Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 1721 You are Simply Deserved to Get a Good Beating

“What the hell is that nonsense? What does this have to do with her? I am just worried that if she was here and learnt of what had happened to me, she would throw a ruckus. With how strong her capability is, do you think the lot of you would pose any threat to her?”

The moment Lucas said that, Edison felt a sudden chill on the back of his neck.

Yasmeen might look very tame and gentle, but this was only true when Lucas was present with her. If Lucas was nowhere around, these people would be tortured to the point of beyond saving.

When they thought about their sore bones, Edison felt an unprecedented fear nagging at him.

“I got it, boss. I will get on with the task.”

After putting down his phone, the first thing Edison did was to inform Yasmeen.

The moment Yasmeen got a clear picture of the situation here, she froze for a second, but she instantly knew what Lucas meant.

He wanted her to leave this place!

He wanted her to leave this circle which was riddled with rumors and trifles!

Even though she never said anything to him, he still chose to protect her!

At this moment, Yasmeen suddenly felt extremely ecstatic.

Was there anything in the world that could bring her more joy than this?

Although the two of them never made things clear and poked the thin veil in between them, his actions alone spoke a thousand words.

Lucas had feelings for her!

While Yasmeen was overjoyed, she was also worried.

What was he planning to do after sending her away?

All those years, Yasmeen was always by Lucas' side, so she naturally understood him very well. If she was Lucas, in order to protect her, what would he do?

Yasmeen's face instantly became much paler.

This fool!

Was he planning to set her free in exchange of his own honor and future?

Yasmeen immediately called Jasmine.

“Am I your sister?”

Chapter 1722 What Does your So-called Care Mean?

Lucas read Yasmeen's message, and he was a little dumbfounded.

She claimed that she was behaving well all those years by his side?

As expected, she was still the Yasmeen he knew!

He didn't know why, but all of a sudden Lucas broke into laughter. That faint curve at the end of his lips was so mesmerising that all of the scenery around him paled in comparison.

He was handsome, and he knew this for a fact.

He had inherited Samuel's good looks, and he also had Nicole's icy cold demeanor. It was just that all along, he didn't think that his good features would bestow upon him any advantage or pride, but at this moment, he suddenly felt a consolation in his heart.

This Yasmeen was someone who went after appearances!

However, his smile didn't persist. Upon recalling the fact about that girl being hurt by him, Lucas immediately felt something heavy in her heart.

At this moment, Yasmeen was so furious that she was going to blame this on him, but he couldn't spare any time to entertain her. That girl was just getting discharged from the Intensive Care Unit, and she was in the same hospital as him too. No matter what, he had to go visit her.

When he thought of this, Lucas got up to head to that girl's ward.

There was a breathing machine being plugged on to her, and a middle-aged woman was just beside her. Due to lengthy exposure to sunlight doing the farm works, this middle-aged woman had dark skin. This woman was sobbing silently beside the girl.

He heard that the father of this girl had long passed away in a car accident when she was still a baby. It was this mother who had raised her with much difficulty, but now that such an unwarranted disaster had fallen on her daughter, which practically ruined her life from now on...

A trace of agony flashed by in Lucas' eyes.

He knocked on the door, and the woman opened it. She seemed a little caught off guard when she saw Lucas.

“You are...”

“I’m sorry, Lady, I am the sniper who was tasked with the responsibility to protect the hostage, I...”

Before Lucas could finish, a loud slap rang in his ears. The woman had slapped him on his cheeks, and she was so angry that her body was shaking non-stop.

“You still dare to show your face? You have caused my daughter to be in such a state, and you still have the nerve to come! How can you be a sniper and be sent on a mission when you don’t have good skills? This is a human life we are talking about here! Do you know that my daughter can’t give birth anymore in the future? Do you know how cruel does that sound for a girl?”

The woman was shaking uncontrollably.

Lucas couldn’t make out what she was trying to say as he couldn’t follow her talking speed, but he knew for a fact that she wouldn’t be complimenting him. For a mother who lived side by side with her daughter, what had happened was even more cruel than taking her life.

"No way!"

Yasmeen was the first to react, and she was very emotional.

She held Lucas' hands tightly while her heart was in a frenzy.

Would he really agree to that?

Although the two of them had feelings for each other, they didn't come out and say it just yet. Based on how well she knew Lucas, he was someone who valued responsibility very much.

