Chapter 1791: This Is a Tough Case

“What happened?”

Lucas frowned slightly. Yasmeen also looked at Edison worriedly.

“Come on. Straight to the point. Are you a man or not?”

Yasmeen was only gentle to Lucas and always treated others rudely.

Edison’s mouth corners twitched a bit. Thinking about Michele’s status, he answered immediately, “Just now, the doctor pulled out the needle from Michele’s neck, but the acupuncture point has become black. The doctor suspected it was poisonous.”

“Poisonous?”

Yasmeen frowned.

“This is a tough case,” she said.

“I’ll call Uncle Morty now. He must know what’s going on.”

Lucas hurriedly called Morty, telling him about Michele’s current status.

Upon hearing that their daughter was poisoned, Morty and his wife drove to the hospital right away.

Yasmeen secretly tugged Lucas’s sleeve, looking quite obedient.

“What’s the matter?” Lucas asked.

“I want to call my mother and ask her to come over to check on Michele. What do you think?”

In fact, Yasmeen had been homesick.

Lucas said he would take her home later, but Michele’s current status was way too complicated. Yasmeen didn’t know how long it would take them to stay here. Besides, in terms of Chinese medicine, her mother, Ashley, was an expert.

"Do you want to bear a daughter for me?" Lucas asked instead of answering her.

Yasmeen blushed more.

Looking at her adorable face, Lucas wondered about her health condition once she was pregnant.

"Yasmeen," he called her name.

"Ehn?"

Yasmeen was taken aback for a bit and looked up at him, only to find a trace of tenderness and concern in his eyes. She asked, "What's wrong?"

“You should have a checkup.”

Yasmeen’s heart skipped a beat.

She wondered if he had known something.

“Why?”

“For our marriage registration.”

Lucas said naturally, “As you know, my residential record hasn’t been transferred yet. I also need to submit a report to apply for getting married. Your health check report is also required then.”

“I see.”

Yasmeen breathed a sigh of relief, feeling sweet and worried.

She wondered if Lucas would find something once she went through the checkup.

Suddenly, she said, “I have my private doctor. I can ask him to do it for me.”

“Don’t you want me to accompany you?”

Lucas’s tone was a bit sinking.

“Of course I want you,” Yasmeen immediately denied it.

She wanted him to accompany her.

However, thinking that Lucas might find out her health condition if he went with her, Yasmeen was a bit uneasy.

When she didn’t know how to explain, Lucas suddenly said with a smile, “Well, you can go have a checkup yourself. Michele’s condition is still unknown. I called my brother, and he will arrive tomorrow. I’ll take a look at her examination report. Be careful when you are going to your private hospital.”

“Okay. I will.”

Chapter 1793: It Depends

Lucas knew that Yasmeen's status would rise above him in this family upon hearing his mother's words. However, as a man, Lucas felt quite good if his wife could be loved by his mother.

"Mom, Aunt Ashley, and Uncle Steven haven't known this matter yet. I guess you'd better tell Aunt Ashley about it."

Nicole truly wanted to beat him up.

"You know your future parents-in-law very well. Do you want me to be the shield of their anger?" she asked.

"Not really. I'll be responsible for my own matters, Mom. It doesn't matter if Uncle Steven will scold me. I just don't want it to impact your friendship with Aunt Ashley."

Upon hearing it, Nicole heaved a sigh and said, "Silly boy, on the matter of their daughter, Ashley and Steven will feel so sorry for Yasmeen if you just bully her, let alone this kind of matter that she had donated an organ to you. You haven't been a father yet, so you don't understand how much parents could love their kids. Probably they will fall out with us. Since you've accepted Yasmeen, you must treat her well for the rest of your life, OK?"

"I got it, Mom."

After hanging up the phone, Lucas thought about other things and walked out of the hospital.

He went to a supermarket nearby to get some fruits. Thinking about Yasmeen's preference, he checked on strawberries.

They were pretty fresh, but it was a bit difficult for him to carry them back.

