

Escape Wife 201

Chapter 201: I Want to Hug You

"Ah!"

Joseph screamed, and Nicole hugged him more tightly. Well, Joseph unconsciously hugged Nicole, causing Nicole dirty all over.

Seeing this scene, Samuel shook his head helplessly and said, "Can I kill man?"

"No-

Joseph's whispered reply.

Nicole was somewhat distressed to see him like this.

"Well, you always keep a straight face. A child is afraid you. Joseph, tell Mommy, what are you doing?"

Nicole glared at Samuel, then asked Joseph a soft question.

Joseph whispered, "My sister says she likes butterflies, but she can't go out under the sun, and she always sees butterflies flying from the window. I just want to catch some butterflies and bring them to her, so she won't feel so much pain."

Nicole's nose was sore at the sound of Joseph's naive voice, and Samuel's eyes were moist.

"Don't you ever do that again, boy, and always talk to Mommy when you go out. Do you know we're all worried about you when you run out without telling us?"

"Sorry, Mommy, I'll be careful next time."

Joseph realized that Samuel and Nicole were out looking for him, and was momentarily embarrassed.

"It's okay. Joseph is the oldest of our family. Zoe's already out, but she hasn't been awake, so let's go back to see Zoe, ok?"

"Good!"

Joseph smiled happily.

Nicole picked Joseph up, but Samuel stopped her and picked him up.

"I'll do it. You're not well enough. The boy's so heavy."

"No, I can go by myself."

Samuel was sensible enough, and although it was comfortable to be hugged by Mommy, he decided to go on his own.

"It's okay. Daddy's holding you."

Samuel took Joseph from Nicole's arms and put him directly on his shoulder.

"Ah!"

It was rare for Joseph to be lifted so high by Samuel, and he burst out laughing.

Seeing them both happy, Nicole suddenly remembered Lucas.

If Lucas were still around, maybe he'd be so happy as well.

A trace of sadness flashed across Nicole's eyes.

She didn't know where Lucas was. Now she couldn't wait to know how her son was doing, but there was no information he could get.

Laurel just gave her the Night Elf Empire. As for what she was going to do and how she was going to get in touch with those people, she didn't know anything.

Chapter 202: She Deserved It

Samuel couldn't help it when he saw Nicole so shy.

He lowered his head and bit Nicole's earlobe hard.

"Ah! It hurts!"

Not only was the pain, but there was a tingling sensation that Nicole could not resist, and she knew it was too bold to do that thing here.

If anyone should pass by, wouldn't she just die of shame?

Nicole's small and soft hands pushed Samuel and she said, "Why are you so bad? I just came to see you."

"I thought you were here to have me eat you."

Samuel's voice was hoarse and he didn't move back, but instead drove Nicole to the wall.

Behind her was the glass table, in front was Samuel who stared at Nicole like a wolf, making her feel excited but at the same time shy and embarrassed.

"Don't be ridiculous, I just... Well..."

Before Nicole could finish her words, Samuel again pressed his lips against hers.

This time, she never spoke again, leaving Samuel to sail the love boat with her in the adult romance sea.

When all the emotions exploded, Nicole let out a groan, and then fell into Samuel's arms.

Her clothes were untidy, but Samuel had not changed much.

Nicole threw herself into his arms and said, "It's all your fault, you beast."

"Yes, I am a beast."

When satisfied, Samuel was very easy to deal with, sticking to the principle that whatever his wife said was right, even if she was wrong. He sorted out her hair.

Nicole was sweating and exhausted, and Samuel picked her up, dressed her, and started walking outside.

Nicole became a little nervous.

"Don't go out. Someone might be passing by."

Won't she feel disgraced then?

Samuel smiled and said, "That's all right. I'll have them closed their eyes."

"Samuel!"

Nicole hit him coquettishly with her soft fist.

Let everybody close their eyes. Then everybody would know what they'd been doing in the kitchenette.

Samuel's chest heaved. He was apparently smirking, and Nicole bit him in the neck with anger.

She did it to punish his evilness, so she didn't bite hard on him, and Samuel didn't care about it. Nicole's strength was like a kitten's bite, except that the place she bit was wet and itchy.

"If you don't let up, I'll take you to the room. It just so happened that I haven't had much enjoyment just now."

Chapter 203: Samuel Was in Love with Nicole

Nicole told Samuel about Night Elf Empire.

He was astonished.

