Chapter 1611 I've Never Aimed to Harm You

"Don't cry!"

Olivia's tears were a fatal injury to Jacob. He felt a sharp pang in his heart. How he wished that he could hug her in his arms and comforted her, but unfortunately, he had lost the right to do so.

"It's none of your business. Jacob Brown, you should keep being either nice or wicked. In that case, I can hate you to the core and realize what a scumbag you are. Look at yourself now. Tell me. What the heck do you want?"

If they were not separated by a glass wall, Olivia truly wanted to grab his collar and question him.

Jacob felt quite bitter.

It was his fault, so he must bear the consequences.

"I've never aimed to harm you, Olivia."

"However, everything you've done after you wanted to have a baby harmed me, didn't it? Jacob Brown, if you want a baby, you can tell me directly. I can't be a mother, but I won't stop you from being a father. Why didn't you tell me honestly? Why didn't you discuss this with me before making the decision? We have so many ways to have a baby, but you've chosen the worst way. You've done something wrong but you didn't think it was your fault. You even said that I couldn't understand you. You tortured me. After knowing Julissa Caldwell has harmed me, you tolerated her for the baby and let me suffer. How dare you say you've never aimed to harm me?"

Olivia talked about all the matters openly as if she had torn open her wound that hadn't formed a scab. She trembled in pain and her wound was bleeding.

"Jacob Brown, you are the one who stabbed me. You stabbed the dagger in my heart. However, you declared in high sounding that you've never aimed to harm me. Don't you think you are way too hypocritical? I know in our marriage, I also have made some mistakes. I'm too busy with my career to care about you. Have you thought about why I've done it? I'm just an ordinary woman. My family vanished overnight. But since you've left Samuel, you have been making progress in the business battlefield. Your company is becoming bigger and bigger. In City B, everyone praises you. I'm your wife. I want to stand by you and be a match for you. That's why I work so hard. I want others to think we are a perfect match. I don't want only to be Mrs. Brown. We don't have children, so I plan to work hard for ten years. After ten years, I can travel around the world with you, seeing all kinds of views. I've never thought of ignoring you, which made you have such persistence when you were lonely."

"Please stop it."

Jacob also shed tears.

Chapter 1612 Why Are You Here Again?

Olivia wept for a long time that her voice turned hoarse. In the end, she felt dizzy and upset. She had to calm herself down and drove back home.

It was the home belonging to Jacob and her, their matrimonial home use-to-be. In the bedroom, their wedding photo was still hanging on the wall. At that time, they smiled so happily and sweetly as if they had owned the whole world. However, all she felt was frustration.

Olivia force herself to nap for a while and grabbed something to eat. Then, Mr. Dupont came to her.

"Mrs. Brown, Mr. Brown wanted me to hand all those things to you. Please take a look and sign."

"Give them back to the person who gave them to you. I don't want them."

Olivia directly bypassed Mr. Dupont and got a glass of water. Mr. Dupont felt a bit embarrassed.

"These are the property given contracts. Mrs. Brown, it was Mr. Brown..."

"Anything else?" Olivia directly interrupted Mr. Dupont's words and said flatly, "I'm sorry, but I need to go out. Please close my door for me when you leave."

After that, she walked out of her home.

She didn't care what Mr. Dupont was thinking, but she felt quite depressed.

Divorce?

She used to think about it. However, after what Jacob had done, she wondered what she should do now.

She felt reluctant to divorce, as Jacob wasn't an indeed scumbag yet. However, if she kept this marriage, she would still mind what he used to do to her. Even when she was lying on the bed where Jacob and she used to lie, she would make wild guesses.

"You know nothing!" Olivia retorted crossly.

Her tone made Tony frown.

"You are a celebrity, OK? Mind your language!"

"What about my language? That's my style. So what I'm a celebrity? I'm also a human being. I can also curse, fart, grin teeth, and snore. A celebrity doesn't need to be a perfect human. I didn't ask you to talk to me, Mr. Tony. I know you are busy. Just leave me in peace and go! All right?"

Olivia directly shook off Tony. She returned to the bar counter and continued drinking.

The wave of anger surged in Tony's mind.

Although they were in a club with high-security measures, no one could guarantee that the paparazzi wouldn't come in. If Olivia was found to be like this, it might have a negative impact on her career.

There were always newbies in the entertainment business.

Tony directly asked, "He's just a scumbag. Why are you so reluctant to him? Olivia Kent, you shouldn't be like this."

