Chapter 1481 Take a Sample

Nicole's stomach hurts for a moment, but she held it back.

"Do you find Davon's corpse?"

After so many days, no one dared to say the word corpse, fearing that it would upset Zayn and Phoenix. Because Phoenix was a princess, although the relationship between Davon and Zayn was not made public, Davon was considered as the emperor's son-in-law of Country F. Now that the son-in-law had been killed, the atmosphere in the entire palace was truly heavy.

Now that Nicole had said the word, the surrounding guards and maids looked at her and hurriedly lowered their heads, afraid that the King would blame them.

Zayn also felt very uncomfortable. Although he didn't want to hear the word, now that Nicole had asked, he had to answer.

"It hasn't been found yet, but Inez found one of his legs."

"One leg? Did you do a DNA test?"

Nicole was unwilling to believe this fact in her heart, and what she said then made Zayn slightly stunned.

"DNA?"

"That's right. Otherwise, how could you conclude that that leg belongs to Davon?"

Nicole's words snapped Zayn to his senses.

Yeah, how could they conclude it was Davon's leg just by a pair of trousers?

"I'll go find Inez now."

As he spoke, Zayn was about to run out, but he was stopped by Samuel.

"Let us go with you."

At this time, Phoenix was probably in a very unstable mood. If Zayn said anything anxious, Phoenix would not care if he was the King or not. She would still make a move.

Cara bit her lower lip and stood there. She was the most embarrassed person because Laurence was her boyfriend.

"Follow me."

Nicole shook Cara's hand.

Cara nodded and suppressed the sadness in her eyes.

The group went to the Sawyer's.

Samuel looked at Nicole worriedly and asked, "How do you feel?"

"Quite good."

Nicole replied in a low voice. She faintly felt that her stomach was a little uncomfortable, but she could endure it.

Samuel glanced at Morgan. Morgan hurriedly took her pulse and gave her a pill.

A bitter taste rippled through her mouth.

Normally, Nicole would definitely not be able to take it, but now she had to endure it for Davon's sake.

Finally, as Phoenix got tired, she went back to her room and fell asleep.

Nicole had someone put the broken leg in the cold storage in the basement.

For now, there was nothing they could do. After going through such a long journey, all of them felt somewhat tired, so Samuel asked them to get some rest.

Lucas took a single room. He turned on his computer and kept typing as if he was searching for something. A few minutes later, after entering a long series of codes, he found nothing and had to take his eyes off the computer with frustration.

There were no traces of Davon anywhere. Was he gone?

Lucas felt pity when he thought of Mommy pretending to be tough and calm.

Suddenly his phone rang.

Lucas lowered his head and saw that someone wanted to friend him on WeChat, and that person was Yasmeen.

He slightly frowned and rejected directly.

Unexpectedly, Yasmeen kept sending the friend requests. To ignore it, Lucas threw the phone aside.

With no response from Lucas, Yasmeen was so angry that she asked Jasmine to hack into Lucas' computer right away.

Such behavior irritated Lucas.

"Yasmeen, stay away from me! I didn't friend you because I don't want to! Mind your own business. OK? Where's your brain? The dog ate it?"

"You ate it."

Yasmeen was quite happy to receive the video call from Lucas at first. However, before her smile faded, Lucas' severe scolding provoked her into anger.

"I just sent a friend request! What's wrong with you? I don't bite."

"I hate you, understand? I don't like you at all! So please stay away from me!"

Lucas finished and hung up the phone directly.

This was the first time he was so rude to a girl.

But in his eyes, Yasmeen was not a girl.

After all, girls would not take off his pants the first time they met.

Lucas could remember this for the rest of his life.

Looking at the phone being hung up, Yasmeen somehow wanted to cry.

Stupid Lucas! He said that he hated her!

How was it possible for her to be hated? She was such a cute girl!

She had no idea that Lucas was upset because of Davon's disappearance. She was just a child, and a child's world was very simple. She liked Lucas, so she wanted to play with him. What was wrong with that?

Lucas quickly rebuilt the computer's firewall. He didn't give up on investigating Laurence's whereabouts, even though he still found nothing.

"This is weird," Lucas thought.

No matter who it was, there should be traces as long as he existed, not to mention that Samuel had implanted an internal chip on Laurence. Even if the tracker was lost, the internal chip would still be able to locate him. But now, there was no trace of the chip at all.

Thinking of this, Lucas hurried to Samuel's room.

"Samuel!"

"Be quiet!"

Samuel silenced him immediately.

Chapter 1483 Lucas Is Good Enough

"Samuel, watch out!"

Lucas turned around and saw a tiger pouncing towards them. The tiger had eyes red.

