Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 1311 I'll Listen to You

The most dangerous place might be the safest one. People wouldn't know that Amelia trapped Jayden in the Bryan Town.

Samuel was also a little surprised about it, but he immediately returned to normal.

Jarrold carried Amelia out. Nicole and Samuel also got out of the car.

"He's here."

Amelia pointed at a position, and Jarrold carried her over.

Samuel and Nicole followed them closely.

Amelia was still a little weak. She looked serious.

She didn't want Jayden to die easily. So her feelings were mixed at this time. But her face suddenly turned gloomy when she moved forward.

"Oh, no."

"What's wrong?"

Jarrold heard that Amelia's voice paused suddenly.

Nicole and Samuel walked over soon.

There was blood everywhere. It was like a murder scene. The smell of blood filled this place. Some blood had not dried up yet, and there were pieces of clothes on the ground. It seemed that the clothes were scratched by some living things. But they couldn't find Jayden.

"How could this be? Where is he? Where is Jayden?"

Amelia became mad suddenly.

She pushed Jarrold away crazily and searched for Jayden everywhere. But she couldn't find any trace of him.

"Amelia, Amelia."

Jarrold was worried about Amelia. He immediately followed her.

Samuel took out a small bottle from his pocket and used a cotton stick to collect the blood that hadn't dried up.

From this, Nicole had guessed something. Looking at Amelia's angry face, Nicole asked in bewilderment, "Has Jayden escaped?"

"Probably."

No one wanted it to happen. So they couldn't blame anyone. After all, it was well-known that Jayden was cunning and hard to deal with.

Nicole wondered, "Doesn't Amelia know formations? How could Jayden escape under this circumstance?"

Samuel's eyes flicked as he whispered, "I think that besides Amelia, Jayden might have another person who knows formations and that guy saved him. Moreover, Amelia was pregnant when she made the formation. So her bad physical condition might have an impact on this formation."

Nicole began to understand after hearing his explanation.

"It hurts, doesn't it? Do you know how I felt when I thought that something happened to you?"

Though saying this, Nicole picked up Zoe.

Zoe threw her arms around Nicole's neck and said with a smile, "Mommy loves me the most, and I love Mommy the most."

"Why are you so honey-lipped now?"

Nicole couldn't help but laugh.

Zoe continued to act cute, which successfully subsided Nicole's anger.

Amelia was arranged to stay in a separate tent, and Jarrod was with her. Samuel and Emory went aside to talk about what had happened the past few days.

After learning about the whole thing, Emory frowned and said in a low voice, "So Aaron is in fact Jayden? This is interesting."

"What do you mean?"

Emory sneered and said, "If he is not from Country F, we can see him as a terrorist and deal with the matter ourselves. However, if he is from Country F, there are too many things involved. It might even affect diplomacy. I need to inform Mark about this. He should be in Country F now."

"Mark is in Country F?"

Samuel was surprised.

He thought that no one knew where Mark went for mission, but now he suddenly heard from Emory about Mark's whereabouts. This suggested that Mark and Emory had been in touch.

Samuel suddenly realized something.

"We still have to hide the military operation from Nicole and Jarrod, right?"

Samuel knew the rules. However, Mark was Nicole's uncle, and Nicole had always been worried about Mark. Now that he got Mark's news, Samuel wanted to tell Nicole if it was possible.

Emory said somewhat awkwardly, "You know the rules."

"Alright."

Samuel nodded and said nothing.

"Jarrod is not a member of the military, so it's inconvenient to let him stay. How about sending them back to the Seapolis City. And I'll get someone to protect them. Is that OK?" Emory said.

"No need. Jarrod has his own ideas. They won't stay here for long."

Chapter 1313 Why Should You Give Me an Explanation?

As night fell, news came from Emory. The higher-ups agreed to let Jarrod and Amelia stay here. However, for the sake of the confidentiality of the operation, Jarrod had to participate in all future actions and work together with Emory and Samuel.

Jarrod didn't care about such a request.

Samuel called Fill.

Fill was gaining weight. He was given a free hand to handle Sky Group's affairs. When he got the news that Samuel wanted him to protect these three children, he sent a helicopter to take Joseph and Zoe away without a word.

