Chapter 1691 Are you Fucking Crazy

Nicole was very anxious, but Trevin was not any better either.

As soon as they entered the enemy-occupied area, they found that all their electronic devices had lost signals and kept making a harsh sound.

The enemies were searching for their signals!

The thought flashed across Trevin's mind.

This area's network had been completely replaced by an independent area network. Different signals would be detected immediately, and an alert would be issued from the Security Bureau.

Trevin's eyebrows almost wrinkled together.

"Quick, destroy all electronic devices!"

Trevin's order stunned everyone.

"Destroy? Captain, if they're destroyed, how are we supposed to contact Mrs. Green?"

"Stop that nonsense! If we are all dead, how are we supposed to complete the mission assigned by Mrs. Green? All of you, listen up. Now we need someone to take all our devices and go far away to destroy them, and he might never return. Who wants to go?"

Trevin actually wanted to go, but he was the commander-in-chief of the operation, and he could not die yet.

Everyone from the Night Elf was impressive and they fought to go. Someone had quickly seized their devices and sprinted out without even saying a word.

Before Trevin could see clearly, that person had already run quite far away.

"Who's that?"

"It's Theresa."

The vice-captain was also surprised.

Theresa was the only girl in this operation.

She was an orphan rescued from the mountains by Nicole. She then requested to join the Night Elf's special training and she was with Joseph.

Theresa had been in the Night Elf for four years. She looked ordinary, and therefore most people just did not notice her. And this was just her advantage. She could get close to the enemy quietly and complete the assassination mission perfectly.

It was reasonable to say that Theresa was the team's secret weapon. No one had expected that a girl like her would rush to the frontline at this time.

Only then did Trevin know why Samuel had lost contact with them as soon as he entered this to find them in such Trevin didn't know what Samuel's mission was here. It was top secret. In this case, finding them was like looking for a needle in as Trevin and the rest changed their clothes and came out, they saw troops moving 'Theresa!' clenched their many people, and all of them were armed. Theresa was a little confused. However, when she looked up and saw Trevin's pale face, she kept quiet and let Trevin drag her away.

Trevin was not familiar with this place. He only knew that he could not take Theresa back to the rest of the team, otherwise their position would be exposed. He could run in the opposite direction with Theresa.

It was the first time Theresa saw Trevin lose his temper. Although he was usually strict, he was gentle to her. Now Theresa was a little shocked when she saw his enraged look.

Behind them came the sound of sirens and the roaring of aircraft.

Trevin's muscles tensed up in an instant.

'It's an ambush? Or did they just pass by, by accident?'

Trevin had no idea, but he knew that his vice-captain and the rest of the team were in trouble.

He quickly sent a message to his vice-captain to ask them to leave quickly, and, if possible, hide in the mountains.

It was not really a big deal to the Night Elf.

Survival in the wild was something they must learn in their training, but they won't do it if they were not in a desperate situation. Trevin didn't expect them to be exposed so quickly.

At this time, Theresa realized that she might have made a mistake. She followed Trevin carefully and didn't pay attention to the road at all. As she was about to step into a pond, Trevin quickly pulled her back.

"You..."

He wanted to scold her, but when he saw Theresa's guilty and remorseful face, he immediately swallowed the rest of his words.

"Follow me closely, no matter where you go or who you meet, you are my sister, do you hear me? Your name is Theresa Harper now! Get it?"

Theresa immediately looked up and nodded quickly.

“Are you not angry with me anymore?”

Theresa's voice was very soft, and there was also a trace of guilt in her eyes.

What else could Trevin say when he saw her like this?

“If anger can solve any problem, we won't need to come here. Come with me.”

Theresa nodded. She walked quickly behind Trevin, but she limped a little.

Trevin took Theresa's hand and ran for some time. He was surprised to find that Theresa couldn't keep up with him.

Realizing one of them had been eaten by the crocodile because of that wounded man, they were all burning with anger.

"Damn! What a bastard! Brothers, I think it doesn't matter what we do to him as long as he's not dead!"

A man who seemed to be the captain straightaway gave the order.

Trevin saw the man being dragged up from the water, and all the people on the bank rushed up and stabbed at the man's wound.

Fresh blood stained the bamboo raft again, which made a truly appalling scene.

Trevin suddenly burst into tears.

"Stop! All of you! Mr. Louis! Tim!"

Trevin would never see it wrong.

'That man is Tim Louis!'