Olivia suddenly paused.

Her eyes became cold. When she stared at Tony, the latter couldn't help but pause a bit.

"Why? Your husband is truly a scumbag after he has done such things. Can't I criticize him? Do you have any moral sense and rock bottom? Why do you still keep this kind of husband?"

"Pak!" Olivia slapped him across his face, interrupting his words. Tony squinted, emanating a gloomy aura. However, it didn't impact Olivia at all.

Looking at Tony, she said, stressing each syllable, "Who do you think you are to criticize my husband? What right do you have? A scumbag? How much do you know him? When he defended his country and went to the front line to experience life and death on the battlefield, what were you doing? You were working on your so-called researches. I can't deny that you have any contribution to the country, but compared to him, your contribution isn't worth mentioning at all. When I was dumped in the cemetery feeling lonely and frightened, it was he who had found me. He carried me on his back while walking down the hill. He brought me light and warmth. When the disaster happened to my family, it was he who helped me get through that period. He was always my backer during my downtime. Do you know what love is? It's not just a crush or an adrenal stimulation. Love is the dependence on each other and the indifference day after day and year after year. It flows like water but is refreshing. It cannot be given up at all. You know nothing, you are single as fuck!"

Her last line provoked Tony.

Tony became upset.

The more Olivia thought, the angrier she became. She directly gulped down all the liquor. Then she blacked out.

The box was filled with a strong alcohol smell. A figure gently pushed the door of her box open. Seeing that Olivia was sitting on the floor after getting hammered, he shook his head.

He walked up to lift Olivia and put her on the bed. Then he picked up the empty liquor bottles around the bed, afraid that she would trip over after getting up.

After tidying up the room, the man stood in front of Olivia. Looking at how suffered she looked, he felt sorry for her.

“Eww--”

Olivia suddenly felt that her stomach was turning. Instantly, she lay prone on the edge of the bed, retching.

The man rushed to the bathroom to get a basin. He put it under the bed and patted her on the back gently.

Suddenly, Olivia was a bit taken aback. Then she collapsed mentally.

“Fuck off, Jacob Brown!”

She pushed away from the man in front of her, crying hoarsely.

In the past, when she got drunk at dinner parties, Jacob always took care of her like this. However, she knew that Jacob couldn't show up here.

He was still in the detention house.

The pang in her heart that she had tried her best to suppress surged up again. She felt pain all over, and even all her cells were shivering.

“Why are you still haunting me down after I'm drunk? What's the use of caring about me after hurting me? Save your trick! I won't buy it! Just leave!”

Olivia roared hoarsely.

The man's eyes were filled with complications and concerns.

He got Olivia a glass of hydromel, but Olivia knocked it over.

Olivia kicked the door of Tony's box open, only to find several people in his box. It seemed they were in a meeting. Seeing Olivia come in, they looked blankly.

"What's up? What do you want?"

Tony didn't feel surprised. After all, he had seen Olivia be more brutal before.

Olivia tried hard to suppress her anger and put away the knife. Staring at Tony coldly, she asked, "What did you do last night?"

"Mr. Tony was doing the research on the medicine effect with us last night," one of the men answered on Tony's half. He cast a gossiping glance at Tony and Olivia.

Olivia was a celebrity and quite famous. She suddenly broke into the box with a knife. They couldn't help wondering what had happened.

"Was he here the whole night?"

Olivia paused.

It wasn't until then did Tony find that she didn't look right.

"Has anything happened? Please wait for me for a moment. Olivia, let's talk outside."

Tony stood up and bypassed Olivia.

His body was covered with a strong smell of cigarettes, and Olivia almost sneezed.

She suddenly frowned.

"Why did you smoke so much?"

"Come on, Olivia. I stayed up overnight. What can I do without smoking?"

It wasn't until then did Olivia notice that Tony's eyes were bloodshot. There were obvious dark circles under his eyes. Thinking about the man's answer just now, she frowned deeply.

She realized that the man wasn't Tony!

Last night, the man was quite clean. He smelt similar to the shower gel that Jacob usually used.

"Mr. Green, please wait!" Jacob hurriedly stopped Samuel.

"You must be extremely disappointed in me. I've never thought I'm a jerk all over the years. I know what I've done has hurt Olivia, Mrs. Green, and you. Maybe I have lost my mind at that time and make a huge mistake. I even couldn't forgive myself. I'm doing it not because I'm a coward, but I'm afraid Olivia would be bothered."

