

Escape Wife 431

Chapter 431 He Was Uncertain then

"Ms. Nicole, be careful!"

Jacob was the first to notice that man.

Nicole subconsciously held Zoe in her arms when she heard Jacob's shout.

That man was a stranger. He was about 1.75 meters tall. As soon as he appeared, he came towards Zoe. Nicole was so frightened that she hurriedly carried Zoe into the room and closed the door.

"Mom and Dad, stay in the room with Zoe."

Nicole handed Zoe to her parents, then she looked out of the peephole.

That stranger knew how to fight and was on par with Jacob.

Nicole frowned slightly.

Swift and Ryan were both controlled. Who would be the person being here to rob Zoe?

Could it be Samuel?

No!

Samuel would never do such a thing.

Even if he used Zoe to push Nicole to attack the Don family, he would not ask anyone to steal her daughter. Nicole was completely confident in this.

The man was quickly at a disadvantage. Just as Jacob was about to grab him, the man pretended to attack and when Jacob dodged, he took the opportunity to escape.

Jacob wanted to chase after that man, but he was stopped by Nicole.

"Stop! I wonder if there are any traps, and we need your protection here."

Nicole analyzed rationally.

If that man was targeting Zoe, they would still attack Zoe. So, they couldn't leave Zoe alone then.

Jacob returned to Nicole and looked at them. After confirming that they were fine, he asked, "Ms. Nicole, do you recognize that man?"

"No, and I've never seen him before."

Nicole's memory wasn't that bad, and she didn't remember when she had met such a person.

Jacob was worried.

"Ms. Nicole, either you come back to the Green's with me, or..."

"I don't want to go back for the time being. Ask someone to come here."

Nicole knew what Jacob wanted to say, but she didn't want to go back then.

Dad Bush and Ms. Bush were frightened by what happened.

"What's going on? Didn't you say that the photo issue has been clarified? Why did that man come here and target Zoe?"

Ms. Bush trembled slightly, and then she hugged Zoe tightly.

Seeing her mother being so frightened, Nicole comforted her, "Don't worry, Mom. The Green family has a great fortune, so someone will covet that. We just need to be careful."

Dad Bush watched Nicole get into the kitchen, but he still didn't take his gaze back. Then, he asked in a low voice, "You bickered?"

"What?"

Samuel quickly regained his senses and replied, "No, we didn't."

"Don't lie to me. I know my daughter best. She likes you so much. Since those things were clarified, she would like to be with you every minute. But today, she came back with Zoe and her luggage. You told me that you didn't bicker? Also, Zoe was almost snatched away by someone at the door. Why?"

Hearing Dad Bush's words, Samuel frown slightly.

"I don't know why. I was also shocked and worried when I heard what Jacob told me. As for Nicole, we just don't agree with each other on something, but we'll be fine. Dad, don't worry, we can solve it."

"Solved it?"

Dad Bush took a sip of tea and said with a smile, "I don't think so. You have pampered her too much, and now you don't know how to please her. It's good that you pamper her, but you should do that appropriately. I see that your full focus is on her. Don't you realize that Nicole doesn't cast even a glance at you?"

"Dad, I..."

Samuel felt a little embarrassed when Dad Bush pointed out his weakness.

"Try the tea. Nicole is still good at brewing tea."

Dad Bush stopped saying anything else. He smiled and enjoyed the tea.

Samuel had fixed emotions then, but he didn't know what to do. And he could only take up his teacup. Although the tea was fragrant, he could not taste it at all.

"I'm a little tired and I'd like to have a rest. Take this opportunity to chat with Nicole. Naturally, I'll be happy if Nicole stays here for a few days."

After Dad Bush finished speaking, he got up and went to the study.

Sitting alone in the living room, Samuel remained at a loss.

He felt that he was completely ignored and even abandoned by Nicole.

Ms. Bush unintentionally turned around and saw Samuel's sad gaze. She couldn't help but say to Nicole, "Go and talk to your husband. Don't get in the way here."