'It's Mrs. Green's cousin!'

'But why is he here?'

'Isn't he with Samuel?'

'If Tim is here, where's Samuel?'

'Is he here too?'

Trevin didn't expect that he would meet Tim at such a place, but now was certainly not the right time to feel happy for it.

Tim looked terrible!

Tim seemed to hear Trevin's call. His eyebrows wrinkled slightly, but he didn't respond.

The captain of the soldiers saw that Trevin cared about Tim so much and he couldn't help but pause his action.

"You know him?"

"No, I don't!"

Tim vomited a mouthful of blood and glanced at Trevin coldly. His eyes were so frigid as if they really didn't know each other.

Trevin immediately realized that he was in trouble.

He may have disrupted Tim's plan. But he couldn't help it when he watched Tim getting beaten up!

The captain looked at Trevin and Tim, and suddenly smiled.

Chapter 1694 It was All Impossible Now

Trevin seemed to understand something from Tim's cold eyes when he got shot.

Although he also knew that that was the best way, he could not just stand there, watching Theresa getting killed by his comrade.

Trevin felt Theresa trembling in his arms. He suddenly jumped up and punched Tim.

"How dare you shoot my sister! I'll kill you!"

Trevin seemed hysterical and he fought with Tim.

The captain who was suspicious at first was also confused by their action.

"Captain, it looks like they really don't know each other. Otherwise, how could they have so much hatred towards each other? If the man didn't block the shot, it would directly hit the woman's heart."

The soldier at the side hurriedly said.

The captain could certainly tell that, but he said coldly, "Calm down. They're all up to no good anyway. If they could kill each other, that would save me some trouble."

"But if that guy dies, and we get blamed..."

The captain's expression suddenly changed. He kicked the soldier and said angrily, "So you're so obedient towards their order? Why, do you want me to talk to them and promote you?"

"I'm sorry, Captain."

The soldier apologized quickly and cautiously.

Although Trevin and Tim were fighting with each other, they were still observing the surrounding.

They could not communicate with each other at all right now. Whatever they said would be heard, and since there were crocodiles everywhere, it was impossible to leave this place.

Soon the two of them were exhausted.

Trevin was pressed on the wound by Tim because of his injury. He twisted a little due to the pain. He then also took the opportunity to bite some of Tim's flesh off.

The two men were finally pulled apart, their bodies were full of blood, their eyes were red, and they looked like they would never give up until one of them dies.

The captain seemed satisfied. He then smiled and said, "Alright, I'm not a bloodthirsty person. Throw them into the water. As for this woman, take her to my room."

He deliberately stepped on Trevin, and Trevin who passed out woke up the moment he sensed the pain.

“If you don't want to spend the rest of your life in regret, hurry up and get in the room!”

Tim's voice was very soft, as if he was talking to himself, but Trevin heard it.

He thought of Theresa's smile and was filled with power in an instant.

The two killed two soldiers together, seized the guns from their hands, and then shot like crazy.

The intense gunfire made the captain stop.

“What's going on?”

Theresa's clothes had been torn to pieces, her upper body was exposed in the air. She had bitten her tongue and fainted.

She was going to bite her tongue and kill herself.

But then she heard the soldiers shouting outside.

“Captain, the rats broke free from our shackles. They are so strong!”

“Shit!”

The captain directly picked up his pants and walked out, but before he had time to go out, Trevin rushed in and kicked him to the ground. His anger surged when he saw the blood at the corner of Theresa's mouth.

“You bastard!”

He shot at the captain's lower body without thinking.

Although the captain dodged quickly, he was still shot and he howled in pain.

Trevin quickly took off his coat and put it on Theresa, and he teared up.

“Theresa, wake up, I'm taking you home!”

Trevin held her tightly, but he couldn't get any response from Theresa.

He was suddenly panicked.

Tim was fighting and shooting outside like crazy, but he was slightly out of strength.

He felt a little dizzy, and his movements froze for a moment. Suddenly, he was punched by someone and he fell down.

The crocodiles in the river smelled blood and they quickly came over.

“It’s our men!”

Tim was being helped on his feet, and as he looked at the helicopters hovering above him brandishing the Sky Group and Night Elf Empire Emblem, he couldn’t help but let out a sigh of relief.

Trevin saw it too.

It seemed that the vice-captain was able to reach Fill of the Sky Group finally.

“It’s me who have asked Fill to reach out to people from the Night Elf.”

