

Escape Wife 1231

Chapter 1231 I've Prepared It for You

It was no denying that Petty knew the three children very well.

Seeing Petty's actions, Joseph didn't dare to move. He watched helplessly as the dagger stabbed to his chest.

Lucas' eyes turned cold and were filled with anger.

This woman was their aunt not long ago and had brought them joy and warmth. However, she disappeared in their life one day.

They did not know what had happened to Petty. They had thought that she had left for being pregnant, but they had not expected she would return in this way.

Seeing that Petty was threatening his brother and sister, Lucas did not have time to think more. He picked up the pot and threw it at Petty's wrist.

At the same time, Zoe suddenly lowered her head and bit Petty's thigh tightly, not letting go.

She didn't want Joseph to be hurt.

Petty sensed that something was attacking her. She quickly moved to block it, but a felt sharp pain on her thigh.

"Damn it!"

She kicked Zoe out fiercely.

Zoe's hands and feet were tied, so she could move at all. The consequence was unpredictable if she falls on ground like this.

At this juncture, Lucas pushed Joseph out.

"Joseph, catch Zoe."

Joseph used his strength to jump towards where Zoe was going to fall.

He narrowly caught Zoe, but heard the sound of sharp weapons piercing into people's skin. Joseph and Zoe's hearts thumped.

"Lucas!"

Zoe saw that Petty stabbed the dagger into Lucas' chest.

Joseph suddenly lost his voice.

"Lucas!"

He screamed in his mind, tears streaming down his face.

However, Petty fiercely pulled the injured Lucas over.

"If you are so dying for death, let me help you. Since your mommy loves you so terribly, let's make her more terrible."

Petty dragged Lucas outside.

Zoe and Joseph's hands and feet were both tied, so they couldn't break free at all. Even if they broke free, they were useless to Petty.

One pawn was enough for her.

She had planned to use Zoe. But since Lucas was injured now, he became her better choice.

When Samuel woke up, he felt dizzy. He looked at the furnishings of the room and understood what was going on. His face was terrifyingly cold.

The people outside didn't dare to approach this room at all, afraid that Samuel would kill them if he got angry.

Samuel moved his body, opened the door, and was about to go out when he saw Zoe and Joseph walking towards him.

"Daddy."

Joseph's voice wasn't loud, and he didn't even dare to look into Samuel's eyes.

Zoe was much calmer than usual and did not say anything, but she leaned towards him unintentionally.

Samuel glanced behind them and did not see Lucas and Nicole. He asked, "Where are Lucas and your mommy?"

He released the pressure, making Zoe and Joseph feel hard to breathe.

Just as Joseph was about to say something, he heard Zoe say, "Lucas was injured. He was stabbed in the chest by Petty and bled a lot. Mommy took him to the hospital and contacted the doctor and blood bank in the shortest time possible. Mommy asked us to come back to stay with Daddy."

Killing intent surged out of Samuel's chest.

"Where's Petty?"

"Mommy sent her back. She's right behind us."

Samuel took a deep breath. Although he wasn't angry, the gloomy aura made it difficult for people to catch their breath.

"Joseph, bring Zoe to the room."

"Daddy, where are you going?"

Joseph was afraid that Samuel would go out and do something irrational.

Mommy gave him the task of watching Samuel.

Samuel looked at him coldly. Joseph felt a chill run down his spine, but he still stood in front of Samuel stubbornly and blocked him.

"I'll go check on Petty. Don't worry, I won't cause any trouble. Take your sister to her room first."

"Alright."

Joseph saw a trace of seriousness in Samuel's eyes.

He took Zoe back to her room.

Zoe was a little worried. She wanted to follow him, but she was locked by Samuel in her room.

Chapter 1233 Got to Teach Her a Lesson

Zayn was under house arrest when he received the photos.

Major was exposed, so Zayn's influence, to some extent, was deprived. For now, the king put him under house arrest. Zayn didn't know what happened outside, but he knew that they also attacked Sally, his mother. And Morgan, the one Sally trusted the most, also disappeared.