If he really agreed to it, he would marry her without hesitation. And in his lifetime, he wouldn't have anything to do with another woman anymore even though he used to love her very much.

No!

That couldn't be!

He was too responsible to the point that he would only marry one woman his entire life. He would marry someone he loved or someone he was indebted to.

And at the moment, Penny was the one who would make Lucas feel sorry.

Yasmeen's hands were shaking now, and a film of sweat even formed on her skin.

Lucas froze too.

He clearly see what Penny meant by reading her lips.

Marry her?

Lucas' brows slightly furrowed.

For some reason, he was against this notion deep down in his heart.

Without thinking, Lucas spoke, "When I pulled the trigger, the robbers had thrown a bomb. My ears are hurt now, and I can't hear things clearly at the moment. The doctor said that there might not be a day I can regain my hearing."

Penny suddenly froze.

Chapter 1724 This Bastard Must be Doing this on Purpose

The two of them were left breathless, and if it were not because of Lucas' self-control, who knew how much further they were willing to go.

Yasmeen didn't even realize that she was already lying in bed and it must be because Lucas had carried her here. At this moment, she was lying in bed with Lucas, and she felt like everything was too surreal.

She suddenly pinched Lucas hard.

Lucas frowned slightly and said, "What's wrong with you?"

"I just want to check that I'm not dreaming."

Yasmeen was grinning ear to ear and her eyes had turned into crescent moons. There was a certain sultry sweetness in her voice too.

Lucas's lips curled up imperceptibly but he replied, "Shouldn't you pinch yourself if you want to be sure that you're not dreaming?"

"It's painful!"

So?

He should be the one shouldering every pain?

As expected of Yasmeen!

Lucas put her arms behind his head and stared at the ceiling. His thoughts must be wandering.

Yasmeen didn't hear any retort from him which made her freeze a little. She turned her head and saw the bloody marks on Lucas' face, and although the blood had coagulated, she didn't notice those scars at all because they had been too busy kissing madly.

"Let me call the doctor to tend to your injuries."

Yasmeen hastily got up but Lucas interjected, "No matter the reason you're here now, you can never bring this up again from now on, and you should stop thinking about it. You were never here, and you were always with Edison."

Lucas' words made Yasmeen felt like tearing up, and she even wanted to reveal the reason she had gone to that place. In the end, she held back from doing that.

"Let me call the doctor."

"Alright."

Yasmeen began walking away, but she felt her steps getting heavier.

When she was at the door, Lucas suddenly said, "Yasmeen."

"What?"

She turned around and saw that Lucas was propping up his chin with a hand, and he was looking at her with dazzling, mischievous eyes, "Be my girlfriend. You can't be that irresponsible after doing that to me just now. I am a deaf person, and I might get expelled from the military too. It seems like I don't know my path from now on, so if you abandon me, I will be all alone."

Yasmeen suddenly felt her heart jolt up.

"Ahem!"

Lucas was really choking on saliva.

He knew that this girl was outspoken but did not expect her to be so outspoken that she dared to say such nasty words in front of anybody.

When Yasmeen saw that Lucas's face was flushed while coughing, she poured a cup of water hurriedly and handed it over to him. She also patted his back gently to let him feel comfortable.

Edison suddenly felt that he was a bit redundant when he saw this scene.

As he was wondering, somebody cast him a sharp gaze.

"Still don't want to leave?"

"Huh?"

Edison was frightened by Yasmeen's fierce gaze. He got up and said hurriedly, "I'm leaving now! You are on your own!"

He ran away without looking back after saying that.

Lucas was speechless while looking at Yasmeen. He sighed and pulled her into his arms. Then, he whispered, "Are you crazy? You really dare to say anything."

“I did so to find a witness. Oh, right, I haven’t shut down my phone!”

Yasmeen got up from his hug and found her phone. She focused her phone on Lucas and asked again, “Lucas, answer quickly. Do you want to be my boyfriend? Well...”

Before she could finish speaking, Lucas held her wrist and pressed her on the bed. The phone in her hand dropped while her soft lips were kissed by him dominantly.

With a “click”, the photo at the instant they kissed was saved on the phone. It was followed by a hot and passionate kiss.

Yasmeen felt like she was about to suffocate. She was still wondering if he had promised to be her boyfriend?

