Chapter 1111 It Might Be Helpful to Keep Her Alive

"You're courting death!"

Samuel kicked her again.

Viola coughed out a mouthful of blood and gasped for breath.

Ashley was afraid that Samuel would really kill Viola in a fit of temper, so she hurriedly took a step forward and said, "Samuel, we'd better bring her back first."

She was grim-faced.

As a doctor, she could heal people. However, she also had a lot of ways to get someone to tell the truth.

Samuel tried his best to suppress the rage in his heart and ordered someone to take Viola away.

Edwin did not say a word.

Viola had looked for trouble. He could not stop her, nor did he want to.

At the beginning, he thought that Viola was Audrey's daughter, so he should care for her, but now it seemed that her existence would only make Nicole painful, so he would not intervene any more.

Edwin closed his eyes and said in a somewhat weary voice, "Steve, help me to have a rest."

"Mr. Shaw, let me help you."

Cara hurriedly said.

Edwin shook his head and said, "Go to search Viola's room carefully. She must have left some traces. If Samuel can't get any useful information from her, we should try to help her survive."

Cara immediately understood his meaning.

She went to Viola's room.

Samuel quickly brought Viola back to the the Green's.

Lucas was waiting at the door, frowning, which made Samuel's heart skip a beat.

"Your mom..."

Samuel's voice was trembling.

Ashley was also a little bit worried.

Lucas looked at Viola, hatred flashing in his eyes.

"My mom is fine."

"How could it be possible?"

Viola shouted!

No!

No way!

It was impossible!

Major once said that this poison was colorless and tasteless, and once it entered a human's body, that person would die painfully.

But why did Lucas say that Nicole was fine?

Coldness flashed in Lucas' eyes.

"My mom is lucky. Naturally, she will be fine. But you..."

Lucas did not finish his sentence, but Viola could not help shivering.

"How is it?"

Laurence had been waiting here, wanting to know the result. Last time. It was his blood that saved Nicole, wasn't it? Was it because of his blood?

Ashley and Gabrielle shook heads disappointedly.

"No."

"How about Mrs. Green's poison..."

Laurence was stunned and then got worried.

Everyone's face darkened.

They couldn't find what the poison was, and now it had disappeared for no reason. This was too inexplicable to medical students.

Lucas did not say a word, his beautiful phoenix eyes narrowing.

He walked out and made a video call to Joseph.

Joseph was with Steven. Zoe was asleep now.

When he saw Lucas' video call, he hit the receive button immediately.

"How's Mommy?"

Ever since Lucas asked him how to punish people but not kill them, Joseph knew that Nicole's done, but he couldn't go back, he couldn't leave Zoe. He was afraid that Zoe would be scared here alone, and he was even more afraid that Zoe would be in danger if she was left alone.

Mommy was sick, and Daddy was very worried. Lucas was still with them and they would be fine, but Zoe was alone. Joseph was worried.

Looking at Joseph's nervous expression, Lucas suddenly whispered, "You've read so many medical books, do you know what poison detoxifies itself for no reason?"

Joseph was slightly stunned, a trace of solemnity appearing on his face.

"No poison in the world can detoxify itself. It will only dissolve in blood and bone marrow."

Hearing Joseph's words, Lucas became nervous.

"Mommy had a severe fever. Everyone was trying to find a solution, but Mommy's fever had subsided. What's more, nothing was detected in Auntie Ashley's and Auntie Gabrielle's blood."

Lucas said it very slowly, and Joseph's expression became even darker.

"I'll check the medical book."

Joseph originally thought that he had read enough medical books, but at this moment, he found that what he learned was still unable to cope with this emergency.

"Check out that ancient book."

What Lucas said made Joseph slightly stunned.

Samuel gave the ancient book brought back from the Harper Town to Blair so that he could study the neuralgia that had been haunting Samuel. However, Lucas made a copy and gave it to Joseph before sending it out.

Joseph also thought about studying ancient books, but he didn't know all the words in it.

This ancient book was indeed old. After all, Joseph was still very young, and words on the book didn't make sense to him.

Therefore, Joseph had been studying this font. Now hearing what Lucas said, he sadly said, "Sorry, Lucas, I can't understand the font on it. How useless I am."