After so many years, now he knew that his mother was still alive. But he still couldn't see her again.

He wanted to get out and find her. Given the current situation, he knew that it would be very unwise to do so.

No!

He must be alive!

At this time, Zayn got a message from Samuel.

No signal could get through his palace, but somehow, Samuel still managed to send him the photos.

But there was something Zayn didn't know about. In the side hall, a woman was lying on a chaise longue and was typing quickly on a laptop while a maid was holding it for her. She intercepted the signals and jammed them.

When Zayn looked at the photos, the woman also received a message from Samuel.

"Send the photos to Zayn and let him send them to Major. Remember, it must be done by Zayn."

She was a pretty woman and also looked languor and noble.

She paused before sending the message to Zayn.

Zayn didn't know any of these. He looked at the photos and pondered for a while and sent them to Major.

Major almost went crazy when he received the photos.

"Samuel! You monster! Petty is your sister, how could you do this to her?"

Major was shivering and smashed everything around him to the ground.

Samuel slowly pulled out the dagger from Petty's chest and said coldly to the man behind him, "Get a doctor and stop her bleeding. Remember, I want a tiny piece of flesh from her heart every day. Use the best medicine to keep her alive. The baby in her belly belongs to the Neo family. My family owes Zac a lot, so the baby must live. "

"Yes."

All Samuel's men knew who Petty was.

She was his sister.

Even so, he did such thing to her without hesitation.

Petty was desperate.

How could she survive the torture?

"Stop crying!"

In fact, Samuel felt bad too. Although he was angry and mad now, he was still worried about Nicole at the sight of her tears.

He sighed and stepped forward to hug her. However, she shook off his hands.

She attempted to throw him over the shoulder, but Samuel was agile and landed safely.

"Nicole!"

Samuel could only shout and look at Nicole worriedly.

Nicole couldn't take a grip on herself.

"Leave me alone! Didn't you hate me for having made the decision by myself and drugged you? Yeah, I'm an emotional woman. I know that you might do better than me for you would be more intimidating and decisive, but I still didn't want you to hurt your family. I would rather do it for you. Yes! I didn't expect Petty to be so crazy and even stab her own nephew. I didn't know that she wanted to kill me! I'm ignorant. I shouldn't have been so presumptuous. I was wrong, okay? You can punish me, blame me or get mad at me, but you don't have the qualifications or the right to deprive me of my right to be a mother!"

Nicole stood up from the ground and dried her tears with her hand. However, she felt more upset and cried even more as she wiped away the tears. In the end, she just let it go and allowed the tears to run down her cheeks.

Samuel knew that his behavior just now had hurt Nicole. To tell the truth, he felt sorry for it.

But he pushed Nicole out of the operating room just because he was afraid that he would lose control of his emotions and hurt her.

Ever since the Golden Bug got into his body, he became irritable and impatient. He didn't know if he could control his temper, but the last thing he wanted in his life was to hurt Nicole.

Was it useful to explain now?

No!

He couldn't deny that he had indeed pulled Nicole out of the operating room rudely just now.

"Nicole, I..."

"Don't come over!"

Nicole roared as she saw that Samuel wanted to approach her.

Her tears were like knives piercing Samuel's heart. He became more fretful and twitchier.

However, he couldn't get angry, because Nicole was very sad now.

He tried hard to restrain his anger, but it didn't work. He felt as if an invisible insect was gnawing at his chest, which caused him pain and got on his nerves.

He clenched his fists tightly and whispered, "I'm going to buy some water. You calm down."

After that, he left without turning back.

Nicole looked at his back and suddenly felt even more grieved.

He just left?

He was still mad at her, wasn't he?

Nicole was sick at heart. She sat on the bench in the corridor and bit her lower lip tightly, feeling very aggrieved.

On cue, she got a call from Tim.

