Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 1531 This Was an Opportunity

"At that time, Monica claimed to be Morty's girlfriend. What could Molly do? Moreover, Monica kept Molly's relationship with Morty a secret. This was also what Morty meant. He was conspicuous and needed a girlfriend to divert his opponents' attention from Molly. Especially after the murder, Morty was even more certain that forcing Molly to leave him was the right choice. Thus, in others' eyes, Morty and Monica were truly in love with each other, but someone had already noticed Molly. So the most effective method was to let Molly marry someone else. Dylan married Monica, which was promoted by Morty. I can understand his feelings when he pushed his beloved woman to another man."

Samuel sometimes put himself in Morty's position and wondered whether he would do this. But finally, he didn't know.

Because sometimes people wouldn't come up with solutions without being in that position. Only when their lives were threatened and they were truly helpless would they make choices. Although he and Nicole had a tough time, they were together in the end.

Nicole fell silent.

Nicola was also a woman and could understand Molly's feelings. If she fell in love with such a powerful man as Morty, she thought that she would also leave him finally.

Loving someone and offering love without reservation both required no involvement of the family. So Molly could not do it.

If she continued to stay by Morty's side and continued to love him openly, it would give Morty's opponents a chance, because she was Morty's weakness. But Molly did not have such a powerful ability to protect herself and her family.

Because of her, it was more than likely that the Hawks, a hundred-year-old aristocratic family, would become history overnight. If so, Molly would become a sinner of the Hawks.

The Hawks also may know about it. To protect their family, some things might come from the Hawks.

Chapter 1532 Why Let Me Call

"Although the Bell family is noble, it's a level lower for the Hawk family. The marriage between the two families was a good story, and Dylan was not ordinary, right?"

From Dylan's unwillingness and anger, Nicole knew that he was a very capable person, even the hope of the Bell family.

Samuel nodded and said, "Yes, he was a talented young man. In business, he was outstanding very early."

"That's right. If the Hawk family didn't suppress the Bell family, Dylan might lead his family to a higher level. And the Hawk family would lose control of the Bell family, and lose the chance to get rewards from Morty in the future. While the Bell family would receive the Hill family's gratitude for raising Morty's daughter and would definitely become better. Master Jeffrey has thought of this. Thus, he suppressed the Bell family before it developed, causing it to fall, and making it impossible for Dylan to sleep with Molly. Only then could the Hawk family become prominent in the future."

Nicole's words dawned on Samuel, and a trace of apprehension flashed through his eyes.

"What are you thinking?"

"I'm thinking about Blair."

Samuel told Nicole in a low voice, "If what you said is true, Morty will revenge fiercely on the Hawk family. After all, the Hawk family must pay the price for scheming and harming his beloved ones. However, Blair is a Hawk. Even if he lives freely, he cannot escape the fate of the Hawks."

Only then did Nicole recall that Blair was a Hawk.

"Morty wouldn't do anything to Blair, right? Blair is only a doctor."

"But Blair's father-in-law is a lieutenant colonel."

Samuel knew Morty's current ability. The Hawk family was wrong. Morty would act swiftly. Moreover, the four young masters of the Seapolis City were too famous. Even if Morty didn't make a move, Aron would take the lead to attack those eminent families in order to make Morty's future more peaceful.

Throughout history, the upper echelons have been afraid that merit overshadows master, especially when the regime changed.

Nicole frowned.

She thought when Morty was at the Green's, he looked like a playboy. She couldn't link him to such a ruthless man, but Samuel wouldn't say this for no reason.

She sighed.

Nicole smiled and told Gabrielle about Molly as a gossip. Finally, she said, "This woman's surname is Hawk. The man she married then was a noble named Dylan who really is a scumbag."

Gabrielle frowned slightly and listened quietly.

"Alright, I just wanted to tell you something interesting. Did you just get up?"

"Yes."

Gabrielle nodded.

"Then go wash up and eat. I'm sleepy. I'm going to sleep. Bye."

After hanging up the phone, Gabrielle was lost in thought.

