Chapter 1641 You thought I Did It

Morty had to thank Lucas.

Samuel's son was such a fine person.

"It'll be better if Lucas becomes my son-in-law," Morty was fantasizing.

Lucas and Michele didn't know what the adults were thinking at all. Soon, they tracked the other hacker.

Lucas knew who that was almost immediately.

The trace was so familiar. It looked like Silver Fox's trace.

Silver Fox was covering for Lucas? Did he know what happened just now?

If Silver Fox knew it, could Lucas' father be the reason why he didn't stop it?

Lucas was deep in thoughts. He typed quickly, and soon, Silver Fox smiled on the other side of the screen.

"This kid. Is he using codes to send me a message?"

The meaning of the code was: It's alright. It's safe to leave now.

Silver Fox then start to clean up the remaining part of the task.

Michele suddenly became nervous, "Lucas, it's getting away."

"Go after it."

As Lucas commanded, Michele quickly changed the codes.

Aron didn't understand what was going on, but he knew it was a critical moment. He got closer to Michele subconsciously.

"Can you trace their location?"

Michele was stunned. She was uncomfortable as she could smell the sandalwood scent on Aron.

Grandpa got too close.

But Michele replied to Aron quickly, "I suppose. But they are tricky and skilled."

"It's alright. You're also skilled."

Aron raised his brows when he heard Lucas praised Michele.

"Go and do some thinking by yourself. I won't be sitting in this place for long. You're going to sit here someday, but it's not for me to decide whether or not if you're capable to stay in this place."

Aron waved his hands. It meant he didn't want to continue talking to Morty.

Morty frowned, but he walked out of the room.

Morty saw Lucas waited for him outside of the room.

"What's up?"

"Did you asked Silver Fox to help out today?"

Lucas did some thinking, and he was sure that Morty was the only person who could get Silver Fox to help out.

Morty looked at Lucas and admitted. He then said, "Thanks for what you did for Michele today."

"I didn't like to see her being ignored. She's talented."

Lucas said calmly. Morty wasn't sure if Lucas was putting in good words for Michele, but Morty was happy.

"Of course. She's my daughter."

Lucas pouted and remained silent. He didn't want to continue on the topic.

Of course, a father would think their children were the best. It was the same for Lucas' father. Lucas became a little worried for Samuel when he thought of him.

"Is my father alright overseas?"

"Don't worry. Your father was born for battlefields. He's going to be fine."

Lucas felt less worried after hearing what Morty said.

Morty and Lucas walked together, and soon, they've arrived at Morty's home office.

Morty locked the door while Lucas quickly checked around in secretive places in the room. They took a breath of relief after they had confirmed that there weren't any surveillance tools in the room.

"Do you think your life sucks?"

Morty was stunned by what Lucas said. He felt like Samuel was standing in front of him.

"Not yet. They were putting it on hold."

"Get approved. The Don family had contributed so much to the country. It's alright to let him retire earlier. Get Morty to choose two other people to replace Xander and Audrey. Also, get him to in-charge there."

Aron decided on it as he stopped writing.

The old housekeeper promised to comply with Aron's command. Then, he asked, "What about Mr. Mark's position?"

"Get Morty to decide on it."

Aron decided to let Morty in-charged in the Don family's matters.

The housekeeper nodded and exited the room.

After the housekeeper got out of the room, he saw Morty, who purposely waited for him, in the corridor.

The housekeeper greeted Morty politely, "Mr. Morty."

"Uncle Kenny, did my father look for you?"

"Yes, he needed me to do something for him."

The housekeeper looked down. It was hard to tell if he was telling the truth.

Morty glanced at him and asked, "Did he give me any instructions?"

“Yes, Mr. Hill told me to get you in charge of the Don family’s matters.”

“Anything else?”

“No.”

Morty stared at the housekeeper coldly. He was smiling, but it wasn’t a sincere smile.

“Uncle Kenny, you’ve been working with my father since a long time ago, and you didn’t even want to go home after your retirement, but instead, you stayed and became our housekeeper. Should I say that you loved the power your job gave you, or should I suspect you to have some hidden agenda?”

Aron suppressed the pain he felt inside.

It seemed impossible for Aron and Morty to speak nicely to each other this life. After all, the death of Morty's mother was always a pain in Morty's heart.

Aron suddenly seemed weak and defeated.

He sighed and said, "I wasn't sure what happened to Laurence. My order for Tracy was for her to pretend as a successor of the Close family. She had to do something to gain their trust. Perhaps killing Laurence was one of it."

Morty thought Aron was going to be furious, but Aron calmed himself after he got enraged. Morty felt strange.

Morty paused and frowned.

