then what are you going to do?"

Nicole raised her head slightly.

Viola was shocked. Before she could shout, she was injected by Nicole.

"Look at you! You still get airsick at such an age. Let me walk you to the lounge."

As Nicole spoke, she helped Viola, who had fainted, to Steven's lounge.

He noticed that Nicole was worried.

"Nothing. Grandpa, I'll leave Viola to you. I have to hurry back now."

Nicole agreed.

She quickly got back to the Green's with Steve. It was quiet. Laurence was not here, but Nicole felt that something was wrong.

"Ms. Nicole, stay in the car. I'll go take a look."

Steve said as he was about to get out of the car. However, Nicole immediately stopped him.

"Stay here. This place is so quiet that it worries me. Keep driving."

Nicole's face slightly clouded over.

Although Steve didn't know what Nicole meant, he still listened to her and changed into a higher gear. They passed the entrance of the Green's very fast.

Just as they were about to leave the entrance of the house, they saw a roadblock in front.

"Back off."

Nicole suddenly felt tortured by fear and anxiety.

It seemed that other than Dominic, there was someone else who wanted her dead.

Sure enough, there was someone behind Dominic.

When Steve was in reverse gear, four or five jeeps popped out from behind him. They were surrounded now.

"Ms. Nicole, we are ambushed."

Steve frowned.

Nicole was important to Edwin. Steve knew that he must keep her safe.

"Ms. Nicole, I'll drive the car and lure them away. Now get out of the car and run towards the house."

Steve's suggestion was directly rejected by Nicole.

"It's useless. Laurence is not here. Something must have happened. Right now, there must be people waiting for me inside the house. If I go there, I will be the fish in a barrel, which is exactly what they want."

"Then what should we do?"

Steve was a little worried.

Nicole smiled bitterly.

"I really don't want such a life, but I have no choice. My husband and my son are waiting for me to save them. So, I can only try my best. Let's fight. Steve, you have a gun on you, right?"

Steve froze for a moment.

He was Edwin's guard, so he naturally carried a gun with him. Why did Nicole ask?

"Ms. Nicole, you..."

"Give me one. I know that you always have two."

Steve hesitated for a moment, but still gave Nicole a gun.

Nicole directly fired at the outside.

At once, the city was disturbed by the clear sound of gunfire.

Today, citizens in the Seapolis City were trembling with fear. Not long ago, Dominic robbed the military vehicle. Now, there were gunshots from the Green's. Naturally, people's concern was all attracted.

After hanging up the phone, Nicole believed that Tim and Evelyn would definitely be happy.

Tim was not a cold-hearted person. Evelyn had almost lost her life because she loved Tim so much. Tim would certainly be good to Evelyn.

Moreover, Evelyn had an attractive personality. Everyone loved her.

Nicole turned to look at the Mason's and smiled.

Good!

Tim finally found his love.

Nicole left the Mason's with ease.

What had happened in the Don's also came to an end.

The police took a lot of people away, but Jason still secretly detained a man. After interrogation, the man admitted that he was sent by Major.

When Nicole heard this news, she was silent.

No wonder Dominic was so fearless, he came into contact with Major.

Nicole also learned of Lillian's death from Jason. Lillian died miserably. Zayn had tortured her for three days and nights before she died.

Major must be mad.

But Nicole did not understand. Although Lillian had brought Major fortune, Major had been so nice to Lillian that they seemed to be more than just aunt and nephew.

Lillian had stewed in her own juice. It had nothing to do with Nicole.

If Major wanted to take revenge, it should be on Zayn. Why was he determined to kill Nicole?

Nicole couldn't figure it out, so she didn't think about it for the time being.

Many people in the Seapolis City would not fall asleep tonight. Some of them were frightened and the others were busy running around.

Jason asked Nicole to rest at the Don's, but Nicole refused.

"Jason, I need to go back and see what happened to Laurence. The servants got off work early. Wendy brought Zoe to her house. I still have to bring Zoe back. Jason, could you do me a favor?"

"What do you want me to do?"

"Viola arrived at the Seapolis City ahead of schedule. I want to know how Mike is doing. If possible, I hope your men can save Mike."

Mike was Samuel's good friend. Nicole had to protect him for Samuel.

Jason whispered, "Mike is already in the Seapolis City. He wasn't hurt. He was just knocked out by Viola. Viola bought two fly tickets with different departure times. She didn't take the same flight with Mike, instead, she knocked Mike out with a kind of drink in the departure lounge. Then she came back to the Seapolis City first. It seems that Viola is not bad to Mike."

Nicole paused for a moment.

She had no idea about how Viola had behaved abroad these days. But in this case, Viola seemed not to be completely heartless towards Mike.

Maybe Viola wasn't a bad woman.

Nicole nodded.

After saying goodbye to Jason, she went back to the Green's. When she arrived, she saw Laurence anxiously walking out and she bumped into her.

Nicole was stunned for a moment before she hurriedly got up and opened the door.

"Uncle Jason?"

She was a little surprised that Jason actually got up so early.

"Hasn't Zoe woken up yet?"

"Yes."

"Come to my study."

After Jason finished speaking, he took the lead in leaving.

After Nicole covered Zoe with the blanket, she quietly came to Jason's study.

Jason looked at the computer in front of him and did not notice Nicole's arrival.

"Uncle Jason?"

Nicole shouted.

Jason quickly regained his senses.

"Come on! Sit down."

Jason showed the computer to Nicole.

Looking at the pictures of a woman on the computer, Nicole couldn't help but be stunned.