Although Joseph and Zoe insisted to stay, they were objected by Nicole and Samuel. Nicole and Samuel told them to stay at home and be well-behaved.

When Fill met Jarrod, he was especially hostile and even wanted to strike a blow, but was stopped by Samuel.

"He didn't mean to hurt you. I know that it made you feel sad. We have lost several men. And I will give you an explanation."

"You give me an explanation? Boss, why should you give me an explanation?"

Fill was confused.

Samuel had to tell Fill his relationship with Jarrod.

Jarrod did not want Samuel to stand up for him. He came to Fill and said indifferently, "When this matter is over, we then tackle our personal affairs. Shall we?"

Actually, Fill had always admired Jarrod. They were both people in gray area. It was Samuel that supported him to today's position. Although his own efforts played an indispensable role, he was clear that he could not be able to make such a success if he fought alone like Jarrod.

"Just as what you said, we'll settle our personal affairs after dealing this matter. Therefore, you'd better stay alive until then."

This matter was quite important. It had lasted for more than 30 years. Although it looked that nothing was going on now, he knew that a fierce storm was gathering in the dark.

"Of course."

Jarrood nodded and walked away.

Samuel knew Fill very well. Although Fill belonged to the Sky Group, he also used to be a soldier. He knew the big picture.

He patted Fill and whispered, "Prepare everyone in the Sky Group. There's a war we are about to fight."

Fill had nothing more to worry about. Right now, the Sky Group served for the country, so it had to obey all commands by the country. The only one he worried about was Phoenix.

"I think Phoenix should stay away from this mess. No matter what, she's a princess of Country F. It's better to not get her father involved."

Fill didn't mean that Inez Freeman, Country F's fifth princess would betray him. But she was in an awkward situation. After all, she had to think differently in kinship and national conditions.

Samuel frowned and then nodded.

"Alright, let Silver manage to notify Phoenix to stay away from this matter. If possible, send her away."

Fill said he understood.

"Take good care of yourself. You've only rested for a few days yet you are thinking about going out now? Do you really think you're Iron Man?"

Nicole hurriedly refused and used Evelyn's health as an excuse.

Evelyn smiled and said, "I'm fine. I've recovered."

"I don't believe you."

Evelyn felt that there must be a reason for Nicole's strong opposition.

"What's wrong? Am I inconvenient for you?"

"Haven't you known it? Take a good rest in the Seapolis City. There will be plenty of time and opportunities for you to go out. Don't be stupid now."

Nicole had no choice but to say so, afraid that Evelyn would ask about something else.

"Alright, I listen to you, okay?"

Evelyn couldn't say anything against Nicole's advice.

Tim came in with the soup. Seeing them chatting happily, he said with a smile, "When will Nicole be back? Bring something delicious for Evelyn."

"Got it."

Nicole felt relieved to see that Tim was not in a bad mood. She thought that Ballard's death would grieve him. Fortunately, Evelyn was with him.

"Tim, can I talk to you alone for a moment?"

Nicole blinked at Tim.

Tim looked at Evelyn. Evelyn smiled and said, "Just go. How can I be afraid that you'd do something behind my back? Why are you looking at me like that?"

Nicole coughed.

She was a little embarrassed.

Tim took the phone with a grin and walked out of the room.

After getting out of Evelyn's sight, Tim stopped grinning. He looked at Nicole and whispered, "Is something wrong?"

"Everything is fine. Don't be worried all day long."

Nicole's heart skipped a beat, but her face appeared calm.

Tim was Nicole's cousin.

"Who is it?"

Samuel hid Nicole behind him, and his eyes were immediately filled with coldness.

Nicole also held tight the AK47 on full alert.

"It's me."

When Jarrod walked out, Nicole and Samuel were slightly surprised, then they felt a little embarrassed.

"Jarrod? Why are you here?"

Samuel quickly reacted, and Nicole also put down her gun.

Seeing them panting, Jarrod remembered that he couldn't do what he wanted with Amelia. He said, "You are quite at ease. You actually want to do it outside?"

Nicole's face instantly turned red.

"No, we didn't."

She pinched Samuel's back with embarrassment. Samuel felt the pain, but he didn't dare to say anything.

