

Escape Wife 421

Chapter 421 Don't Scare Me

The more Mrs. Don looked at Viola, the more she liked Viola.

"You are a good child! I'm sorry to let you wronged! I thought you can live a good life in the Don family. However, you've been shabbily treated. It's my fault. I can do nothing for you. I fail to protect you. Even if we both die today, we can't let her succeed."

After Mrs. Don finished speaking, she glared at Nicole.

Nicole looked at them and smiled mockingly.

"What a touching affection between you two! Viola, you don't need to pretend to be innocent in front of me. I know you better than anyone else. If you want to die with the Don family today, I'll let you have it."

As she spoke, Nicole motioned several bodyguards in black to come over.

"Mrs. Green!"

"Take them away! Remember, don't let them kill themselves. Otherwise we would be held responsible."

"Yes!"

Viola panicked when the bodyguards were about to walk to them.

"Samuel, aren't you going to stop Nicole? She is out of control. As your wife, what she does will put the Greens in trouble as well. The Greens, your grandma and your children, do you want to put them in danger? Are you going to ruin your family for Nicole's impulsiveness?"

Viola felt that Samuel was insane.

Samuel remained silent and watched, showing no sign of stopping Nicole. Was he going to sit and watch her destroy the Dons?

Samuel sneered and said, "Nicole is my wife. She can do whatever she wants. As her husband, the best thing I can do for her is to support and help her. Let alone the Greens, even if she wants the stars in the sky, I will find a way to get them for her. Now it's just the Dons. I don't mind doing it at all."

Mrs. Don was exasperated by her defiant speech and almost fainted.

She began to cough violently. And Viola hurriedly patted her back to calm her down.

"Grandma, don't be angry. Don't scare me!"

Viola said with her eyes red and teary.

Nicole was touched by Samuel's support. After giving him a soulful look, she said to Mrs. Don, "Let me say that again. I want to see Zoe. If you agree, I will leave immediately with her. And I promise I will never be against the Dons again."

"I don't know what you're talking about. Nicole, how could you barge into our house and ask your husband to snatch business with the Dons? Do you think you can cover up the sky? If I die, will you and the Greens get off the hook?"

Mrs. Don had thrown caution to the wind.

Anyway, she had to make Nicole suffer as well.

Viola's quiver was a subconscious response.

Jason gave her a cold and even murderous look, as if he wanted to tear her apart on the spot.

Viola hurriedly shook her head.

"I didn't! Uncle, I really didn't!"

Looking at them for a while, Nicole said coldly, "Do you want to gain time to let others drive away? Given you are guiltless, why don't you let us go in and take a look?"

As soon as Nicole finished speaking, Mrs. Don was so angry that she wanted to scold Nicole. However, Jason stopped her.

"Alright. I'll take you in!"

As Jason had agreed, all people in front of the Don's hurriedly stepped aside and made way for him.

Even if Mrs. Don and Viola were unhappy, they had no choice but to follow Jason and the others and enter the house.

Nicole's body trembled, and her hands began to sweat.

She hoped that both the car and Zoe were here, so she could bring Zoe back. However, she was also afraid that they were here.

If the Don family was indeed behind the matter, she wouldn't be able to live with herself and her children. How should she get along with the Dons in the future?

Samuel knew what she concerned about. He held her hand tightly and said, "Don't be afraid. I'm here."

"OK!"

They walked into the backyard of the Don's hand by hand.

As soon as they entered, they saw a familiar car in the backyard.

Nicole's expression immediately changed.

"Mr. Jason, how do you explain it?"

Looking at the car in front of him, Jason was dumbfounded. The car tires were caked with sands, which were obviously from the beach.

"Who did it?"

Jason was irritated.

He had offered Mrs. Don and Viola a chance to confess, but they chose to deceive him!

Did they think Samuel and Nicole wouldn't revenge on them?

The people who hurt him the most was Mrs. Don. Anyway, Zoe was her great-granddaughter. How could she be so heartless?

Since Mrs. Don had never seen Jason being so angry, she was shocked. Viola put herself in Mrs. Don's arms and cried out in fright, "Uncle, we didn't kidnap Zoe. We had nothing to do with it and we didn't go out. The butler can testify for us. It might be Samuel and Nicole who are behind the matter. They try to frame us by using such a stage-managed tactic!"

Nicole had a complete breakdown.

It was the first time Jason had seen Nicole being like this. Nicole looked more desperate than she aborted last time.

