Chapter 1101 You Sound Like a Sexist

Nicole looked at the phone. It was Cara.

She had some ideas in her mind.

"Uncle Jason, please look after Zoe. I need to take this."

Nicole didn't want Jason to know what Viola had done this time.

Back then, Viola almost killed Mrs. Don. And Jason hadn't forgotten this yet.

"Alright."

Jason was eager to do something to make up for his fault. Hearing Nicole's words, he immediately nodded in agreement.

Nicole touched Zoe's head and whispered, "Behave. Mommy will pick you up after answering the phone. Lucas and Joseph are back, and you will have someone to play with when you go back."

"Really? That's great!"

When Zoe heard that her two brothers had returned, she couldn't help but be expectant.

Nicole smiled and then took the phone to a quiet place on the other side.

"Speak."

Nicole's voice was not loud, but it carried a trace of dignity.

Cara whispered, "Madam, the test results are out. Those two scents can indeed interact. This is how toxicity is created. Long-time exposure to these scents will cause neuropathy and hallucinations."

Although she had thought of this possibility, Nicole still felt a little unbelievable when she heard Cara's words. Nicole couldn't help but lower her eyes.

Viola!

She was such a vicious woman!

It seemed she was evil in nature.

"Okay. Don't tell my grandfather. No matter what, Viola is still my mother's daughter. Grandpa has always been upright and honest. He feels especially guilty about his family. Although he doesn't like Viola, he has never thought of doing anything to her. Therefore, if he finds out that his granddaughter wants to let him die, it will be a big blow to him. "

Nicole said indifferently, and her eyes became even colder.

"Alright."

Cara nodded in agreement.

Nicole pondered for a moment and said, "Also, since Viola is absent, put something inside that plant."

Cara was slightly stunned for a moment before agreeing.

After hanging up the phone, Nicole took a deep breath.

She was a forgiving person, but Viola disappointed her too much.

Nicole calmed herself down. Then she turned around to return to Jason's side.

"Uncle Jason, I'll take Zoe back first."

"Alright. Be careful on the road. I'll treat you to dinner sometime later."

Nicole had just returned from abroad. Jason knew that she needed to handle a lot of things, so he wasn't in a hurry.

"Alright."

Nicole picked up Zoe and said with a smile, "Say goodbye to Grandpa Jason."

"Goodbye, Grandpa Jason."

Zoe kissed Jason on the face, then she hugged Nicole's neck with both hands and said expectantly, "Mommy, let's go home."

"Okay."

Nicole thought that Zoe couldn't wait to see Lucas and Joseph. She couldn't help but smile.

Chapter 1102 You Seem Complacent

"Lucas, are you trying to console me?"

Nicole asked.

"Or what?"

Lucas felt that Nicole was not smart because she had been spoiled by Samuel. It was not necessary to ask such a simple question.

Nicole was despised again.

We can't continue our talk. Nicole muttered.

"I'm going to sleep. You go on yourself."

Nicole walked out of the study in a black mood.

Lucas thought that life was too difficult for him.

He let go of his status as a genius and play Penta Storm with her. Why would she feel offended?

Gosh! Women are unpredictable.

Sure enough. One couldn't be more cautious when dealing with women.

He shook his head and went back to his coding.

Nicole was depressed, but after returning to her room, she was also worried about Samuel.

Nicole couldn't believe that Samuel had gone to the military compound for so long.

Was it because there was something else? Nicole wondered.

Nicole wanted to call Samuel, but she gave it up after consideration, lest it would give him an impression that she wouldn't want him to stay there.

She didn't want to interfere with Samuel's decision.

If Samuel decided to stay in the military, she would also move past this and try to be a military wife. If Samuel wanted to come back, she would love to.

Nicole was getting sleepy when she thought about this.

She leaned against the bed and soon fell asleep.

When Samuel returned, he saw Zoe and Joseph playing in the living room, and Lucas was probably in the study, but he couldn't find Nicole.

"Zoe, Joseph, where's your Mommy?"

Samuel placed his coat at the entryway.

Zoe ran to him and wanted a hug.

