Chapter 1731

"Princess, there are so many people outside. I didn't dare to go to the restaurant, so I went to the supermarket and bought some bread. You eat some first."

The minion gave the bread in his hand to Yasmeen.

Looking at the bread in her hand, Yasmeen remembered Lucas's cooking.

He was really good at cooking. And she wondered if he was eating now. Would he miss her?

Yasmeen had her first taste of longing.

It was a different feeling than before they became a couple.

When they hadn't established their relationship, she was thinking of him in secret. And whenever she thought of him, it was a bit heartbreaking, unlike now, when just thinking of him made her feel like she was eating honey and her heart was sweet.

The minion didn't know what it was about this bread that made Yasmeen happy, but he was happy when Yasmeen was happy.

"Princess, all incoming and outgoing airports and highway stations are blocked. I was told that several groups of people are looking for you. I'm afraid it's going to be a bit difficult for you to get out."

"But I have to go. Staying here will only cause trouble for Lucas."

Yasmeen's eyes were slightly cold.

She ripped open the bag and took a bite of the bread, but paused for a moment. Then she took her phone out of her pocket, took a selfie, and sent it to Lucas.

"See, I'm now nibbling on bread with the sea breeze. You have to make me something nice for me to eat later or I'm going to die of sadness."

She had expected Lucas to reply with something, but she had waited for a long time and Lucas had not replied. Yasmeen couldn't help but narrow her eyes.

"Oh, no!"

"What's wrong? Princess."

The minion was a little confused, but then he heard Yasmeen say, "Hurry up! We're exposed."

"How?"

While the minion was still in a daze, Yasmeen's eyes deepened.

It was impossible for Lucas not to reply to her messages unless his phone had been handed in.

So, it definitely wasn't Lucas who was looking at this phone right now!

Her eyes suddenly widened.

"Who did this?"

Yasmeen was simply furious!

Chapter 1732

Yasmeen had just leaped up the wall when the alarm sounded. The piercing sound was particularly loud at night.

"Crap!"

Yasmeen jumped straight down and immediately took cover.

Michele ran out quickly with her gun and checked the equipment. She didn't find anyone suspicious, but the alarm was still going off. She didn't think it was the wind blowing.

She squinted for a moment and was a little chagrined that there was no internet here and she had no way to watch the surveillance.

Yasmeen was a little depressed when she saw Michele.

It was this woman again!

Had she been born to be at odds with this woman?

How else could they always confront each other?

Yasmeen thought glumly, but Michele had already turned and walked in and said something to the people outside. And only then did Yasmeen realize that there were bodyguards all around.

Lucas was under house arrest!

Yasmeen suddenly had a hard time.

They had put Lucas under house arrest?

She was suddenly furious. But Yasmeen was not a fool. She would only cause Lucas trouble if she went in now.

It seemed that she had been right in guessing that Lucas did not have his mobile phone on him.

How could she get in touch with Lucas?

Yasmeen was worried.

Now her boyfriend was right in front of her, but she couldn't see him. It was really hard to feel that way.

Suddenly, she remembered something and smiled.

Yasmeen glanced at the open window on the first floor and guessed which room Lucas would be staying in. She quickly went home, found a piece of paper, drew a picture of a girl wrapped around a tall, cold boy, and folded it into a paper plane. Then she ran out and threw it towards the window where she guessed Lucas was.

The paper plane fell down before it could enter the window.

Yasmeen pulled a long face.

Chapter 1733

Lucas also frowned slightly. Although he couldn't hear the car's engine, he saw Yasmeen's mood change. So it was someone coming?

He glanced at Yasmeen, who instantly understood and walked straight into the house.

Lucas stood in front of the floor-to-ceiling window, seemingly just looking away and thinking of nothing, but his good-looking eyes gave no indication of any emotion.

The car pulled up to the entrance of the villa and the conspicuous number plate made Lucas' eyes twinkle slightly, but he did nothing. Michele, on the other hand, heard the car ring and came running out. She was a little surprised to see that it was Morty who had arrived.

"Dad? What are you doing here?"

It was a little heartbreaking for Morty to look at his daughter with an apron around her at this point.

"You're up so early to make food for that brat? I don't see you being so filial to me."

"Dad."

Michele's face flushed while she subconsciously glanced at Lucas' room just in time to see Lucas standing by the window and couldn't help but freeze slightly.

Morty had obviously seen it too.

His eyes were clear and he waved his hand, telling Michele to stand down and didn't get close. Then he got up alone and went upstairs to Lucas's room.

As he watched Morty come up, Lucas turned around and went back to his room, then opened the door and welcomed Morty in.

Morty gave Lucas a look and gestured for him to close the door behind him before he walked into the room and sat casually on the side.

He said it casually, but he couldn't restrain his aura of being in a high position all these years.

Looking at the calm and collected look on Lucas' face, he couldn't help but sigh and say, "Sit."

"I've just got up and my back is a bit uncomfortable. I'll stand for a while."

"I don't know anything."

Lucas instantly became serious, as if he wasn't the one Morty had just been talking and laughing with.