"Jarrod, what are you doing here?"

Samuel could only change the topic.

Jarrod stopped teasing them. He looked around and said, "I came out to check the terrain nearby. Amelia is in bed, so I'm her eyes now. If I knew that I would disturb you, I should call you first."

"Stop. My wife is shy."

As Jarrod began to tease them again, Samuel interrupted him.

He knew that if he didn't stop him, Jarrod would continue.

Nicole was so embarrassed and she really wanted to escape.

Jarrod smiled and said, "Alright, she's shy."

Hearing his words, Nicole felt even more embarrassed.

"Jarrod, we are sketching here. Don't get us wrong. Look, I just finished it."

Nicole hurried to explain and handed the painting to Jarrod.

Emory was slightly surprised.

"I think she died."

He didn't hear about that Lillian was still alive. In fact, Zayn executed Lillian to vent his anger. Everyone knew about that. Was there any hidden truth?

Emory looked at Samuel in confusion.

Hearing Emory's words, Samuel felt relieved.

"I don't know. I just wonder that if the king cares so much about Lillian, he would definitely not let her die. So I asked."

Emory smiled and said, "Zayn had the upper hand at that time, and he did it in a blink of eye. Even Major couldn't react, let alone the king. And I heard that king wasn't in the country at that time, so Lillian was unlucky. She should be dead."

"I hope so. Otherwise, I don't mind killing her myself."

Samuel's eyes were cold.

Although Emory didn't say anything, he nodded.

After they made plans, Samuel went to Jarrod's tent.

At this time, Nicole almost finished drawing. Samuel glanced at it and it was simply lifelike.

Jarrod and Amelia were also a little tired, so Jarrod released Amelia and let her lie down.

Nicole made the final improvement and handed the painting to Jarrod and Amelia. They were quite satisfied.

"Thank you, Nicole."

Amelia smiled happily. It could be seen that she liked the painting very much.

"You are welcome. I'm happy you like it."

Samuel and Nicole didn't want to disturb Amelia and Jarrod, so they walked out.

"Are you tired?"

Samuel asked gently as he rubbed Nicole's wrist.

"A little. But I'm happy that they like it. I really hope all people can stay with their loved ones."

Nicole still believed in love and hope.

Samuel looked at her with affection.

"There are always accidents in life. We just have to do our best."

"Yes."

Nicole nodded.

She leaned against Samuel's arms and whispered, "Who is Jarrod's father, if it isn't Jayden? Zama loves Jayden so much and she wouldn't have relationship with another man."

"Not really. If Jayden did something, perhaps even she wouldn't know about it."

Chapter 1317 Not Something That Can Be Mined by Human Beings

"What's the matter?"

Nicole was curious. Samuel shook his head. He told her he didn't know either, and Emory had sent someone to check out.

At this time, Amelia said, "This is a formation. Nicole, do as I say."

"Alright."

In terms of formations, Nicole listened to Amelia.

Jarrold had worried that Amelia would not be able to stand it. Seeing that she was teaching Nicole how to open the formation, he was surprised and then smiled.

Amelia was not someone who would easily open her heart to others. But once she did, she would trust the person for the rest of her life. It seemed that Amelia had seen Nicole as her friend.

Before the result of paternity test came out, Jarrold liked such development. Even if the worst came to worst and he was Jayden's son, as long as Nicole was around, there might be hope between him and Amelia.

She was just a woman, but he couldn't let her go.

Nicole opened the formation according to Amelia's instructions, and a heavy dusty smell immediately wafted into their noses.

Samuel ran over almost immediately and threw himself at Nicole, shouting, "Get down! Hold your breath!"

The team was well-trained. After hearing Samuel's order, the people quickly prostrated and held their breath. Jarrold immediately pulled Amelia in his arms.

"What's going on?"

Nicole gazed at Samuel in confusion. She did not feel any danger.

Samuel whispered, "Once this long-sealed ore vein comes into contact with the air outside, it will release a poisonous gas. Although the toxicity is not great, it cannot be ignored."

Only then did Nicole understand.

She knew too little about mining.

The smell was too weird to describe. Some people held their breaths too late and got poisoned, rolling on the ground and howling.