"Do you mean Vincent is still alive? Do I have an uncle? Are he and my father twins?"

He could not image the Green Family with such a complicated background.

Nicole nodded, "That's what your mom said. And giving me this ring meant giving me Night Elf Empire. Also, she told me Lucas was taken away by Vincent."

"Lucas was taken away from Vincent?"

Samuel was in shock.

"To protect Lucas? Or he has other plans?"

Nicole gave a sigh and told Samuel that Lucas was elected as successor of Night Elf Empire.

Samuel said in a low voice, "No wonder I can't find the news of Lucas and mom's attitude to him was different. I have always wondered how indifferent she was to Lucas.

Now it turns out that mom did it for a specific purpose. Mom had suffered so much these years."

"Yes, it was meant to be a joint undertaking. Since dad died, mom has carried the entire heavy load. Besides, you and Vincent were controlled by Zama. For your safety, mom also has to get along well with Zama on paper."

Only then did Nicole realize Laurel's hardship.

If something happened to Samuel, Nicole did not know whether she could bear such a heavy load.

At this time, Samuel was deeply conflicted.

At the beginning, Samuel's mother's purpose was to obtain the property of the Green Family, and even Samuel and Vincent were all for a chip to get the property. For his mother, anyone could be used by her.

He was sad.

"Did mom tell you how to get in touch with Night Elf Empire?"

Samuel did not dare to use the people of the Green Family in the Seapolis City because he was afraid they belonged to Zama. Now, he knew Night Elf Empire, and he naturally hoped for it here.

Nicole shook her head, "Mom was tired at that time. I did not ask in detail. I did not expect such a thing."

"I will let Mike to search it."

Samuel could only ask Mike's help now.

He cooked a meal for Nicole and let her ate first. Then, he went out alone.

The meal for Laurel and Zoe was prepared by the sanatorium. When Nicole sent it to them, Laurel just woke up and went to the Zoe's room.

Nicole saw the three of them were playing happily and she couldn't help smiling.

"Time for meal."

"Mom!"

Zoe's spirit was much better than before.

"How about you? Do you still feel any pain?"

Nicole asked, touching Zoe's head.

"Thanks, mom."

Nicole thought Laurel understood her.

"Pay attention to Allen who is very powerful in U.S. Don't offend him temporarily."

Laurel told about Allen without hesitation. Maybe Laurel had already known the relationship between Nicole and Allen.

Nicole nodded and then returned to the sickroom.

Jacob had prepared the clothes for Nicole to go out. She changed the hospital gown down.

She actually lost a lot of weight.

The clothes she used to wear were even bigger.

Nicole gave a sigh and coiled up her long hair. Then, she wore a casual suit and went out.

Jacob personally drove, directly took her to Fallen Paradise Club.

When she came here again, her mood was obviously different.

She had come in as someone who had been sold, but now she changed to another identity. She felt a little dreamy.

George was surprised when he saw Nicole.

"Why are you back? You are not being..."

"Get out!"

Jacob directly stood between George and Nicole, blocking George's hands.

George disappeared for a long time. But when the situation got better, he came back again.

Unexpectedly, it was his first time he saw Nicole when he came back. However, Nicole's identity was obviously not the same as before.

Although he did not know why Nicole was not the person of Allen, he looked Jacob and felt dangerous. He hurriedly stepped back and said, "Don't misunderstand. I may have recognized the wrong person."

"Yes, you did.'

Nicole said indifferently. And George suddenly realized something.

"Yes, I made a mistake. Sir, Miss, please come in."

Under the leading of George, Jacob and Nicole came in Fallen Paradise Club.

Here is Paradise. As long as you have money and you are open-minded, there are various projects you would like to try.

The deafening music made Nicole uncomfortable.

She slightly frowned and said, "Find a private room for us and let your manager come over."

George answered and hurriedly found his manager.

When Jacob looked around the surrounding environment, he slightly frowned.

"Mrs. Green, it is too messy here. You must not run around for a while."

"Okay."

George came back. And he took them into a high-end private

Chapter 205: What Did He Do Wrong?

His words almost scared Nicole out of her wits. Nicole involuntarily stopped.

At this moment, Finn came out of nowhere and headed straight for Allen.

"Mr. Brook, look at you. Why are you drinking so much? Hurry up. Find a waiter to help him."

As Finn spoke, George also ran over quickly and stood between Nicole and Allen in a second.

Seeing this, Jacob hurriedly pulled Nicole out.