At this moment, Joseph felt extremely helpless and uncomfortable.

When Mommy needed him most, there were rumors that he was a prodigy in the medical field, but at this moment, he felt that he was nothing.

Lucas did not expect this to happen. He paused for a moment and then said, "Send me the photos of the ancient books. I'll see if I can use computer technology to convert the fonts."

"Alright."

Lucas did not care what Viola thought of him, nor did he care whether she was afraid or not.

The moment she decided to set Nicole up, she was doomed.

Though he was young, he had fired a gun and killed lives. He didn't mind adding her to his death list.

Mommy has endured so many hardships. How could Viola get away with her crime just because she was mommy's sister?

Mommy was poisoned by something he didn't know, so he didn't have any solid evidence. But it didn't matter that he had no evidence.

He had plenty of ways to torture Viola.

Samuel and Nicole didn't know what Lucas had done.

Samuel kept a close eye on Nicole, and Nicole was still asleep.

She was not really asleep.

After the previous burning sensation disappeared, Nicole felt exhausted.

It was as if her body had been hollowed out. She was extremely tired and uncomfortable.

She did not know how long she had slept, nor did she know what had happened to her. She felt chest tightness and shortness of breath as if she were pressed by something.

Nicole struggled hard to wake up.

She knew how much Samuel cared about her, how much the children relied on her, and how likely she was to frighten them.

Samuel must be go into lengths to revive her. How could she keep sleeping?

Nicole struggled and finally slowly opened her eyes.

The room was so dark that there was no light at all.

She felt a pair of powerful hands hugging her. She felt relieved at the familiar embrace.

Nicole heard even breathing.

She turned her head, unable to see Samuel's face clearly. It was too dark.

Nicole tried to turn on the light.

Samuel instantly woke up.

"Nicole?"

His voice was hoarse but excited.

Nicole smiled weakly and felt her throat burning.

"Would you like some water? I'll pour some for you right away."

Samuel hurriedly got out of bed and poured a cup of warm water for Nicole.

He was so excited.

Nicole was awake!

She finally woke up!

Samuel slowly helped Nicole up and placed the cup beside her lips.

Nicole was really too thirsty.

It was as if she were walking in the desert in a blazing hot day, about to collapse. Right now, the warm water was like a spring. She gulped down the water.

She quickly finished the glass of water but Nicole was still thirsty.

Samuel quickly poured another cup for her.

After three glasses of water, Nicole felt better.

Chapter 1114 She Loved Tim Even More.

"Evelyn, I..."

Tim wanted to explain, but Evelyn threw something in front of him and her expression became even uglier.

Somehow, Tim's heart skipped a beat.

'Was my wife angry?' He thought.

"What... what's wrong?"

Tim was a little nervous with fear.

Wasn't it fun?

He was a playboy who slept around with different women, yet he actually was afraid of his wife instead of Nicole now?

Tim felt a little depressed when he realized this, but he didn't care much about it.

Evelyn also told a trace of worry and panic from Tim's voice. Only then did her unkind expression ease slightly.

"Look at it. Look at what you've done!"

Evelyn gritted her teeth when saying every single word, wishing she could tear Tim apart.

Tim was a little puzzled. He rubbed his nose and thought to himself, 'I have been behaving myself lately.'

Suddenly, he thought of Martha.

He went to see Martha a few days ago without telling Evelyn. Could it be the thing Evelyn was angry about?

Tim somewhat felt uneasy.

"Evelyn, I..."

"Take a look at it first."

Evelyn walked past him and picked up a glass of water.

Tim was nervous, and he hurried to take over the photo that Evelyn showed him, and then he suddenly became gloomy.

He knew Viola in the photo. But who was the woman beside Viola?

Why did she look so familiar?

"Can't you remember her? Didn't you just sponsor her to go to college?"

Evelyn sounded envious, depressing Tim.

"Evelyn, I just wanted to do a good deed."

"Of course you did. Your kindness caused much misery to Nicole."

Evelyn snorted coldly and continued, "Can't you recall her name?"

Tim really didn't remember her name.