When Blair came out of the bathroom and saw Gabrielle like this, he couldn't help but smile and ask, "What's wrong? What did Nicole say?"

"Blair, we might be in trouble."

Gabrielle's words caused Blair to be slightly stunned.

"What happened?"

Gabrielle repeated what Nicole had said, highlighting Molly and Dylan in particular.

Blair's expression immediately changed.

"Who are you talking about?"

"Molly, that's what Nicole said. I don't think Nicole would call me if it wasn't related to us. Furthermore, she highlighted Molly's surname, so she's probably reminding us of something."

Gabrielle did not know Molly. First, Blair did not want her to get too close to the Hawk family. Second, the matter with Molly and Morty was a secret. She only knew about Monica. As for Molly, because the Hawks had kept their mouths shut after Molly got married. She did not have the chance to know about her. Besides, Blair did not say anything about this person.

Seeing Blair's reaction, Gabrielle couldn't help but pause.

"What's wrong with you?"

"Molly is my cousin. Since we were young, we were the closest. I thought that although she would not be happy after marrying Dylan, the result would not be like this. Moreover, the Bells went bankrupt overnight. Dylan left Capital City with his family. When I wanted to investigate, there was no news about them. I originally thought that if Molly's life wasn't good, she would ask me for help, but I didn't expect her to be in such a situation."

Blair immediately felt sorrowful.

Molly, who had been apple of his eye, was actually tortured to such an extent by the Bell family. She used to be as resplendent as a bright pearl but now became a cripple!

Blair really wanted to kill Dylan.

Chapter 1534 How Could It Be

Nicole could imagine the miserable situation of the Hawk family right now, so she couldn't help but feel worried after the call.

She walked out of the study and saw Molly.

Molly stood in the corridor and nodded when she saw Nicole.

It's hard for Nicole to imagine how valiant Molly was before.

She didn't know what to say to Molly, so she could only smile and greeted her back before leaving. However, she heard Molly whisper, "Are you telling the truth?"

"What?"

Nicole was slightly surprised.

Molly smiled bitterly and whispered, "I heard everything."

Nicole was stunned for a moment, then whispered, "Samuel and Blair are good friends."

"Morty won't do that."

Molly looked at Nicole, a little anxious. But in Nicole's eyes, Molly was still comforting her.

Nicole did not know how much Molly had heard, but as a woman, she felt that Molly needed to know the truth.

Therefore, Nicole told Molly what Samuel had told her and what she had guessed.

Michele wasn't around. She might fall asleep, so Molly came out and talked to her about this. Nicole also didn't hide anything.

"Femando will arrive very soon. Perhaps Femando will be here tomorrow morning. He brought Morty's blood. Molly, I know that you are in a mess right now and you firmly believe Morty. The Hawks let you and your child endure so many years of suffering. Do you think Morty will stop considering his temper? No one can stop him from revenge."

Nicole did not know what Molly would do, but if she still held the opinion of Morty eight years ago, it would be silly.

After all, she had been living a bad life for the past eight years. Morty was struggling to his current position step by step. There were some things that he did not want but have to do. This was the regime.

Molly was stunned.

She could not believe that everything she had endured came from the persecution of her family.

Suddenly, Molly burst into laughter, but tears rolled down the corner of his eyes.

"Thank you, Mrs. Green."

Molly was not an ordinary person, so she knew that Nicole was helping her. However, she was in a bad mood now, so she needed to take her time.

Nicole also understood and nodded without saying anything.

Molly did not go to her room. After all, her daughter was still asleep, and she did not want her to know these dirty things.

Chapter 1535 Why Are You Plotting Against Me

Hearing what Molly said, Jeffrey's expression was somewhat gloomy.

"Why are you talking about the matter happened a long time ago?"

"Uncle Jeffrey, what do you think I'm saying?"

Molly was a little excited.

"Back then, you said you wanted me to marry, and I did for the sake of the Hawk family. Although I suspected that there was something wrong with that glass of water and it was arranged by you. However, I placed the blame on myself. Besides, you told me that Morty was arrested. As long as I broke up with him and married someone else, the master of the Hill family would save Morty. That's why I married."