"Why did they want Laurence dead?"

"Maybe they didn't want Laurence to join our side?"

Morty scoffed at what Aron said.

"And you believed that?"

Aron shook his head and said, "Nobody knows why Close family asked Dr. Miller to come out with Laurence, an experimental human. Samuel told us that it was because the Close family wanted to draw the other countries to their side, but no one could confirm what they're up to. We've only known that the successor of the Close family exists, but no one had ever seen them before. Other than Nick and Martin, the other successors seemed to be hidden in the dark. After Tracy released the news, Nicole's people stopped it before my people even get to it. So, I didn't know many details of the operation."

Morty frowned hard.

"Nicole's son went missing. Why can't she do that?"

"I wasn't blaming her, but Tracy isn't the one she should be watching."

"Then who she should watch?"

Morty felt like he was getting near to the answer, but Aron stopped talking.

"They are all people you can't go against regardless of who it is. So, Morty, you have to work really hard if you wanted to stay in my position. Samuel passed all his assets to Nicole, but recently, he had been transferring his assets overseas. He was worried that people would get envious of his possessions. Why can't you think of the obvious reason when Samuel already thought of it?"

It was what Aron did all the time. He won't make things clear, but instead, he wanted Morty to figure things out himself.

Sometimes, Morty wondered if Aron would still train him like he did if he was dumb.

"Can't you tell me directly?"

"No."

Nicole quickly kept her phone away when Tony walked in. She asked Tony, "How's Ernesto?"

"His condition is stabilized, but he was a wreck. Was he hurt by the person he loved?"

"Stop being nosy."

Nicole rolled her eyes and exited the room.

Ernesto was already asleep. He looked pale.

Nicole wasn't sure how would Ernesto react if he found out Alison's real identity. She could only pray that things weren't as bad as she imagined.

Zayn's wedding went well. He heard about the shooting at night. After some investigations, Zayn found out that Nicole was involved in the shooting. Zayn immediately left his bride and drove to Nicole's place.

"What happened? I heard you got attacked?"

Nicole was touched to see Zayn here.

"It's not as bad as you think. It's alright. Go back. You're the groom. Why did you even come here?"

Zayn felt worried even if Nicole was smiling and joking with him.

"You're attacked in my territory. It's a humiliation to my power. I'll find out who did this to you."

"It's alright, Zayn. I just wanted to find some answers. Trust me. I can do it myself."

If Nicole and Samuel were the reason for the assassination of Laurence and the kidnapping of Eaton, Zayn better stayed out of it. After all, it would affect the relationship between the two countries.

Zayn frowned hard. Zayn wanted to tell Nicole that he didn't care, but in the end, he gave in when he saw the determination in Nicole's eyes.

"You must come to me when you need help."

"Sure."

Zayn went back to the palace after Nicole convinced him that she was alright.

At the same time, Xander got informed that his retirement application was approved. He felt sentimental.

"Dad, are you kidding me?"
Nicole couldn't help but laugh.

Who was Xander?

The model of the military, and also the boss of the Don family. He just needed to give a command for anything he wanted to do. There was no need to beg others.

Nicole thought that Xander was joking with her and couldn't help but sit beside him.

Looking at his daughter, who just looked like himself, Xander suddenly said solemnly, "I really have something to ask you."

Such a severe expression startled Nicole.

"Dad, what do you want to do?"

"What are you thinking about?"

Xander smiled and stroked Nicole's head.

He really hoped to see how Nicole grew up. He had mistreated his daughter the most for his life.

Feeling her father's love, Nicole's heart suddenly softened a lot.

"Dad, you scared me out of my wits making such a scene suddenly."

Nicole gazed at Xander petulantly.

It felt pretty good being cherished by her daughter.

Xander said lovingly, "Nicole, the thing I regret the most in my life is that I didn't get to watch you grow up and be by your side. I was not able to stay in my hometown to take care of your grandmother when I was at my most youthful. I have been loyal to my country all my life, but I have not done my filial duty. The good thing is that you now have Samuel by your side to protect you, even if I'm nothing anymore, you still have someone to fall back on."

"Yes! I promise you!"

Xander spoke solemnly, which caused Nicole to freeze for a moment.

Neither the people from the military, Samuel, Tim, nor Olivia, could find Jacob, but now Xander said so firmly that he could find him, making Nicole feel puzzled.

“Dad, is there something you’re hiding from me and Mom?”

“It’s for your own good that Dad doesn’t say anything. You’ll know it when it’s time. Just listen to me, no matter what happens in the future, don’t force your way out, understand?”

Xander’s advice made Nicole somewhat unable to agree.