Hence, Lucas didn't buy any strawberries. He went back to the hospital with other fruits.

Michele had woken up. Morty told her that she was poisoned and hypnotized to jump off the building. It was Yasmeen who saved her. She was silent.

The atmosphere in the ward was highly stressed.

When Lucas came in, almost everyone turned to look at him, including Michele.

She looked at Lucas with a complicated feeling.

She wondered if Lucas would suspect that she had done everything intentionally.

Michele felt quite upset, tears welling up in her eyes.

Chapter 1794: I Won't Accept You

Michele had always thought that she loved Lucas a lot, and whatever Yasmeen could do for Lucas, so could she.

However, those were only on the surface.

Michele didn't do anything when the danger came, and the choice between life and death was in front. Instead, Yasmeen risked her own life to save her beloved man.

Suddenly, Michele felt so embarrassed by saying that she liked Lucas to his face.

Compared to Yasmeen, who could risk her own life to love Lucas, Michele didn't think she had any chance to confess her love to Lucas at all.

"Lucas, didn't you come over to visit me as visiting a patient? Why do I feel you come here to embarrass me?"

Michele became quite depressed.

Looking at her, Lucas smiled and said, "You felt embarrassed because there's space in your heart to hold your sadness. In fact, you like me not because of the love from a woman to a man. Your love to me probably is just love between a brother and a sister or between childhood plates. Probably you do fall in love with me, but you don't love me as deeply as Yasmeen loves me. Michele, in my heart, you are always a younger sister. Without Yasmeen, I wouldn't accept you either."

"Can't you stop it, Lucas?"

Michele was more depressed.

As if he couldn't see how upset Michele was, Lucas said in a low voice, "Edison is a good boy. He always remembers everything about you and helps you in secret. You should stop focusing on me. I have already found my true love. I know you are a proud girl. You won't steal another woman's husband, so you can let go of your feelings for me. Look at Edison. You'll find love is always around you."

"Husband? You haven't got married, have you?" Michele retorted.

When she heard that Yasmeen risked her life to love Lucas, she had already given up. Although Michele had to admit to being defeated, she felt pretty uncomfortable when hearing Lucas say so.

Lucas smiled and said, "I'm already writing the application. I'd love to invite you and Edison to attend our wedding. After this incident, you can't go on training abroad. Why don't you attend our wedding first?"

"Lucas, you wicked man!"

Michele had never disliked Lucas so much before. Probably in the past, she just treated him as the princess charming, but now she truly wanted to hit him.

“All right. Just leave those matters behind first. You should figure out who has done those things to you. If you can’t find the rat around you, it will cause a bigger problem.”

Lucas’s words quickly brought back Michele to her senses.

She frowned and said in a low voice, “Only a few people are around me. Besides you and Edison, the rest are my coworkers on the same team. Could the rat be one of my teammates?”

Michele didn’t want to suspect her teammates the most. After all, they were a team and had been working together for several years, experiencing up and down, life and death. If the rat was one of them, she would feel quite frustrated.

Lucas’s eyes darkened.

He thought about what he had found on Michele’s computer. The other party seemed to be quite skillful. Besides, Lucas knew almost all the gifted computing talents. He filtered them carefully in his mind, and his eyes darkened more.

“Remember I told you someone had done something to my gun when I was on the mission that day? Besides you and me, only our teammates could enter my warehouse. Hence, the rat is probably from our internal team.”

Upon hearing Lucas’s words, Michele looked completely annoyed.

She honestly didn’t want to suspect them, but Lucas had said so. She couldn’t deceive herself any longer.

She wouldn’t let go of the rat once she had found them out.

“I’ll check on them carefully,” she said.

“Ehn. You’d better be with Edison recently. I’m more rest assured if he is with you.”

Upon hearing his reminder, Michele asked, “I’m in such a situation now. Lucas, can’t you be with me instead?”

“I have a family now. Besides, I’m looking for a suitable renal source for Yasmeen. I can’t let her live on with a single kidney. It’s not fair for her.”