Now Samuel was no longer as fiery and furious as before. Although Nicole knew that he had been rude to her just because he was worried that he would hurt her, she still didn't want to talk to him.

Why did he think that she would forgive him so quickly after being reproved by him?

Nicole reached out to take the water, but she didn't speak to Samuel.

She opened the bottle and took a sip of water. Then she looked in the direction of the operating room in silence, obviously treating Samuel as an invisible man.

Samuel smiled bitterly.

Nicole was sometimes cute and sometimes stubborn. Now she was probably going to give him the silent treatment.

This was good. At the very least, they wouldn't quarrel and cause the Golden Bug in his body to become restless again.

Samuel didn't explain or speak. He was just sitting there quietly and waiting with Nicole.

Nicole thought that he would say something, but she heard nothing after waiting for a long time. She wasn't in the mood to squabble with him, for Lucas was still in the surgery.

When the doctor opened the door of the operating room, Nicole stood up.

"Doctor, how is my son?"

"He is fine. Fortunately, the wound is a bit off his chest. Otherwise, we really don't have any confidence to save his life. He is a little weak now, and he is still asleep because of the anesthesia. He'll recover after a period of rest."

The doctor heaved a sigh of relief.

He didn't know Samuel, but he was intimidated by Samuel's aura. Besides, he recognized those people standing behind Samuel, who were from the Sky Group.

Since the Sky Group was here to protect this man, it indicated that the man must not be an ordinary person. Now that his child was fine, the doctor could finally be relieved.

Samuel had someone bring Lucas back to the headquarters of the Sky Group.

Their identities were sensitive, so it would be inconvenient to leave Lucas in the hospital.

After returning to the headquarters, Nicole discovered that some rooms had been transformed into wards with all kinds of medical instruments. Also, Samuel had asked Lightning to come back as soon as possible.

Nicole didn't know Lightning, so Samuel patiently explained it to her.

"Lightning is an excellent doctor. He is as good as Ashley and Gabrielle. However, he isn't in the country. He travels in poor areas all year round. He doesn't come back except when something big happens. When I learned that Lucas was injured, I already called him. And he had booked a ticket to come back. As long as he arrives, he can definitely save Lucas' life no matter how seriously injured Lucas is. In the headquarters, I only believe Lightning."

Nicole nodded.

When she knew that Samuel went to deal with Petty instead of going to visit Lucas after he woke up, she thought that Samuel didn't care about Lucas at all. Now she found out that she was wrong.

Just as Samuel said, the subordinate he trusted was rushing back. Besides, there were doctors taking care of Lucas, so Samuel went to fix Petty without worry.

However, Nicole still didn't speak to him.

Samuel knew that she was angry, but he didn't explain anything and went to see Lucas.

Lucas was pale, but his breathing was steady. It looked like he was out of danger.

It was good that he was fine.

Zoe and Joseph ran out of the room after learning that Lucas had returned.

"Daddy, Mommy, can we get in to see Lucas?"

Zoe's eyes were filled with worry.

Chapter 1236 A Death Trap Specifically Targeted at Her and Samuel

"What are you most afraid of?"

Nicole knew.

She knew that Samuel was most afraid of hurting her if he lost control, but she also knew that Samuel would not hurt her. Instead, he might hurt himself.

This was Nicole's biggest concern.

Samuel paused when he heard Nicole ask such a childish question.

Nicole came to him before he realized.

"Samuel, don't be afraid. I am with you. Everything's fine."

Nicole held her arms around Samuel without hesitation.

Samuel paused for a second when Nicole hugged him. He was about to push Nicole away before Nicole quickly grabbed his wrist and said in a soft voice, "It's fine. I'm here. As long as I'm here, I won't allow anyone to hurt you, not even those bugs. I'll find a way to get bugs out of your body. Samuel, you can feel me, right? I know you can."

Nicole's voice was soft. It was like an invisible hand softly calming Samuel down.

The golden color around his eyes slowly faded, and he hugged Nicole tightly.