As she managed to take a breath, she heard Lucas’s hoarse voice beside her ears.

“I, Lucas, am firm to be with Yasmeen for the rest of my life. I will be faithful as she is my one and only.”

"I wasn't a normal boyfriend in the first place. Yasmeen, go back first!"

Lucas's voice was not loud as it could only be heard by them. However, he was quite serious.

Yasmeen was still immersed in the happiness of confirming her relationship with Lucas. She could not help but stun for a moment when she heard such a cold voice. Then, she slowly raised her head and saw Lucas's eyes twitch slightly. She instantly understood his intention.

After all, they had developed mutual understanding throughout the years.

"Alright, I will go back first then. Just contact me if there's something."

"Okay, be careful on the road."

"Yeah."

Yasmeen felt a little cold as she got up from his hug.

Oh dear!

She had just been in a relationship with Lucas and was already a bit fond of his hug. What should she do?

"Or should I stay?"

"Go away!"

Lucas glared at her while Yasmeen walked away reluctantly.

The ward was once again quiet.

Lucas closed his eyes and pretended to sleep. However, he was still pondering over that shadow just now.

Who was eavesdropping and peeping outside?

He had not noticed the person yet.

Suddenly, he realised that he was temporarily deaf. Lucas felt slightly chagrined.

He quickly sent a message to Yasmeen.

“Don’t drive! Go and take the bus!”

Yasmeen had just walked out of the hospital and was going to the car park. She was stunned for a moment when she saw Lucas’s message.

Chapter 1727 My Daughter Is the Real Victim Here

"Ah!"

Ever since Penny got kidnapped, she was terrified of blood. Especially warm blood.

She yelled and fainted as her eyes rolled back.

Her mother quickly went up seeing that her daughter had fainted. She pushed Lucas away and didn't even care about his wound. She hugged Penny and started yelling.

"Quick, call the doctor! Are you blind? Don't you see that my daughter has fainted? She lost her child because of you, and now you want to drive her crazy? Will you only be happy if she dies? Will you feel at ease and live your life happily if she dies? I'm telling you, I won't let you off the hook so easily, you'll pay for making her suffer!"

Lucas was still holding a knife in his hand, his arm was bleeding profusely. He stared at her mother's mouth as it moved. He couldn't hear what she was saying, but he assumed that it wasn't something nice.

He had never been treated like this before.

But Penny's face was extremely pale. He thought about her future life briefly and quietly pressed the call bell.

Soon, the doctor and the nurses came.

They quickly gave Penny a check-up. She fainted because she was too agitated, there weren't any other problems besides that. One of the nurses noticed Lucas' bleeding arm, she yelped in surprise.

"Mr. Green, your arm is bleeding! Quick, sit down. I'll treat your wound."

The doctor's face turned pale upon hearing that.

"Mr. Green, why didn't you say anything? Come, let me take a look. It could be infected."

Her mother was relieved that her daughter was fine. But then she was a bit annoyed, seeing how the doctor and nurses were making a big deal out of Lucas.

"He's a soldier and that's just a small wound, why are you guys being so fussy about it? My daughter is the real victim here!"

"Shut up! Mr. Green didn't kidnap your daughter, he rescued her! Blame the kidnapper, don't blame Mr. Green. How vile can you be, being so cynical to a soldier who rescued your daughter?"

"How can you still protect her at a time like this? Then let me ask you, did Yasmeen tell you that she called Zoe?"

Lucas didn't answer Mark's question.

"No, right? So, why didn't she tell you? I don't believe that she didn't know that Zoe had gone missing. Lucas, this isn't as simple as you think!"

Mark stared at Lucas and said a bit mournfully, "I don't want to intervene in your relationship matter, but Yasmeen is not a normal person. Not to mention that she appeared in the kidnapping scene, a critical moment. It doesn't matter if you were careless because of her or not, this matter would be investigated anyways. But Lucas, you are not new at this. Do I really have to tell you how grave the situation is?"

"I trust her!"

Mark was floored by Lucas' three simple words.

He thought that Lucas and Yasmeen never got along.

But now, he didn't know what to say to Lucas after seeing the determined look in his eyes.

"Lucas..."

