

Escape Wife 42

Chapter 42: Tough guy will never give in

Lucas left the hospital with Samuel and got into Samuel's car.

Samuel looked at him, full of contentment, and the child looked more and more adorable.

“Should we buy something for Joseph?”

He just wanted to stay with Lucas for a while, but couldn't find a good reason. What the president wanted to purchase was just a matter of his words, wasn't it?

Lucas froze slightly, and thought it wasn't good to go empty-hands, and nodded randomly.

Then the two persons went to the mall.

“What does Joseph like?”

Lucas had just returned to the Seapolis city and didn't know much about Joseph. All he knew was that he was the son of Samuel, but this identity made him more and more contradictory.

Samuel froze.

What did Joseph like?

He didn't seem to know it.

He always gave the best to Joseph. No matter it was newly developed toys or new clothes, as long as it was the best, he would give it to Joseph. But what Joseph really liked, it seemed like that he never asked.

Seeing Samuel's expression at this time, Lucas sneered and said, “Are you really his daddy? You don't even know what your son likes, how can you be daddy?”

This sentence made Samuel somewhat ashamed.

Just such a little boy, why was he always be teased by him?

Thinking of the scene of the airport toilet, Samuel asked inadvertently.

“Do you deliberately pee on me at the airport?”

“What are you talking about? I don't understand. Ah, that toy looks good.”

Lucas pretended to be stupid, and quickly ran towards the toy area on the side, which was obviously a guilty conscience.

Sure enough, he was still a child, and he can't be completely calm.

Samuel smiled and shook his head, an expression of softness appeared on his face.

He followed Lucas to the toy area, thinking he would buy toys for four or five-year-old, but he didn't expect that Lucas went directly to the Lego robot area and took a programmed toy to start playing.

“You can program?”

This surprised Samuel.

Lucas casually said, "I love it from a young age, and my mum buy me a lot of Lego toys."

During the conversation, Lucas's has reprogrammed the Lego toy, the original toy was suddenly added some features.

Samuel's eyes flashed a little, but he didn't move.

"Do you like it? If you do, just buy it."

"I'm tired of playing this for a long time, but Joseph should like it. Buy this."

Lucas handed the toy to the salesperson, and randomly took out a VIP card from his pocket and passed it.