Jason couldn't help but feel miserable.

"Nicole, I will sniff around and try to find out. Don't worry!"

Jason took a step forward and said. Nicole got more excited at his words.

"Find out? Obviously, the Dons are behind this. You'd better pray my daughter is safe, or I don't mind risking my life to revenge on you!"

Nicole threatened, looking hideous and terrifying.

Mrs. Don said angrily, "You fail to take good care of Zoe and it's your fault. Why do you come to us? How shameless you are! Given you accuse us of kidnapping Zoe, can you prove that? As for the car, the driver probably went to the beach and therefore appeared in front of your house. Don't you allow this? Isn't it too domineering? We will cooperate with you as soon as you show us the evidence. But where's the evidence?"

Nicole almost fainted from anger at Mrs. Don's defiant speech.

Was Mrs. Don going to deny by all means?

Seeing Nicole being on the edge of collapsing, Samuel hurriedly hugged her and whispered, "Let's go back. We need to think it over. What she said is correct. Since the security camera failed to record what happened on the road at that time, we can't prove them guilty by claiming the car to be the Dons'."

"But our daughter...."

"Believe me. I will bring her back safely. I promise!"

Although Samuel promised and she knew he would spare no effort to look for Zoe, Nicole was still worried.

When things did progress this far, Jason said somewhat awkwardly, "The Don family will uncover the truth and give you an explanation."

Nicole ignored him.

Samuel looked at Jason and said, "Mr. Jason, you know clearly that we are not unreasonable. I know what you have done, but I don't want to sour the relationship between us. But if you keep annoying us, we the Greens won't make concessions again and again! You'd better send my daughter back safely in two days, or you have to suffer the consequences."

After saying that, Samuel was about to leave with Nicole.

"Stop!"

Mrs. Don shouted out.

"Do you think the Don's is a place where you can come and go as you please? Nicole must kneel down and apologize for what happened today! Otherwise, you can't go out!"

Mrs. Don was aggressive.

Samuel looked annoyed immediately.

"You want me to kneel down and apologize?"

Chapter 424 Where Is Zoe

"Where?"

Nicole leaned over quickly.

Her long hair brushed past Samuel's face without him knowing it. The faint fragrance from her body rushed into Samuel's nose, slightly stunning him.

"Where is it?"

Nicole looked at the red dot on the screen and pushed Samuel before he could react.

"South of the city."

As Samuel said this, he told Jacob and the others the location and let them go there to stop Swift and the others first.

Nicole stood up and said, "Let's go! I'd take a look as well."

"Nicole, don't go. Just leave it to me."

Samuel grabbed her hand.

Nicole was too tired. Ever since the news of Zoe being kidnapped came, Nicole had always been nervous.

Looking at Samuel's eyes that carried worries, Nicole knew what he was thinking.

"Don't worry, I'll be fine. I can't just stay at home either. I might as well go take a look with you."

"You have heard that Zoe would probably not be there and we just go to catch Swift and the others, so..."

"There's always a sliver of hope, right?"

Nicole's gaze with hope made Samuel somewhat not bear to look straight at her.

"Put on more clothes. It's cold outside."

"Alright."

Seeing that Samuel agreed, Nicole hurriedly went to change into a thicker coat.

The two quickly boarded the car and arrived at the south of the city according to the location.

Jacob's subordinates had already surrounded this place, the address given by Samuel.

It was an ordinary residential area. If it weren't for Viola's phone call with Swift, it would have been very difficult to find this place.

"It is under control?"

Samuel got out of the car.

The cold wind blew at the ends of his hair, making him look much cooler.

Samuel left Nicole in the car and Nicole looked through the glass at the scene outside.

Jacob nodded and said, "It has been under control. But I haven't let them enter yet. I don't want to alert them."

"You have arranged people at all the doors, including the front one and the rear one?"

"Yes!"

Samuel narrowed his eyes and looked at the house in front of him. He said coldly, "Is Swift alone or with Ryan?"

"It should be only Swift. We don't see any traces of anyone else."

Vincent was shocked by Nicole's words, but he quickly said, "Of course my brother has a way. You know, he is Samuel."

"Yes, he is Samuel."

Nicole smiled, but that smile was meaningful, which made Vincent feel that there was something wrong.

"Nicole, you..."

"If you still regard me as your sister-in-law, shut up and don't stop me, much less inform your brother. I'm going to the basement right now. Do you have any objections? Of course, if you insist on informing your brother, I can't do anything about it. After all, you two are good brothers, and I'm just an outsider."

