Chapter 1511 Perhaps This Is Our Destiny

When the plane landed in Seapolis City, Nicole opened her eyes.

"We're home?"

"Yes, we're home."

After leaving for so long, Samuel still felt that the air in Seapolis City was the cleanest. Nicole also felt that she was in a good mood and it was more comfortable to take a breath here.

"We're finally home."

Nicole stretched and looked at the children in the babysitter's arms behind her with a happy smile.

"Don't stand in the wind."

Samuel put his coat on Nicole again, wishing his coat could even cover her head.

With only her eyes not being covered, Nicole was a little upset. But thinking that it was Samuel's care for her, she didn't say her complaint out.

Lucas and the children weren't on the same flight with Nicole. But Nicole wasn't worried about them. She knew that Morty and Samuel would settle everything down.

When they returned to the Green's, Amelia hurriedly went out to greet them.

Seeing Amelia's belly with five months' pregnancy, Nicole was stunned.

"Amelia, you've been pregnant for six or seven months, haven't you?"

"No, it's just been five months."

Amelia touched her belly which was much fatter than others and smiled happily.

Samuel involuntarily glanced at Amelia's belly. He did not say anything, but he felt a bit worried.

This was the first time Morty had come to the Green's. He couldn't help but look around it for a while and said, "It's kind of old."

"Yes, it's my ancestors'. Are you going to stay here?"

Considering Morty's identity, Samuel did not call him Mr. Morty. He said Samuel could call his name directly, so Samuel did as Morty told.

"Of course, I'm here for this mansion."

Morty walked in without hesitation.

Nicole felt Morty was a little interesting and smiled. Samuel took Nicole upstairs first.

The room had been cleaned. And the flowers on the table were fresh.

Being back in her room, Nicole felt comfortable.

"It feels good to be home."

Nicole lay on the bed, stretching her arms and legs. She took a deep breath and felt satisfied.

Samuel smiled, knowing that Nicole was bored these days.

Although everything in the hotel was the best, it was still a review in isolation. It was almost the same as imprisonment. But all of this was worth it in the end.

Nicole put on a serious face, but she quickly adjusted herself.
"You can go down and accompany Mr. Morty. I'll stay here."

Samuel knew he and Nicole should stand on the same side now, but he worried about Nicole's health.

"Have a good rest. Put everything under my charge, OK?"

"Alright."

Nicole knew he worried about her, so she nodded.

Samuel walked out in anxiety.

When the nanny brought the two babies in, Mr. Morty stood up.

"Bring them close to me."

It made Lucas, Joseph, and Zoe a little nervous.

"Who are you? Why are you at my home?"

Zoe pointed at Mr. Morty's nose and asked sharply, while Lucas and Joseph did not intend to move away.

Mr. Shaw was tired after the long flight. Seeing his young great-grandchildren talking to Mr. Morty like this, he laughed.

It had been many years for Morty to be questioned like this. He glanced at Zoe.

'Samuel's little daughter is really quite bright and brave.'

"I'm your daddy's best friend. You can call me Uncle Morty."

Lucas frowned slightly.

Suddenly, he remembered something. When he entered the system, he seemed to see a picture of this person. He was quite noble.

However, Lucas did not tell Zoe about this. Ignorance could be forgiven. Not to mention, even if Morty was the heir to the Hill family, so what? He was now in the Green family. It was their territory!

The guest should comply with the host's wishes.

This was what Lucas was thinking.

Zoe did not accept what Morty said. She said unhappily, "I don't care who you are. Get out of the way. Don't touch my little brothers."

"Can't I just take a look?"

It was the first time for Morty to be disliked. It was a child that disliked him.

No matter what, he looked elegant and handsome. How could children dislike him?

Zoe snorted coldly and said, "My little brothers are young. What if you look at him and let them catch a cold?"

"What? They will catch a cold just because I take a look at them?"

Morty did hear such a thing for the first time. Now Zoe did not want to talk nonsense with him.

"Get out!"

She kicked Morty's calf.

It hurt.

Morty shouted as Zoe used great strength. He involuntarily moved aside.

"You know the right thing to do."

Zoe muttered, but her voice did not decrease at all.

Morty was depressed.

"Uncle Morty, are you alright?"

Joseph turned around and smiled sincerely when seeing Morty's thoughtful eyes.