She originally didn't want to say these things, but now she really hated them.

Femando was frowning at this.

Back then, the matter of Morty's murder was influential. Even the master of the Hill family could do little for Morty. Besides, the rest of the Hills hated Morty as their competitor at that time. Therefore, Morty was in a quite dangerous situation. Many people wanted to kill him covertly or openly.

Morty had barely slept well for a few years when he was in prison. He would be killed at any moment. Hence, Femando was slightly stunned, when he heard Molly said that as long as she married Dylan, there would be a way to save Morty.

After all, Molly knew the situation of Morty, so did she do it just to save Morty?

Femando glanced at Molly but didn't say anything.

Jeffrey frowned tightly.

"What exactly are you trying to say?"

"I just want to know one thing. I think about the Hawk family all the time. Why are you plotting against me?"

Molly's voice suddenly rose a bit.

But Jeffrey said impatiently, "Playing tricks on you? Molly, you should thank me. If I hadn't done that, would you have married Dylan? Considering your feelings for Morty back then, if you didn't get married, you would wait for Morty or do something bad for the Hawk family in order to save him. Perhaps even the opponents of the Hill family would target you and kill you. That's why you should thank me. I asked you to marry Dylan, which saved your life."

"Is that so? Did you do this for my own good?"

Molly suddenly laughed, but her eyes were cold.

Chapter 1536 I'm Not Expecting to Be His Son-in-law

Hearing Nicole's words, Molly went to the room to take care of Michele. Nicole just told the servants to add a few dishes. Since Femando had lived in the Green's, she knew his tastes.

While the women were handling the affairs, Samuel and Femando were busy doing their things, too.

The two went straight to the study.

"How's my son?"

The moment Samuel thought of Lucas, his teeth hurt. He was a good son, but why did he choose to suffer with Morty?

However, Samuel understood something after the Hawk family incident. The bigger the clan, the more they had to separate the children and raise them respectively, leaving a path for the clan. However, he hoped that the Green family would not go this far.

Femando said nonchalantly, "Don't worry, your son is like a sponge and there's enormous room for development."

"I don't want to see my son suffering."

"I know, but so what? Boys always bear much more, and they are from big families. You know that Lucas has shouldered a lot. Then why not let Joseph have a try?"

Just as Femando finished speaking, he was rejected by Samuel.

"He is the only son of Vincent, we can't do this. I support Joseph to do whatever he wants."

"Preference."

Femando did not propose anything else. Instead, he leaned against the chair and whispered, "What should I say about Morty?"

"Just say what you want to say."

Samuel didn't care.

Femando glared at him and said, "You're an old fox. You called me here just to push everything to me, right?"

"Of course, my wife and I are traveling. Having saved the daughter and woman of Morty is definitely a big deal. As for the rest, do you still expect me to do it? Remember that Blair is my brother. I don't dare to destroy the Hawk family myself. Besides, I'm unofficial now, so it's none of my business."

Never before did Samuel feel so fortunate that he had retired.

Femando smiled and said, "Your identity is up to Mr. Morty. Do you really think that your retirement report is so easy to sign?"

Samuel's expression changed as soon as he heard this.

"Go back and tell Morty that if he wants to play any tricks, I don't mind bringing my wife and children to the Y country. You should know that Steven wants me to become a citizen of the Y country."

Femando fell silent as soon as hearing this.

Few people knew Steven's identity. But as a senior corporate staff member, Morty absolutely knew it. Even Femando was clear about it.

After hanging up the phone, Femando didn't say anything before he heard Samuel say, "I'll leave this place to you. Here's the key. I want to take my wife out for a walk. You guys help yourselves."

Femando was not surprised that Samuel could guess what Morty was doing. But he was surprised that Samuel planned to leave the house and escape.

"Samuel, it's unfair."

"What do you mean? I'm a serious businessman now. Knowing too much is risky for me. Bye."

Samuel didn't listen to Femando's muttering but directly threw the key to Femando. Then, he took Nicole out the door without even saying goodbye to Molly.