As Nicole said this, how could Vincent continue to stop her?

He only felt his face burning. He knew that something was wrong, but he didn't stop her anymore. He watched helplessly as Nicole walked towards the basement.

Vincent sent a text message to Samuel, telling him that Nicole had walked down. Unfortunately, Samuel's phone was in the car, so he didn't see this message.

When Nicole walked in through the passageway in the basement, the people beside wanted to say hello to her, but were stopped by her.

After all, Samuel gave Nicole this privilege and the entire family knew that Nicole was a great treasure to Samuel.

Moreover, Samuel did not specifically say that she was not allowed to let in, so Nicole quietly came in without anyone stopping her.

Samuel's back was facing Nicole, so he did not see her arrival. Swift was handcuffed there; she also could not see who the coming person was because Nicole was in the dark.

"Tell me, when did you start coveting the Green Family? Who did you know from about the treasury of the Green Family? Zama? Did Zama tell you that? Or someone else?"

Samuel's question made Swift somewhat chill.

"I don't know what you're talking about."

"You don't know? Then listen to this."

As he spoke, Samuel released the conversation between Swift and Viola.

Swift immediately changed her expression.

"Idiot Viola, is it she that has betrayed me?"

"If she really betrayed you, I wouldn't find you until now. Swift, I have to say that you are very smart. You know that Viola would do something to my wife and the Green Family. Unfortunately, you are still less deliberate."

Samuel said coldly.

He looked at the woman in front of him. She was already in her fifties, but she still looked young.

This woman was too ruthless. Samuel could still remember that when Riley was in the prison, she almost killed Riley.

Vincent did not dare to stay any longer and ran straight to the basement.

In the basement, Samuel was still entangled with Swift. Seeing Vincent rushing over, he was somewhat puzzled.

"What's the matter?"

"Come out, I have something to say to you."

Vincent naturally wouldn't say anything in front of Swift, because this woman was simply too wicked. If she knew anything and went to Nicole to provoke, then he and Samuel would truly be in trouble.

When Swift saw Vincent, she couldn't help but curse him.

"Vincent, you bastard! How much pain did my daughter suffer for you? She even brings you a son. But what did you do to her? You just hide yourself! You've been hiding yourself like you have died for all these five years. You leave your child and wife at the mercy of others' contempt under the rooftop of the Greens. Are you a man? "

Swift's curses made Vincent change into an ugly expression.

"At the mercy of others' contempt under the rooftop of the Greens? You have the nerve to say that? If it weren't for the fact that she had given birth to a child for the Green Family, would the George family's business be able to continue for the past five years? Could you continue to be a lady in the upper class? She had gotten a lot from the Green Family in the past five years. If you really want to know who is wrong, then ask your good daughter if she really wanted to be my wife when she was with me. "

Vincent did not want to talk about the past, nor did he want to face Swift. It was like a mirror that reflected everything about him, making him clearly realize how stupid and idiotic he was back then.

If it weren't for Nicole's unusual mood, he wouldn't have come in anyway.

Now that he was facing Swift, he even had a trace of hatred.

If it wasn't for this woman's instigation and her teaching since Riley was young, Riley would not have done such a thing, much less embarked on this desperate path.

That a son lost his mother was the greatest pain.

But this woman was still boasting about something. It was simply unreasonable!

Vincent's questioning made Swift even angrier.

"No matter what, you married Riley. I am Riley's mother, and I am your mother-in-law! You just watched your brother treat me like this? Aren't you afraid that Riley won't be able to rest well in the grave?"

"Even the living ones have great difficulty. Do I still care what the dead one think?"

Vincent turned around and left. Obviously, he didn't want to talk with Swift anymore.

"Vincent, come back! Come back! Riley had something to say to you before she died. Don't you want to hear it?"

Swift's words made Vincent stop, but he did not turn around. He only said indifferently, "Since she was dead, what's the use of the words? You should keep her last words for the rest of your life."

With that, Vincent walked out of the basement without stopping.

Swift was still cursing him, but Samuel had her mouth blocked.

"We'll have a talk when you've decided what you actually want to say to me."

After saying that, Samuel also turned around and left the basement.

Lucas frowned slightly.
Nicole finally sleeps peacefully. He didn't want Mommy to be woken up by her phone.
He hurriedly picked up the phone and wanted to mute it, but he recognized the number at once. It was from the Don family.