A trace of tenderness flashed through Lucas’s eyes.

Michele knew that she couldn’t keep Lucas staying. Although she was reluctant, she had to accept to give up and bless after growing up.

Edison immediately came back to his senses and looked away. He whispered, "I know you don't have a crush on me. You like Boss, but Boss doesn't love you. If you want to try to forget him, I can accompany you."

"OK," blurted Michele.

Edison was taken aback.

"What did you say?"

The happiness came so suddenly. He thought he had misheard something, so he wanted to confirm.

Michele suddenly thought that Edison was quite adorable.

It turned out that once she switched her focus, she could find another man's advantages as well.

Michele felt much better.

With a smile, she said, "I said we can try to see each other first. But I can't guarantee I can forget Lucas in a short time. Probably I can't forget him all my life. Don't you mind?"

"No, I don't."

Edison felt it was his lucky day indeed.

As long as Michele could consider him, he didn't mind being a fish in her candidate pool.

Looking at how delighted Edison was, Michele felt a bit frustrated.

It turned out that unconsciously, she had already aggrieved Edison so much.

"I'm sorry, Edison. From now on, I'll try you well."

Upon hearing her promise, Edison felt pretty touched. He whispered, "Who knows what will happen in the future? As long as you give me this chance, it's already good. Let's just wait and see what happens next."

"Okay. I agree."

Instantly, the ward was as warm as the spring.

Lucas, however, didn't know what happened between them. Out of the hospital, he directly came to the grocery store where he had bought the fruits earlier. Looking at the pretty strawberries, he recalled Yasmeen said she liked strawberries. He smiled.

"Excuse me, I want to have two and a half kilos strawberries."

"I love you so much, Lucas!" Yasmeen naturally confessed her love.

A trace of warmth flashed through Lucas's eyes. In a hurry, he reached out and held her butt. He said with a smile, "Just because of those strawberries?"

"Of course not. You truly surprised me. I've never known you could be so romantic. I thought..."

"You thought I couldn't do anything except for holding the gun and operating the computer, didn't you?"

Yasmeen nodded.

"Silly girl!" Lucas said.

Yasmeen was truly silly.

For a man who didn't accept her, she was willing to donate her organ. Probably, Yasmeen was the only silly woman in this world.

Lucas directly turned around and trapped her between his chest and the wall. His hot body and gaze made Yasmeen realize she seemed to hit on him.

"You... Put me down, Lucas!"

"I thought you would do something to appreciate me."

Lucas smiled.

Yasmeen blushed. However, she remembered that Lucas said he would save everything for their wedding night, so she boldly put her hands under the hemline of Lucas's shirt and reached in.

She felt his charming abs right away.

"Mr. Green, do you think I'm a coward?"

"Please go ahead."

Lucas didn't stop her this time.

Yasmeen was slightly taken aback. She was in a dilemma now as she couldn't retreat immediately.

Brenda was taken aback and then understood what Lucas meant.

"Mr. Green, do you want me to protect Ms. Shaw?"

"Ehn. She's been a bit fragile recently. Please don't let her get into any fight. After sending me to Country Y, please fly back immediately. Then you should guard her all the time, protecting her from others. Even the person who wants to approach her is working for Uncle Morty. You need to identify them first carefully."

Lucas felt quite uneasy.

Julian had suffered such a significant loss, so Lucas didn't think he would let go of it so easily.

Morty was on-guard, but Julian had used online hypnosis on Michele. Lucas thought that Julian might have other dirty tricks.

It would always be good to take precautions. Lucas didn't want anything to happen to Yasmeen.

Brenda suddenly felt a heavy burden on her shoulders.

"Are there any problems?" asked Lucas.

"No."

She knew that Lucas asked her to do it because she was a girl, so it would be more convenient for her to take care of Yasmeen for twenty-four hours. However, Brenda knew the mission wasn't so easy to accomplish.