Although Nicole felt that Samuel seemed to achieve his goal, she could tell that Samuel was trying to flee, so she couldn't help but laugh.

"Why you are still laughing?"

Samuel was speechless.

He even handed over his dwelling!

However, compared with their carefree days in the future, he just lost a house. At worst, they would go to a hotel.

"Let's go. I'll show you the scenery of Country Y."

Samuel threw everything behind him, so Nicole was naturally happy.

"You seem to be very familiar with this place."

This had always been Nicole's doubt. Ever since she arrived here, Nicole had discovered that Samuel knew every corner of the city, which seemed that he was at home.

Samuel did not hide anything from Nicole and said, "This is Steven's home. I have been here a few times."

"Mr. Bradford? Isn't Mr. Bradford from the Seapolis City?"

Nicole was rather surprised.

Samuel smiled and said, "Steven is indeed from the Seapolis City, but that is Mrs. Green's home. When Mrs. Green was young, she got married in Country Y and returned to the Seapolis City after divorce."

"Really?"

Nicole rarely heard of the Bradfords.

Samuel only said briefly, "When Mrs. Green was young, she married the First Prince of Country Y. However, the prince concealed his identity when he left home and he fell in love with Mrs. Green. They fell in love and got married. Later, Mrs. Green found out that she had married a famous person, but she couldn't change anything. She went to Country Y with the prince and gave birth to Steven, who was elected to be the successor. Unfortunately, after the First Prince inherited the throne of Country Y, his burden became heavier. He was schemed to sleep with a woman, which was very common in the royal family. Normally, they would accept the woman to balance the clan's influence in the country. However, Mrs. Green did not like it. She handed over the divorce papers and took Steven back home."

Nicole admired Mrs. Green's courage after hearing her experience.

"Then Mr. Bradford's father allowed Mrs. Green to take her son and return?"

Michele found Lucas was glancing at her. He looked thoughtfully, but he was not that indifferent as before. However, he stared at her like a fox, causing her to be a little nervous. Finally, Michele worked up the courage and asked, "Why looking at me?"

"Do you know how to play computer games?"

Lucas didn't know what was going on, but he actually felt that this little girl in front of him should be the same as him.

Perhaps hackers were very sensitive to their companions, and there weren't many people who were so fast with their hands. Moreover, he had noticed a small habit of Michele just now, and he always felt that he had seen it somewhere before.

Michele quickly withdrew her eyes and said, "No."

However, her heart was beating faster.

Why was Lucas so sharp-eyed?

She absolutely couldn't let anyone know that she was a hacker, or else she would bring bad things to Mommy.

Lucas did not force her to admit it, but his attitude was much better than before.

"Double row?"

"Alright."

Michele only hoped that Lucas would quickly move past this topic, as for what to do, it didn't matter.

Sure enough, Lucas did not say anything, but started playing with Michele.

Fernando knew Lucas' strength well, so when he saw that Michele could actually keep up with Lucas, he was no longer calm.

Were all the children so awesome now?

She was more excellent and competent than him.

Lucas naturally noticed Michele's results, but since he had guessed something, there was no need to ask.

Fernando was a little dumbfounded when they finished the match, and both Lucas and Michele got good results.

After playing a game, Lucas already understood Michele's hand speed and habits. He quit the game, which made Michele slightly stunned.

"You're not playing anymore? Is it because I'm not playing well?"

"That's not true. It's just a game. Just relax. There's no need to be obsessed."

Lucas said indifferently, but it made Michele slightly stunned, and then she had some respect for him.

At such a young age, he demonstrated great self-control.

Lucas looked at Michele and frowned slightly.

"How old are you?"

"Seven years old."

"Too short."

Lucas was a little disdainful.

Zoe was also seven years old, she was even a head taller than her. How did this girl grow?

However, thinking that she was the daughter of Morty, Lucas could not help but say, "From tomorrow onwards, go jogging with me to strengthen your body."

Michele was stunned for a moment, but she still nodded.

Chapter 1539 How Shameless

Michele was worried that Morty might hurt Mommy as Dylan did, so she barged into the room, even though she knew she might disturb the two inside.

