Chapter 371 You Are a Cunning Old Fox

"Mom, are you awake? I'll go find the doctor."

Nicole was very excited.

Samuel said, "You stay here. I'll go for the doctor."

He turned to leave.

Audrey knew she didn't die when she saw Nicole. She felt they had parted for ages.

"Nicole..."

"Mom!"

Nicole held her hand with excitement and sadness in her eyes.

"Why are you so silly? How could you do such a thing? It's not a pity if Viola dies, but why did you do that?"

"I'm sorry, Nicole. I'm sorry. Viola is my daughter and I brought her to this world. I brought her up as she is now. She even thinks of hurting you again. I can't watch her hurt you, so I could only take her with me and apologize to your dad. In this way you won't get in any trouble."

Audrey said with difficulty, tearing flooding out of her eyes.

She was a strong woman, but now she felt sad for Nicole.

Nicole said in a choked voice, "Do you think that no one will hurt me if you take Viola away? There are many risks and difficulties in this world. Can you take them all away for me? Mom, do you have to be so extreme? I'm not afraid of anything except that something bad happening to the people I care about. I'm afraid that these people will leave me and I will be lonely. Life is short, only a few decades. We didn't spend much time together, and you intended to leave me at such an early stage. Do you like me or detest me?"

Tears coursed down Audrey's cheeks.

"How could I detest you?"

"Then take good care of yourself and watch how your daughter turns the table and lives her own life in this world. I'm not afraid of anyone. I'll take my own path, and I don't need anyone to do anything for me. Do you understand?"

Nicole held Audrey's hand tightly, afraid that she would be gone if she loosened her grip.

That kind of feeling was too bad. She didn't want to experience it again.

Audrey almost died this time, so she wouldn't have the courage to kill herself again. Looking at Nicole, who had become strong, she seemed to see Xander decades ago.

"You are the daughter of your father, who was never defeated by anything."

"I am also your daughter."

Tears welled up in Audrey's eyes.

"What did you call me just now? Can you do that again?"

"I called you Mom, Mom!"

Nicole used to think it was difficult, but now she found it natural to call her Mom.

"Sweetie!"

Filled with joy and sorrow, Audrey got emotional. The ventilator was flickering with warning lights, at which Nicole turned pale.

"Mom, calm down. Take a deep breath. Right, take a deep breath!"

She taught Audrey to calm down.

Nicole had a good sleep. Smelling the scent of Samuel, she felt secured with him around her.

She woke up to see Audrey smiling at them, and she got embarrassed.

"Mom, why didn't you call me when you woke up?"

Nicole hastily broke away from Samuel.

He shook his sore arm and said, "You're sleeping like a log, and Mom can't bring herself to wake you up. Don't worry, Wendy brought us breakfast, and Mom has eaten. I've saved some for you. Go inside and eat."

Nicole got more embarrassed.

"Why didn't you wake me up?"

"What are you afraid of? We're family. Are you afraid that we will laugh at you? Besides, you are tired these days, and it doesn't matter that you sleep a little longer. Moreover, I'm here with you."

His words consoled her.

Audrey felt delighted when she heard Samuel call her Mom.

"You both go have breakfast. I'm fine."

"Mom, you can watch TV."

Nicole turned on the TV and pulled Samuel into the inner room.

Samuel smiled at her red cheeks. "You blush easily these days. What shall we do?"

"None of your business."

Nicole gave him a sweet look. She opened the food container and saw it brim with her favorite dishes. She paused.

"Didn't you say that Mom had eaten? Why doesn't it look that way?"

"Mom has eaten. The doctor says that she can't have greasy food yet. My mother asked Wendy to make these dishes for you."

Nicole felt warm.

"How could I bother Mom so much?"

"She cares about you, saying that you can only take good care of the patient when you eat and rest well. Don't think too much. She asks Wendy to cook the dishes for you. Go ahead and enjoy."

Samuel consoled her as he didn't want to see her tearful eyes.

"Let's eat together."

Nicole handed the chopsticks to him.

Samuel didn't eat much, and he ate slowly. He was basically watching her eat.

After Nicole was through, she felt full.

"Wendy is a good cook."

"Don't I cook well?"

Samuel was jealous.

Nicole smiled and said, "How can you praise yourself?"

"What can I do? I have to praise myself since you don't. Otherwise, I feel upset."

Viola shouted miserably, as if her stomach was killing her.