Allen said reluctantly, "Get lost! Nicole, don't leave! Come back!"

"Mr. Brook, you're drunk!"

Although Finn looked a little thin, he was still strong. Somehow, he managed to trap Allen there. Allen couldn't get past him.

Nicole took this opportunity and quickly left Fallen Angel Club with Jacob.

The two of them quickly got on the car. Nicole's heartbeat was still accelerating, and cold sweat had already oozed out of her forehead.

Jacob didn't say anything. He directly started the car and rushed out.

Nicole was in a mess.

She knew that Allen had a deep affection for her, but she could never forgive what he had done to Zoe. She thought that she would hate him much, but just now, her mind went blank. She couldn't control herself.

It was true that Allen saved her life five years ago, so was his kindness to her over the past five years. It was just that they would never be able to return to the past.

Not only was it because Allen had bought her and imprisoned her, but also because of Zoe's incident. She could no longer feel grateful towards Allen.

Nicole leaned against the chair and gasped for breath.

After driving out for a while, Jacob suddenly said, "Madame, there's someone following us."

Nicole's heart suddenly tensed up.

She saw from the rear-view mirror that there were three black cars running side by side behind her. They seemed to be following her.

Nicole was somewhat nervous.

Who could they be?

The Brooks?

Or someone else?

Nicole frowned slightly and whispered, "Is there a way to get rid of them?"

"I can try!"

Jacob sped up, but the people behind them also sped up. What's more, those people began to chase after them like crazy, as if no one was around.

Nicole was extremely nervous. She grabbed her phone tightly in hand, but didn't know whether she should call Samuel or not.

Jacob suddenly turned the car around and drove into a wealthy neighborhood.

Nicole didn't know what Jacob had shown the guards, but the guards hurriedly let them go inside.

Nicole looked behind her. The men in the three cars did not enter, as if they were very afraid of this community.

Chapter 206: You Have Changed, Samuel

“No. It’s just that I’m feeling uncomfortable”

Nicole did not hide anything from Samuel.

She really had mixed feelings about Allen.

Samuel did not continue, but he darkened his face.

Nicole knew that every man would probably become angry towards her words. Moreover, what Allen had done to Zoe was really too much.

She stopped talking, and the atmosphere was a little depressed for a moment.

Mike coughed and said, “Well, how about I send you out from the back door?”

“There's a back door here?”

Samuel glanced at him.

Mike smiled and said, “I don’t know about the others, but there's definitely one here. You know me. I always like to leave a path for myself.”

These words were true.

Mike almost died on the battlefield. Since then, he had habitually left a path for himself. Perhaps only after facing death would one be truly afraid of death.

Samuel did not object. He looked at Nicole and said, "Are you alright? Can you walk?"

"Sure."

Right now, Nicole only wanted to go back as soon as possible.

She had no sense of security here.

Samuel said to Mike, "Tell Jacob to stay outside and attract their attention. As long as he doesn't leave, those people won't leave."

"I'll see."

Mike and Samuel were quite tacit.

Nicole left Mike's house hand in hand with Samuel.

Mike's back door was facing a mountain. The road was rugged and winding. However, Mike prepared a Jeep in advance. He threw the car key to Samuel.

"Drive down until you reach the bottom of the mountain. Then, you can walk out."

"Will it do? Will someone check at the foot of the mountain?"

Samuel was still very cautious.

Mike shook his head and said, "Look at my license plate. Why would anyone have the guts to stop my car? They want to die or what?"

Only then did Samuel realize that Mike's license plate was actually a military one.

"We're leaving."

"Be careful."

Samuel led Nicole into the car and drove out.

Nicole secretly glanced at Samuel. He was focused on driving, and she couldn't tell whether he was happy or angry from his look. Nicole felt a little uneasy.

"Where did this thing come from?"

Samuel grabbed the thing in Nicole's hands.

It was actually a small tracker.

Although Nicole didn't know what this thing was for, she said heavily, "I don't know either. After leaving the sanatorium, I only went to Fallen Angel Club. I didn't go anywhere along the way."

“Fallen Angel Club is our family’s Night Elf Empire. It’s impossible that the people there would track you, unless someone did something with Jacob's car.”

Samuel deepened his gaze.

Jacob was always on the road. Perhaps he was nailed, and his car was also targeted. Thinking of this, Samuel’s eyes sank again.

Nicole was also feeling a little nervous.

“Perhaps it’s not because of Jacob.”