Samuel gave her a gentle hug.

"Oh, my little princess might have gained weight."

Zoe's face darkened when she heard this.

"Daddy, are you saying I'm fat?"

"No, Daddy is saying that our little princess has grown up."

Samuel explained.

And then Zoe burst into laughter.

"When did you wake up?"

Samuel took a pillow and placed it behind Nicole.

Nicole yawned and said, "I woke up when you came in. I was going to play with you, but Lucas overheard the conversation between you and Blair when he came. Darling, don't you think it would be bad if Lucas didn't receive psychological counseling?"

"Yes, it will affect him for the rest of his life. I've thought about the consequences of his first shooting, but I didn't expect it to be so early. What is done is done. I think we should face it. Blair will cure him. Don't worry."

Samuel was afraid that Nicole would feel sad, so he hastened to say these words.

Nicole also knew that was pretty much true, but She was worried as a mother.

"Lucas would be better if Maddie was here."

Samuel nodded in agreement.

"By the way, Maddie is also studying medicine under Gabrielle now. I wonder how the study is going. This child is miserable. Her sister's whereabouts are still unknown, and Booth even asked me to help find Karina."

Nicole signed when she thought of this.

They were the two closest people in the world, but for some reason, they couldn't meet each other in different places. Luckily, the Hawks took care of Maddie, and he gradually became extrovert.

When Samuel heard that it was Booth who made the request, he casually said, "I'll ask Ernesto to locate Karina. She is so unique that can survive in the club. She probably ran away early when Elvis attacked the Kent's."

"She won't."

Nicole instantly frowned.

She didn't want to believe that Karina was such a person.

The Kents took her in. Booth was very kind to her. When the Kents was in danger, it was impossible that she would run away alone. She wouldn't accept it at all.

Samuel knew why Nicole rejected. He did not argue, but said indifferently, "We'll see."

"All right."

Nicole was in a low mood because of this.

The last thing that Samuel wanted to see was that his wife was in a bad mood, so she hurriedly said, "Are you fine?"

"Yeah. By the way, how about your trip to the military compound? What happened?"

Nicole didn't say anything about Claire calling her.

Samuel said indifferently, "It's fine. I might have to go there a few times in the next few days to go through the formalities of retirement and employment."

"Are you sure you will be retired?"

Nicole was a little surprised, but she could guess what Samuel's decision was for.

"Yes, I will live the rest of my life for you."

Nicole's nose twitched when she heard that.

"It will be tough for Emory to let you go. I heard that the country provided much personnel, material and financial support to foster a rookie. Am I too selfish if you are retired for me? I'm the one who should be blamed."

"Nonsense."

Chapter 1104 Samuel, You're So Shameless

Nicole really wanted to kill Samuel.

Tim had asked them to play the ball game in the afternoon a few days earlier. But when she could get up, it was past four o'clock in the afternoon.

"Samuel, you did it on purpose!"

Nicole punched Samuel angrily.

Samuel did not care about her punch and said like a gentleman, "Yes, I did that on purpose."

What else could Nicole say when Samuel was so frank and shameless?

She hurriedly called Tim, but no one answered.

Samuel said indifferently, "Stop calling. Maybe he's teaching Evelyn how to play the ball. Isn't it disappointing to receive a call at this time?"

"Go away!"

Nicole felt that she could no longer look directly at Samuel.

This man was too shameless now.

Seeing that his wife seemed to be really angry, Samuel hurriedly said, "Isn't it just the ball game? Why do you have to play it with Tim? He is getting married, and the newlyweds are the sweetest. Why are you going to bother them? If you really like playing the ball game, how about playing it with me at the racecourse?"

Nicole instantly became excited.

"Polo? Is it like what's shown on TV, playing golf on the horseback with a pole?"

Samuel was speechless when he heard how Nicole explained Polo. But he dared not correct her, for it was his wife.

"That's true. Do you want to go play it?"

Nicole was somewhat attracted. But after checking the time, she said somewhat disappointedly, "It's four o'clock in the afternoon. Since it's winter now, it will be dark in less than an hour. What are we going to do? Watch the night? Or enjoy the night racecourse?"