Emory immediately had some of his men carry them out of there for treatment, and the expressions of the others became much more solemn.

They thought that it was just an ore vein, so they didn't need to take it too seriously. Until this moment, they realized that things were much more difficult than they had imagined.

Samuel felt that it was almost time, so he got up.

He pulled Nicole up and whispered, "Come forward when I need you, and stand beside Amelia at other times. Okay?"

"Okay."

Nicole also knew that it was dangerous, so she hurriedly nodded, but she was worried about Samuel, so she grabbed his arm and stared at him.

Chapter 1318 With You Around, I'm Not Afraid

Such an unexpected situation made Emory and Samuel busy and grim-faced. Although Nicole and Amelia tried their best to seal it, some people still get poisoned.

Seeing these people die in front of her, Nicole's heart was heavy. An indescribable sorrow enveloped them, causing everyone extremely depressed.

While the doctor was still giving first aid, Nicole pushed Amelia into the tent. At that time, the two people were speechless.

No one wanted to see such a situation. Now they saw it, they suddenly realized that people's life was so fragile. People who were still talking one second ago may passed away in the next second.

Nicole had never been so helpless. Facing natural disasters and such unknown dangers, this was the first time she had seriously considered it before going to Emory's tent.

Emory just finished feedback with the superior and saw Nicole coming in. He didn't look very well, but he whispered, "What's wrong? Can I help you?"

"Emory, I think it's better for us to suspend this mission now."

Nicole said this after careful consideration, but Emory's expression was still a little heavy.

"I don't have the final call. I know what you're worried about right now. To be honest, I'm not feeling better than you. They were my man. Aren't I sad that they died in front of me? But this is an order from the superior. We're soldiers. Nicole, soldiers take obeying orders as their duty. We have no choice."

Emory's mood was also very sad. He knew that what Nicole said was correct. However, now that many people knew about this mine, they were eyeing this place covetously. This was a national resource. The task they received was not to let the national resources be taken.

Therefore, Emory also felt very contradictory.

Nicole frowned. Just as she didn't know what to say, Samuel walked in.

"I think we have to suspend entering into the vein now."

Samuel and Nicole had the same idea.

Emory sighed and didn't say anything, but he knew that Samuel understood.

Samuel did understand Emory's difficulties. He walked to Nicole, pulled her to a chair and whispered, "It's possible to complete this task, but we first need to find someone. With the help of this person, we might be able to reduce our losses and complete the task."

"Who?"

Emory's eyes instantly lit up. Nicole also looked at Samuel. Although she did not say anything, she knew that Samuel must have an idea.

Facing their fervent gazes, Samuel whispered, "Mr. William."

Once these words were spoken, Nicole and Emory were stunned for a moment.

"William? Why William?"

Nicole and Emory had the same question.

Samuel took out some information and said, "This is William's information. During his university years, he majored in archaeology, and then he studied geological prospecting and ore vein exploration. Most importantly, William came to the Harper Town earlier and stayed here for a while. Some people said that he came here to search for Sally, others said that he came here to study this ore vein. We are all strangers to this ore vein. If we barge into it without any preparation, the gains will not be worth the losses. Anyway, there is no conflict between the task of finding William and mining the ore vein. Why not prioritizing the task of finding William? The ore vein is here anyway. Since we can't open this ore vein, others won't be able to open it either. In this case, why don't we find William and come back to get this mine? Isn't it better to kill two birds with one stone?"

Chapter 1319 I Want to Meet William

When Nicole and Samuel arrived, Morgan was already there, trying to avoid being recognized by wearing a cloak to cover herself. Though Nicole was familiar with her, she almost couldn't recognize her.

Morgan didn't expect Nicole to come, so she was a little embarrassed.

"Mrs. Green, you're here too?"

Morgan looked at Nicole in embarrassment. When she faced Nicole, she actually lacked confidence by no reason.

Perhaps because they were women, or perhaps she knew about Nicole's feelings for Samuel, she knew that Samuel might forgive her after knowing she placed bug on him, but Nicole might not. So she was a little nervous.

Nicole saw the embarrassment from Morgan's eyes. To be honest, she was indeed very dissatisfied with what Morgan did. However, after hearing Samuel's explanation, she could understand Morgan. Nicole was a mother too, she would probably make the same choice if she was Morgan.