Morty's heartbeat skipped once. Then he smiled and said, "Not good. I'm about to collapse. I wonder if I'm not accustomed to the weather here."

"Definitely. Although it only takes an hour to fly from the Capital City to the Seapolis City, they are still two different provinces. It is common for people to feel like this. Therefore, Uncle Morty, you might as well go back to where you come from."

Although Joseph said it with a smile, Morty could understand that Joseph was driving him away.

He was puzzled. How did he offend the kid so that Joseph could hate him so much?

"Well, I'll be fine after a few days."

After Morty finished speaking, he directly fell onto the sofa. He didn't dare to drink the tea when he saw it now.

Samuel shook his head as he watched them quarrel.

"Joseph, Uncle Morty is here to protect us. Stop behaving like that."

"Fine."

Joseph could only nod, and did not say anything else. He walked towards the room to see his little brothers. He did not have time to waste here with this uncle.

Morty looked at Joseph's back and innocently said, "Samuel, why does your son hate me so much?"

"I don't know either. You'd better think of how you have offended him."

This was the first time Samuel had seen that Joseph offered to quarrel with someone, so he felt it really funny.

Originally, he thought that Joseph was quite frank. He was afraid that Joseph would suffer a loss in the future, but now it seemed that he thought too much.

Morty couldn't understand how he provoked Joseph. Didn't he just want to see Samuel's two sons?

"By the way, when will Fernando come?"

"He said he would come as soon as possible."

Thinking of Fernando, Samuel sat beside Morty and said, "Can you do me a favor?"

"What?"

Morty glanced at him and felt that Samuel seemed a little dangerous. He felt that Samuel was scheming something.

Fernando paused for a moment and quickly looked around. Seeing that everyone was playing around with Samuel's two children and Zac's son, he heaved a sigh of relief. "Mr. Morty, we are in the Green's. Can you be a little more cautious?"

"What are you afraid of? If I hadn't protected Samuel, it wouldn't have been so smooth for them to hide Davon's whereabouts."

Morty was not afraid at all.

What happened to the Green's?

He felt much more at ease here. At least, there would be no pinhole cameras in the room where he slept. His phone would not be wiretapped, and he would not be worried that there would be something wrong with the food. And he might not wake up tomorrow after the meal.

This was the first time he had lived so comfortably in so many years.

Seeing the happy smiles of Samuel and Nicole, Morty suddenly felt that his heart tightened.

"Do you think that if I didn't choose to go home back then, would I have so many kids?"

Fernando knew who Morty was missing. The name of that woman over the years was taboo. No one dared to mention her, but he didn't expect Morty to be the first to talk about her.

"Morty, there are some things that you have to give up in order to get what you want. We can't have everything that we want."

Fernando also felt regrettable for him.

"But Samuel, Blair, Emory, and Steven are all married, and even Davon is married as well. But I'm still alone. It's really uncomfortable," Morty said.

Fernando patted Morty's shoulder and said, "This is how people are at high positions. Moreover, you did it to protect her safety. With your identity, you and her are destined to have no future. If you didn't hurt her feelings, she would be killed. I've heard that Mr. Hill is urging you to get married?"

Hearing this, Morty showed a mocking smile. He drank all the beer in his hand and felt sad.

"He only wants marriage alliances. I can't decide it myself."

"Have you thought about it? Marriage is a big thing in life. Living with someone you don't like won't make you happy."

Hearing Fernando's words and seeing the happy expressions of Samuel and Nicole, Morty suddenly hesitated.

The tearful face appeared in his mind, and he felt a great pain in his heart.

"Send a message to Davon. If he isn't dead, let him call me."

After saying that, Morty went straight into the room.

Fernando knew that Morty was in a bad mood. At this time, he probably wanted to be alone. Fernando sighed and immediately sent a message to Davon.

After doing this, Fernando went downstairs. Seeing such a bustling and lively family, he couldn't help but smile.

This kind of family atmosphere really made people reluctant to leave.

"Tim?"

Nicole never thought that the person calling her would be Tim.

She hadn't seen Tim for a long time. Back then, they left because of Evelyn's illness, but now, she didn't know how they were.

"Tim, how's Evelyn?"

Nicole asked subconsciously, but noise came from the other side, and the phone was soon cut off. When Nicole called again, the phone was actually unable to be got through.

She was a little uneasy.

Tim hadn't called her for a long time, but when he suddenly called, it was actually like this. What was going on?