The bodyguards outside glanced at each other. Although Jason had told them that Viola was scheming, they knew that Viola was the person Mrs. Don most cared. If something happened to her, they could not bear the consequences.

They hurried in.

"Viola, are you alright?"

"I have a stomachache!"

Viola was crying desperately, causing others to feel sorry for her.

However, the bodyguards didn't seem to care and whispered, "Wait, we'll ask a doctor to come here."

"It hurts. I am having a cramp. Can someone come over and help me? Please help me stand up!"

Viola cried and was almost out of breath.

The bodyguards glanced at each other, and then one stepped forward and extended his hand towards Viola.

"Viola, take my hand. I'll help you up."

Viola sneered when she saw his gentle appearance. She hurried to hold the bodyguard's hand and said, "Please be gentle. I'm in extreme pain now."

"Alright."

The bodyguard was grabbed by a woman's soft hand. Meanwhile, the woman was crying with such a delicate and tender voice. No matter how tough the bodyguard was, he couldn't help but feel tender and caring towards Viola.

Viola was accustomed to seeing all kinds of men when she accompanied her father on business occasions. Now seeing the expression of the bodyguard, Viola knew clearly what the bodyguard was thinking.

When the bodyguard pulled her up, she deliberately fell into his arms.

"It hurts!"

Seeing Viola approaching his embrace, the bodyguard wanted to push her right away. However, he hesitated because of Viola's words.

"Viola, are you alright?"

At this moment, Viola heard footsteps from outside.

She could identify that was Mike, who had been her childhood friend.

Viola grabbed the bodyguard's hand and soon took off her coat, revealing her white shoulders. She cried and shouted, "No! Please don't!"

The bodyguard was shocked.

"Viola, what are you doing? Let go of me!"

The other bodyguard realized what Viola wanted to do and came to Viola.

"Viola, you'd better let him go. Otherwise, don't blame us for being rude to you!"

"What do you mean by being rude to me?"

Mike soon arrived at the ward.

When he saw that Viola's clothes were torn off and the men were attacking her, Mike was furious at once.

"Let her go!"

As he spoke, Mike stepped forward, grabbed a bodyguard's collar and punched him.

Samuel looked irritated.

In fact, they had predicted what Viola would do and were sure that she would destroy the surveillance cameras. However, Samuel and Nicole made some preparation in advance. Some other cameras under a separate network system had been set up. No matter how smart Viola was, she would never have thought that the scene of her killing Audrey had been recorded.

Nicole looked at Audrey, not knowing what Audrey was thinking. Nicole sensed that Audrey was in a bad mood. She couldn't help but say, "Mom, why don't we call a doctor to come over? I'm worried about you."

"I'm fine. I was just suffocating. I feel much better now."

Audrey's voice was somewhat hoarse, as if she had no strength left.

Even if Audrey didn't like Viola anymore and Audrey was a little extreme, Audrey was still upset because Viola almost killed her.

Perhaps Viola felt the same.

Audrey felt very sorry for Viola. However, thinking of what Viola had done, Audrey couldn't speak for Viola with any excuse.

"You can do whatever you want with this video. I am fine now. I will be discharged tomorrow."

"Mom, you..."

Nicole wanted to say something, but was stopped by Samuel.

He shook his head at Nicole with a complicated expression.

"I'm tired. Go back, please."

After Audrey finished speaking, she lay down.

Seeing that, Nicole had nothing to say and followed Samuel out of the ward.

"Did I do something wrong?"

Nicole bit her lower lip and asked in a low voice.

Nicole thought that Audrey wouldn't care about her scheme as Audrey was able to attack Viola. Nicole just didn't want to be a in the dock. She wanted to have some evidence to threaten Viola. However, Nicole didn't expect that Audrey would feel so upset.

Seeing that Nicole was so sad, Samuel whispered, "Since you've already done it, don't think about it." Your mother can personally attack Viola, but she will still feel distressed when she is treated the same way by Viola one day. After all, Viola was her daughter. Now, she didn't choose to protect Viola but allow us to deal with the video. That is already good enough. Don't force her to do anything anymore. After all, she is also Viola's mother."

Hearing Samuel's words, Nicole became silent again.

"Do you regret?"

"A little, but I have to do it. Viola will never stop. Now that she can kill her mother despite that Viola yearned for kinship. Viola should hate me even more. Since that's the case, there's no need for me to show mercy to her."

Nicole's eyes narrowed slightly.

She looked back towards Audrey's ward again and sighed deeply. In the end, she turned around to leave with Samuel.