Samuel did not pay attention to the time. He smiled and said, "We can do what you said. Or we can watch a horse race tonight and play polo tomorrow. We can stay there tonight."

"What about the children?"

Nicole pouted her lips and felt like going.

She and Samuel spent too little time together. Even after returning home, she couldn't relax because of sorts of things. Now that Samuel had asked Ernest to take charge of the company, Nicole really wanted to enjoy her free time with Samuel.

Seeing that Nicole was tempted, Samuel smiled and said, "The children can play at home, or we can take them together?"

He didn't take it seriously, but Nicole hurriedly nodded.

"Alright. Take Zoe with us. Lucas is going to do psychological counseling tomorrow. Take Zoe and Joseph with us. Joseph studies all day long. It's good for him to take a break and go out."

Hearing Nicole's words, Samuel was immediately depressed.

He just wanted to spend time with his wife, and how was that possible with two children?

However, seeing Nicole's excitement, Samuel could only agree.

"Alright, I'll go tell the children. Pack up and we'll set off in a moment."

"Alright."

In a rapture, Nicole hurriedly stood up and almost fell to the ground. She was soon hugged by Samuel.

"Be careful."

"Isn't it because of you? I don't like you anymore. I'm warning you, you can't touch me when we are at the racecourse!"

Nicole said seriously.

Samuel hurriedly nodded, but he felt Nicole was funny.

"What's the matter?"

Seeing that Nicole was in a trance, Samuel asked.

Looking at Lucas who got off the car behind her, speechless, Nicole chuckled, "I forgot to send Lucas to the Hawk's."

Lucas curled his lips with dissatisfaction.

Forgot?

Although it was the truth, Lucas felt that mommy care less about his feelings.

Gloom seemed to be settling on him.

Seeing Lucas' disdainful gaze, Nicole forced a smile.

However, Samuel said, "Forget it. At worst, call Blair and the others to come over for a vacation. There is a presidential suite here, where you can also do psychological counseling."

"Good point."

Lucas snorted coldly and leaned against the side, looking at people passing by.

Nicole always found her son cold and distant.

His temperament was inherited from Samuel.

Nicole secretly pinched Samuel, and Samuel frowned slightly in pain.

"What?"

"It's all your fault. You didn't remind me."

Nicole pouted. With a pink face, she looked more attractive under the sunset.

Samuel swallowed hard and there was anger in his eyes.

At this time, Lucas said, "Hurry up and go in. It's a little cold. My arms are gooseflesh all over."

Nicole almost choked on her saliva again.

Zoe came down and said blankly, "Is it cold? I don't feel it."

As soon as she finished speaking, Joseph held her hand and covered her mouth. He chuckled, "Daddy, Mommy, we'll leave you alone."

With that, Joseph tipped a wink on Lucas.

Lucas caught a glance at Samuel and met with his warning gaze.

Lucas snorted.

With that, he left in disdain.

Samuel was a little mad.

Sooner or later, this brat would be sent to the Pacific Ocean for special training.

Nicole was embarrassed by her son's teasing.

"Don't... in the presence of our son."

Before she could finish her sentence, Samuel stopped her with a kiss.

No, no, no, no.

He didn't care about what his children thought.

His wife mattered the most. When his children grew up, they would get married with others. He didn't want to discommode himself for the sake of others.

As Samuel thought, he deepened the kiss.

Nicole instantly was turned on and fell into Samuel's arms. As for how she entered the hotel and got on the elevator, and how she entered the presidential suite, Nicole had no idea.

By the time she figured out what happened, she was already in bed in the presidential suite.

Thinking of how many people would pay their attentions to them along the way, Nicole blushed in an instant.

Chapter 1106 Don't Regret What You Choose

Nicole was stuck there by Claire and couldn't move. She could only watch helplessly as Emory bowed to her and then said, "When Samuel came to the military region to complete the retirement procedures, I was somewhat excited and said something impolitely. I'm sorry."

Hearing this, Nicole was dumbfounded.