Nicole dialed a few times but didn't get through. She couldn't help but want to talk to Samuel about this. Just as she got up, she remembered that Samuel went to see Morty.

He went to ask about Davon.

It was not good to have so many brothers, for there were so many things to deal with.

Nicole thought gloomily, and she could only hold it back.

When Samuel found Morty, Morty just finished playing the game. He lay lazily on the bed, feeling very comfortable. Even when he heard someone enter, he did not get up. Instead, he said, "By the way, please pour me a glass of water. I'm thirsty to death."

"You can die of thirst. You're addicted to the game and like a rebellious teenager. You don't even drink water. If outsiders know this, no one will believe that you are the famous 'Mr. Morty'."

Although Samuel was nagging, he still poured a glass of water for Morty and handed it over.

Morty got up and drank all the water in one gulp. Only then did he feel much more comfortable.

After drinking, he lay down again.

"I'm just 'Morty' here. Who wants to be 'Mr. Morty'?"

Samuel kicked him, sat down on the bed, and said, "You've been here for more than a month. Are you really not planning to go back? Mr. Hill didn't send anyone to look for you?"

"We're friends. Please be frank. It's not your style by circling around."

Morty rolled his eyes at Samuel, and then sat up. He felt that his body was about to rust.

Although this kind of life was good, it was a waste of time.

He couldn't help but stretch himself.

Samuel looked at him and asked, "How much do you know about Davon?"

"I don't know much more than you do. Basically, I know everything you know."

"How could this be? Even if the Masons are not here at home, there should be servants and housekeepers. No matter what, they can't let the courtyard be like this!"

Nicole was worried.

Samuel did not say anything. There was still a trace of caution in his eyes.

"Stay in the car for a while. I'll go in and take a look myself."

"No."

Nicole directly refused.

Looking at Nicole's persistent gaze, Samuel sighed and said, "If anything happens later, you can't rush ahead. Please let me behave like a man."

"Nonsense."

Nicole chuckled. How could a man admit that he was incapable? Samuel was now more and more skilled at making her laugh.

She and Samuel took a deep breath and took a step forward. They discovered that the door was unlocked, with a lock hanging on it.

Samuel opened the door and walked in.

The inside was similar to the outside. It was so depressing that people would think that this place had been abandoned for a long time. It was very likely that no one had lived here for a long time.

However, there was no news of the relocation of the Mason family, and their offshore operations were still continuing. What exactly was going on?

Nicole quickly looked around, and didn't find anything.

They entered the main hall.

They still remembered how lively and prosperous this place was when Tim and Evelyn got married, but now it was so depressing and made people feel a little uneasy.

There was thick dust in the room. Nothing changed here. Only its owner and other people left.

Samuel quickly went to the study.

The study room was also neat and tidy, and the computer was also there. However, Samuel did not know if there were any important documents.

Nicole stayed downstairs to check.

The Mason family could be considered as one of the top rich clans in the Seapolis City. How could there be no news of such a big change? Were all the servants fired overnight?

If that was the case, it was impossible for them to not attract the attention of the higher-ups. Moreover, the Mason family monopolized all business and routes on the sea. Every businessman in the Seapolis City would have to rely on their sea routes. Therefore, there were quite a few people who usually paid attention to them. How could such a thing happen quietly?

Nicole felt that it was strange as she thought about it.

She searched the rooms one by one and found that there was no one there, but there was a phenomenon that made Nicole somewhat puzzled.

Two of the servants' rooms were in a mess, as if they were tidying up something, but they didn't have time.

They had no time...

What had happened to make this happen?

Nicole's heart sank.

When Nicole heard Samuel's question, she felt her heart tautened.

"Is there anything wrong with me?"

Femando looked at them and answered, "Yes, there's something wrong with the blood. Morgan is an expert in this. You take a look."

Morgan took a look at the data and quickly exchanged glances with Samuel. She whispered, "We need to take the bloodletting therapy. It is contagious."

"What?"

Nicole was shocked.

Samuel's face turned pale.

"What should we do if it's contagious? I'll leave it to you. If you need anything, just say it."

Morgan hurriedly nodded.

"That woman went to the hospital. What about the nurses?" Nicole said.

"I'll go handle it!"

As a doctor, Femando knew that the situation was urgent.

"You can't go. If it is contagious, you can't guarantee that you are fine now. Call Morty and ask him to deal with it. Morgan, hurry up and treat Nicole."