Mrs. Don was so angry that she wanted to kick Nicole out.

Seeing this scene, Jason was a little surprised.

"Mom, what are you talking about?"

"Shut up! I know clearly what you're thinking. Let me tell you, from today onwards, the Dons won't take Nicole as our family. Your brother in heaven won't blame us."

Mrs. Don glared at Jason coldly and angrily.

Nicole was dumbfounded. Nicole never expected Mrs. Don to be so angry and she had no coping solutions.

"Even if I let my mother take risks, things are still within my control. I don't understand why you are always picky to me and hate me so much."

"Why? Why are you asking such a silly question? See what you have done! You're driving your mom away! She had suffered a lot. I don't even know if she was alive or dead. I am not sure if Audrey will be too pessimistic. Even if she hadn't raised you up since your childhood, she had at least given birth to you. For your mother's sake, how can you cheat Viola in this way? She's so kind and weak. See what you've done!"

Mrs. Don threw the letter to Nicole.

Nicole wanted to refute because Viola was by no means kind or weak. However, when she heard that Audrey had left, she picked up the letter and read it.

This was not the first time she had seen Audrey's handwriting, but she had never felt so upset before.

Audrey recalled her life, feeling that everything she did was a failure, so she wanted to find a quiet place to spend her rest life. She asked Nicole not to look for her. As for the punishment for Viola, Nicole could do whatever she wanted without worrying about Audrey's feelings.

Nicole's eyes became moist.

Seeing her sadness, Samuel felt sorry.

"It's fine. We can send someone to look for her. Audrey may not be far away according to time. There should be records."

"That's not necessary. This is her choice."

Nicole had understood Audrey's feelings. She was injured badly this time. Audrey wanted to reflect on herself. Nicole was afraid that Audrey would not be able to come back if she couldn't figure everything out.

After putting the letter away, Nicole looked at Mrs. Don.

In order to keep Mrs. Don alive, Nicole sacrificed her own child. She thought that she could enjoy happiness with her family, but she didn't expect that her grandmother would rather trust a random person rather than her own granddaughter.

No matter how enthusiastic Nicole was, she became indifferent now.

"Remembered what you said today. From now on, I will not come to the Don's again. Even if you beg me to come back in the future, I won't."

Nicole's decisive words caused Mrs. Don to feel a little embarrassed but she still gritted and said, "Scram! We don't want you to be a member of the Dons."

"Mrs. Don, you'd better not regret it. Even if you do, your regrets will be useless. From now on, Nicole has nothing to do with the Dons."

After Samuel finished speaking, he left with Nicole.

Jason became anxious.

"Samuel, Nicole, wait for me. Mrs. Don is a little confused right now. Wait..."

"Jason, come back! I'm not dead yet! I am still the master of the Dons."

Driven out from the Don's?

What did that mean?

Lucas frowned.

Lucas also knew a little about Nicole's strange background. He thought that Nicole would get along well with the Dons. Therefore, Lucas would have another grandmother or uncle. Why did he feel that it was not the case now?

Lucas was somewhat dissatisfied with the Dons because of last accident. Now that he heard that the Dons had excluded Nicole. He was extremely angry.

His mother was such a nice person. Why did the Dons always bully her?

Lucas turned around and returned to his room.

When Zoe saw Lucas coming back angrily, she asked, "Lucas, what happened to you?"

"I'm fine. Play your building blocks."

Lucas turned on the computer and input the directions so that he hacked into the surveillance system of the Don's. Lucas could clearly see what had happened to Nicole then.

Mrs. Don went too far!

That bad old woman!

She dared to speak to Nicole like that!

Lucas was so angry that he trembled. After thinking for a while, he took out the drone and tied something onto it before releasing it.

"Lucas, what are you doing?"

Zoe was very curious.

Lucas smiled and said, "Shall we play the Plants vs. Zombies?"

"What?"

Zoe did not understand what Lucas meant.

Lucas controlled the drone and let it fly to the Don's.

Lucas could avoid being discovered in the surveillance system.

Jason had a big quarrel with Mrs. Don for the sake of Nicole.

For so many years, Jason had never disobeyed Mrs. Don. Even though sometimes Mrs. Don did something wrong, he still handled it in a sophisticated manner. Only when it came to Nicole, Jason was angry.

"Mrs. Don, do you know what you're doing? We are family, including Nicole. You did that to Nicole for an outsider. Aren't you afraid of letting her down? Now that you've completely broke out with Nicole, are you satisfied?"