“You are not her. Don’t think you can make the decision without telling her just because you know her well. Otherwise, you’ll regret it.”

Right after Samuel finished speaking, Jacob’s phone started ringing.

It was a call from Dupont.

Jacob’s hands trembled. However, he still swiped to answer the call in Samuel’s presence.

“Mr. Brown, Mrs. Brown has signed.”

“What did you say?”

Jacob was taken aback, looking so surprised as if he had misheard.

Mr. Dupont said in a low voice, “Mrs. Brown, oh, Ms. Kent has signed on the divorce agreement. From now on, your marriage has ended. If there’s any problem, I’ll go through the process at the Civil Affairs Bureau. Moreover, Ms. Kent entrusted me to give the properties you’ve given her to Mrs. Green. She didn’t take any penny.”

Jacob knew that he had already regretted it.

However, he had to accept it.

He couldn’t describe what he was feeling now. He was so upset that he was almost suffocated.

He deserved it himself. Otherwise, he would still have a happy marriage. He thought about their good old times and what happened before the dust today, tears welling up his eyes.

He had seen how desperate and depressed Olivia was. He had thought that since they made love again, it would become different. Much to his surprise, she still made such a decision.

Since it was her choice, Jacob was willing to accept it.

Probably it was the punishment for him.

Chapter 1617 I'm Not Aggrieved

Nicole had never thought that Jacob would have chosen such a method.

"What does it mean by reserved duty? Doesn't he have a military rank?"

Olivia was also all her ears.

Samuel lowered his voice and answered, "Yes, he has a military rank. However, he was almost resigned in the past few years. Besides, when Olivia and he got married, he officially reported to the military headquarter and it was approved. Hence, he couldn't go there as an official soldier but only on reserved duty. Soldiers on reserved duty will go to the battlefield directly. With his military rank, he could stay in the command and give orders if he were still on duty, but now he's just a soldier."

Olivia's tears kept dropping.

"Where is he now?"

Although she had become filthy and didn't deserve Jacob any longer, Olivia still wanted to see him.

He was going to the battlefield aboard.

Seldom soldiers should be happy to do such a thing. A lot of them couldn't come back at all. The rest had all experienced hairbreadth escapes. Their enemies were all ruthless desperadoes. How could Jacob be willing to go to such a place?

Before Samuel answered, the message tone rang out on Olivia's phone.

It was the voice message from Jacob.

Immediately, Olivia tabbed to listen. She heard Jacob's familiar voice.

"Olivia, I know you've hurt a lot by the baby's matter. No matter how many apologies I make won't make it up for you. I was possessed and destroyed our happy family. I used to promise you that I would never let anyone bully you as you are my wife. However, I broke my promise. I didn't only break it but also I became an accomplice. I've punished Julissa Caldwell and also informed the public about what she has done. I also found the evidence. As soon as she's recovered, she'll be sentenced. She won't be able to leave the jail until at least ten years later. As for me, the accomplice, I know you are reluctant and cannot do anything to me, so I punished myself -- let me be exiled abroad and with bullets every day. My heart will have nothing to rely on. I'll wander like duckweed.

"I'm the luckiest man to fall in love with you and marry you. Even though we've been together for a few years, it's already a lifetime for me. In my life, you'll be my only wife, Olivia. But I know it's still a long time for the rest of your life, and you surely need someone to accompany you. Please give me and find a man who treats you well and is worth relying your life on. In the future, if I'm lucky enough to come back, I hope you can eventually forgive me. I truly wish you all the best in the future."

Listening to Jacob's words, Olivia couldn't stop shedding tears at all.

"Hello, Samuel? Mr. Green? Where is he? Where on earth is he?"

Olivia couldn't care about anything else now. She wanted to find Jacob and she must see him!

Nicole sent a message to Finn, asking him for help.

Finn quickly replied.

After Jacob let, Olivia cheered up. She fired the assistant and hired a new one. Then she went back to her work.

As for what had happened in the club, she naturally forgot about it and forced herself not to think about it. However, when it was the dead of night, she always woke up while weeping in sleeping.

Nicole was quite competent. Finn's men had soon made Dupont's briefcase soaked in the water. The original divorce agreement was completely wet and all the signatures were blurred. Hence, the divorce agreement didn't count.