"Alright."

Morgan's movements were quick.

Before Nicole noticed it, she felt a pain in her wrist and a stream of blood flowed out. However, the color was dark.

Both Nicole and Femando were shocked.

"If your wife is infected, what about you?"

Femando looked at Samuel and asked.

Morgan immediately said, "Mr. Green has the Golden Bug in his body. Any Poisonous Bug is useless to him."

Femando had nothing to say but admire Samuel.

"This is fucking awesome! You're even immune to this! You're probably the only one in the world."

"Not really. Mr. Jarrod also has the Golden Bug in his body."

Morgan's words reminded Samuel.

Chapter 1518 The Situation Is Not Good

Nicole came to understand what happened. She said to Morgan, "Thank you."

"It was too much for me. After all, I haven't been able to cure Audrey."

Morgan was straightforward. On this issue, she was right.

"I meant it. If it weren't for you that had bought some time for her, I am not sure if she was still alive."

Nicole apologized for what she had done just now.

Didn't expect that Nicole would do this, Morgan's eyes were filled with warmth.

"Mrs. Green, you're a daughter as well. It's normal for you to worry about your mother. There's nothing that you need to say sorry for. I'll check on the Mason's and let you guys know if anything happened."

"OK."

Seeing Morgan leave the wine cellar, Nicole said with a heavy tone, "Is it that every one of the Masons has been killed?"

"Not exactly. Let's wait for news from Jarrod."

Femando couldn't help but feel a little offended as he looked at the couple.

"Hey, can you just do that when there are only the two of you? I am here, okay?"

Samuel rolled his eyes at him and said, "You are not young, Femando. Why don't you have a girlfriend? Are there any problems with you?"

"Fuck you, you're the one with problems. Come on. Just tell me, how am I supposed to do this? I've already touched your wife."

Femando didn't know what to say. He couldn't be here forever.

Samuel calmly cut his finger and stuffed it into Femando's mouth.

"Oh..."

"If you spit it out, there's no second chance. I have the Golden Bug in my body. My blood has completely fused with it, so it can suppress all kinds of poisonous bugs."

Samuel explained.

Femando immediately sucked in two mouthfuls before spitting out. "Since that's the case, why did you let Morgan bleed your wife just now?" He said with disgust.

"It's unsanitary drinking blood. If there's another way, I won't let her do that."

Samuel's words cut him to the heart.

Femando felt that he had received a 10,000 points damage.

Nicole needed to be sanitary. What about him?

As if knowing what Fernando was thinking, Samuel said indifferently, "You are not only a man but a single man. Why do you care so much? Nobody kisses you."

This was a harsh remark.

Listening to this, Nicole couldn't help but curled her lips.

"OK. Now that we are fine, let's go out. We should report it to the higher-ups as soon as possible if there's anything wrong with the Masons. Morty probably won't feel good outside."

Samuel made a decision without hesitation.

With the residual blood in his mouth, Fernando could tell there's a sweet taste of it. He was very curious about what this Golden Bug was, but he knew that he had no chance to study it.

"Everyone has their own destinies. It's better to think about what to do next. This is only the beginning. I have a premonition that something is gonna happen."

Jarrold was much calmer than Samuel.

He had seen too many of these things when he was with Jayden. He was already used to this. It didn't matter if he was described as "cold-blooded" or "cold-hearted". What he cared about now was only his family. As for the others, if they couldn't survive, they could only blame themselves for not being capable enough. Jarrold was not a savior, and he didn't have the time or energy to take care of others.

Samuel's expression was also solemn.

"Yeah, I never thought that Poisonous Bugs can be found in the Seapolis City."

"You haven't thought about it, but that doesn't mean it doesn't exist. The Green family was schemed more than 20 years ago. The Seapolis City isn't a paradise anymore. I'm just curious about what kind of person possesses such a technique. Is there any survivor in the Harper Town?"

Samuel shook his head when hearing this.

"No, if there is any survivor, he will come to see me after such a long time."

"What if he doesn't want you to know?"

Jarrold looked at Samuel and whispered, "Sometimes, you can't relax your vigilance because of your comfortable life. If this matter is confirmed to be related to Tim, will you leave the Seapolis City?"

"Yes. Tim is my friend and Nicole's cousin. Although we have been quarreling all these years, he risked his life in the underground city to save me. And he was almost crippled. I should repay his kindness."