"Her name is..."

"FERNANDA!"

When Evelyn said this name out, Tim finally recalled something.

"Yes, you're right. Fernanda. But why was she together with Viola?"

Tim frowned.

"We'll talk about this later."

Tim did not satisfy Evelyn's vanity. Instead, he said, "Evelyn."

"Yes?" Evelyn answered.

"You are pretty."

Tim suddenly turned around and smiled.

Evelyn got lost in Tim's smile.

"You..."

Before she could finish speaking, she felt a pain in the back of her neck and lost consciousness.

Evelyn was still smiling.

Tim then became serious, put Evelyn in the car, and took her to a safe place. He told his man to take good care of her, and then drove back to the slum.

However, Tim looked annoyed.

He followed the address given by Fernanda and walked into the slum.

It was almost the New Year. But this area was still depressed. The unpleasant smell was suppressed by the snow as if a plot was hidden deeply in heart.

Tim had worn a long face.

He arrived at Fernanda's home.

The house could be considered a nice place in the slum.

Tim knocked on the door and could hear Fernanda's voice.

"Come in."

When Tim opened the door and entered, he noticed a strong medicinal smell filling the entire room.

It was no exaggeration to describe the family destitute.

Fernanda was serving a middle-aged woman to take medicine.

The woman was paralyzed.

"Hi. Take a seat please. I'll finish in a moment."

Fernanda blushed when she saw Tim. However, she felt embarrassed after she finished speaking. There was actually no place for Tim to sit.

"Sorry, I..."

"Who is she?"

Tim looked at the old woman. Obviously, the woman seemed depressed. After taking the medicine, she laid down with the help of Fernanda.

Fernanda tucked a blanket around her before turning around to look at Tim.

This man was handsome. Fernanda could feel both her heartbeat and blood flow become fast just by looking at Tim.

Evelyn always said that Fernanda was fond of Tim. Tim never cared. He knew that many women liked him. He once thought that Fernanda was doing this out of gratitude. But now he didn't think so.

If Fernanda wasn't here, Tim might still have some goodwill towards her. But since she was here, Tim went straight to the point.

"Where is my mother?" Tim asked.

Chapter 1116 Recover Without Medicines

Fernanda gave a smile of satisfaction.

She finally did something for Tim.

She thought that if she died, Tim might remember her.

Even if Tim hated her, such an end might be impressed on Tim's memory.

How could Evelyn be compared with a dead person?

Fernanda died for Tim.

Fernanda was in a lot of pain, and blood kept pouring out of the cuts. She could feel that she was dying, but she also felt at ease that she never had felt before.

Now, she didn't have to work day and night for her paralyzed mother or be controlled by someone else. She would be impressed on her beloved man's heart. Would he miss the days with her?

Fernanda smiled and closed her eyes.

Fernanda always knew that for Martha, Fernanda was just someone who worked for her. Fernanda's death wouldn't matter to her.

However, all Fernanda wanted was that Tim would fall in love with her and never forget her.

Seeing Fernanda slowly fell to the ground, Tim felt a little sad.

So what?

He didn't have affection for Fernanda at all, not to mention that Fernanda had conspired with Viola to hurt Nicole.

It was inexcusable to him.

So, it didn't matter if she died for him.

It was her choice.

You could say that Tim was cold or indifferent. Like Martha, He wouldn't get too attached to anyone whom he didn't care about.

If the person who was dying today were Evelyn, Tim would probably kill everyone here to vent his anger.

Knocked over by Fernanda, the mercenary moved much slower.

Then, Tim just ran away.

Everyone was surprised.

Perhaps they didn't expect Tim to escape or be so cold and unmoved when facing Fernanda's death. Anyway, Tim escaped.

Tim got in the car and drove it to the Green's.

He was a mess, but he didn't care.

Because of Tim's arrival, Samuel got up.

"Why are you here?"

His voice was a bit hoarse, and his stubble showed that he was worried and haggard. Seeing his red eyes, Tim felt awful.

"Nicole is not doing okay?"

Tim's voice trembled.

Samuel nodded with a grave face.

"Nicole is blind."

Tim remembered what Fernanda had said, and his hands were shivering.