He heard that this forest had been contaminated by pollutants from a destroyed research institute. For this reason, the animals here had been mutated.

They couldn't even deal with an ordinary tiger, then what could they do to a mutated one?

Lucas subconsciously pulled Samuel over, but Samuel suddenly turned around and hurled a dagger at the tiger's eyes.

"Go with your mommy now!"

After that, Samuel jumped up and faced the tiger.

Nicole was frightened to death.

Although she knew that it was normal to see wild animals in this primeval forest, she couldn't believe his eyes when she saw them.

"Lucas, you go first."

Nicole raised her hand and threw Lucas out.

"No, Mommy."

Although Lucas was unwilling to leave, he was too weak to resist it. He was thrown out by Nicole and trapped in a net unexpectedly.

"Mommy!"

Lucas struggled to free himself. But the net had electricity, and he felt a bit dizzy instantly.

Nicole didn't expect that she would put Lucas into a dangerous situation.

Her husband was fighting with the fierce tiger and her son was being tortured by the electrical net. Nicole was in great pain, but she could do nothing.

She had never had a dilemma like that before. Lucas was about to lose consciousness and Samuel was also in a pickle. He was injured, and the smell of fresh blood made the tiger even more excited.

At this time, Samuel found a chance to say, "Save Lucas first, I'm all right."

Finally, Nicole ran towards Lucas.

At this moment, a team of mercenaries walked out with guns and aimed at Nicole.

"Don't move! Otherwise, we'll kill him."

Some of them aimed at Nicole and some aimed at Lucas. Nicole looked at them and frowned.

Samuel had said that someone was looking for Laurence. It seemed to be true. Judging from these men's way of dressing, she had someone in mind.

"Do you work for Martha's father?"

She did not know who Martha's father was, so she could only inquire in this way.

"Follow us!"

The number of their members had decreased because some had died earlier in the Dark Forest. Now Samuel was fighting with the tiger, and it was the best time for them to take Nicole away. Moreover, Lucas was in their hands, so they were sure that she would follow them.

Seeing that her son was about to faint, Nicole whispered, "Free my son and I'll go with you."

"Is anyone there?"

Nicole heard something too, but she was too tired to be as flexible as usual.

Samuel quickly stood in front of Nicole and pulled Lucas into his arms.

Before long, a group of people came. They were wearing masks and protective clothing. No one knew who they were and what kind of force they belonged to.

"Who are you?"

After thinking for a while, Samuel knew that if they fought, he would be no match for them. Nicole was exhausted, and Lucas was still a child. He couldn't let his son take the risk.

The strangers didn't say anything and directly caught the three of them.

Samuel and Lucas were about to struggle, but they were stopped by Nicole.

"Let's see what they're going to do. We can't stay here. It's good to have someone take us out now."

Nicole's voice was so low that only Samuel and Lucas could hear it.

They didn't resist and followed those people.

Samuel glanced at Nicole and said, "My wife is in poor health. I'm afraid she can't go too far with you now. Do you have a stretcher?"

His question was a little ridiculous. Nicole and Lucas both didn't know what to say. They thought Samuel was crazy!

But to their surprise, those people took out a folding stretcher and carried it with four people. They didn't say anything, but the meaning was obvious.

Nicole and Lucas were stunned. But Samuel directly picked up Nicole and put her on the stretcher, and said, "Thank you."

The strangers just nodded and carried Nicole to the forest.

Lucas was confused, but he didn't ask anything. Instead, he closely followed Samuel and whispered, "Samuel, this is the way to the deep forest. If we meet some monsters, these people won't treat us as bait, will they?"

"Don't worry, if it is true, I will be the first. You are too small to satisfy the monster."

Lucas' mouth twitched.

'He can't be serious, can he?'

The strangers didn't seem to hear their conversation and continued to walk into the forest.

Nicole couldn't figure out what these people were doing. She looked at Samuel, who told her to calm down, so she didn't say anything.

About half an hour later, there were only some mutated animals on the road. But the animals trembled the moment they saw these people as if they were the masters of the forest.

Audrey smiled happily as she spoke.

"I'm fine. I wasn't sick anyway. I was only poisoned."

What Audrey said just stunned Nicole since she once thought about the possibility that Audrey might have cancer. Now Audrey's response seemed to deny her speculation. Nicole looked grim.

Morgan was the one who first diagnosed Audrey as a cancer patient. Now that Morgan was not here, though she was still in F Country. Although she believed that Morgan would not betray Samuel again, she was still not feeling good.

"Who had you poisoned?"

"Let's take our time. You've been interrogating me since you've been back! Is there anything you want to have now?"