"Hey, Mom, I'm helping you!"

This was the first time Nicole was unwelcome in front of her mother.

"I don't need your help. You're not as helpful as Zoe. Do you think so, Zoe?"

Looking at Zoe, Ms. Bush adored her more and more.

"Yes! Grandma, I love you the most!"

Zoe hurriedly echoed.

Looking at their exquisite performance, Nicole sighed and shook her head. She had to leave here.

As Nicole pondered, her brows tightly knitted. Samuel noticed it.

"I will take care of it. I have asked someone to disguise as you and go there later. Viola will be caught as soon as she appears. So you don't need to worry."

Nicole looked at him and said, "Do you think doing everything for me is the best protection?"

"Yes. I don't want you to take any risks."

"But I want to go personally. I've got things to ask Viola."

Samuel was a bit annoyed.

"You can ask her whatever you want after we catch her. You can't go now."

"Do you really think you can catch Viola?" Nicole said indifferently.

"She made an appointment with you, and we had the call recorded. As long as we catch her, we can send her to the police. Then she won't be able to deny it."

"What about Zoe? Are you going to hide her? If Zoe is at home, it won't constitute kidnapping. In that case, you have no reason to catch Viola. The call recording will be useless. Viola has the protection from the Don family. Do you think we will win without solid evidence?"

Hearing what she said, Samuel frowned.

"The Don family may not cover her up this time. And Jason..."

"If Mrs. Don had listened to Mr. Jason, things wouldn't have been like this."

Nicole interrupted Samuel and said, "I want to meet Viola personally. What happened today is too strange. Even if Viola wants a bargaining chip, she will not dare to kidnap my child. Besides, she talked as if she has been watching our house. That's impossible."

Seeing that Nicole had made up her mind, Samuel knew that he could not persuade her. He said worriedly, "I will go with you."

"Will you not go if I say no?"

"No."

Nicole did not say anything, but got up and went to the study.

"Dad, Samuel and I are going out. We won't be back at noon. Zoe will stay at home with you and mom."

Dad Bush was not surprised at all. He just nodded and said, "Alright, take care of yourselves."

"OK!"

Nicole nodded and changed her clothes before leaving the Bush's with Samuel.

Seeing them come out together, Jacob thought they were going back to the Green's, so he asked, "Where's Miss Zoe?"

"Stay here and protect them. We've got things to do."

After Samuel finished speaking, they left.

Along the way, Nicole did not talk much. Although Samuel was a little sorry, he was too proud to apologize. And he believed that what he said had a point. But Nicole was still mad at him and he didn't know what he could do.

The atmosphere was somewhat tense.

When they arrived at Nancy Park, Nicole opened the car door, but Samuel suddenly grabbed her wrist.

Nicole clenched her hands tightly and did not tell Samuel about the note. She didn't know why. She just concealed it subconsciously.

When Samuel saw that her face was a bit pale, he thought that she was in pain.

"Are you hurt? Children are too reckless. You have to stay away from them. They are not comparable to Lucas."

Samuel checked Nicole from head to toe to make sure that she was not injured. He heaved a sigh of relief.

"Should I carry you into the car?"

Nicole was surprised.

He rarely did this. In the past, Nicole would have been very happy. But she hadn't undone the knot in her mind, so she replied in a low voice, "No, I can walk."

As she spoke, she put her hand into her pocket and slipped the note into it quietly.

Samuel did not say anything.

"Let's go home, or should we go get something to eat?"

"Let's go back. It's been a long time since I've eaten the food my parents cooked."

Nicole walked towards the car.

Samuel followed behind her with a long face.

They got in the car and remained silent.

Samuel drove the car to the Bush's. When they arrived, Nicole said, "You can go back home now. Drive safely. Goodbye."

As she spoke, she opened the door and got out of the car. Then she entered the house without looking back.

Samuel felt annoyed.

He was being ignored and rejected by his wife, like a coward.

Samuel watched as Nicole closed the door. She didn't intend to let him in. He angrily drove away.