“Could it be Finn? Why?”

Samuel's rhetorical question made Nicole somewhat speechless.

There were always dangers hidden around them. Nicole was a little worried.

Who had been targeting them?

Samuel felt that they shouldn't stay here for long, especially after he found the tracking device on Nicole.

He quickly got out of the car and put the tracker in the stone atoll beside him. Then, he pulled Nicole into the car and whispered, “We need to get out of here quickly.”

Nicole nodded, agreeing to his words. The two quickly fastened their seat belts and drove down the mountain.

When they were about to reach the foot of the mountain, Samuel discovered that there were a lot of people down there—people from the military, and some others.

It seemed impossible to drive past there.

Samuel pondered for a moment before saying decisively, “Let’s get off the car and go up the mountain.”

“What?”

Nicole was a little surprised, but she didn’t say anything. She followed Samuel out of the car and walked up the mountain step by step.

Samuel chose a different path, which no one had ever walked before.

After the two of them walked for a while, Nicole felt tired.

She was wearing high heels. Climbing the mountain was simply torture to her. However, in order not to drag down Samuel, she did not say anything until she could not stand it. She panted and said, “Let's rest for a while.”

Samuel stopped.

It was night, and he couldn't see Nicole's face clearly, but he could sense a faint smell of blood.

“Are you injured?”

“No. It’s just that my feet hurt.”

Nicole only felt a burning pain in her heels, but she didn’t feel any liquid flowing out.

When Samuel heard this, he noticed that she was wearing high heels today.

He hurriedly took off his coat and laid it on a stone, then let Nicole sit on it.

Samuel knelt on one knee and lifted one of Nicole's feet. When he was about to take off Nicole's high heels, Nicole suddenly cried out in pain.

“It hurts.”

It was strange that so many people would suddenly appear in front of them at this time. Most importantly, they were quarreling with each other. Even though they were a little far away, Samuel and Nicole still heard the noises.

However, one voice was somewhat familiar.

Nicole whispered, "Why does it sound like Mr. Wood to me?"

"Which Wood? Mr. Wood from Fallen Angel Club?"

"It seems so."

Nicole couldn't be sure.

She was still dizzy, so she couldn't be sure whether she heard that voice clearly.

However, Samuel ignored it and walked over with Nicole on his back.

Before he could reach those people, a person suddenly came out from nowhere. Nicole was startled, while Samuel's gaze instantly turned cold.

"Who is it?"

"Miss Nicole, Mr. Wood asked me to take you out of here."

The person who spoke was actually George.

Nicole was somewhat surprised, but she still told Samuel about George's identity.

Samuel did not relax much. He directly followed George to the side.

There was already a car prepared. George handed the key to Samuel and whispered, "Go. Hurry up before they find you."

“Finn asked you to come here?”

Nicole asked softly.

“Yes.”

George hurriedly nodded.

“What were they quarreling about?”

“A female guest of Mr. Wood was harassed here. She is the one arguing over there. She has attracted a lot of people. Take advantage of this time and leave.”

George said briefly, and then turned around and left.

Without delay, Samuel directly started the car and led Nicole down the mountain.

The people at the foot of the mountain seemed to have been cleared out, and there was actually no one there.

Samuel didn't care about anything else. He quickly stepped on the accelerator and ran down.

After getting into the car, Nicole started to have a fever.

She felt very uncomfortable, but her hands involuntarily grabbed onto the hem of Samuel's clothes.

Samuel knew that she was lacking the sense of security, so he let her hand cling to his clothes.

He drove the car and managed to avoid all the people along the way. He headed straight into the sanatorium.

When the car stopped, Nicole had already fainted.

Her entire body was burning.

Samuel did not want to waste another second. He carried Nicole directly to the emergency room.

Chapter 209: He Was Looking for Trouble on Purpose

When the housekeeper said this, Rachel, Mrs. Brook, immediately got angry.

If it weren't for the benefits of that land, she wouldn't have taken the initiative to ask Samuel for a deal. When she signed the contract, Rachel did not intend to include this reason, but Samuel added it anyway. He was afraid that the Brook family might blackmail him in the future, so he asked the lawyer to fill in the reason.

That was exactly the reason why the Brook family was now trapped in a dilemma.

If that piece of land hadn't been put into production, she would have given it to Samuel.

Now, it had found its own developer and other partners, and the contract had also been signed. A large sum of money had been invested in it. They were only one step close to start working and earn money.

