

Escape Wife 1261

Chapter 1261 Go to Hell

"Samuel!"

"Zoe!"

Nicole and Joseph thought of one person, but hundreds of shots rang out. They couldn't make a move.

"Joseph, listen to me. You can't go out now."

Tears filled with Nicole's eyes, but her expression was firm.

"Mommy, Zoe doesn't know anything. She even cannot protect herself. Although we have been trained, Zoe is special. Lucas found someone to help Zoe pass the exam. Mommy, she and Daddy will definitely be targeted. I must save her!"

Joseph tried to free himself from Nicole, but he was grabbed.

"Listen. First, Zoe is Samuel's daughter. He will protect her with all his might. Second, you are Vincent's only child. Even if Zoe and Lucas are in danger, it is not your duty to save them. Joseph, do you understand that your life is more precious than theirs?"

Joseph stunned.

"Mommy, what are you talking about?"

"I said that you are a member of the Green family and the only son of Vincent. The biggest regret of Samuel is that he didn't successfully save your father. This is his greatest regret and cannot be forgot. So anyone can be in danger, except you. When you, Zoe and Lucas are in danger at the same time, they will choose to protect you first. You are not just a guest. You are also a family member. We are your family. I won't let you take risks because of Zoe. So, listen to me from now on!"

Nicole's tears fell.

She was also worried and anxious. She didn't know if Samuel and Zoe were safe. They weren't far away, but she didn't hear voices. What was going on?

Either they didn't have time to say anything, or something happened to them. No matter what kind of situation it was, Nicole couldn't accept.

But Joseph was still here. She couldn't let Joseph be in danger.

Joseph was shocked. Something had suddenly exploded in his heart. He felt pain.

"Sorry, Mommy. I shouldn't have said that. It's all my fault. I see Zoe and Lucas as my brother and sister. I can't let them sacrifice anything for me. Mommy, you said that we are a family, so everyone is equal, right? Please let me out. Zoe is not in a good health. She will be afraid!"

Joseph cried uncontrollably.

He didn't want protection!

Joseph would rather die than see them die for him.

At this moment, he finally understood what family was.

Vincent and Riley were his parents, but they only gave him life. Samuel and Nicole taught him how to be a man. Lucas told him what family was meant. And Zoe, Zoe needed Joseph.

They were all his family!

He shouldn't hang on to the past.

When Samuel saw Nicole, three mercenaries were attacking her. And soon, Samuel pierced them dead.
"Samuel, why are you here? Where's Zoe?"
Seeing Samuel coming over, Nicole was very worried about Zoe and hurriedly asked.
She was out of breath and getting worse physically.

Samuel looked at her worriedly. After kicking the last mercenaries away, he pulled Nicole into his arms and whispered, "Emory's men get here to help us, so I come to check on you."

"Who taught Zoe how to shoot? She is so adept."

Nicole's still somewhat shocked.

She vaguely remembered that the ablest child was Lucas. She did not expect that Zoe could shoot so well. She was concealing her talent in the shooting.

Samuel touched her head softly and said, "When we went for the special training, Lucas was worried about her health. He asked the instructor not to be strict with Zoe. The instructor used to be a soldier under me. He thought that Zoe had to defend herself in case anything happened, and he discovered Zoe's talent in the shooting. He asked me for advice then, and I agreed. After all, as a Green, Zoe cannot be too weak. Too many incidents may happen, and we can't save her at the first possible moment. And she needs the most basic defensive techniques."

"I don't know anything about this."

Hearing Samuel's explanation, Nicole heaved a sigh of relief. But she still worriedly said, "How can Zoe withstand the recoil of the sniper rifle?"

"The sniper rifle was modified. And the recoil can't hurt her. That sniper rifle was specific to her and was brought in her luggage. Besides, when she was in the Cawker's, Nash probably taught her some self-defense tactics. Don't be deceived by your daughter's angelic face. This is her disguise and her secret skill."

As Samuel spoke, he picked up Nicole.

"Alright, don't worry about Zoe. You're really getting weaker. Just a small fight and you are panting now. You have to go jogging with me tomorrow morning after you get up."

Nicole did not reply.

"Joseph is in the kitchen. Let's go back and pick him up."

"Wait, I have to deal with them."

Samuel did not want Nicole to help him, so he put her on a rock to rest.