"Who is she?"

"Whitney."

Nicole felt somewhat familiar, but she could not remember where she had heard it before.

"Does she have anything to do with me?"

"No. She has something to do with Fill."

Jason sighed and said, "You know Fill, right?"

Although Jason was asking, his tone was certain.

Nicole didn't want to hide anything from Jason, so she could only nod.

"I know him. I heard from Samuel."

"Whitney is Fill's fiancée."

Jason's tone was a little heavy.

Nicole suddenly remembered something.

It was precisely because of Whitney that Fill had become like this.

"Why do you show me this?"

Nicole was a little puzzled and asked.

Jason looked at Nicole for a long time, then whispered, "Whitney is still alive."

"What?"

Nicole felt that this was simply too ridiculous.

Didn't Whitney die miserably back then?

How could she still be alive?

If she was alive, why didn't she come back to look for Fill?

If she was still alive, what Fill had done all these years was meaningless.

Nicole suddenly didn't know how to express her current mood.

Chapter 1059 Hate Him to the Bone

"Mrs. Green!"

Laurence still wanted to stop her, but Nicole was so determined that she already squatted down and started treating the injured.

"I've learned to dress wounds. Your wound needs hemostasis. Let me help you."

Nicole spoke fluent English.

Seeing Nicole's actions, the nun thanked her.

"Thank you, but please leave this place now. Those people will be back soon."

The nun's words stunned Nicole.

"What do you mean by back? Is this the camp of those rioters?"

"It's not their camp. It's just that the people here were all captured by them and they asked us treat the injured here."

The nun said as she bandaged the wounded.

Nicole was confused.

"Wait. Since these people were captives, why is there no one to watch them?"

"Because the whole town is under their control, even if these captives run out, they will be shot dead in a hail of bullets. So no guard is needed here. I think you are from outside, right? Hurry up and go home before they come back. This place has fallen."

Hearing that, Nicole and Laurence wore a serious look.

No wonder the signal was cut off. It turned out that this place fell completely.

What exactly happened here?

Nicole wasn't sure, but she knew that Samuel and Lucas weren't here.

But whether Joseph was here remained a question.

Nicole didn't know the answer.

"Sister, how many more camps like this are here? Have you ever seen a boy around four or five years old carrying a medicine chest?"

Nicole hurriedly asked.

The nun shook her head and said, "This place is full of such camps. Many people have died and medical staff and supplies are sought-after. As for the children, many didn't make it."

Nicole's heart sank.

Joseph and Morgan were the first to arrive here. Nicole didn't know where they were trapped now. If what the nun said was true, then how were they now?

Nicole was worried sick.

Laurence tugged at her and said, "Let's leave now. The gunshots outside are getting closer and closer."

Nicole put away the medical kit at once and scurried out with Laurence.

The barrage of gunfire outside brushed past their hair.

As soon as they got out, they were forced back.

They saw a jeep pulling a cart of rioters shooting randomly.

Human lives were nothing in their eyes.

"Mrs. Green, go to the back."

Laurence pulled her and rushed back.

Behind the church was a large open space, leaving them no place to hide.

They got depressed. Just as they were about to turn around, they felt guns pressing against their waists.

"What are you doing?"

The gunman asked in fluent English, and his voice was very pleasant to hear.

Nicole was surprised by her inappropriate ease. In such a situation, she even paid attention to the gunman's voice.

"We're doctors. We're here to find someone."

Nicole said without hesitation.

"Are you doctors? Why are you carrying guns?"

Joseph was still a child after all. He naively thought that if he created a disturbance, he would be able to buy Nicole some time so she could leave this place. However, Nicole noticed that the entrance was heavily guarded, and there were even several machine guns. Even if she ran out now, she would still be shot to death.

She hadn't found Lucas and Samuel yet, and she didn't want to leave a shadow over Joseph's life because of this matter. Nicole immediately picked Joseph up and tightly held him in her arms.

"Little bastard, are you courting death?"

Tricked by Joseph, the subordinate of Sam's was pissed. Carrying his gun, he came towards the boy.

Joseph knew a little about martial arts, but now that his leg was injured, there was little he could do. Moreover, he was still in Nicole's arms, so he was somewhat anxious.

"Mommy!"

"Don't talk, sweetie."

While smiling at Joseph, Nicole kicked the man's wrist.

He screamed.

With a crisp sound, his arm was broken.

The corners of Sam's lips curled into a charming smile, and he clapped his hands.

"Good skill! Samuel must be proud of you."

Once Sam spoke, the man immediately stopped attacking Nicole and stood aside respectfully, but he glared at her.

"Let my people treat my son. I'll cooperate with you to call Samuel and lure him over."

Nicole's words stunned Joseph.

"Mommy, you can't!"

"Sweetie, be good. Don't interrupt."

Nicole touched Joseph's head. The gentleness in her eyes softened Sam for a second.

There was once a woman who was gentle to him like this.

His mind wandered away.

Joseph tightly grabbed Nicole's hand and said, "Mommy, you can't stay here. That man kills without blinking. Miss Morgan..."

Joseph cried.

Nicole's heart sank slightly.

When she didn't see Morgan here, she wondered why. Now that she heard Joseph say this, she couldn't help but feel anxious.

"What happened to Morgan?"

"She was injured in order to save me. Not only did these bastards refuse to treat her, but they even threw her into the sea. Now I don't even know if she's alive or dead. Mommy, I couldn't protect Miss Morgan. I can't lose you too!"

Tears streamed down his cheeks.

Nicole's heart ached for Joseph.