What Jason said caused Mrs. Don to smash the teacups angrily.

"What are you doing? Are you crazy? Or do you think I've lived my life in vain for so many years? Is there anything wrong with my judgment of people? Think about Nicole. She speaks a little but has many schemes. Viola is no match for Nicole. Besides, how could there be a daughter who used the life of her biological mother as bait? Based on that, Nicole is not worthy of being one of the Dons!"

Lucas heard every word of Mrs. Don.

Nicole grabbed him and said, "We need to ask Lucas about this. Don't get him wrong."

"How can I get him wrong? Other people can't do such a thing, only Lucas can!"

Samuel was furious.

This little brat seemed to be uncomfortable if he didn't cause trouble for Samuel.

Lucas had just got the drone back when he heard Samuel shouting at him outside. His neck shrank and he was a little depressed.

Could Mrs. Don be so narrow-minded and had she complained to Samuel already?

"Lucas, what should we do? Daddy seems to be very angry."

Zoe rarely saw Samuel being so furious.

Lucas was also scared, but he smiled and said, "It's fine. Don't go out. I'll just admit what I did alone."

"Then will Daddy beat you?"

Zoe blinked her big eyes with an expression of worry.

"No! Samuel won't hit me. Don't worry."

Lucas was uncertain, but seeing Zoe's worried appearance, he couldn't help but start comforting her.

"I can ask Daddy for a favor. I'll tell him that I did it. Daddy loves me very much and won't punish me."

Lucas was touched by Zoe's words at this time. Lucas felt that his love and care towards Zoe wasn't in vain.

"No, I am a boy. How can a boy ask a girl to protect him when he has made a mistake? Don't worry. I will handle it properly!"

After Lucas finished speaking, she locked Zoe in her room and walked out.

Nicole was still holding Samuel while Laurel also tried her best to restrain Samuel's anger. When Samuel saw Lucas come out, he threw the phone to Lucas.

"Did you do it?"

When Lucas saw the mess in the Don's living room, he pouted and said, "Such an old person still likes to tattle. Sure enough, senior people don't have respects to themselves."

"Do you still think you are right?"

Seeing that Lucas didn't admit his mistake, Samuel was so angry that he wanted to beat Lucas up as if Mrs. Don should have been here.

Noticing that Mrs. Don came out, Nicole turned serious.

No matter what, Lucas did that thing today, so she had to humor Mrs. Don.

"Mrs. Don."

Nicole said calmly.

Hearing Nicole call her that, Mrs. Don felt a little awkward but snorted coldly, saying, "What? Do you have a problem with me? If you have any objections, you can say them to me. You asked a child to cause trouble for us Dons? Do you think you can do whatever you want to us? Nicole, let me tell you. I don't accept you. Even if your son messes us up, my attitude towards you will remain the same! Don't think for a minute that your son is the game changer. I can't pretend that nothing happened and let this go. That's impossible!"

Samuel wanted to argue back when he heard Mrs. Don's harsh words, but Nicole stopped him.

Nicole said with a faint smile, "Mrs. Don, I think you've misunderstood. I don't want anything to do with your family. My son made a mistake today. Please tell me how you would like this to be handled."

Nicole's cold face displeased Mrs. Don, but she didn't want to get off her high horse, so she coldly snorted and said, "I want you to tell me. Say it."

"We Greens will double the compensation for everything your family has lost."

Samuel had enough of the old woman and said.

Mrs. Don glared at him.

"Do you think we are short of money?"

"Then what do you want? Give me a direct answer!"

Samuel didn't want Nicole to waste her time with Mrs. Don. The old woman was hard to deal with. Therefore, he wished this could end quickly so that he and Nicole could go back home for dinner.

Mrs. Don was already uncomfortable and grew even angrier offended by Samuel.

"Look at my face. This is paint! Your son actually splashed paint at me! If it hadn't been cleaned in time, my skin would be ruined!"

Mrs. Don thought of how painful it was to remove the paint and wished she could whip that brat Lucas.

Samuel laughed.

"Well, next time I'll have him use something else. After all, this doesn't come off easily."

"You...."

Mrs. Don almost fainted from anger.

Nicole tugged at Samuel's sleeve and shot him a look.

They were here to solve the problem, not starting one. Why was Samuel trying to provoke Mrs. Don? She didn't know how to explain it away if Mrs. Don got sick from anger.

Samuel restrained himself a little understanding what Nicole meant.