She sighed and whispered, "Tell us what you know. The past is past. I will explain it to Joseph."

Nicole knew who Morgan cared about the most now. She didn't want to see her and Joseph distrust each other, but the reality was always so helpless.

Morgan's eyes were glistening with tears.

Her son was dead and still not in peace. Now she treated Joseph as her son, she really didn't want Joseph to hate her. She couldn't bear it even a little bit. Now that Nicole knew what she cared about the most, what else should she worry about?

"Thank you, Mrs. Green. I will tell you everything I know, but I hope you can help me bring back my son's ashes, okay? I'm unable to do it myself, unless I follow the orders of the king. But I really don't want to hurt Mr. Green and Mrs. Green, I can't."

Morgan was a member of the Harper Town. She had lost too much for the sake of the Harper Town. Now the master of Harper Town appeared, she definitely would not betray him. But she would not let her son die with regret as a mother. She could only place all her hopes on Nicole and Samuel.

"I promise."

Nicole did not say anything. This was between Samuel and Morgan. Although she was Samuel's wife and could promise Morgan, she thought that it was better for Samuel to say this. Sure enough, Samuel understood her, so he promised Morgan indifferently.

After receiving Samuel's assurance, Morgan felt relieved.

She whispered, "I know where William is. I can take you there."

Nicole was instantly excited.

"Is William in Country F?"

"No, William is here."

Nicole was slightly stunned, but Samuel was not surprised.

"Is he nearby?"

Morgan nodded and said, "Yes, he is nearby."

Nicole was totally stunned.

She did not expect that she and William were so close, but there was no news of William's whereabouts. How anxious could William be!

"Where is he?"

Nicole was excited.

Morgan whispered, "Follow me."

"Who is there?"

Samuel immediately became nervous and stood in front of Nicole to protect her. In shock, he behaved subconsciously, which made Nicole very moved.

If a man's intuition was to protect, what objections would a woman have?

How could she not fall in love with such a man?

Nicole tightly grabbed Samuel's arm and whispered, "Would it be Uncle William?"

She had thought about the worst. It was very dark here, so dark that no light could be seen. If they hadn't brought their phones, they wouldn't be able to see anything here.

If it was really Uncle William, he might have lived in this environment for years. Nicole simply didn't dare to think further.

"Uncle William, I am Nicole, the daughter of Xander Don and Audrey Shaw. Are you my second uncle, William Don?"

Nicole knew that it was unwise to expose herself at this time because she did not know if the person was an enemy or a friend. But now she could no longer care about it.

William paused for a moment, as if he was digesting Nicole's words. But he couldn't believe it.

His voice was quite hoarse and uncomfortable, but he still asked, "Are you Brother Xander's daughter?"

"It's me, Uncle William. I'm here to take you home."

Nicole was excited and even trembled.

Samuel took a step forward and illuminated the opposite side. Only then did he see a person chained there, half-squatting like a dog.

His hair was very long and nasty, even sticking together. The foul stench blew over, stinking people to retreat.

His face was covered by hair and couldn't be seen clearly. The clothes he wore were rather tattered, in which some parts had even shattered. The exposing skin was covered in scars newly and formerly made, shocking everyone.

Though Nicole only glanced at him, she was already unable to withstand it. She didn't know if it was due to the light, William's hair seemed to be entirely grey, dazzling her eyes.

Samuel did not dare to stay here for too long. He took a step forward and said, "Uncle William, I am Nicole's husband, Samuel. I will take you out. Let's go out first and talk about the things you have experienced later."

"Alright."

William was also excited.

No matter what, he was William of the Don Family. However, he lived worse than a dog for so many years. Now, he was even sloppier in front of his niece. If he had a choice, William would rather bash against the wall. However, he could not die, at least not now.

Looking at William's dirtiness all over, Nicole remembered that Samuel had mysophobia and said, "Let me carry Uncle William."

"I am not dead yet."

Samuel glanced at her, feeling a little dissatisfied. He immediately cut off the rope on William's body. Then, he turned around and carried William on his back. He quickly walked outward.

"Morgan, take care of Nicole. I'll go out first."