Nicole was still a little worried then. Soon, she was a little dizzy by Samuel's kisses.

After Juliana and the others dealt with the mercenaries, they saw Zoe wiping her sniper rifle with a serious expression and went shocked.

"Miss Zoe, you are the one that took the shot?"

"Yes, what's wrong?"

Hearing Zoe's answer, Juliana immediately swallowed her greetings.

Juliana knew Zoe was not the one to mess up with.

"Nothing."

Juliana hurriedly smiled at Zoe, feeling extremely depressed.

"Your men need more practice. They are so slow. What if something happens to me and Mom? It would be such a pity if beautiful ladies like us were killed by them. Oh, right, I'm hungry. I wanna eat things that can fly. Go get me some."

After saying that, Zoe put away the sniper rifle and went for Joseph.

Juliana was a little devastated.

"When will she leave?"

"Miss Juliana, she seems to have just come here."

A man plucked up the courage and answered Juliana, but Juliana rolled her eyes at him.

"Miss Zoe, I have something to do. So, I can't go there."

As soon as she finished speaking, Juliana noticed someone shooting a cold glance at her and her whole body trembled.

Joseph suddenly turned around and said coldly, "Even if the whole world falls apart, I should examine you first. Otherwise, my sister will feel bad all day."

These words caused the corner of Juliana's mouth to twitch.

Joseph cared so much about Zoe.

Juliana didn't dare to cross either of them.

"I..."

"Hurry up!"

With that, Joseph turned around and left.

Zoe looked at Juliana with a bright smile, but it gave Juliana chills.

"Good heavens! Well, I'll go."

Juliana handed the phone to one of her subordinates and whispered, "Hurry back. Take care of things there. I'll be right back."

"OK."

Juliana followed Zoe into the room, and Joseph let her lie on the bed.

He examined Juliana and then said indifferently, "The wound is superficial. It isn't life-threatening. Apply this medicine to it three times a day. It will cure in three days."

After saying that, Joseph threw a medicine bottle to Juliana, and then turned around to look gently at Zoe.

"Zoe, are you tired? Go have some rest. You'd better not go with me. Stay at home with mom."

"No. I don't think mom is at home. I'll go change. Joseph, wait for me."

Zoe turned around and ran away.

Juliana heaved a sigh of relief.

She had a lot of pressure when with Zoe.

However, Joseph said disdainfully, "You seem unfriendly to my sister."

"No, no. Miss Zoe is so cute. How can I not like her?"

Juliana replied with a bright smile.

But Joseph said coldly, "Psychologically speaking, when a person lies, he will automatically take some small acts to conceal his true thought. You just plucked at your shirt."

As soon as he finished speaking, Juliana's smile faded.

How clever the Greens were!

Lucas had been a sniper at five years old. And the boy in front of her seemed to be young too, but he actually knew psychology!

It blew Juliana's mind.

"OK, you can leave now. I need to change my clothes."

Obviously, he was driving her away.

"Zoe!"

Nicole hurriedly carried Zoe and rolled on the ground.

She looked towards Samuel and found nothing happened to him. They were still saying something in front of Vincent's grave. Nicole frowned slightly.

She didn't want to disturb Samuel, but there were obviously snipers here.

Zoe was protected in Nicole's arms and whispered, "Mommy, I can feel that the snipers are hiding high on the left."

"Yes."

Nicole nodded slightly but did not say anything.

Even if she knew where the snipers were, she did not carry a gun with her, and Zoe did not bring anything out. They were sitting ducks if they went out.

Seeing that Nicole didn't say anything else, Zoe couldn't help but feel a little anxious.

"Mommy, did you hear me?"

"Yes, honey, but we don't have any weapons right now. It's not wise to leave. Also, the first task is to inform your Daddy to be alert."

Hearing what Nicole said, Zoe frowned.

They were a little distance away from Samuel, and they didn't know what was going on with him.

Zoe took out her phone and was just about to call Samuel when a bullet directly shattered her phone.

Only at that moment did Nicole understand that the snipers did not kill them, but stop them from moving.

So, what were their goals?

Nicole looked towards Samuel.

Samuel and Joseph were speaking in front of Vincent's grave. But suddenly, they felt danger approaching.

Joseph wanted to turn around, but Samuel held his hand and pulled him behind himself to protect him.

"Mr. Green is quick-witted."