His chest was still in pain, but Samuel felt that he was not alone. He seemed to feel better with Nicole staying around him.

He said in a hoarse voice, "Nicole, it hurts."

At this time, Samuel was like a child who was helpless and grieved. Nicole felt heartbroken when she heard Samuel's words.

"You will be better soon. I am with you, Samuel. We are in this together."

She whispered and felt the head on her shoulders getting heavier. The sound of regular breathing could be heard after a while.

Nicole found that Samuel was asleep.

His brows were furrowed. He might be in pain as he did not sleep quite soundly.

Nicole called someone to lift Samuel onto the bed in the bedroom with her.

Nicole felt very uncomfortable when she saw Samuel's pale face.

She initially thought that the Golden Bug was nothing. They would eventually find a way to get it out of Samuel's body. But now, it seemed that the Golden Bug could threaten Samuel's life at any time.

When Nicole tucked Samuel in, she noticed the gauze on Samuel's wrist.

It was red with blood.

Nicole felt nervous. She cut the gauze off and discovered that the wound inside was like a knife. She seemed to have realized something.

She stared at Samuel for a long time before taking out the medical kit and tying up his wound with the gauze. She then pulled up the sheet for him and walked out.

Nicole took out her phone and called Blair.

Chapter 1237 Whatever My Wife Does is Right

That person quickly went to investigate when he heard Nicole's words. Ysabel was thrilled when she heard this in her room. Ysabel thought to herself, "I am Whitney's younger sister?" Ysabel didn't know if that was true, but she was somewhat excited. She did not know who her parents were or where she came from when she was a kid. She had been in the welfare institution with blue-eyed and white-skinned children since she became sensible. She was always bullied by other people who saw her as an outsider until she met Jarrod.

Nicole even suspected that she was Whitney's younger sister now.

She could be in an awkward situation if she and Whitney were siblings.

She personally stabbed Fill, her brother-in-law!

She even didn't know whether Fill was still alive or not.

Ysabel felt panicked and worried.

Nicole deliberately said those words at Ysabel's door.

Nicole wanted Ysabel to feel worried and a sense of guilty for what she had done to Fill. Perhaps Fill could still be saved if it turned out that Whitney and Ysabel were siblings.

After all, Fill was Samuel's best friend. Samuel felt sad when he saw Fill's life was on the line. Nicole would do everything to ease Samuel's burden.

Nicole then returned to her bedroom and found that Samuel was awake.

He looked at the new gauze on his wrist and frowned. He seemed to be annoyed.

"Are you still in pain?"

Nicole quickly came to him and reached out a hand to touch his forehead.

He was not having a fever.

Nicole felt a little relaxed.

Samuel looked at Nicole and thought about what he looked like not long ago. He whispered, "You lifted me onto the bed alone?"

"I asked help from someone else. How are you feeling now?"

Samuel shook his head.

He did not feel uncomfortable. Instead, he felt refreshed and relaxed.

However, he was confused about how to tell Nicole about his feeling.

Nicole was still a little worried. She whispered, "I'll go find a doctor for you."

She was about to go out as she spoke, but Samuel held her wrist and pulled Nicole into his arms.

Nicole screamed loudly. She then sat on Samuel's lap as he held her waist.

Nicole's face turned red when Samuel held her into his arms all of a sudden.

"What are you doing? Let go of me. Your wound might be enlarged."

"No."

Samuel hugged Nicole tightly and fearlessly and said, "Common doctors would not know what to do with my disease."

"We have to find a treatment. You have no idea how scared I was just now. The Golden Bug in your body is like a time bomb. Who knows when it will explode? It would be safer to take it out."

"How's the result?"

Samuel also had a suspicion about Ysabel, but he didn't think deeply about it. Now that Nicole wanted to investigate this matter. It was very likely that she wanted to do something about it.

Thinking of that his wife wanted to do something, Samuel naturally gave her full support.