She was a little scared when Fernando tried to stop her. Luckily, Lucas was with her.

Michele felt that Lucas had an overwhelming presence, and she was relieved with him as if he could solve all problems she worried about.

This was the first time she ever had this kind of feeling. She had always known that no one was as reliable as herself, so she has been pretty independent since she was a child. However, when she met Lucas, she wanted to rely on him and relax.

Morty heard the noise. When he saw her daughter holding a box of macarons in her hand, he couldn't help but smile. This feeling was natural, from deep in his heart. He didn't need to pretend or be cautious. He simply wanted to give his daughter all the best things in the world.

So this was the love a father naturally had for his daughter.

"Michele, what's the matter?"

Morty smiled so warmly that Michele immediately liked that handsome face.

"Lucas bought me a box of macarons. I want Mommy to try it first."

Michele was not as scared as she first came in.

Morty cast a glance at Lucas and was surprised to see that he also had one in his hand.

Morty remembered that Lucas didn't like sweet food, but he was a child, after all, so he said nothing about it.

Molly was thrilled. She beckoned Michele over with a wave.

"Mommy, please try it. It's so sweet."

Seeing her daughter's expectant eyes, Molly was almost moved to tears.

She nodded and took a bite. "Thank you, my baby."

"I love you, Mommy."

Michele turned around and handed it to Morty, "Daddy, would you like to have one, too?"

"Alright."

The expression on Molly's face immediately changed.

It was all right for her daughter to eat what she had bitten into, but it was awkward for Morty to have it.

"Wait..."

Before Molly could stop Morty, he had bitten off one of the macarons. He said to Michele while stroking her head, "I have something to discuss with Mommy. Can you go out and play with Lucas for a while?"

"Alright."

Michele barged into the room because she was worried about Mommy, but now that Mommy was fine and Morty was so gentle, she had no reason to stay. Besides, she really wanted to eat the macarons now.

Lucas said nothing but led Michele out.

The macaron was so sweet. And Morty felt so delighted.

"It's fine. I want to buy you something to eat. If you are here in the following days, I'll send it here."

Lucas' words instantly moved Nicole.

"Does my son want to buy me food? How touching!"

Samuel came back just in time and felt a little depressed when he heard Nicole.

'In this society, not only should I keep the men outside away from my wife, but should I also keep away my son?'

"There's no need for you to buy anything. Didn't all your money come from me? Your mommy has me. I will buy her anything she likes."

When Samuel uttered those words, Nicole immediately got annoyed.

"Don't discourage my son!"

"I'm telling the truth. You're my wife. Can't I buy you anything you want? Why do you feel touched by him?"

Nicole could feel Samuel's jealousy in his words.

Lucas was even more depressed than Samuel.

'Look, it's not that I don't want to buy delicious food for Mommy. It's all my jealous daddy's fault. What can I do?'

"I used my money. I earned it myself."

Lucas declared this.

"You brat, how do you have the ability to earn money?"

Samuel did not believe it, and he felt obligated to suppress Lucas' desire to buy anything for Nicole. Otherwise, if Lucas bought too much for Nicole, he might be the most important man in her heart!

Lucas explained angrily, "I have a salary now. Morty has enrolled me in the army, and I am getting a salary."

"What? Why didn't he tell me about this?"

Samuel was unhappy.

"There are many things you don't know."

Lucas didn't bother to talk to him and turned to Nicole, "Mommy, don't forget to take the express delivery later."

"Sure."

Nicole felt warm. Most people believed that daughters cared more about their mother than sons, but Nicole didn't think so. Sons were also loving and caring, weren't they?

Seeing that Lucas had hung up the phone and Nicole was still holding the phone with a happy face, Samuel felt more aggrieved.

'A son has grabbed Nicole's attention from me. If my four children put on good words to her later, do I still have a position in Nicole's heart?'

He regretted having four children.

"He hung up the phone. Didn't he just want to buy you something to eat? Didn't I buy you a lot more? Why didn't you treat me so well?"