Nicole actually did not know what Emory said specifically that time. Nicole just heard from Claire and Claire's words were more tactful, so Nicole now looked at Claire with some puzzlement.

Claire sneered and said, "Someone is so straight. His right hand was about to retire. He directly asked me to persuade you to let Samuel stay longer. At that time, his tone and words were too harsh. So I didn't relay. But that was what he meant."

Nicole was instantly stunned.

Claire was taunting Emory in front of her.

Nicole suddenly felt embarrassed.

"Emory, Claire, don't say that. It's all because of Emory that Samuel could get there. I know that you feel sorry. From the start, you're for the sake of Samuel."

Nicole's words made Emory feel even more embarrassed.

"Yes, I did it for his own good. After all, he really did a good job at such a young age. He will be a lieutenant colonel if he comes back to the army. You should know that the youngest lieutenant colonel is in his forties now. It is rare to have the rank of lieutenant colonel at this age. And in the future, his focus of work would be in a fixed city, no different from office workers. How many people have worked hard for years to not be able to hold such a position? "

At this point, Emory still felt that it was a pity, but his voice and attitude were much softer than before.

"As the commander, I naturally don't want Samuel to retire. However, Claire is right. Samuel is not just my friend, nor is he the soldier of our military region. He has his own family and life, and he has the right to choose his own life. As the commander, I regret his decision, but as his friend, I am gratified. I am sorry. I just figured this out. Regardless of whether you knew my unconsidered remarks or not, I have to apologize to you. After all, you've suffered too much because of Samuel. You have the right to pursue your own happiness."

Hearing this, Nicole felt warm.

"Emory, thank you."

"Sorry, I come here today to talk to you about this. Now that I'm done, I won't join you. I'm going out to take a look."

After saying that, Emory left.

Claire looked at his back, her expression still not very good.

Nicole hurriedly held her hand and said, "It's okay. I'm not angry. Why are you still unhappy?"

Claire sighed, "He has risen too quickly these past few years, and there are many people around him who compliment him and flatter him. Sometimes, he will inevitably lose himself. It was good that Samuel's matter sobered him up. People in high positions have many hidden worries. In the past few years, he has become even more tyrannical and dictatorial. Although he has always been said to be an iron-blooded man, I know that this is not a good thing for him. If something happened, there might be a great calamity. Luckily, this matter gave him a wake-up call. It allowed him to find his original intention, so I felt a little more at ease. "

Nicole was slightly stunned.

She had never known that they had such a hidden worry in the military region.

Ashley looked at Claire and whispered, "Claire, did Emory treat you more possessively these past few years?"

"Are you talking about dictatorship?"

Claire smiled quietly, giving people the feeling of the spring breeze.

Ashley nodded slightly.

"Yes."

"Well, he does have some dictatorship. Sometimes, he's so straight. However, after Samuel's matter, he locked himself up in the study room for one night. When he came out, he had completely figured it out. In this lifetime, no one can say that he would not make mistakes, nor can he guarantee that he will not lose himself. I know that he has been lost these past few years. Fortunately, Samuel's matter has made him realize. "

Chapter 1107 That's Bribery

Emory was serious when he asked them to take care of his wife and children.

They all felt depressed.

However, Emory laughed.

"Relax. The worst scenario is that I stop serving the army. By then, I will go to do business, just like you guys."

Emory was joking about that. But everyone knew that if something happened to Emory, things would be much worse.

Samuel coughed and said, "Why don't I...."

"I've handled your retirement procedures. You can go sign it tomorrow. Since you've decided to be around your wife and children, don't regret it. Samuel, you need to spend your entire life to make up for them. They are the ones you need to protect in the future. You know that?"

Samuel was sad at Emory's words.

"OK. Stop being emotional. Just shuffle the cards. I have to win to buy a dress for Claire. She has got a target one and hasn't bought it yet."

Now that Emory wanted to make things easier, the others stopped talking about it.

During the two hours, Emory kept winning.

He found it boring and just stopped.

"Hey, stop cheating. Why don't you just give me money if you make the game easier for me?"

"That won't do. If we give you money, we are committing bribery."

Samuel answered.