"She's...."

"Asleep."

Samuel asked someone to serve Tim a glass of water, but Tim refused.

"I'm here to tell you that the one who gave Viola the poison was Fernanda. She worked for my mother Martha."

Neither Nicole nor the others spoke. For a moment, the atmosphere was strained and gloomy.
"Nicole, don't worry. I won't let Viola get away."
Samuel held Nicole's hand tightly.
There was no problem with Nicole's eyes. But Samuel was still worried.

Everyone was floored by the unknown poison.

Nicole didn't care much about the poison. She smiled and said, "I'm hungry."

Samuel and everyone else were stunned by Nicole.

Were they just talking about the poison?

They were confused that Nicole didn't react to the poison.

Samuel loved his wife so much. So, he quickly arranged food for Nicole.

Nicole said, "I want meat."

Seeing that Nicole become more dynamic, Samuel was comforted and smiled softly.

"You just recovered. It's not good to eat too much meat."

"But what if I just want to eat meat?"

Nicole was a little depressed. She pouted. The loving expression and tone between them were just public display of their affection.

Tim coughed and said, "Since Nicole has recovered, I am going to look after Evelyn. Stay in touch."

Then he got up and left.

Evelyn was still unconscious. If she knew Tim knocked her out, how would she react when she woke up?

When Tim thought of Evelyn, he felt warm.

Ashley and Gabrielle also wanted to leave. But they couldn't go home now.

How could they return home without figuring out the poison in Nicole?

The couple was still showing each other affection and ignoring everyone else in the room.

Ashley and Gabrielle coughed and left the room.

When Nicole and Samuel were left in the room, Samuel pulled Nicole over and kissed her.

Samuel kissed Nicole so hard. She almost couldn't breathe.

She knew that Samuel was very worried.

Although she did not know what happened to her body, she was still optimistic.

Now that she didn't die of poison or lost her sight. It was a good result.

Samuel was about to talk about this after meals.

When Samuel let go of Nicole, he was still anxious.

Nicole looked at his haggard face and said softly, "Sorry that I made you worry."

Chapter 1118 It's Not Poisoning

Her pregnancy embarrassed everyone.

Since Samuel had a vasectomy not long ago, it was impossible for Nicole to get pregnant. Absolutely impossible.

Ashley and Gabrielle were somewhat worried about Nicole's health. Having another child might put Nicole in danger. Both her unborn child and her would die. Besides, whether she was pregnant or not should be confirmed by some testing like a B-ultrasound.

But Nicole was very excited.

"Am I really pregnant?"

Her eyes lit up.

Realizing that she had eaten a great amount of food recently and was still vomiting, weren't these symptoms of pregnancy?

Just as Nicole was happy, Blair came.

"Nicole, you were poisoned not long ago. Even if you are really pregnant, you can't keep this child. Besides, you haven't been diagnosed yet. Your health condition recently is quite concerning. Pregnancy now is not good news for you."

Hearing that, Nicole's face immediately blanched, and a trace of worry flashed through Samuel's eyes.

Samuel took a step forward and held Nicole's hand. He said softly, "Nicole, I only care about you."

Nicole felt upset.

She really wanted to give birth to another child for Samuel, but if the child worried everyone, she would give up.

Nicole nodded with a trace of sadness flashing through her eyes.

"Do a B-ultrasound first. Perhaps it's because of the poison."

Ashley couldn't help but feel sad when she saw Nicole.

As a pregnant woman, Gabrielle fully understood Nicole's feelings.

Nicole nodded, but she still had some expectations.

Samuel held Nicole's hand and accompanied her to do B-ultrasound.

The B-ultrasound results showed that she was not pregnant.

It made Nicole disappointed.

Ashley and Gabrielle were a little anxious

Not pregnant!

Most likely, it was an after-effect of the poison.

With that, everyone's face fell.

Nicole was disappointed, but seeing everyone's glum face, she smiled and said, "Don't worry. I am not pregnant? I am fine. Don't be sad."

Samuel couldn't tell how he felt.

The last thing he wanted to see was the current situation. At this moment, he had a feeling of powerlessness and he was unable to calm down.