A mocking voice came from behind him. The voice was very unfamiliar, but it sounded very young.

Samuel turned his head slightly and looked at the person in front. His eyes narrowed slightly.

"It's you?"

"You know me?"

"But I want to taste the food cooked by my brother-in-law. I came all the way here. You won't just shut me out, will you?"

Jarrold said with complete confidence.

Samuel glanced at him and said indifferently, "Why won't I? We don't welcome outsiders."

"Outsider? Samuel, you know I am your..."

"Samuel!"

Nicole ran over and looked at Jarrod on full alert.

"Who are you?" Nicole asked.

Zoe did not say anything, stood beside Joseph and curiously observed Jarrod.

"I am..."

"He's a cleaner and comes here to clean the tombstone."

Before Jarrod could finish speaking, he was interrupted by Samuel. He felt shocked that Samuel called him a cleaner.

'Me?'

'Did he just say that I was here to clean the tombstone?'

'Are you crazy, Samuel?' Jarrod thought.

Jarrold glared at Samuel angrily but said nothing. He felt upset.

Nicole was stunned. She knew that Jarrod had no malice towards Samuel. So she became relaxed.

"Do you ask him to come here?"

"Yes, I asked him to come over and clean up Vincent's tombstone."

After explaining to Nicole, Samuel signaled to Jarrod.

Jarrold was depressed.

He was not here to clean the tombstone!

Jarrold was angry at Samuel.

However, Samuel didn't want to talk to Jarrod and left with Nicole and the children.

Jarrood was stunned when he saw Samuel and his family. He suddenly felt envious of Samuel.

"Mr. Jarrod, do we need to follow him?"

A man walked out of the darkness and asked Jarrod in a low voice.

Jarrood put on a cold face immediately and became serious. He did look like Samuel at this moment.

Chapter 1266 Can You Be Serious?

Seeing the light in Nicole's eyes, Samuel didn't feel sad anymore.

What he wanted was actually very simple. He just wanted to live an ordinary life with his beloved.

"We go wherever you want!"

Zoe got goose bumps all over behind them.

"Joseph, I don't think we should be here."

Joseph coughed.

Joseph hurriedly lowered his head. But he felt good, with a faint smile on his face.

Nicole was teased by her daughter and was a little shy.

She gave Samuel a gentle push and said, "Can't you just be serious?"

"I say exactly what I think."

Zoe pretended to retch, making Samuel squint at her.

"Are you feeling sick?"

Zoe replied immediately, "Yes. I might be a little carsick. Joseph and I should go to the car behind us. By the way, Mommy, I want to go to Médoc. You promised me!"

After saying that, she ignored Nicole and Samuel, and got off the car with Joseph. Then, she naughtily turned around and stuck out her tongue at Samuel with a grimace.

Joseph chuckled.

Only Zoe dared to treat Samuel like this.

The two quickly went to the car behind.

"Look at you," Nicole said sullenly. "What are you saying in front of the children?"

"It's time for them to grow up. They should be smart enough to leave when Daddy and Mommy are together. They really need some training."

Samuel's shameless words left Nicole speechless.

"Stop messing around. Hurry up. Didn't you hear your daughter say that she wants to go to Médoc?"

"She just wants to eat something delicious! There are so many fresh fruits on the way to Médoc in this season."

Samuel knew his daughter too well.

When Nicole thought of Zoe as a foodie, she laughed and said, "I think she is cuter when she eats."

"As long as you feel good about it. That girl also likes to be a foodie."

Samuel couldn't help but laugh when she thought of Zoe as a foodie.

The car started. Samuel worried that Nicole would be tired, so he directly put her seat flat.

"Lie down for a while. There's still a long way to go."

"Is it OK for us to leave the Harper Town now?"

Nicole felt that Samuel had come to the Harper Town to do something. Today they came to visit Vincent's grave. But he decided to go directly to Médoc just because Zoe wanted to. Wasn't it a bit of a joke?

However, Samuel smiled and said, "We came here just for fun. Now that Zoe wants to go to Médoc, let's just go on a journey without a plan. Besides, we were attacked as soon as we arrived at the Harper Town, and no one knows what else will happen after. Then why should we stay here waiting for them to attack us again? Why don't we step out of norm and do whatever we want? Maybe we can find a chance to hit back?"

Nicole immediately understood.

Apparently, Nicole also noticed that.