Samuel felt lonely to return to the Green's, so he drove to the Crown Club.

After arriving at the club, Samuel called a few friends, including Blair.

"What's wrong? You are so down. Did you quarrel with your wife?"

As soon as Blair sat down, he began to tease Samuel.

Samuel glared at him. Then he kept drinking and didn't say anything else.

"Hey, am I here to see you drink?"

Blair took Samuel's wine glass away.

This was the first time he had seen Samuel drown his sorrow in wine.

"Mr. Hawk, we really don't know what happened. Mr. Green's wine has always been under Jeannie's care. We have records. It was Jeannie who brought the wine to Mr. Green today. Mr. Green must remember!"

Samuel nodded slightly.

"Yes, there is a round-faced girl who keeps my wine. I remember that she is a college student, not very well off. She came here to work. She is quite honest. I personally asked her to keep my wine and I give her a thousand a month as management fees."

Samuel still had some impression of Jeannie.

He said as the manager mentioned her.

"Since she is chosen by you, how could she poison your wine?"

"What? Poison?"

The manager was so scared that he rolled his eyes and fainted.

Blair coldly snorted and said, "It's not over even if you faint. Wake him up and find someone to go to the hospital with me. If there is anything wrong with this wine, the Crown Club must give me and Mr. Green an explanation."

Blair had seen such situations many times, how could he be fooled by the manager's fake fainting?

They had to find Jeannie.

Since it was inconvenient for Blair and Samuel to look for Jeannie, the Crown Club must take the responsibility to find her.

The waiter hurriedly pinched the manager to wake them up. Then he told the manager what Blair said.

The manager felt like crying.

"Mr. Hawk, Mr. Green, we are truly innocent!"

"If you are innocent, show us evidence. This waiter will go with us!"

Blair helped Samuel up.

Samuel felt his hands and legs go limp, and he couldn't control himself.

This feeling of weakness made Samuel uncomfortable.

He was always strong, but now he suddenly became so weak that he couldn't stand up without Blair's help. It made Samuel very annoyed.

"What happened to me?"

Samuel asked Blair in a low voice.

Blair shook his head and said, "We can't talk here. And I'm not sure about it. Let's go to the hospital and have a check-up. That Jeannie, do you know anything else besides that she is a college student?"

"I'm not going to do anything to that girl. Why should I investigate her? Besides, she is very shy and seldom talks. She works hard. That's all I need to know. I didn't ask about anything else."

Samuel felt thirsty and dizzy.

"Do you want some water?"

Blair asked softly.

Chapter 436 No Matter How Good I Am, I Am Not Samuel

Should he tell Nicole that he was drugged?

It could ease their relationship and even make Nicole forgive him, but Samuel did not want to do so.

He didn't want Nicole to be worried.

Nicole said that she hadn't undone the knot in her mind, so he would wait until she got things done. Moreover, it was not peaceful now.

He hadn't caught the person behind and didn't know whether the person would harm Nicole. Therefore, it was better to hide it from her.

Samuel thought for a moment and then said, "Don't tell her. She probably doesn't have time to worry about me now."

He couldn't help but laugh bitterly.

Blair said disapprovingly, "Are you sure? Your condition might get worse. I will definitely not allow you to receive treatment here. If you want to receive treatment, you have to be quarantined. If your wife can't find you then, what will you do?"

Samuel looked out of the window. The sunshine was perfect, but there was a haze in the hearts of him and Nicole.

"Don't tell her. I'll arrange it. Just get me a place for treatment. I'll handle other things."

"Alright. Think about it. I told you that your wife is not your appendage. I personally feel that you should let her know about this."

"Perhaps."

Samuel was a little tired, and Blair didn't want to disturb him. No matter what, this was their family's affair. He was just an outsider and could only give some advice. It was up to Samuel to make the decision.

When Blair came out, the waiter was so shocked because Gabrielle had already given him the test report.

When he saw that it was sodium cyanide poisoning, he knew that the Crown Club was in trouble because of Jeannie.

"Mr. Hawk, we will definitely find her. I promise."