"Yes. You're in a difficult position and cannot take another charge of taking bribes."

Blair echoed.

Steven didn't say anything, but he looked worried.

Emory looked at them and sighed, "Trust me. It will be fine."

"OK."

Then they returned to their rooms.

Nicole woke up and didn't find Samuel. She guessed that Samuel was staying with Emory and others, so she did not go to look for him and watch the TV series on the computer.

When Samuel came back, he was stunned for a moment when finding Nicole leaning against the bedside. Samuel felt peaceful and calmed down.

"Why stay up?"

"I can't fall asleep."

Nicole pouted and said, "I want to have snacks."

Samuel read through Nicole's words.

"I'll go buy it."

"You are the best!"

Nicole beamed with satisfaction.

What else could Samuel say to his attractive wife?

He shook his head and walked out. When he returned, he brought back fruits and chicken.

Nicole enjoyed the chicken and didn't care about manners. Samuel liked her this way.

He washed the fruits, cut them into small pieces, put a toothpick on the plate, and sat down beside Nicole. He held the plate in his hand and watched Nicole as she stuffed them into mouth one by one.

She enjoyed the fruits like a hamster.

Chapter 1108 These Two People Are Going Too Far

When Nicole saw Cara's call, she immediately felt nervous, and she became more and more anxious.

"What's the matter?"

Seeing that Nicole's face became pale, Samuel couldn't help but comfort her.

"It's grandpa! Samuel, what should I do if something happens to him..."

She didn't continue, but Samuel could clearly notice Nicole trembling.

"Don't think too much. Viola is under our surveillance, isn't she? Maybe Cara called to ask us to go over for dinner?"

Samuel comforted her, but even he didn't believe what he had said.

Nicole, however, needed such an excuse.

She nodded, took a deep breath, and then answered the phone.

"Cara, what's wrong?"

Nicole's voice was trembling.

Viola was like a time bomb. No matter how well Nicole did it, she was afraid of missing something. Now that it could be clearly seen that Viola did harm to Edwin, how could she not be worried?

If something unexpected happened to Edwin because she had Viola with him, Nicole really felt that it was all her fault.

Hearing Nicole's trembling voice, Cara paused for a moment before saying, "Mrs. Green, Mr. Shaw suddenly fainted."

"What do you mean?"

Nicole was going crazy.

Cara said immediately, "He has been sent to the hospital. I've checked. Nothing is wrong with his food and clothing. Furthermore, I have moved the flowers out of the room. I don't know why he suddenly fainted."

"I'll be there right away. Send me the location of the hospital."

Nicole's heart constantly sank, and her hands were also a little cold.

Samuel hurriedly held her hand and whispered, "It's alright. Old man sometimes faints for no reason. I'll ask the doctor to check grandpa's body. Don't worry."

Nicole nodded.

Because of this, they had to leave early, while the children were taken care of by Blair and Steven.

When Nicole and Samuel arrived at the hospital, Steve, Cara and Viola were all there.

Viola's eyes were red, as if she had cried.

Nicole cast a glance at her and asked Steve directly, "Steve, how is my grandpa?"

"I don't know yet. He was just sent in."

Steve also worried a lot.

Samuel comforted Nicole in a low voice and went to look for the director.

Nicole knew that he was going for his grandfather.

Chapter 1109 Did I Miss Something?

Nicole went home together with Samuel. She felt a little tired.

Samuel noticed her weariness and asked Wendy to fill the tub for her. He said to Nicole softly, "You go take a bath and a nap. I'll wake you at dinner time."

Nicole wanted to say that she was fine, but she was exhausted, so she just nodded.

She went to the bedroom, and Samuel followed.

Samuel knew that Nicole was somewhat out of sorts, and he couldn't help but blame himself when he remembered that he had made love with her over and over again.

When Nicole was bathing, Samuel received a call. Some company documents were awaiting him to deal with online, so he went straight to the study.

Nicole felt as if she had come back to life during the hot bath.

It seemed that the fainting was normal, and there was no evidence that Viola had done anything. However, Nicole felt that something was wrong.

'Did I miss something?'