Audrey didn't want to talk about it.

Samuel looked at Nicole's pale face and couldn't help but feel concerned.

"Mom, get us fed, please. We had run out too much energy in the Dark Forest. There's also Lucas, holding up all along the way. His has probably reached his limit."

Upon hearing that, Audrey looked at Lucas again, who was completely exhausted. He kept alert before since he did not know who Audrey was. Now that he knew that it was his grandmother, Lucas needn't hold back anymore.

"Grandma, I want to get some sleep."

Lucas spoke softly. His voice made Nicole feel concerned, not to mention Audrey.

"Alright then, I will take you to sleep. As for Nicole and Samuel, you too may get some rest as well. This place is very safe. No one can come in here."

Samuel nodded.

Nicole looked at Xander who was not far away. He had never said anything, but Nicole could still feel his tender love in his gaze.

She had a lot to ask, but now she didn't know where to start.

Samuel held her hand and whispered, "Take a rest first, and then we'll get to know everything."

"Alright."

Nicole was also very tired, so she could only listen to Samuel and went to the room that Audrey had prepared for them.

After getting into the room, Nicole whispered, "Samuel, is it true that my mother is still alive? She..."

"It's true. Not only your mother but your father is still alive. I know you're excited and you have so many questions, but now you have to rest. So be good and get some sleep. You may shoot all your questions after you wake up."

"Then you should stay with me."

Nicole felt as if she were in a dream. Only when Samuel was with her did she feel at ease and felt that everything was not a dream.

"Alright."

Samuel sat down.

Nicole treated his wound and they went to bed.

She felt exhausted physically, yet she was too excited to fall asleep.

Nicole was upset.

"Not interested."

Lucas refused her directly.

Playing games was just a time killer for him to relieve his fatigue. He had no interest in her squad.

Yasmeen felt a bit frustrated.

This Lucas was ignorant of her, but she finally befriended him on Twitter. Wasn't that a good start?

Yasmeen thought happily and then asked, "Aren't you in the Seapolis City?"

"No, you'd better not look for me. I don't want to see you."

Lucas rarely treated girls so rudely, but as long as he thought of this girl stripping his pants and looking at his penis, he felt uncomfortable and even disgusted. He wished he could go back to the past and deleted this piece of memory for good.

Yasmeen's face immediately collapsed.

"You hate me that much?"

"Yes."

How can they go on with the conversation?

Yasmeen felt heartbroken.

She suddenly thought of something and said, "Do you still mind that I once looked at your penis? Why don't you look at mine, too?"

Lucas almost choked to death.

What nonsense was she talking about?

His face involuntarily blushed, and even his ears turned red.

Yasmeen didn't know the slightest bit and continued, "I didn't do it on purpose. You always remember that and keep ignoring me. That's too awkward. Why not just come to my house sometime or I'll go to yours? I'll take off my clothes and let you see whatever you want to see. Will that make it up for it?"

Lucas choked.

"What nonsense? Who wants to see you? Besides, you don't even have a penis?"

These words beat Yasmeen.

She almost cried.

"Then what should I do? I can't install one, can I?"

Lucas felt that if he continued to talk to this girl, he would also be an idiot.

"I don't want to talk to you anymore. I still have something to take care of. See ya."

Then Lucas hurriedly threw his phone aside, but his face was burning.

They were already five years old, so why couldn't she tell male from female? Should he call Uncle Steven and Auntie Ashley and talk about it? After all, Yasmeen was a girl. Wouldn't it be a disadvantage if some other boys did something bad to her?

Lucas frowned with a depressed expression. He never thought that this was not something he should worry about.

He took the phone and wanted to call Steven, but after thinking for a while, he put it down. What should he say?

He couldn't say that your daughter had offered to take off her clothes in front of him. He felt that she was unconscious of the differences between male and female, so he thought maybe Uncle Steven should tell her more about it. Lucas understood very well that if he said that, Steven would kill him. After all, Yasmeen and Jasmine were the apples in his eyes.

Lucas threw away his phone again with some irritation.

Hearing Xander's laughter, Audrey and Samuel walked out and couldn't help but ask when they saw Nicole's surprised expression, "What are you talking about so happily?"

Only then did Xander stop laughing. However, there was a trace of gentleness in his eyes. He got up and took the apron from Audrey, and then said with a smile, "Sit down and rest for a while. Let me do anything else."

"It's fine. Samuel helped me with the dinner. I'm not tired."

Xander's consideration delighted Audrey.

Seeing that her parents were so loving, Nicole felt quite comforted.

Samuel handed the orange juice to Nicole and asked with a smile, "What are you talking about so happily?"