Since Lucas gave her such a chance, Brenda would grasp it.

"Thank you, Mr. Green," she said.

"Work hard. Your enemies shouldn't come to you for the time being. If they did, I would be with you. Nobody could hurt you."

"Okay, Mr. Green."

Tears welled up in Brenda's eyes.

She was always frightened back then, afraid that others would know she was a girl. There were female employees in the Green family, but the assistants and bodyguards of the masters and young masters were basically all males.

Brenda didn't want to be a bodyguard only but also accumulate some business skills.

She aimed to take back the things that initially belonged to her and her other.

Right now, Lucas could give her such a chance. Brenda was overjoyed.

“What have you done to break my daughter’s heart, and you even don’t dare to let her know?”

Steven’s eyes became cold.

Lucas was Samuel’s son, but Steven would also end him if he dared to hurt Yasmeen.

In the past, Steven experienced lives in both legal and underworld means. Usually, seldom people could stand his strong temperament, but Lucas stood upright and looked into his eyes. He said, “Let’s wait until Aunt Ashley comes back. Probably, you should call all the members of the Bradford family out. I can Steven’s was angrier.

Finally, Ashley came back. Steven calmed down a bit.

“I could hear you shouting before entering the house. Steve, you’d better pay attention to your identity
now. You are the lord of a country, not a gangster leader.”

Ashley glared at Steven in anger, and the latter quieted down immediately.

Lucas watched them without speaking. All the men had different ways to spoil their wives. He didn't need to remark on his future parents-in-law.

Ashley sat down next to Steven. Casting a glance at Lucas's straightened back, Ashley thought about his tone on the phone. She asked, "You didn't bring Yasmeen back. Do you truly think we'll allow you to marry Yasmeen?"

"She's the only woman I want to marry," answered Lucas.

"Oops. Now you said that. When our Yasmeen chased after you and fawned on you back then, why didn't you say so?"

Since Ashley came in, Steven kept silent, letting her speak.

Ashley also looked at Lucas in anger. However, she was more rational. She took a look at the three men and gazed at Lucas coldly. "You accept her because she had donated a kidney to you, didn't you?"

A mother knew her daughter the most.

Yasmeen had made such a decision by herself and hidden it from Lucas. Hence, Ashley knew that Yasmeen didn't want to bind down Lucas because of her kindness.

Now, Lucas had known it and wanted to marry Yasmeen. Ashley felt quite frustrated.

On the one hand, she felt so sorry for her daughter and blamed her for being silly. On the other hand, she was shocked by her daughter's braveness.

Ashley had seen girls who could do anything bravely for their love. However, she had never expected such a matter would happen to her own daughter.

Lucas paused a bit. He knew that everyone was gazing at him angrily. Once he had said or done something inappropriately, he could end up miserably. However, he answered honestly, "Yes, that's true. I felt shocked and moved after knowing this matter. A girl can risk her life to love me. If I missed her, it would be my life regret."

"Hence, you are only grateful for her instead of loving her."

Ashley's eyes darkened.

"Lucas Green, my daughter can find someone who loves her easily. If you want to marry her not because of love, you should get out of here. Even she has donated a kidney to you. You can take it as the approval of the friendship between the Bradford and Green families."

"No, I won't go!"

Lucas panicked instantly.

Looking at Ashley and Steven, he said, stressing each syllable, "Uncle Steven, Aunt Ashley, I know what you are thinking now. I also know what's in Yasmeen's mind. I have to admit that I was quite shocked by this matter, so I was touched for a long time. Isn't being moved part of the love? Because of this matter, I looked back and found that except Yasmeen and Michele, I couldn't bear to have another woman around me in the past. I understood my love for Michele was only the family affection between a brother and a sister. However, Yasmeen could make my heart skip a beat, and I have the desire to spend the rest of my life with her. I'm not sure if it's love, but Yasmeen is like the wind, the air, and the water. She has become part of my life and occupied my heart gradually in the past years."

Ashley frowned without speaking.