Or was it that Viola played her cards better than before?

Nicole fell asleep thinking about these.

Samuel went to the bedroom after handling the documents. He frowned when he found that Nicole was not on the bed.

He walked into the bathroom and saw Nicole leaning against the bathtub and falling asleep.

Her face was a little red.

It was a gut-wrenching scene for Samuel. He strode forward to carry Nicole out, wiped her body dry but found that Nicole's temperature was frighteningly high.

"Nicole, Nicole, wake up."

Samuel tried to wake Nicole up.

Nicole only felt that someone was calling her, but she could not lift her eyelids. She felt hot and unwell.

She twisted her body, so uncomfortable that she almost cried.

"Samuel, I feel cold. And I feel hot."

The discomfort almost drove her crazy.

Samuel blamed himself for not coming to her early and called Ashley hurriedly.

Ashley was still at the racecourse and was surprised to hear that Nicole had a fever.

"What happened? Wasn't she all right when you guys left?"

Samuel didn't know what to say.

Nicole was indeed all right when she woke up in the morning, but Edwin's fainting made her nervous.

When Ashley arrived, Nicole couldn't even recognize her because of the fever. Nicole just kept babbling.

"Why does she have such a high fever? Where did you guys go just now?"

Ashley examined Nicole right away.

Samuel whispered, "Grandfather fainted. We went to the hospital."

"She shouldn't have a fever just because of that."

Ashley looked serious.

"Let's do a blood test first."

Chapter 1110 Where Is Viola?

Samuel could not understand.

However, since Blair didn't want him around, he could only leave the bedroom to get a breath of fresh air.

After Samuel left, Blair's expression became serious.

"According to the blood tests, Nicole has a large number of both white and red blood cells. It looks like she has a cold. I don't doubt Ashley's medical skills. Since Ashley diagnosed inflammatory infection in Nicole, then why can't the inflammation be diminished?"

Ashley said in an injured tone, "All of my medication is used for anti-inflammation, but it has not worked."

After Gabrielle gave Nicole a full-body examination, she whispered, "Indeed Nicole is diagnosed with inflammatory infection, but the situation is not positive. From the features of the disease, it doesn't look like an inflammatory infection in gynaecology."

"What do you know about it?"

Blair knew that his wife had some research in this field, so he hurriedly asked.

Gabrielle frowned.

"I suspect it's not a fever caused by the original inflammation in Nicole's body."

"Do you think it is caused by external factors?"

Ashley immediately reacted.

"But I've already asked Samuel. Nicole has never been out alone. She just went to the hospital when Edwin fainted. She went to the hospital. Could it be that some source of infection from the respiratory tract has infected her? It's possible as her resistance is low now."

Gabrielle didn't agree with Ashley.

"It doesn't look like a respiratory infection. Let's have a full body check to see if there are any injuries on Nicole's body."

As soon as Gabrielle gave the suggestion, Blair realized he should leave here.

He looked at Gabrielle worriedly and said, "If you're tired, rest for a while. However, try to find the cause of Nicole's disease. Otherwise, I'm afraid that Samuel will lose his will to live on."

Gabrielle and Ashley both understood him. Then they nodded.

After Blair left the room, Gabrielle said, "Take off Nicole's clothes. I'll check the upper half, and you check the lower half."

"Alright."

Nicole's disease made Ashley nervous.

Nicole had been running a fever for so long. If they still couldn't find the reason or bring down the fever, she was likely to become idiot because of the fever.

Gabrielle and Ashley had a clear division of work. Both needed to search for suspicious spots on Nicole's body inch by inch.

Finally, half an hour later, Gabrielle found a needle-sized red dot on the back of Nicole's hand.

"Ashley, hurry up and take a look. What is this?"

Ashley hurriedly stepped forward, frowning.

"Indeed, the source of infection is an external factor."

Although they had found it, they didn't know what kind of external factor Nicole was suffering from. Now, they could only draw Nicole's blood for a further examination. However, it would take at least four to five hours to finish the test. However, no one knew what would happen to Nicole at that time.

Ashley's and Gabrielle's hearts sank.