"Samuel, they might be in danger if they get off the car. We..."

"Don't worry! Zoe and Lucas are allergic to mango. Have you forgotten?"

Nicole was stunned by what Samuel said.

She had been worried about the safety of the children and didn't even see what kind of fruit had being sold. Now Samuel's words reminded her. She looked at Samuel in surprise and asked, "Are you saying that Zoe did it on purpose?"

"Zoe is a smart girl. Let's wait and see. I'll send someone to protect them."

Samuel smiled faintly. His face beamed with pride.

Nicole's heart skipped a beat.

"Isn't Zoe too bold? Samuel, don't pamper her behind my back. Look at her. She clearly knows that there is danger, but she still rushes forward. If we are not by her side..."

"You're overthinking it. If we weren't around, Zoe wouldn't have acted like this. Calm down, sweetheart."

Samuel stroked Nicole's head as if he was grooming a pet. Nicole didn't know what to say.

Joseph finally remembered something after getting off the car.

"Zoe, aren't you and Lucas allergic to mango? Why..."

"I want to buy some for Mommy. Mommy likes mango. The fruit here are ripe and more delicious than the medium ripe ones we bought in the Seapolis City, right? Mommy doesn't eat mango much now because of us."

Zoe's words made Joseph feel a little abashed.

He really didn't notice that Nicole hadn't eaten mango for a long time.

Zoe was really observant.

"Then let me pick, in case you become allergic again."

Joseph volunteered.

"Alright."

Zoe did not refuse.

The two of them came up to the peddler. The peddler was slightly astonished at their good-looking faces. He smiled and asked them, "Would you like some fruit? Where are your parents?"

"Can't you see our parents in the car behind us? We just come to buy some fruit. There's no need to ask our parents to come. Uncle, don't you look down on children?"

Zoe blinked her big eyes. Her sweet and soft voice made people feel very comfortable. Even if she had said that, it would not have made anyone angry.

"How could that be? What would you like?"

"Mangoes, those big ones. I want three. Are they Royal mangoes?"

Zoe pointed at the mangoes and asked seriously.

The peddler paused for a second. Then, he smiled and answered, "These are not Royal mangos. They are Australia mangoes. They are also delicious. You can have a taste. If they are not yummy, I'll give them to you for free."

The peddler was about to peel a mango but stopped by Joseph.

"Don't. My sister is allergic to mango."

"Hi, Daddy!"

It was Lucas calling. Both Zoe and Joseph missed him.

"Lucas! Lucas! How are you? Do you feel better?"

Zoe jumped onto Samuel's car, grabbed Samuel's phone and asked.

Seeing that Zoe was energetic, Lucas smiled and answered, "Much better. Mommy asked Auntie Ashley to provide me with better treatment. Auntie Ashley said that I had the surgery and I won't get any scar. Don't worry. No one can tell that I was once injured."

Hearing Lucas' words, Zoe felt relieved.

"Lucas, I miss you."

Zoe's lips compressed into a thin line. She looked at Lucas's pale face and said.

Lucas was surprised that Zoe suddenly got upset. But then he smiled and said, "I miss you too. You didn't stay with me and left me here alone. You are so unloving."

"That's not true. I have something to do. I left because I had to."

Zoe explained with grievance.

Lucas laughed after hearing Zoe's answer.

"Fine. You have no choice. I don't blame you. Is it fun over there?"

"It's fun. There is delicious food. I bought three big mangoes for Mommy just now. It only cost five! Isn't it cheap? Also, I bought a pitaya. It's also very cheap. Lucas, wait for me. I'll bring you delicious food when I get back."

Hearing Zoe's words, Lucas smiled.

"Alright, I'll wait."

"By the way, Lucas, does Yasmeen stay with you? I think I saw her."

Zoe's question instantly made Lucas's face darkened.

"I just want to talk about this. Daddy and Mommy, can you give Uncle Steven a call to tell Yasmeen to leave this place? She is bothering me!"

Lucas seldom asked Nicole and Samuel so seriously. But now, he was annoyed and angry. Lucas's reaction surprised Nicole.

"What happened between you and Yasmeen? Did you argue with her?"

"Mommy, do you think I can solve problems by quarreling with her? I've never seen such a shameless girl. And she doesn't act like a girl. She is a girl but behaves like a rough man."

Lucas frowned.