His man hurriedly replied, "We took Ysabel's blood sample and compared it with that of Whitney's parents. Ysabel is a child of the Dilles, and Mrs. Dille also said that they had a daughter when Whitney was ten years old. But she was pronounced dead of suffocation just two days after birth. The hospital also has the records of it."

"Suffocation? Two days after birth? Then why would there be Ysabel?"

According to the time, Ysabel was eighteen now, and Whitney died eight or nine years ago. If Ysabel was born when Whitney was ten years old, the identity and age indeed fitted in.

Samuel frowned and thought for a moment before asking, "Who did Ysabel and Whitney look like?"

"Mr. Dille. They are all like their father."

Saying this, his subordinate handed Mr. Dille's photo to Samuel.

Samuel had seen Whitney before, but he was still stunned when he saw the photo.

Whitney was indeed very much like her father, and Ysabel looked very similar to her at first sight, but upon closer inspection, their eyes were a little different.

Ysabel's eyes were like her mother's.

"Are you sure? Since Ysabel was pronounced dead of suffocation, why did he appear in the Pear Garden abroad?"

Then his subordinates sent over the information in their hands.

"Our men have investigated. The doctors and nurses who delivered the baby were bribed, and they told the Dilles that the child had suffocated and died. Because the new-born babies all looked the same, they took a child who had truly suffocated to death as a substitute. At that time, Mr. and Mrs. Dille were overwhelmed with grief and didn't even think about doing any tests. Moreover, no one would have thought that someone in the big hospital would do such a thing. That was why it was over. Mrs. Dille had also been depressed because of this matter for a long time. The whole family did not dare to mention this child in front of her. As time went by, everyone forgot about it and no one mentioned it again."

Samuel listened quietly, but his mind was racing.

"Did the bribed doctors and nurses tell us who was behind this?"

"Yes, but they said they didn't know her. She was an outsider, and she was in the business of human trafficking. She wanted to cooperate with them. At that time, the woman gave them a lot of money, so they were tempted. They wanted to make use of their job to sell some children, but the woman never showed up again."

Samuel frowned slightly on the words.

"A woman?"

"Yes. They said it was a woman in her forties who asked them to do so. She had a foreign accent and indeed looked like a human trafficker. Moreover, that woman said that she was doing foreign business. As long as they gave the child to her, she would have a way to take the child abroad and sell the child. She guaranteed that it would not implicate them, so they took the risk. "

Samuel's eyes turned cold.

It was an unforgivable crime to take advantage of a mother's weakness after giving birth to a child to sell her child. There were actually medical personnel involved in such an unscrupulous business.

Chapter 1239 He Can't Lie Here

Nicole was also affected by this atmosphere and felt extremely depressed.

"Ysabel, your sister's sacrifice is an outcome that no one wants to see, but there's no way to guarantee how abhorrent the terrorists are, is there? Fortunately, your sister died in the right path, and Fill avenged your sister's death. So don't be sad. All you need to think about now is that your parents are still alive, but they don't know of your existence. Eighteen years ago, they thought you were dead. During that time, your mother was in great pain and tried to commit suicide several times. Ten years later, your sister died. To be honest, your mother's mental state has not been very good these past few years. Do you want to go home?"

When Nicole asked this, Ysabel was immediately stunned.

Home?

Did she still have home?

She had always thought that she was an orphan. She thought that she was abandoned by her family because she was a girl, or that she was illegitimate and disgraceful. But she did not expect that she was trafficked by human traffickers.

Her parents had given and endured so much for this.

She could have a perfect family.

Now her sister was a martyr and a hero, but what about her?

What did she do?

She was a killer, and the first one she assassinated was her brother-in-law!

And she even slept with her brother-in-law.

Although it was against her will, but it came true after all.

Ysabel's heart was filled with mixed emotions, and she was at a loss.

Suddenly, she thought of something and raised her head to ask, "Where's Jarrod? Did you catch him?"

"Not yet. There's something about Jarrod that we are not clear yet."