When Mr. Dupont tried to inform Jacob about it, Jacob's cell phone number had been canceled already. Since then, no one knew about Jacob's whereabouts.

Olivia wasn't defeated, but instead, she faced her life more positively. Nicole told Samuel about what had happened in the club, asking him to find the deleted video.

Although Olivia never mentioned it again, Nicole felt quite upset. She was determined to find the jerk who had bullied Olivia.

It was just a piece of cake for Samuel.

He did some operations and recovered the video clip. When Nicole saw that it was Jacob in the video, she was taken aback.

"How could it be Jacob?"

"Or who else? Shortly after Olivia went to see him in the prison, the military top sent someone to bail him out. Just no one knew about it."

Samuel wasn't surprised by the result at all.

He saved the video clip and gave it to Nicole, who sent it directly to Olivia.

When the news spread, Nicole also rushed over.

"Davon, is Phoenix pregnant?"

However, Phoenix was quite confused. Looking at Davon, she asked, "Am I? Why don't I know?"

Looking at his silly wife, Davon coughed and answered, "I meant in the future, not now. What are you guys doing? Why are you gazing at my wife's belly? Don't you believe in my medical skill or my ability?"

Upon hearing it, all were disappointed. However, Sally said hurriedly, "It's alright. My son is a genius in medicine. We just need to wait for our grandchildren patiently."

William nodded.

For him, since he could have such an outstanding son and such a rich daughter-in-law in his life, he didn't have any regret.

So why would it even matter if Phoenix couldn't give birth?

He believed that God was always fair. Their Don family was frank and forthright, doing things for the country and the people. William didn't think they would have a hard life.

Sally also met Zayn with William.

Due to Zayn's special identity, William had a complicated feeling towards him. However, after hearing what Zayn had done to help Nicole and Samuel, he decided to forget the grudges in the past and treat Zayn truly.

"You are the Lord of Country F now. You can't repeat your father's mistakes in the future."

William was sitting in the wheelchair. Although he had become much better now, it was said that there would be a lot of sequela in the future. It was Zayn's biological father who had caused it.

Hence, Zayn felt quite guilty. He whispered, "Mr. Don, if you are willing, may I be your godson? I'm married today and only my mother is here. I felt somewhat regretful. My wife and I don't have many family members. Mr. Don, if you don't mind, I'll be your son in the future. I'll take care of you like Devon. In the past, I didn't have the capability or channel to know and stop what that man has done to you before. In the future, I'll be responsible for the rest of your life."

William was taken aback. Sally bit her bottom lip tightly. Suddenly, she burst into tears.

For Zayn, Sally had a bias. She felt sorry for him and protected him, but she felt quite depressed when seeing him. After all, she didn't want to give birth to Zayn, but for him, she always felt quite guilty all through the years.

Nicole had never expected that Evelyn would get disfigured.

Nicole gaped and noticed that Evelyn's belly had become quite big.

However, with a smile, Evelyn said, "It's alright. My face was injured on the sea by accident. I planned to do the surgery, but I was pregnant back then, so I didn't take the surgery for the sake of the baby. I'll do it after giving birth. Anyway, Tim doesn't mind it."

Nicole understood why Evelyn had decided to do so. When she was burned, she also had to bear the wounds for more than a year for the sake of her baby.

At the thought of it, Nicole felt so sorry for her.

She walked up and hugged Evelyn tightly and whispered, "I know although you sound so easy, you must have been suppressing the sadness alone. I don't know why Tim and you didn't want to tell us about your difficulties back then, I feel sorry for you. Evelyn, I'm so upset."

Nicole's eyes turned red.

Seeing her like this, Samuel winked at Tim.

Time patted Evelyn on her shoulder and said, "I'll chat with Samuel for a moment."

"Okay."

Evelyn nodded.

In the side hall, Nicole and Evelyn were chitchatting. Samuel and Tim went to the balcony. Handing Tim a glass of champagne and staring at his ruby face, Samuel said jokingly, "You look truly different after being a father."

"Of course. The baby comes way too late for us."

Samuel didn't have the heart to give him a blow. With concerns, he asked, "I remembered the doctor said you can't have children in three years. It's not the time yet, is it?"

"The baby came unexpectedly. Evelyn wanted to keep it no matter what. You know how much she was disappointed about our last kid, so I couldn't do anything but agree with her. At the worst, if any danger happens, I'll be with her. I'll live with her and follow her when she dies," said Tim indifferently.