Morty's stomach ached in exasperation.

"Go down and get me a glass of water."

Lucas could also see that Morty was not feeling well, so he got up in a hurry and walked out.

Over the years, Morty had been in a high position and had actually had quite a few hidden illnesses, yet he could not let the outside world know. And he was only one of the few people who knew about the matter.

Seeing that Morty's face was pale and sweat was oozing from his forehead, Lucas didn't dare delay. When he got downstairs, Michele had already handed Lucas the warm water.

"My dad's stomach is aching again?"

"Yes, do you have any medicine?"

"In my room. Just wait a moment."

Michele quickly ran back to her room, and Lucas, who had always followed her in, now felt it was inappropriate. After all, he had a girlfriend now.

The corners of Lucas's lips curled up slightly at the thought of Yasmeen. But when he thought that Morty didn't seem to be in a good mood, he stopped smiling again.

When Michele came out with the medicine, she saw Lucas standing there motionless with an indifferent look on his face. Her eyes couldn't help but darken while she felt a little bad.

"Here, I guess my dad still has something to say to you. I won't be going up."

"Okay."

Lucas nodded and took the medicine from Michele's hand, then lifted his feet and went upstairs.

Morty was already spasming from the pain, and Lucas quickly shoved the pills into his mouth before pinching his nose and pouring him a mouthful of water.

Lucas was the only person in the world who had the guts to do that to Morty.

"What, what do you want to do?"

It was rare for Yasmeen to stammer.

It was also rare for Lucas to see Yasmeen like this, and he couldn't help but get the urge to tease her.

"What do you think I want to do?"

As he spoke, Lucas slowed down, the corners of his lips curled up slightly, and his beautiful eyes were full of charm. It would not be an exaggeration to say that he was seductive.

Yasmeen felt her heart thumping hard as if it was about to jump out of her throat. She was so frightened that she covered her chest and gasped.

"Lucas, I'm warning you. Don't you dare! Although I've established a relationship with you, we're moving a bit too fast at the moment. Why don't we take it easy? We've only just started kissing and I'm scared of you being so brave."

Yasmeen just freaked out, and she didn't know what she had said. She then felt her face burning as if it was about to catch fire. She was really scared of Lucas' approach, her back was wet, but she was also a little bit expectant about it. The struggle was driving her crazy.

Was she going to give in to him? Or did she give in to him? Or did she give in to him?

Yasmeen's head was spinning and her eyes were rolling, making Lucas feel so good.

Was she shy? Or was she just trying to seduce him?

But his body was more or less reacting to Yasmeen's words.

Damn it!

His self-control was unbearable in front of Yasmeen.

Lucas's eyes were like a fire. He casually surveyed Yasmeen's figure and his eyes paused especially at her big breasts. It was hard for him to grasp it with just one hand.

Yasmeen was suddenly a little irritated.

Lucas's rogue-like gaze was really getting on her nerves.

"What the hell do you want?"

As if he hadn't heard what Yasmeen had said, Lucas stared straight at her and took a step forward. His tall figure instantly enveloped Yasmeen.

This bastard!

Did he want to die?

He bit her lips just now and it hurt. But now, he looked at her with disdain and said that she was the one in the wrong?

“Lucas, I dare you to say that again!”

Yasmeen rolled up her sleeves angrily. She was going to beat him up if he literally dared.

Lucas closed his eyes, he could feel that his heart was pumping and his blood was boiling, but he said extremely calmly, “I lost my hearing and couldn’t hear what you’re saying. Save your breath and help me with the acupuncture instead.”

“Like hell I would!”

Yasmeen punched him out of anger, but to Lucas, it was like nothing more than a kitten scratching him. When she looked at Lucas closely, he was smiling. He looked blissful and delighted.

Yasmeen stared at Lucas as he acted like he didn’t care. She went into the room furiously and grabbed some needles. She then smiled evilly and stabbed the needle abruptly in Lucas’ acupoint. Lucas felt pain and opened his eyes. He met eyes with Yasmeen and noticed that she looked pleased.

How could her eyes look so beautiful?

She had a beautiful face, to begin with, and this was something Lucas wouldn’t deny. Her eyes right now were glistening like there were diamonds in them, they were dazzling. There was also a hint of cheerfulness in her eyes that made them even more mesmerizing.

She was dangerous!

The thought appeared in Lucas’ mind. He then said calmly, “Don’t kill me, or you’ll be a widow.”

He then closed his eyes and tried to get some rest.

Yasmeen's smile froze on her face.

The acupoint she stabbed should hurt so bad that he would jump in pain. Was he even human? He didn't even make a sound.

"You sure are having fun messing with me!"

She was about to hit him.

But as if Lucas had eyes behind his head, he held the dish with one hand and blocked her attack with another. He smiled and said casually, "Let's eat, otherwise you wouldn't have the energy to fight me."

Yasmeen was dumbfounded.

But she thought that he was right.

"I'll let you go for now. I'll get back at you after I eat."

Yasmeen glared at him and walked indignantly towards the dining table.