"Go back and tell your manager, if you can't give me and Mr. Green an explanation within a week, you will pay the price."

It was not a threat. The waiter knew that Blair would do it, so he hurriedly nodded and stumbled away.

Gabrielle looked at Blair and said, "Have you decided the place where Mr. Green is going for treatment?"

"We have to block the news. Although there are test results, we can't reveal them. The Green family is not at peace now. I will discuss with Samuel. You might have to take care of him for the time being."

"It's fine. Anyway, he's your friend. But will he tell his wife about it?"

As a woman, Gabrielle naturally knew what women wanted to know the most.

Blair looked in the direction of the ward and said, "That fool said he would take care of it. After all, it's their family affair. We should not interfere. I hope he won't regret it in the end."

"Alright."

They separated and went to work.

Chapter 437 Don't Hide Anything from Me

Nicole felt a little happy.

Perhaps what Dad Bush said was right.

Samuel had been on a high status since childhood, and he was a bit dull, so it was understandable that he did not understand women.

Moreover, he had made apologies on his initiative for several times. Nicole felt that it was time to forgive him.

Dad Bush was right. No matter what Samuel had done, he did it for her and their children.

As Nicole thought, she answered the call.

"Where are you? You didn't answer my call. Dad asks you to come for dinner tonight."

Nicole said directly and did not give Samuel the chance to speak.

Samuel was slightly stunned.

He could tell from her voice that she had forgiven him. Although she didn't say it frankly, her voice and tone were light.

If it had been not long ago, Samuel would have been very happy, but now, his heart was a little heavy.

"I'm afraid I can't be there. I have to go on a business trip."

Nicole was shocked by what he said.

"Is anything wrong?"

She was a little worried.

She had always felt that she was a victim. She thought that Samuel had gone too far in faking that Zoe was kidnapped. But similarly, she rarely helped Samuel, who was busy every day.

Thinking of this, Nicole felt sorry.

Perhaps she was a bit picky.

"There are some problems with the overseas venture capital companies," Samuel said in a low voice, "I need to go there immediately."

"How long will it take? Do you have to go personally? Can't you send Jacob?"

Chapter 438 What Did You Give Me to Eat

"So that's what you were thinking."

"What else could it be? Do you think I don't want my wife by my side? To be honest, I don't want anyone to see me in mess, especially Nicole. I hope that I am always the arrogant Samuel in her eyes. I won't regret if I can draw the bad guys away and ensure the safety of Nicole and the children."

Samuel sighed and looked at Blair, "I know you want to go with me, but Blair, you have helped me a lot. I am very grateful to you. But you can't be implicated in our family's affairs. I am worried about Nicole, my children and my family. You must help them while I'm away. I haven't found the people behind the plot yet. I'm weak now, and they might harm Nicole, so..."

"I know what you mean. I will ask Gabrielle to talk to her. They are women, it would be more convenient."

"Thank you."

Samuel patted Blair's shoulder.

Sometimes good friends could understand each other without talking much.

"You must come back safely. You didn't take much drug, so it's easy to quit. It depends on your willpower."

"I know."

Samuel bid farewell to Blair and got on the plane.

Watching the plane fly away, Blair's expression was still serious.

As Nicole finished the conversation with Samuel, she called Jason immediately.

Jason didn't expect her call, so he was a little excited.

"Nicole, what's the matter?"

Jason stopped working and asked in a low voice.

The Green family was still attacking the Don family, but it was not as frequent as at the beginning. So Jason could take a rest.

Nicole had a complicated feeling when she heard Jason's voice.

She said, "Mr. Jason, I have something to tell you. And I don't care whether you believe or not."

"Tell me. I'll believe everything you say."

Jason was just happy that she called.

He wasn't used to the word "Mr. Jason". But what could he do? It was the result of what Mrs. Don did. As her son, he also had to pay the price.