Lucas certainly knew about the Don family. Seeing they were still harassing Mommy, Lucas' brow furrowed even deeper.

He took the phone and crept to the bathroom. Then, he answered it and Viola's voice came from the other side immediately,

"Nicole. If you don't want your daughter to die, you'd better listen to me. I'll wait for you in Nancy Park at 1030 in the morning. Do not bring anyone with you. You must come alone. If you're late, I can't guarantee what will happen to your daughter."

After saying that, Viola hung up the phone.

Lucas' expression immediately changed.

Zoe was in Viola's hands?

How could that be?

He quickly opened the door, only to find that it was locked from the inside.

Lucas did not have the habit of locking the door. Looking at Nicole who was still asleep on the bed, he couldn't help but ponder.

Last time, Samuel came to sleep with him, and now Mommy also came to sleep with him. Could it be that they were having some kind of spat?

Although Lucas was young, he was smart.

He opened the door and saw that Samuel looked a little haggard and tossed on the sofa in the living room. He thought his guess was correct.

They were really having a spat!

Lucas sighed and walked up to Samuel. He looked him up and down. The disdainful gaze annoyed Samuel a lot.

"I'm in a bad mood right now. You'd better leave me alone."

Samuel's voice was hoarse. It was obvious that he had not slept well all night. His beard had also grown, but he didn't have the mood to take care of himself.

Lucas ignored Samuel's irritability and sat down beside him.

"Did you quarrel with Mommy?"

"Nonsense! Will I quarrel with your mommy?"

Samuel insisted stubbornly.

However, Lucas smiled and said, "Really?"

"No! Go and mind your own business!"

Samuel felt that he did not have any authority in front of this son. This brat was not afraid of him at all. He missed the way Joseph called him daddy back then. He still had the authority and satisfaction of being a daddy.

Seeing Samuel acting like this, Lucas coughed and said, "Alright, I'll go. But if Mommy ignores you later, don't blame me for not helping you."

As he spoke, he wanted to get up, but was grabbed by Samuel.

"Is your mommy awake?"

He was somewhat nervous.

"Not yet. But she'll wake up eventually, won't she?"

"Zoe!"

She felt as if she was dreaming, but the feeling coming from her hands was so real that she was extremely excited.

On the contrary, Zoe was frightened by Nicole.

"Mommy, what's wrong with you? You're hurting me."

Although Zoe did not struggle, her voice carried a tinge of tears.

Nicole hurriedly released her.

"I'm sorry, I'm sorry. It's my bad. Is it hurting? Let Mommy take a look."

Nicole hurriedly released Zoe, but she was still cautious and nervous.

Zoe had not seen Nicole like this for a long time.

In the past, when she left the operating room, Nicole would be so excited. Now that she was all right, how could she still be like this?

However, during this period of time, Zoe thought that she had been neglected by Nicole. Seeing that Mommy was so excited to see her, she immediately became happy.

She smiled brilliantly.

"I'm fine. I'm not that fragile. Mommy, I'm all right! If you don't believe me, look!"

In order to prove that she was in good health, Zoe got out of Nicole's arms and jumped up on the bed.

"Look, look. Am I much stronger?"

Looking at her daughter's innocent and brilliant smile and recalling what she had been through, Nicole's heart ached.

"Yes, my daughter is well. My daughter is the most beautiful angel."

As Nicole spoke, the tears in her eyes were forced back.

The kid didn't know anything, which was good now. There was no need to tell her daughter about her worries and the conspiracies between the adults.

Hearing this, Zoe said happily, "Mommy is also the best. Mommy is so beautiful! Will I be as beautiful as Mommy when I grow up in the future?"

"You'll be prettier than Mommy."

Nicole was not stingy in praising her daughter.

No one knew what it meant for her to regain what she had lost.

"Really? Will I be prettier than Mommy? Then I will definitely find a boyfriend like Daddy in the future, right?"

Zoe's serious expression instantly made Nicole laugh.

"How old are you? Do you know what a boyfriend is?"

"I know. I want Dean to be my boyfriend."

As Zoe spoke, she sat beside Nicole and asked seriously, "Mommy, can I?"

"Dean? Which Dean?"

"The boy who played with me at the amusement park last time, Dean Shaw!"

Zoe's words rang a bell.

However, last time she heard that Dean was the one who kidnapped Zoe. It took Samuel a lot of efforts to find her. He nearly put on an advertisement.

