

Escape Wife 58

Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 58: Ms. Green is just a name?

Samuel act really fast. After talking to Nicole, a nurse came in and talked to Nicole about things that need to pay attention to.

Nicole was angry but couldn't spread it out.

He remained as overbearing as he was five years ago, and she still felt that she would be subject to him.

Nicole mastered his fists, but knew she had to compromise.

Nicole was silent during the nurse's explanation, and the atmosphere was quite depressed. The nurse left immediately after speaking.

Samuel was watching this outside, a complex emotion gliding under his eyes.

He had arranged for the maid to clean the house, and everything about Riley was sent to the beach villa. Knowing that Nicole didn't like it, there were no traces of Riley's existence at home, and the maid sprayed it with freshener from the inside out.

An hour passed quickly.

Nicole knew that she had to compromise. Whether it was for the safety of her son or for the implementation of her plan, she had to agree Samuel's request. Though knowing that, this feeling of being forced was really unacceptable.

She thought that it would be better to use one hour to ease her mood, but after an hour passed, she was still depressed and uncomfortable.

Samuel was standing outside, holding a cigarette in his hand, playing it constantly, and he could see that his mood was very complicated.

Jacob called and said the villa was ready and asked if he would come over to pick them up. Samuel suddenly didn't want to ruin the chance of two people being alone.

“No, I'll take care of it myself.”

This is the first time Samuel has dealt with such a private matter.

Jacob was a little surprised, but Samuel had hung up. Listening to the hang up sound of the phone, Jacob re-evaluated Nicole's position in Samuel's heart.

It seems that he needed to serve this woman well.

After Samuel hung up, he went to the inpatient department to pay the bill. Anything regarding Nicole, he now wanted to do it himself, but he didn't know if Nicole will give him this opportunity.

Nicole waited for a long time and didn't see Samuel. She wondered if the man suddenly changed his mind?

Such thoughts made her happy and worried. Coming back to face Samuel again, she thought about all kinds of tangles, but didn't expect it would be so difficult.

She would rather take care of everything about Samuel as fast as she can, rather than hate him in her heart, but have to let him fall in love with her, and then willingly take out what she needs.

When Samuel returned, he saw Nicole sitting there with a tangled face.

When Nicole saw him, her eyes were resentful, the kind of unwillingness that she has to yield, inexplicably pleased Samuel.

"Ready?"