Samuel seemed to be able to read Trevin’s mind. He patted Trevin’s shoulder and said in a low voice, “Is that girl very important to you?”

Important?

Trevin froze for a moment.

That’s right.

She’s important to him!

They were like family!

However, Samuel continued, "You must be good to that girl. She's willing to come all the distance and come out on an international mission with you. If she doesn't love you to the core, I don't think she is willing to do that. If Nicole knew that you have a girlfriend now, she would be ecstatic. Don't worry, I will look for the best doctor to cure her. I will make sure she won't even have any side-effects."

Trevin was at a loss for words.

He looked at Samuel, and from his eyes he found that it was very likely he could no longer conceal his feelings for Nicole.

Perhaps, he didn't intend to hide this from Samuel anyway.

Samuel was a very jealous person, and he knew that very well. However, even though he might have known his feelings, Samuel didn't expose him and instead, he continued to be good to him. This meant that Samuel believed him so much, and he believed Nicole so much.

Chapter 1697 They Are Ruthless

"Alison, what are you doing?"

Clark saw the way his daughter was, and his senses were immediately heightened.

"Are you crazy? Get rid of those explosives from you now!"

It was not easy for Clark to reunite with her daughter, and although he felt a gap in between them, he still hoped that his daughter could live out her life peacefully.

As a parent, he sure wished for the well-being of his child.

The Close family had a long history of crime, and he had already given the final verdict to his underlings. No matter how things would end, he would send Alison away.

Twenty years ago, he lost his daughter, which he regretted for the next twenty years. Now that he was sending his daughter away again, truth to be told, Clark felt very unwilling, but he knew that it was best for his daughter's future.

No matter how bad things became, he never wanted her to end her life like that.

Kelly and Ebby had a very nasty expression on their faces.

If they were very happy at the time they found Alison, they were now equally furious.

"So, did you ask your father to betray us?"

How would Kelly not understand how regretful and guilty his son was feeling towards his granddaughter?

However, how could she use her own father's guilt to scheme and trap her own family?

Wasn't she also a child of the Close family?

Alison didn't have a lot of reservation this time, and she didn't stay silent too. She said in a soft voice, "That's right! Who do you guys think you are? With the small numbers that you have, are you dreaming of shaking up the whole country just because you have negotiations with firearms dealer from other countries? Do you think you can steal the assets of the country with that reason? You are just dreaming!"

"Alison!"

Ebby's eyes looked bloodshot.

"All these years you're not in the Close family, you won't know how much we have sacrificed for the sake of this goal. However, you're one of us too, so how could you treat us like this?"

"It's undeniable that the blood of the Close family flows in me, but it's precisely what makes me feel so disgusted! You guys had lost me, and it was the country and Mr. Shaffer who has given me a new life, who has taught me what is right and what is wrong. I know what having a belief means. Do you think I covet the family name so much? Before I accept this mission, I don't even know who Alison is! My name is Tracy! I am proud of my country, my military identity and even my own identity as Tracy! Now that you guys have done so many things wrong in front of me, are you still thinking of running away? There is no escape for you guys!"

Chapter 1698 She Shouldn't Make Life Difficult for His Daughter

When Alison was arguing with Ebby, Clark had secretly removed the explosives from Alison's body without her noticing.

Clark always felt sorry towards this daughter, and his heart went out to her to especially after learning of everything that Alison had endured in the past. There was not a moment when his heart could be at ease.

Perhaps, this was God punishing the Close family. If he was given a choice again, he really hoped that in the beginning, he would elope from this family with his wife and daughter. No matter how difficult and frugal their life might be, at least his daughter won't be left alone shouldering everything.

Clark looked at the anguished and torn eyes of Alison and whispered, "Alison, just do whatever you want to. I will always support you."

Alison's body froze for a moment.

She could clearly feel the love in his father, and also the care and regrets from her mother. However, she couldn't be shaken up by such trivial feelings. She couldn't let herself become soft.

No matter what they were trying to do, it couldn't cover the blood on their hands.

Therefore, Alison didn't look straight at Clark.

She was afraid that she would soften in her stance.

Clark watched his daughter's forced determination and indifference and felt his heart bleed.

"You can leave now. I will talk to your grandpa and aunt. Don't worry, we will come up with a solution for what we owe to the country."

"She can't go! Brother, if she walks out of this house, the Close family will be ruined!"