Samuel did not hesitate at all.

Jarrold narrowed his eyes and whispered, "Tell me as soon as possible if you need me."

Samuel actually knew that it was best to bring Jarrold with him because Morgan was not good at detoxication as Jarrold. However, Amelia was pregnant for more than five months now, and she also needed Jarrold. If Jarrold was not here, Samuel would never forgive himself.

"Amelia's stomach is slightly bigger. Did you take her for an examination?"

Samuel changed the topic in time.

Jarrold immediately understood. His eyes were moist, but there was a trace of joy in them.

"We did. The doctor said that they were twins. Previously, the two children turned their backs to one another. I didn't see them clearly. This time, I saw them clearly. However, one of them is too small. I wonder if he will survive."

Speaking of his own child, Jarrold felt uncomfortable and worried.

Samuel did not know how to enlighten him. It was already not easy for Jarrold to have his own child. Regardless of the outcome, the Green family always supported him.

"Do what you can to protect the child. I'm here with you."

Jarrold was slightly stunned by Samuel's words, and then he smiled.

"You are so nice. Are you not afraid that I will take over the entire Green family?"

"If you want, I can give it to you."

Samuel didn't care.

He had plenty of money. He really didn't care about the family wealth. Even if he didn't have any money, he was confident that he could make his wife and children live a good life by relying on his own intelligence.

This was confidence!

Jarrold smiled and said, "I don't want it. Hurry up and take care of your family. If my wife gives birth, I'll try to be a good father."

"Yes."

Samuel immediately laughed.

Chapter 1520 I Can't Bear to Part with You

Seeing the call from Morty, Nicole was worried.

"Was there any new development about the Mason family?"

"Impossible! Morty has just left. Even if Aron agrees, it is impossible for us to get news so quickly. Moreover, this matter is kind of a secret."

Samuel did not say everything, but Nicole could understand.

There weren't many people who knew Poisonous Bugs now. Besides, Samuel and Jarrod were from the Harper Town. "Harper Town" was actually a threat to the higher-ups.

When Samuel saw that Nicole did not say anything else, he answered the phone.

The voice of Morty rang out.

"You might not be allowed to interfere in this. You should be mentally prepared. Samuel, I actually think it will be good if you don't interfere."

Samuel and Nicole had expected this, but Nicole still felt a little uncomfortable.

Tim and Evelyn were her relatives. Now there was such a big thing, the higher-ups actually did not allow them to interfere. To be honest, Nicole could not accept this. However, after experiencing so many things, she knew that they should stay away from all this due to Samuel's identity.

Samuel also knew what Nicole was thinking and said, "Then who is going to take over this?"

"My father is setting up an operation team, and has also started to gather some talented people. Don't worry. The sailing route belonging to the Mason family is very important. He will not let it be taken away by others. Therefore, no matter what, he will do his best to investigate this. I call you because I am afraid that you can't figure it out."

"No."

Samuel was no longer the young man from the beginning. After experiencing so many things, he knew sometimes he should endure and sometimes he should be cruel.

"Please say sorry to Nicole for me. Tim will definitely be fine. I will also send people to participate in the operation team."

Morty still cared about Nicole. He whispered, "Alison is your people, right?"

Nicole and Samuel were stunned when they heard this.

Back then, Alison was secretly sent by Samuel to the Military Research Institute in Country F in order to cooperate with Laurence. Samuel was afraid that something would happen to Laurence in the Institute, so Alison went there in advance. However, Alison disappeared after the accident at the Military Research Institute.

Samuel had been searching for her, but he didn't expect to hear Alison's name from Morty.

His heart skipped a beat.

"You..."

"Don't misunderstand. I found Alison near the Dark Forest. At that time, she was injured all over and she was on the verge of death. My people saved her. I don't know what she has gone through. She has been sleeping all this time and has just woken up. She almost recovers. I know that you and Nicole are worried about Tim and the others. I will send Alison and a few of my subordinates to join the operation team. When there's any news, I will let her notify you."

In fact, Morty had violated the principle of confidentiality by doing so. However, he was Mr. Morty and the heir to the Hill family. There was nothing wrong with giving Alison such an order. As long as his father did not care about this, no one would.

Although Nicole still wanted to look for Tim, she knew that Morty's arrangement was the best at present.

She nodded to Samuel.