What did he

Silver Fox and I guessed that the military probably had no idea either. Perhaps only Lindo knew and he wanted to take it for himself or destroy it. So he used something special to create the so-called plague and massacre. But it's only our speculation. Silver Fox said that Lindo might hate Mr. Morty's auntie according to his attitude towards her. But he didn't want to murder so many people only because of Mr. Morty's

Chapter 1269 What Was She Doing Here?

Nicole was excited.

Samuel took a look and paused when he saw that it was Sally.

"She sent a message. Maybe she knows where Nicole's second uncle is?"

"That's what I think."

Nicole read Sally's message.

"Nicole, Nicole's second uncle is with Aaron."

Samuel and Nicole were stunned by this short sentence. ,

Aaron?

Samuel was even more surprised.

Not long ago, he had seen Jarrod. If he had known that, he would have asked Jarrod about it.

No wonder Jarrod told him not to interfere. So he knew about this, didn't he?

Samuel's expression became a little ugly.

Nicole frowned tightly.

"Where is Aaron?"

She muttered to herself in a depressed voice.

Samuel looked at her and hesitated for a moment, "I don't know where Aaron is, but his son Jarrod should be here."

"What?"

Nicole looked at Samuel in surprise.

Samuel sighed and said, "The man in front of Vincent's tombstone is Jarrod."

"Who?"

Although Nicole guessed that man's identity was not ordinary, she didn't expect him to be Samuel's half-brother. She was really surprised.

Samuel smiled bitterly and said, "I didn't mean to hide it from you. I just think it is unnecessary for you to know. He meant no harm. He just advised me to stay out of Emory's business, but I rejected him."

"What? He advised you that? Is Emory's thing related to him?"

"Maybe. I feel that Aaron can't get away from what happened back then."

"What?"

looked at Samuel and asked. When he thought something was wrong, it was often the key to a closed place. For thousands of years, they had intermarried with people from the town. Aaron is an outsider. How did he enter there? He explained that he was hiding in the back mountain, but you also knew that to get to the back mountain, one needs to pass through the front of the town or even the ancestral hall. Do you think it's possible to bring an outsider in secretly? Even if Zama was the young master, she wouldn't be able to hide this for long. But not

"Daddy, what's wrong?"

Zoe also felt that something was wrong, but she was not so experienced anyway.

Nicole quickly hugged Joseph and whispered, "There's an ambush."

She was still a little weak, but she could sense danger.

Samuel looked at Nicole worriedly and whispered, "Don't go in. Stay outside with Joseph. I'll go in and have a look."

"Daddy, what about me?"

Zoe wanted to cover Samuel. Her strength was shooting. If she found a highland to hide herself, she could help Samuel a lot.

Samuel knew her meaning and smiled while rubbed her head. "Your mission is to be with Mommy. We will have a great meal later."

"Daddy, I..."

"Good girl, stay here."

Samuel interrupted Zoe, and then he got off the car with some bodyguards.

Nicole felt that this car was a target. If someone really ambushed them, they might be surrounded now.

"Joseph, Zoe, we need to get off."

Nicole couldn't just sit here and wait to die.

Zoe immediately said, "I have flash bombs and tear bombs. When I left, I asked Juliana for two just in case."

Hearing Zoe's words, Joseph paused for a moment and then said, "Give me."

"Joseph, I can do it."

"Give them to me!"

Joseph was extremely serious.

How could he let Zoe do such a dangerous thing?

Zoe looked at Nicole sadly. Nicole nodded. Then Zoe reluctantly handed them over to Joseph and whispered, "I'm going to try them. I've never used them before."

"You are not allowed to use them."

Joseph said seriously, then after Nicole and Zoe were ready, he threw them out.

In an instant, the strong light made it hard for people to open their eyes.

Nicole took advantage of this opportunity to grab Zoe and Joseph and run out of the car. She rolled on the ground and hid them behind the monument of the Bryan Town.

At the same time, Joseph threw out the tear bomb.

People were coughing.

Nicole took out a gun from her waist and shot at the coughing sound.

Without a weapon, Joseph took out a slingshot from his pocket, picked up the small pebbles on the ground and shot.

Zoe watched them fight and she wanted to join. Unfortunately, her gun was in the car, and this place was not suitable for sniping.

She had no choice but to pretend to be a weak young lady in need of protection.

"Zoe, follow me closely. Don't run away, okay?"