"I did delete the data on the surveillance camera. I have nothing to say if the higher-ups want to punish or fire me. I was careless, but it had nothing to do with anyone. It was just my mistake. If a sniper was affected by other things so easily, then they shouldn't be a sniper. Even if I get fired or have to resign, it will be on me. But I really don't believe that Yasmeen is behind Zoe's disappearance. She is arrogant and overbearing, and just like you say, she is a foreigner and has a different identity. But even so, I believe her. I also believe that our feelings are real and mutual. I believe that she wouldn't hurt my family and that she didn't tell me about why she was at the kidnapping scene, just because she didn't want me to be in a dilemma. Uncle Mark, Zoe isn't a mindless and helpless girl, she can protect herself. I think something is going on and that's why she hasn't contacted us until now. I believe that she isn't kidnapped."

Mark suddenly had nothing to say after hearing Lucas analyze the situation acutely.

He looked at Lucas, he just stared at him.

Even though he was trying to give Lucas the pressure from an experienced supervisor, it didn't affect Lucas at all. Lucas was just sitting there quietly with his back straight as if he was a pine tree. Strong and unaffected, and admirable.

Chapter 1729 Why Would He Like Her

As Lucas thought about how Yasmeen had chased him anywhere for all these years, he felt bad...

If Zoe had chased a man anywhere for so many years, he would have broken that man's legs.

Thus, Lucas really cared about Yasmeen because he knew that there would never be another woman who would treat him truly in this world.

He had no idea whether it was love or not. He only knew that he was used to her existence, and he couldn't live without her as she was like air and water.

At the end of every mission, he could see her standing there and waving at him as soon as he stepped out of the mission area. That bright smile made him feel that all his hard work and efforts had been worthwhile.

Lucas smiled as he lay on his bed and recalled the years he and Yasmeen had spent together.

She was really annoying when she was a child. He couldn't help but frown and felt uncomfortable whenever he saw her. But why was it different now?

Was it because she climbed the walls at night to look for him? Or was it because she suddenly fainted when she fought with him, then he carried her and ran to the doctor with blood that scared him, but eventually he was told that she was just having her period? Or the way she tore the love letters given by other girls up right in front of him and she threatened to beat up those girls?

Because of her, Lucas didn't have a single admirer around even though he was now in his twenties. If he didn't grab her immediately, he would probably be single for the rest of his life.

When thinking of the kiss not long ago, he suddenly stretched out his tongue and licked his thin lips. It seemed that her temperature and scent were still on his lips. He couldn't help but feel distracted and even shy.

Demon!

He shook his head, trying to forget those scenes in his mind, but he felt her face becoming clearer. All those sweet, angry, mischievous, and aggrieved looks kept coming into his head.

He quickly sat up and went downstairs to have a glass of water. As he saw a person standing in the living room, he paused for a moment.

He didn't even know someone had entered the house as he was deaf.

"Why are you here?"

Chapter 1730 How Could She Leave the Matter Alone

It was so hard to persuade someone to change his mind.

Lucas wasn't good at this, yet he didn't want to hurt her either. He gently patted her shoulder and whispered, "Don't come here lately, I have all kinds of suspicions now, it's not good for you if you come."

"I don't care! Lucas, do you think I look for you because of this?"

She was heartbroken.

She was unwilling!

Extremely unwilling!

However, he was so indifferent. What should she do?

"Lucas, give me a chance, okay? You can compare me and Yasmeeen ..."

"No need to compare. Michele, you're who you are, and the same thing goes for her. Everyone has his own good. I've no idea what I like about her, I just know that I'm used to having her around. She's been around me since I was four or five years old. To put it mildly, she pulled my trousers down that time in the gents. Michele, I'm a traditional man as you know."

His words stopped her tears from falling.

"Four or five years old? You're just a child! Lucas, your reasoning is a bit far-fetched!"

"But I remember it. Whenever I think of my whole body being seen clearly by her, I can't look at other girls. Michele, you're a very nice girl, but we can only be brother and sister."

She looked at his serious look. As she was about to say that children's playfulness could not be taken seriously, she realized that he was serious at this moment.

So, had he begun to like Yasmeeen at the age of four or five?

Just because she had pulled down his trousers and seen his naked body before?

Michele felt that her world fell apart.

What kind of poor reason was this?

But then she felt that this reason was so real and serious in his eyes.

Was it her fault that she wasn't rude and didn't barge in to take a look at him while he was in the shower?

She gradually felt that she had lost in such a ridiculous way.