But then, her beautiful eyes were suddenly gleaming because the dishes on the table were all her favorites.

"Lucas, I think I fell into your trap."

"What?"

Lucas sat down after washing his hand, he then poured Yasmeen a glass of milk. Yasmeen grimaced, "I was the one following you around ever since we were children. Everyone around us knew that I was the one chasing after you, but then, why would you know what I like to eat? This doesn't seem right, are you hiding your feelings this whole time? You pretend not to care, but in reality, you observe and really care about me?"

Yasmeen spat facts unconsciously and this made Lucas tense up, but he changed the topic and went around it perfectly.

He answered calmly, "I didn't, I also didn't make you peep at me while I was peeing."

Yasmeen's face flushed.

That happened a long time ago!

"Lucas, stop it! I was young and stupid back then."

"Yeah, and you're still an idiot."

Yasmeen didn't want to continue the conversation anymore.

She felt like there were always landmines everywhere when she talked to Lucas. She would get blown up every second.

Suddenly, Yasmeen realized that she might have been a masochist. Otherwise, why would she fall in love with someone like this?

The man was dressed in a white suit. There was a silver mask on half of his face and the remaining half looked pretty handsome. However, in Yasmeen's eyes, other men were no different from cabbage and radish except for Lucas.

"Why are you here?"

Her tone was somewhat calm, but there was still some unhappiness in her eyes.

Was her room some place that others could just enter at will?

The man looked at her and said with a faint smile, "What are you afraid of? Are you afraid that Lucas will suddenly return and find that you're meeting with me?"

"Julian Farley, you better not mention his name again, otherwise I will kill you!"

Her face looked serious, and even exuded a chilling aura.

As he knew that she wasn't joking, he stopped smiling.

"You're protective of him, but is he really worthy of your devotion?"

"None of your business! Spit it out and get lost!"

Her rudeness made him stunned once again.

Was this the legendary princess who was so elegant, polite, and virtuous?

Only the guard remained silent as he knew clearly that this was the real Yasmeeen. That gentle and ladylike woman she used to be in front of outsiders was just her disguise.

When she saw that he was still dumbfounded and didn't say anything, she directly went forward and threw him out.

He finally reacted and turned around in mid-air, then stood firmly on the ground and managed not to make a fool of himself.

It was the first time he got an insight into her power. He was a little surprised and stunned, but he stopped talking nonsense and said in a low voice, "Master asked me to come over and ask you for an answer."

"You, why are you here?"

Penny's voice carried a hint of trembling and fear.

Lucas frowned slightly.

They knew each other?

Penny was just a college student from the countryside, how could she know Julian?

However, Julian was unaware of his presence outside. When he saw her frightened look, he could not help but sneered.

"What? You and I had some sort of intimacy before. Why are you so anxious to see me after a few years?"

Julian walked over to her side and frowned slightly as he looked at the wound on her stomach.

"Oh, I think you can't get pregnant again, right?"

"What the hell are you trying to do?"

Penny didn't dare to scream, but her voice was tinged with forbear and suppression.

She was more scared in her heart, and even her whole body was shivering.

"What are you so excited about? Which part of your body have I not seen before?"

"Shut up! You devil! Bastard!"

Penny burst into tears, then casually picked up something aside and threw it towards him.

"Get lost! Get out of here otherwise I'll call the police!"

"Call the police? What do you want to tell the police? Penny, do you forget how you looked when you were around me once? Hmm?"

Chapter 1740 It Is Really Bothering Her

He originally thought that since Julian came out from Yasmeen's place, he was perhaps Uncle Steven's ally but he surprisingly came over here to encourage Penny who was the victim to come and let him be responsible for her.

Uncle Steven would never do that!

So, who the hell was this person named Julian?

Who was the master he just mentioned?

Lucas's brain was operating rapidly.

On the other hand, Penny, however, opened her mouth wide in surprise.

Although her mother had said that Lucas's identity was not ordinary, they thought that Lucas's family might be quite rich but they did not expect them to be so rich. Moreover, Julian said that he was very powerful.

If he was very powerful, could she rely on Lucas to get back her son?

Penny's eyes were rolling around.

Julian knew that Penny had taken the bait.

He said while smiling, "Lucas is still single. He is often in the army and doesn't have much contact with women. So, you just need to put in more effort and make yourself look miserable, perhaps you can make him fall in love with you. By that time, what thing can't you get? Besides, the reason why you're like this now is because of his mistake, so there is nothing wrong with letting him marry you."

"But he refused."

Penny was a bit depressed when she remembered that Lucas and Yasmeen were together.

Julian, however, said with a smile, "He refused but won't you go to his leader? A soldier is most afraid of such scandals. As long as he still wants to stay in the military, he will have to marry you. By that time you can cry and complain in front of his leaders, it'll definitely work."

"Really?"

Penny was not confident but when she thought of Lucas's face, she could not help but be a little moved.

She was just an ordinary woman and the boyfriend she had earlier was just average, but Lucas was different.

He was so handsome!