Chapter 379 I'm Willing to Do Anything for You

Nicole's question irritated Mrs. Don, and she didn't look happy.
She couldn't just whip Nicole ten times, right?
Moreover, the hatred in Nicole's gaze scared her. She also felt she had gone too far, but she was an elder, so she couldn't make herself apologize to Nicole.
Mrs. Don was torn apart but snorted coldly, saying, "You'd better remember what you said today. You have nothing to do with the Dons from now on."
"I will. Thank you for your ten lashes today, so that I can see you clearly."
With that, Nicole helped Samuel out of the Don's.

Even though the old woman asked everyone to keep their mouths shut, someone still told Jason about it.

Jason hurried back, but it was too late. Noticing the blood on the whip, he was so angry that he didn't want to talk to Mrs. Don. He quickly called Nicole and Samuel.

When Nicole saw it was Jason calling, she blocked him without thinking.

She was not mad at him. But she was done with the Dons.

Seeing her like this, Samuel knew she was hurt deeply, so he whispered, "Alright, don't be angry. I'm fine. Lucas was to blame in this. As his father, I have to take the responsibility, right?"

"I'm sorry. I brought this to you. I thought if I returned to the Dons, it might be helpful to you. But now, I can see it is bullshit. You've suffered because of them."

Nicole wanted to give back her Don blood to the Dons, so that she could sever the ties with them.

How could Samuel not know what Nicole was thinking?

He held Nicole's hand and whispered, "Life is short. We only get several decades to live. Don't get angry for them. They are nothing to you. Fortunately, this shall pass. It's good, isn't it?"

"I just feel you are so unlucky to marry me."

Nicole spoke from her heart.

"Nonsense. Marrying you is the most fortunate thing in my life."

Samuel's comfort made Nicole more uncomfortable instead.

Jason couldn't get through to Nicole, so he called Samuel. Unfortunately, Samuel also hung up.

It occurred to him that it was over between the Dons and the Greens.

"Are you satisfied now? There are only three important families in the Seapolis City—the Greens, the Dons and the Louises. You've left us out on a limb by making the Greens our enemies."

Jason rarely lost his temper with Mrs. Don. This time, he couldn't help it.

Mrs. Don knew she might have gone too far, but she had to sense that herself, and Jason was in no position to blame her like this.

Chapter 380 The Girl Is Willful After All

Hearing that she could be forgiven, Zoe immediately took Laurel to the greenhouse. She pointed at Laurel's two favorite pots of peony and said, "I vented my anger on them."

At first, Laurel didn't find anything wrong with them, but after careful examination, she discovered they had been uprooted and were just standing in the pits.

They seemed fine but had no chance of survival because peonies were delicate.

What was worse, they were Laurel's favorites.

Her heart was dripping blood!

"Grandma, you said if I was honest, I was still a good kid. I know I've made a mistake. Please don't be angry."

Zoe blinked, her big eyes innocent. Laurel couldn't stay mad at her. But her flowers!

Her heart ached for them!

"I know you were angry with your daddy. But what have my flowers done to you? Why did you take it out on them?"

Laurel couldn't figure this out.

Zoe said somewhat awkwardly, "I was planning to ask Daddy to come here, so that I could tell you it was him. Then he can be punished."

Laurel's heart was bleeding when she heard that.

What kind of theory was this?

"Do you think you can outsmart your daddy?"

"Daddy loves me very much. As long as I tell him to bring me here, he would do it. At that time, I will say he did it."

Zoe said plausibly. Laurel was itching to slap this girl.

Zoe's plan didn't make sense.

The father and daughter were mad at each other, but what did it have to do with her flowers? They died for nothing. Laurel felt such pain for it.

"Grandma, are you angry?"

Zoe tugged at a corner of Laurel's clothes and looked at her innocently.

What can the poor woman say?

That she was distressed?

How could a four-year-old comprehend that?

Laurel sighed and said, "You are not allowed to vent your anger on my flowers again, understand?"

"Yes."

Zoe let out a long sigh of relief.

Fortunately, Grandma wasn't angry.

She stuck out her tongue at Laurel's back before running out of the greenhouse.

Laurel looked at the doomed peonies and felt great pain. In the end, she had to ask someone to throw them away.

When Samuel and Nicole came out, they happened to see the servants carrying the flowers to throw out.

Nicole remembered she had loosened the soil for them not long ago, so she couldn't help but ask.

"What's wrong with the flowers? Why did you take them out?"