"Just forget it. I'm so embarrassed."

Nicole was speechless as she leaned against Samuel's arms and whispered in his ear, "I asked Dad if he was a robot."

Samuel paused slightly and couldn't help but laugh. However, seeing his wife's annoyed gaze, he stopped and asked, "So he was?"

"I don't know. Dad asked me to find out where the switch is. I didn't dare. I think I'm so stupid."

"It's fine. I don't care."

Nicole was shy because of Samuel's words. She punched him.

"Shut up, you're not allowed to speak anymore."

Samuel smiled. He felt that this kind of day was good. If there wasn't a lot of work, he hoped to live here with Nicole.

Seeing Nicole was so happy, Audrey felt relieved.

"Well, what were you guys talking about just now?"

Audrey was curious. Xander and Nicole had never seen each other. Although they were related by blood, they were still unfamiliar. However, they laughed loudly.

Nicole was afraid that Xander would say something about the robot. She said, "We were talking about the trend of robots, right?"

She blinked at Xander, whose heart was about to melt.

Who could bear daughters' coquettish?

"Yeah, right, we were talking about robots."

Xander could not help but follow Nicole's words.

Audrey knew Xander and Nicole were on the same side. She would not be able to ask anything, "Alright, I won't ask about your secret anymore. But can we have dinner now? Where's Lucas?"

"Lucas went upstairs. He may be playing with his phone or computer. I'll go get him."

While speaking, Nicole was about to go upstairs, but Samuel stopped her.

Nicole didn't show any mercy when she stepped on Davon, who immediately jumped up and then stood on a single foot. Seeing that Samuel's stern face had finally eased up a little, and there was even a trace of smile and pride between his eyebrows.

'You deserved it!'

Samuel cursed implicitly. He took a sip from the cup right in front of him. It seemed as if he had never seen Davon as a threat. That Samuel, who turned anxious as long as he heard about Davon, had been long gone.

Yeah, right. When Nicole hugged Davon, he didn't let go of her. Then that Samuel had already been gone.

Seeing Samuel gloating, Davon felt a little annoyed. He couldn't help but say with a grievance, "Nicole, at least I'm your cousin. Don't you feel concerned to see me like this?"

"Seriously? Now you're the one to talk! Do you know that the pair of torn-up trousers and the broken leg you left there? Phoenix almost died for you!"

Davon turned grim at once.

"What happened to her?"

"Well, now you start to worry? Where were you before? Aren't you afraid that she couldn't bear with your broken leg and killed herself? Davon, do you know that you are a married man? If you can't be responsible for a woman for the rest of her life, then don't marry her! Do you know what Phoenix looked like when I first came to Country F? She looked terrible! She wouldn't eat or drink, but just stayed there with your broken leg! Have you thought about how she felt? Davon, you must see yourself as a hero, right? You thought that you devoted yourself to the country and felt that it was no big deal to hurt your wife a bit! You bet she'll forgive you anyway since she loves you so much. Who do you think you are? You are being arrogant simply because she loves you! If she doesn't, then you are nothing! Nothing!"

Nicole pushed Davon away, her eyes turning red.

Samuel suddenly felt that Nicole was also scolding him, so Nicole still hadn't forgotten that he almost died in F Country last time, had she?

Especially the last sentence, "if she doesn't, then you are nothing" felt extremely terrifying.

Samuel hurriedly stood up and came to Nicole's back to hug her. He whispered, "Nicole, calm down. In case you get yourself hurt."

"Shut up! Get out if you shoot one more word."

Nicole was definitely venting her anger.

However, he knew well of what he did wrong before, Samuel did not dare to say a word.

He knew that Nicole could get really mad. At this time, there was no good for irritating her again.

Samuel couldn't help but glare at Davon with some resentment. It was all his fault. Why did he remind his wife of that?

Davon felt distressed after being scolded by Nicole. It was as if he saw Phoenix standing in front of him pointing at his nose and cursing loudly.

Xander looked at Samuel and smiled, "You're right. This is indeed a counterplot."

Nicole's face turned clouded when she heard his answer. She only coldly snorted and turned her head away to express her dissatisfaction, after all, Xander was her father and they hadn't met for many years.

Xander could tell that Nichole was dissatisfied with what he had done. He said laughingly, "Don't you think it is a good plan?"

"The plan is not bad, but it's inhumane."

Nicole couldn't say anything against her heart. 'This counterplot was indeed useful in finding out the people hiding behind, but they didn't consider the feelings of the women while making the plan.'

'I was not a great person, but a little woman, who was able to analyze a problem from the big picture but couldn't handle it without the inference of emotion.'