Nicole was surprised by his answer. She paused for a second and said, "Mrs. Don is not sick, she was drugged with heroin. I got to know it recently. Viola got the drugs from Ryan through Swift. I think Mrs. Don's weakness should be related to it. However, I'm not sure. There's no evidence. You should pay attention to it. That's all I want to say. Don't tell Mrs. Don, or she might think I'm making trouble again. I won't interfere in the Don family's affairs anymore. No matter how it ends up, it has nothing to do with me. Goodbye. "

After saying that, Nicole hung up the phone directly.

As she finished what she wanted to say, Nicole heaved a sigh of relief.

As Viola spoke, she wept with tears.

However, Jason did not believe her. He coldly said to the servant beside him, "Keep an eye on her. We

Mrs. Don still felt that Viola was pitiful.

"Don't tie her up. She's so thin. There are so many bodyguards. She can't escape."

"Mom, why are you still speaking for her? Just go to the hospital."

Jason was mad at Mrs. Don, but she was his mother.

Mrs. Don thought for a moment and shut up.

Viola cried even louder.

"Grandma, I didn't harm you. You can't let Uncle do this to me. Look, it's too tight. How could I go to the bathroom? Grandma!"

"Jason..."

"Mom, let's go to the hospital first. If I wronged her, I'll apologize to her later. But now, you have to listen to me, okay?"

Jason said resolutely, not allowing Mrs. Don to hesitate.

Mrs. Don sighed and said to Viola, "Viola, just wait for a while. Don't worry. Grandma will punish the servants later."

Then she was taken out by the servants.

Viola panicked.

What should she do?

What could she do?

Jason had blocked all the exits, and she was surrounded by bodyguards, so she couldn't get out.

Jason took Mrs. Don to the Military Hospital. Blair was already waiting for them at the entrance. He greeted them and showed them the way.

"Mrs. Don, we will do a blood test for you first."

Blair was a significant doctor of the Military Hospital, so Mrs. Don naturally trusted him.

After blood drawing, Mrs. Don was still thinking about Viola.

"You, you are too..."

Mrs. Don angrily pointed at Viola.

Viola sneered and said, "What's wrong with me? You can't recognize me now, right? But this is who I am. You know, it's so hard to pretend to be obedient. It's driving me crazy. Yes, I drugged you. Is this the answer you want?"

Mrs. Don couldn't believe her ears.

"Why? Why did you do that? Am I mean to you? I have done so many things for you. I even quarreled with Nicole. I kicked out my biological granddaughter. Why did you do that? Do you know that the Don family is a clean and heroic family? How could you damage our reputation?"

Mrs. Don's heart was broken, but Viola didn't care about what she said.

Viola burst into laughter.

"You're stupid. You don't believe in your granddaughter and chose to trust me, an outsider. My mother told you that when you suffered a stroke, it was Nicole who got the antidote for you. Did you believe her?"

"What she said was true?"

"Yes! Moreover, Nicole was pregnant at that time. Unfortunately, she did not know that. To get the antidote, she lost the child after she was kicked by Zama. You don't know that, do you? She was badly injured! Zama hated her and wanted to kill her. When Samuel arrived there, Nicole was covered in blood and she was unconscious. She was sent to the hospital the doctor tried so hard to save her. They were afraid that you would be worried about her, so they didn't tell you. Nicole rested at home for a month, but the doctor said that she might not be able to get pregnant anymore."

Mrs. Don was stunned.

"Is this true? Is what she said true?"

She grabbed Jason's arm and asked anxiously. Her eyes were filled with regret.

Jason didn't want to hurt Mrs. Don, but this was the truth.

"Yes. Nicole was dying. We didn't dare to tell you. We were afraid that you wouldn't be able to withstand it. But we didn't expect that Viola would say it was she that saved you. And you believed her. Everyone, including Audrey, Nicole and Samuel, told you that the antidote was brought back by Nicole. However, you didn't believe it at all."

Mrs. Don felt that the room was spinning.

Why?

Why didn't she believe Nicole?

She looked fiercely at Viola, who was smiling complacently. Mrs. Don slapped on her face angrily.

It stunned everyone.