Ebby became frantic.

However, Clark coldly stared at her with a gaze that was the same as when he used to be the master of the Close family. He looked dignified.

"Come, send the missus away."

After Clark finished saying that, a dozen people came in and surrounded the house.

Kelly's face drastically transformed into a horrified expression.

"Are you out of your mind? You dare to use our men just for such a trivial matter?"

Chapter 1699 Just Think of this Place as a Nightmare

"Brother, what are you trying to do?"

Ebby suddenly saw the madness in Clark's eyes.

Clark instead just laughed, "Look, the Close family has committed too many sins through the years, no?
Taking into consideration all of the ordeals we have gone through in the country, and although at first glance we were guided by our grandfather, it was still us in every missions. We all have parents, and if you stand in the shoes of our victims, wouldn't you feel that you don't have a conscience?"

"Conscience? Brother, what are you saying?"

Ebby stared hard at Clark and scanned her surroundings. These people were all victims of the Close family.

It was not easy for them to train so many men throughout the years which exhausted most of their wealth and energy. Now, they were all summoned by Clark to this place, which made her feel a little unease.

Kelly was in a frenzy too.

"You unfilial thing, I have given you the reins of those men so that the Close family will have a way of backing out when things get dangerous. What are you trying to do now?"

"We are going to get buried together and die together. After all, this is what Alison wants to see. In my life as a father, I can't even leave behind anything meaningful for my child. I thought leaving her with some wealth would give her a life without worries, but now I realize that my child isn't even concerned with that at all. She just wants the Close family to be destroyed. If that is the case, I will make it come true for her. However, my Alison is a girl, I can't let her hands get bloodied, so I will do it for her."

Clark was very serene when he spoke as if he was talking about the nice weather of the day. On the other hand, both Kelly and Ebby was scared out of their wits.

"You unfilial son, did you lose your mind?"

"Brother, you can't do that!"

However, Clark put on an innocent expression, "Why can't I do that? I think it's the best for everyone. Alison is right, the people in the Close family all have great sins. This is the only way we can seek salvation and wash away our sins. Maybe we can even secure a good chance in the next life. If there is a next life, I will never lose my child anymore. I will hug her tightly and won't let her get taken away by anyone. I won't let her suffer a difficult life."

As he spoke, his words slowly turned into a fit of laughter. His face was an expression of satisfaction and longing.

"Brother is crazy! Dad, he's brainwashed by Alison! He's out of his mind! You men of the Close family, get lost! Go get that bomb in his hand. Fast!"

Chapter 1700 I Don't Need You to Do That for Me

Mrs. Close really had a heartache.

This girl was her daughter. How could they make her daughter kneel down and beg someone just because they had made a grave mistake in the past? Furthermore, they weren't a bright spot in Alison's life and they had lived a long life. It was enough for them.

When Clark asked about her thoughts about dying together with him, Mrs. Close knew that Clark had made this iron-clad, irrefutable decision.

This man had lived his life wallowing in regrets because of losing her daughter, but now that her daughter was someone successful, he was happier than anyone.

He told her that the Close family finally had someone who was sane. And that someone was his daughter too. He was so proud!

The blood began to accumulate at the corner of Mrs. Close's lips. An intense pain was pegging her. However, despite that, looking at Alison who was crying her eyes out, her heart ached even more.

"Don't cry, Alison. Don't cry! Allow us to depart with a smile on our faces! Your dad told me, you have a boyfriend now? We are not worthy as parents, so we won't have any comment on your choice. You need to be sure of that man by yourself. Your father has left you some money under the name of someone, and if you were to be bullied by that man, just divorce him. The money is enough for you for the rest of your life."

"I don't want that! I only want you and dad! Mum, stop talking, I'll bring you to see a doctor!"

Alison tried to carry her mother up with much difficulty.

At the moment, she looked like a lost child.

Where is the doctor?

Due to the spreading pandemic here, Alison had actually secretly quarantined this place. At this moment, she carried her mother in her arms and darted in some direction aimlessly, but all of a sudden she bumped into someone.

It was a familiar feeling, and the person felt warm. Alison couldn't come to her sense for a moment.

"Alison, were you crying?"

A familiar voice made Alison's head snap up, and what came into her view was Ernesto's familiar face in front of her.

She seemed like she had grasped the last straw of hope as she grabbed Ernesto's hand and cried out, "Please! Save my mum now! Ernesto, help me save her!"