Samuel looked at his father-in-law with admiration.

'Xander really had a way. Although Nicole was angry at this, she wouldn't be too angry. Considering the overall situation, the plan was the right thing to do.'

Nicole could distinguish between right and wrong.

Xander sighed, "The war is cruel. You may think it's not a war. The people behind the curtain have kept looking for Laurence; they are not ordinary people. Why did they want to research the Berserk Gene? Have you ever imagined what a disaster it might be if the Berserk Gene is put into military use? At that time, wars won't be waged covertly but in an open way. Ordinary people have always been the greatest victims of war since ancient times. Once the war breaks out, millions will lose their life. Wars are even more destructive in modern times since there are modern military weapons."

No one had such a near-death experience as Xander did in the war. If he could choose, he wanted to be a painter who traveled everywhere; being a soldier would be the last choice because choosing to be a soldier meant choosing a life filled with the cruelty of incessant battles.

A trace of pain flashed through Xander's eyes.

He whispered, "I know the plan will make the women who love Davon and Laurence heartbroken, and they might even harm themselves." But we need to ensure the safety of the rest of the world. Compared with the grave consequences that might be caused by this incident, we can only choose the lesser of two evils. It is also Davon's unshrinkable responsibility because he is a soldier. Laurence is not, but involving him in this plan is also inevitable for he has the Berserk Gene. If we hadn't taken the counterplot, it would be Davon and Laurence's lovers who suffered the most when Laurence goes berserk. We have reduced the damage it might bring by making it occur earlier. Nicole, we hope that you and other girls can live in a peaceful world, but peace doesn't come itself."

Chapter 1490 The Man Behind the Scenes Is Hard to Find

"Yes."

Xander's words made Nicole and Samuel excited.

"Who is it? Do we know that person?"

Nicole felt that she and Samuel had been involved in quite a few affairs, and they had exposed many old cases. As she and Samuel might know a bit of those people, they asked.

Xander looked at Nicole and said, "Perhaps you don't know him. The man hardly appears in front of people and has been working behind the scenes. He is Mr. Ethan Quain's assistant. I remember that he is an unnoticeable man. What impressed me the most was that he wore glasses and never looked straight at people. Being a yes-man, he always lowered his head. However, he learned quickly whatever Mr. Quain taught him, and Mr. Quain had the intention to groom him to be his successor. Elvis had captured Mr. Quain for genetic research, and the man was also involved. To protect him, Mr. Quain did everything he could and sent him away. From then on, there was no news of the man anymore."

"Back then, few people knew about the gene data that Elvis and the Green family had studied. Basically, people who knew the matter had all been captured and sent to the island by Elvis. They were unable to get out of the island for the rest of their lives, and some of them even died there. So, apart from Elvis himself, only a few people knew the secret. However, it was obvious that the person behind the scenes had targets for the study. The time was coincidental. Not long after that guy left, Dr. Miller began to study genetics and even created Laurence. Recently, I have been investigating Dr. Miller. It is said that more than twenty years ago, his study on human genetics failed many times. He captured several couples with the wife pregnant for research. But Laurence was the only one who survived and has lived for so many years without any rejection. Thus, we guess that Laurence may have been the specimen they studied from the beginning."

Hearing Xander call Laurence a specimen, Nicole felt somewhat uncomfortable.

No one would be happy that a healthy person was called a specimen. Thinking of all the things that Laurence had endured for so many years, Nicole felt upset.

"Where is Laurence now?"

"In the laboratory."

Audrey looked serious. She whispered, "Although Laurence doesn't go berserk, the cells in his body divide too quickly. As we haven't found a way to restrain the division, we temporarily don't want him to come out of the laboratory, which is also his intention. The defense system of the laboratory is strong. Even if he really goes berserk, he can't rush out and hurt people. Also, the massacre seemed to have triggered his Berserk Gene. He couldn't suppress his emotions, so he locked himself in the laboratory. But don't worry. Someone will deliver him food. It will be fine."

Hearing Laurence's experience, Samuel felt bitter.

"Is my brother also involved in the research?"

Xander nodded.

"After all, I have been on the island for some time. And although I wasn't involved in the research, I could hear what they talked about every day. I've recorded some of the data they studied and gave it to Davon. He would soon find a way to achieve the balance. As for the rest, we can't help. Your mother and I hired some medical professors to study the topic. But unfortunately, there was no progress. We were planning to capture Dr. Miller, but it was unexpected that the man behind the scenes intercepted us halfway."

Xander sighed, feeling sorry when he thought of Neville's death.

Nicole asked in shock, "Was Dr. Miller murdered by the one behind the scenes?"