Ashley and Gabrielle performed another physical examination on Nicole, but they still didn't find the cause.

"Holy shit! What is it?"

Ashley almost vomited.

It looked so disgusted.

Samuel also felt disgusted and his face turned ashen.

Joseph didn't dare to relax and said to Laurence seriously, "Uncle Booth, can you hold on?"

"No problem."

Laurence's face turned pale because the bugs made him sick.

They only heard this before. After seeing it, they were frightened.

Everyone felt scared when thinking that so many bugs were drinking Nicole's blood and absorbing her marrow.

Nicole kept vomiting black blood, as if she was about to spit out her bile.

Samuel's heart ached for her and he didn't dare to leave.

After spitting out some black blood, Nicole stopped. The blood color of her wrist also turned normal.

Joseph hurriedly pressed Nicole's wrist and said to Laurence, "Uncle Booth, that's enough. Stop."

Laurence quickly stanching the flow of the blood.

Meanwhile, Joseph said to Samuel, "Father, set the fire. Lucas, cover the lid."

"Alright."

Lucas kept pace with Samuel. While Samuel ignited the fire, he held the lid and directly buckled the porcelain basin.

The sizzling sound made everyone's heart sank. It heard like that someone was having a barbecue.

Ashley hurriedly went to fetch a medical kit to stanch Nicole's blood.

Joseph's entire back was drenched.

This was his first operation, and the first time for him to see the poisonous bugs which were used as an ancient witchcraft.

About ten minutes later, the sound inside disappeared.

Joseph took a bottle of vinegar and hinted Lucas to open it. As soon as he opened it, Joseph poured the whole bottle of vinegar into it.

With a sizzling sound, white smoke came out from inside.

People looked at the basin but only found the ashes.

However, Joseph still acted seriously and said to Samuel, "Father, the bugs are composed of mother bug and child bug. If the bug in Mother's body is child bug, then the mother bug must be on the person who placed it. If the child bug is dead, the mother bug must bear the side effect. We'd better find the person and clear the bug as soon as we can."

Hearing this, Samuel and Lucas suddenly thought of Viola.

This woman was really crazy.

How could she risk her life only to kill Nicole?

Blair knew Samuel's thought. She nodded and walked

Chapter 1120 I'm in Trouble

"Daddy, what's wrong?"

The two children thought of Nicole at first.

But Samuel just waved his hand and said, "It's fine. Your mommy is awake and wants some food."

"Then this is..."

Joseph was still confused, but he was dragged away by Lucas.

"Let's go. Don't disturb dad to cook."

"Cook?"

Still in Confusion, Joseph was dragged away by Lucas.

Samuel was so happy now.

Nicole woke up, but she said she was hungry. Ashley said it was normal, and it would be better for Nicole to have some light food.

So, Samuel prepared the food by himself.

Since his wife had suffered so much, he had to do something for her.

At this moment, Lucas brought Joseph to Nicole's bedroom.

Seeing Nicole was okay, Lucas' eyes became a little moist.

"Mommy, how do you feel?"

"Much better."

Nicole was extremely weak. Just as she heard Ashley complimenting Joseph, she saw her sons walk in.

She looked at the two children and smiled, "Come here and let Mommy see you."

Having narrowly escaped death, Nicole felt very lucky.

Who would have thought that Joseph saved her, given that Joseph just learned medical skills for a very short time?

Lucas and Joseph came to Nicole's bedside.

Ashley was very observant. Seeing that Nicole wanted to talk to the children, she left the room.

Nicole knew that Lucas must be frightened.

She held Lucas' hand and smiled, "Mommy is alright now. Be good and go back to the Hawk family tomorrow to continue the psychological counseling. When you are worried about Mommy, Mommy are also worried about you. You must have been scared during this period of time. I'm sorry, my baby."

"No, I'm sure Mommy will be fine."

Lucas did not admit that he was worried.

Seeing that her son was still firm about it, Nicole didn't say anything.

She turned to look at Joseph.

As always, Joseph did not say much, and in front of Lucas, Joseph did his best to reduce his sense of existence, but it was because of this that Nicole felt sorrier towards him.