At this critical moment, Samuel suddenly made trouble for them, and it was simply killing the Brook family.

Although the Brook family's working capital wasn't entirely dependent on this project, Rachel still felt distressed.

She got screwed. Anyone would feel bitter. What's more, it just so happened that Samuel had a good reason for this. After giving them the land, the grandson of their family, Allen, actually secretly bought Nicole and hid her away.

It would be fine if Allen did all those things secretly, but Samuel had evidence now.

Rachel wished she could kill Allen with the cane in her hand.

Now that she heard the housekeeper talk about this matter again, Rachel rolled her eyes and fainted.

The housekeeper was so scared that his face turned pale. He hurriedly pinched Rachel's philtrum and then called the family doctor. Finally, after a long time, Rachel woke up. Then, someone came to report that Samuel had come.

Rachel felt so distressed that she could barely breathe.

She had been a businesswoman for a lifetime, but she had never met someone as gloomy as Samuel.

"I won't see him! Just say that I'm seriously ill and refuse to meet any guests."

The last person Rachel wanted to see was Samuel.

However, Samuel couldn't care less. He directly rushed in.

"Elder Rachel, what do you mean?"

Samuel walked in. His cold voice made Rachel want to faint again. Unfortunately, she could not pretend because Samuel had already arrived in front of her.

"I heard that you are ill, so I specially invited a doctor to take a look at you. Are you feeling better now?"

Samuel smiled faintly. He looked polite, but Rachel had already cursed him a hundred times in secret.

Profiteer!

However, Rachel still put on a smile.

"If you didn't have evil thoughts about his wife, how could you bring such a disaster to the Brook family? Do you think the Green family is so easy to handle? Do you know the relationship between Samuel and Mike? And do you know the relationship between Mike and his superiors?"

Rachel was so angry that she couldn't breathe smoothly and started coughing violently.

This was the first time Allen had got into trouble.

Allen had always thought that he was smart enough, and that he had done it secretly. However, he never expected that Samuel would manage to obtain the evidence of his auction of Nicole from the Fallen Angel Club.

The boss of the Fallen Angel Club was very mysterious. Everyone tried to dig out who he was, but nobody succeeded. It was astonishing that he should have cooperated with Samuel and told him the secret.

Now that Samuel wouldn't let him off the hook, Allen was really annoyed.

"Grandma, I will definitely solve it."

"You will solve it? How? The fuse has already been lit. It would be better that you go find Nicole and ask her to beg Samuel to forgive us. Do you understand? As for your affections towards her, get rid of it immediately, okay?"

Rachel appreciated Allen the most, but she never expected that such an intelligent man would be so persistent and stubborn towards love.

Allen frowned and said, "If Nicole was hidden by Samuel, I wouldn't be able to find her. I saw her at the Fallen Angel Club last night. I even sent people to follow her, but they lost track of her. She went straight to Mike's house. I wouldn't believe that it had nothing to do with Samuel."

“What's the point of saying this now? Whether Samuel picked a fight or not, we could only place our hopes on Nicole now. Allen, you and Nicole were not destined. You've known her for five years. If she really liked you, you would have been together a long time ago. Why should she wait till now? You are the president of the Brook Group. Why must you back yourself into a corner? Do you know that I don't have much time left? It's unbearable for the Brook family!”

Rachel coughed again.

She seemed to be really angry this time.

Looking at Rachel, Allen said guiltily, “OK, grandma. I will go beg Nicole.”

“You must find her. Samuel is an ambitious businessman. No man will tolerate his wife being missed by other men. But as long as Nicole helps and Samuel forgives us, everything will be fine. Anyway, you must find Nicole, understand?”

Rachel said and held Allen's hands tightly. Hearing her words, Allen felt his heart was bleeding.

He just wanted a woman. Why was it so difficult?

“I know. I'll go find Nicole now.”

After leaving the Brook's, Allen felt depressed.

Where exactly was Nicole?

During the days when she was imprisoned, Nicole's affection towards him had vanished, right? Even if he begged Nicole now, would she help?

Moreover, if Nicole was willing to help, would Samuel let the Brook family off so easily?

Allen unknowingly drove to the Fallen Angel Club.

He remembered that he saw Nicole here yesterday.

She was auctioned here. How could she step into this place again?

What exactly was involved in this?

Allen couldn't figure out.

He stayed in the car and did not go in. He opened the window and smoked silently.