Nicole was also a little depressed at this point.

Jarrod had protected himself so well that all their men in the alliance were unable to find him.

Ysabel's expression darkened.

She shook her head and said, "I don't know how much Jarrod know about me being Whitney's younger sister. But since he was able to bring me back at the first time back then, and he has even sent me to Fill now, he might know my identity. Since you can all find out what happened, he might have found out long ago. What I'm afraid of now is that my parents will be held hostage by him."

"Don't worry about that. Our men have been protecting your parents. It's impossible for anyone to touch your parents."

Hearing Nicole's words, Ysabel asked doubtfully, "Are you that powerful? Don't underestimate Jarrod's subordinates just because I'm not good enough. His subordinates are really talented. I was an accident. In the past, I thought that Jarrod would tolerate my ignorance because he was interested in me, but now I know that it was simply because he wanted to use my beauty. "

Ysabel smiled bitterly, her eyes filled with bitterness.

After all, it didn't feel good to be fooled and used by the man she loved the most.

Nicole patted her shoulder and whispered, "It's not about how strong we are. We told the local government about this and reported it to the military compound. Your sister is a martyr. The higher-ups have the responsibility to protect your parents' safety, so you can rest assured that no one dares to hurt your parents in the military compound. I want to ask you something. Do you want to go home? If you want, I will tell your parents through my connections that you still exist in the world so that you can go back and reunite with them. Of course, we have to settle the matter that you have stabbed Fill here first."

Ysabel was stunned. Before she could say anything, Fill suddenly turned around. The exasperation in his eyes frightened her. She trembled and even wanted to escape.

To Ysabel's surprise, right at this moment, Fill hugged her tightly and even cried.

"Whitney, is that you? It's you, right? I knew you wouldn't mercilessly leave me alone to face this cruel world. Don't go, Whitney. Stay with me, okay?"

Ysabel had witnessed Fill's fury and ruthlessness. She didn't expect to see Fill crying one day.

A man like him cried!

What kind of affection prevented him from getting over her sister's death after eight years?

If Jarrod could treat her like Fill, she would do anything for him. Unfortunately, Jarrod did not love her at all.

Ysabel's eyes also slightly reddened.

She gently patted Fill's shoulder and sighed.

She didn't want to explain anything at this time. That would only upset Fill. He'd better stay in the sweet dream.

Fill cried like a child.

He finally held Whitney, which he failed at each midnight when he missed her so much.

For him, Whitney was alive again. He could feel and touch her.

He hated to think how it could possibly happen. At this moment, he only wanted to believe it was true.

"Whitney, I miss you so much. I really miss you. Do you know? Without you, this world is cold to me. How can you leave me alone in this cruel world? You have said that you would watch the sunset and come home with me. You said I didn't need to care about my parents because I had you. But where have you been for so many years? Whitney, you are the only sunshine in my life. I will always remember the girl who came to me in the sunshine. You redeemed me, encouraged me to be enlisted, and showed me a life I never imagined possible. But I didn't expect you'd pass away one day for that. If I had known this was going to happen, I would never have allowed you to be a soldier."

"Whitney, did you think of me when you was about to die? You thought about me, didn't you? You knew that your death would kill me, so why did you do that? Whitney, you sacrificed your life for others. You valued your love, your loyalty, and your faith more than me. I should hate you, but I can't. I miss you. I miss you so much. Can you take away my deep love for you? "

As Fill confided in her, Ysabel kept sobbing.

She knew everything about Fill and her sister Whitney.

Fill once told her.

Fill used to be a rebellious child who ran away from home because of a quarrel with his parents.

He was so stubborn that he wouldn't return home. When he had no money, he joined a gang. However, he got severely injured in a fight and almost died.

After losing so much blood, Fill thought that he would die.

He was only sixteen years old. He was not willing to die young.

"Are you alright?"

Fill would never forget that scene. The girl came in the sunshine and extended her hand to him.