She had too many responsibilities to bear, so naturally, she couldn’t agree with it. But looking at Xander’s expectant eyes, she still nodded slightly.

The two talked a lot more, and finally, Nicole fell asleep unconsciously.

Xander felt reluctant looking at Nicole’s sleeping.

“Silly girl, there are many things in this world that are not as simple as you think. With Samuel by your side to protect you, and the kids by your side to keep you company, I have nothing to worry about. I only hope that your future life will be better and better. May God bless you.”

After that, Xander draped his jacket over Nicole’s body and leaned down to give her a kiss on the forehead before turning around and walking out.

It was dark outside, but in Xander’s eyes there seemed to be a red glow suddenly.

That glowing was indeed frightening, and it was precisely the same as when Laurence went berserk!

Chapter 1648 That Was So Sassy

"Let's go!"

Xander glanced in the direction of Audrey and Nicole. They would never be able to see each other again after this!

His eyes were watery, yet he turned around, led his men to the helicopter and left Country F.

Zayn had just finished making love to his bride when he got the news and was stunned for a moment.

"Gone?"

"Yes. Gone with a few of the researchers in the Dark Forest."

The guard felt it was so wrong to bother Zayn at this time, but the matter was too important that he had to come and report.

"Has Nicole been informed?"

"Not yet. Mrs. Green seems to have fallen asleep."

The guard didn't dare to disturb Nicole's rest.

Zayn immediately got up and dressed while his wife handed him his car keys, whispering, "Be safe."

Looking at his new wife, Zayn said guiltily, "I'm sorry. Tonight should have belonged to the two of us, but..."

"I understand. Something must have happened on Nicole's side. We as elders can't be too fussy about it."

Her words touched Zayn.

“Thank you, dear.”

Her face blushed, and she lowered her head shyly.

Zayn gave her a kiss and then hurriedly followed the head guard out.

Nicole was surprised when she heard that Zayn had come. She thought she had misheard it, looking at the time that it was four in the morning. Why had Zayn come over so early?

She quickly got up and realized that she was sleeping on the sofa with her dad’s jacket.

How had she fallen asleep?

Where was Xander?

Had he gone back?

Nicole hung the jacket aside and got up to welcome him, only to see Zayn already walking in.

“Nicole, your dad had left Country F with his men overnight. Do you know what’s going on?”

Lucas held Xander's hand.

That soft little hand and worried eyes instantly warmed Xander's frozen heart. If Nicole had grown up around him, she would probably be like this too.

In fact, Lucas was quite like Nicole.

Xander stroked Lucas's head and said gently, "Don't worry about grown-up stuff. Be good. Grandpa is still waiting for you to bring Mr. Morty to my rescue."

Hearing this, Lucas's heart was troubled, but he nodded quickly.

"Grandpa, you must wait for me to come back."

"Okay, I'll wait for you."

Xander looked at Lucas with fondness and kindness in his eyes.

Lucas turned around and ran without any hesitation.

He knew there was a phone booth near here, and he had to notify Morty to come immediately. Lucas now had no communication tools as his mobile phone had been handed over on the way out.

He had always felt that he didn't need a mobile phone, but now he realised that he was wrong.

As Xander watched Lucas leave, he couldn't withdraw his gaze for a long time.

This was his grandson, and he had his blood in him!

He would definitely make a name for himself in the military in the future!

Xander said in a low voice, "Barge all the way into the basement below."

Chapter 1650 What Do You Mean by This

Xander narrowed his eyes again.

Cody Shaffer was betting on Eaton's importance to Xander.

It was said that people who had been away on missions for a long time were the most eager for their families. And because they felt too much guilt towards them, they would do anything for them.

Such was the case with Xander at this moment.

“You better make sure my grandson is okay. Otherwise, I swear I’ll rip off your head and hang it at the gate. You know, I’ll do it! At my age, it doesn’t matter to me what merit I have.”

Cody Shaffer calmed down as Xander said that.

As long as he said that, he would stop Mr. Morty from going in. And as long as Mr. Morty didn’t get in, there was still hope for the Shaffer family.

Xander did feel ridiculous about Cody Shaffer’s approach.

Did he really think that everything in the Shaffer family could be held without Mr. Morty going in?

Did he think he could still get away with it after messing with his grandson?

Xander gave him a stern look, then came to Mr. Morty’s side and said, “Mr. Morty, the Shaffer family is a meritorious family after all. It doesn’t seem good to go in and search it in public, and it’s not in line with the rules too. How about you go back first and come again another day?”

Mr. Morty frowned slightly.

Although he knew that Cody Shaffer would definitely say something to Xander to obstruct him, he never thought that Xander would really stop him.