Nicole had never seen this child before, but being able to charm Zoe so much was not a good thing in her eyes.

Zoe was hers. She was so little. Nicole didn't want her to be attracted by other children.

When Samuel saw Lucas waving at him, he hesitated a little. But he still walked toward him.

"What?"

"You sucked."

Lucas did not conceal his disdain for Samuel. Samuel was so angry that he wished he could catch this brat and beat him up.

"You're disrespectful. Tell me, how can I get your Mommy to talk to me?"

Samuel was really helpless.

He would rather have Nicole make trouble for him and quarrel with him than be as quiet as she was now. It seemed that her coldness had a trace of mental abuse.

However, he was the one that started all this. He didn't dare to complain.

As Zoe ate, she listened to their whispers and asked, "Why did Mommy ignore you? Daddy, did you quarrel?"

"Go and eat your pineapple buns."

Lucas pushed Zoe away again.

Zoe pouted angrily, but she could not join in.

Lucas directly said to Samuel, "I'll do this later, and I need you to cooperate with me!"

They spoke in a very low voice. Zoe pricked up her ears and listened to every word. Then she couldn't help but frown.

When Nicole came out, Samuel had already returned to the living room.

He sat on the sofa and watched Nicole as she came out of the bathroom, ignored him and walked upstairs.

"Nicole, we need to talk."

Samuel stopped her.

Nicole paused. She said indifferently without turning around, "I'm a little tired. Let's talk about it later."

As she spoke, she was about to go upstairs.

At this moment, Lucas suddenly opened the door and rushed out with both hands on his stomach.

"Mommy, my stomach hurts."

Lucas wore a miserable expression and almost started to cry.

Nicole could ignore Samuel, but she could not ignore Lucas. Seeing her son like this, she immediately panicked.

"What's wrong? Did you eat too much pineapple buns just now? Do you want to go to the hospital?"

Lucas rarely got sick, and now, Nicole didn't doubt him at all.

Samuel quickly stood up, ran over and said, "I'm holding Lucas, you ask Zac to drive the car."

Zoe then realized that she had done something wrong.

She obediently followed behind Nicole. But from time to time, she looked at Lucas with tears in his eyes. Suddenly, Zoe asked in a low voice, "Mommy, did I do something wrong?"

"No, you're a good kid."

Nicole picked up Zoe and meanwhile pulled the suitcase out of the living room.

Jacob was waiting outside. Seeing Nicole come out, he hurriedly took the suitcase from her.

"Ms. Nicole, please leave it to me."

"OK, thank you."

Then Nicole carried Zoe into the car.

Zoe suddenly felt that the pineapple buns in her hands were not so delicious.

She looked out of the window and asked nervously, "Mommy, when are we coming back? Lucas didn't mean to lie to you. And I was deliberately going against Lucas just now. Maybe his stomach hurts."

Hearing what Zoe said, Nicole touched her hair and said, "Lucas is fine with your daddy there. Well, you don't like to go to your grandma's with me?"

"No, you have quarreled with daddy, and Lucas is very sad. It is not good for us to leave just like this, isn't it?"

Zoe finally understood something.

Nicole replied gently, "I didn't quarrel with your daddy. We just disagree with each other. Did you see that I quarrel with him?"

"No. I heard one of my friends from kindergarten say that her daddy and mommy quarrel every day. They shout at and even fight with each other. But you and daddy didn't do that."

Zoe tilted her head, trying her best to understand the concept of quarrel.

In her memory, her daddy and mommy had never quarreled before.

"That's right, so your daddy and I didn't quarrel."

Nicole calmly cajoled Zoe.

She did not quarrel with Samuel, but they had fallen into the silent treatment.

As Nicole thought this, she felt somewhat uncomfortable and even heartbroken.

Jacob got in the car and heard what Nicole said to Zoe. He wanted to say something, but in the end, he gave up.

The car drove towards the Bush's.

Zoe was still thinking about what happened just before. But when they passed by a fried-chicken shop, she suddenly asked for a drumstick. So, Jacob had to stop the car and buy some for her.

At that moment, nothing was as important as a drumstick to Zoe.

Looking at her daughter being such a foodie, Nicole was touched.

'Thank God, Zoe was fine!'

It was a close call.

Just as Nicole was holding Zoe and waiting for Jacob, the car door suddenly opened. Then, a man squeezed in, startling Nicole.
