Chapter 581 I'm Your Man

"Well, Mom, try the sweet and sour carp. It's delicious."

Nicole hurriedly stepped forward to smooth out a dispute.

Mrs. Green put on a faint smile.

"You go ahead. My blood glucose has been a little high lately, so I can't have something sweet."

Nicole was at a loss for what to do when she was refused.

This was the first time she had gotten along with Mrs. Green like this since she returned to the country. It was truly awkward.

Samuel's expression changed slightly and said indifferently, "Mom's blood glucose has been high recently. I think I'll let Blair check your body later. The dishes I cook are all a little sweet. If Mom can't have them, let Wendy cook the meal for you alone."

Samuel's words were direct at Mrs. Green

Nicole was a little surprised.

Samuel had always treated Mrs. Green with respect. He had never spoken in such a harsh tone and never treated Mrs. Green like this before. What exactly happened?

Mrs. Green paused for a moment and looked at Samuel. Suddenly, she smiled and said, "You are really partial to your wife. I didn't eat the sweet and sour carp Nicole gave me. Do you have to treat me like that? Are you chasing me away?"

"You told me to be nice to my wife. After all, she has suffered a lot with me. You also said that your blood sugar had been a little high recently. I just listen to you."

Hearing that, Mrs. Green was a little unhappy.

"It doesn't matter. Mom doesn't have to eat it. There's always something Mom can eat. Here are bamboo shoots. Mom can have them."

Nicole mediated between them, picked up a bamboo shoot and gave it to Mrs. Green.

Mrs. Green looked at Nicole and smiled faintly, "Nicole is always filial. You are much better than Samuel."

"It's better to have a daughter-in-law who is filial. This is an old saying. Mom has good luck. Aren't you happy to have such a filial daughter-in-law?"

As soon as Samuel finished, Mrs. Green looked at him and said, "That's true."

After saying that, Mrs. Green lowered her head and had the meal silently.

It was a little awkward during the meal.

Mrs. Green returned to her room after lunch.

Only then did Nicole breathe a sigh of relief. She looked at Samuel and asked with confusion, "Did you quarrel with Mom?"

"No."

Samuel smiled. Obviously, he put on a gentle expression when he looked at Nicole.

"Why did you talk to Mom in a mocking tone? What's up?"

"Nothing, I just can't see anyone pick on you."

Samuel's words surprised Nicole. Then, she smiled and said, "Actually, Mom didn't say anything wrong. I didn't know that her blood sugar was a little high recently, so it was my fault."

There came Tim's furious voice.

This was the first time that Nicole had seen Tim so angry.

The office is filled with people, but there was still a place left for Tim.

Tim sat in a wheelchair. His handsome face was slightly twisted because of anger.

He swept all the documents in front of him to the ground. Nicole was hurt when she saw what Tim was now. Undignified as he was, he still looked angry.

"Mr. Tim, we need to make a living. We can't just see ourselves go bankrupt like Louis Group, right?"

One of the employees hated to see Tim like this. He couldn't help but speak.

"Go Bankrupt? It is impossible. Louis Group won't go bankrupt."

Tim held the armrest of the wheelchair tightly.

The word "bankruptcy" hurt him deeply, stabbing into his chest like a dagger.

Even though he knew that there were many people who would kick a person when he was down, he didn't expect these people would come so quickly. He got nothing to fight back.

"Forget it, Mr. Tim. It's meaningless to pretend. We've also worked in Louis Group for many years. I would like to kindly give you a piece of advice. Be easy on people whenever it is possible. Submit whenever it is needed. Every dog has its day. No one will always stand high above the masses."

Nicole's face went sullen when she heard what the employee said.

"Who said no one will stand high forever? He can! Even if he broke his legs, he still can. He is still Tim Louis, the one who acts big and acts bold. Besides, he has Green Family behind him."

Nicole's words attracted everyone's attention.

When Tim heard Nicole's voice, he was slightly shocked. He turned around and met Nicole's eyes.

He could tell Nicole was feeling sad and pity for him.

Tim immediately felt extremely embarrassed. He wished he could find a chink to drill into.

He hated to be seen by Nicole like this.

He let out his anger at Samuel who was beside Nicole.

"You came to laugh at me, didn't you? It's fine if you came alone. But you brought Nicole here. You wanted her to see how desperate I was, right?"

"Tim, I don't have the mood to argue with you. I'm here today to be my wife's driver. Stop yelling at me."

Samuel was not angry. He just said blandly.

"When did you become so gossipy?"

Samuel's words made Tim somewhat depressed. But he also knew that he had caused trouble, so he said embarrassedly, "Nicole, I really didn't know that. I'm sorry."

Nicole turned around to look at Samuel.

"What was the matter? What happened to Joseph? You left him to Satan King? How can you? Don't you know how much he had suffered?"

Nicole felt really sorry for Joseph.

Samuel sighed and said, "Let's go home and talk."

Nicole did not insist on getting the answer right now. She turned to Tim and said, "You'd better achieve something. Or else, I will look down on you. I never make friends with those who have no ambition."

"I will. Just wait and see."

Tim immediately gained confidence.

Seeing that Tim had regained his confidence, Samuel held Nicole's hand and said, "Let's go back. You can't come out for too long. You haven't recovered yet."

"Yes. Go back and have a rest. There is no need to worry about me. I'll be fine."

Tim hurriedly said.

Nicole looked at Samuel and Tim and left the office without saying anything.

Looking at Tim, Samuel lowered his voice, "This is what I get from you? You are really afraid that I might live a happy life, aren't you?"

"It's your fault. Joseph is my disciple. You just sent him away. Have you gotten my permission? If I were Nicole, I would also condemn you."

Tim did not humble himself before Samuel because of his help. Tim was still the one he was before.

Samuel nodded and said, "Sure, you can do that."

Seeing that Nicole had gone far, Samuel hurriedly followed.

"Nicole, I will explain it to you."

Nicole got into the car angrily.

After Samuel got in the car, he saw there were tears in Nicole's eyes. He couldn't help but feel heartbroken.

"Don't be sad. This was what Joseph wanted. I asked his opinions. I won't send him away if he doesn't want to. I swear. Satan King won't treat him too bad. She and Gabrielle's mentor learned from the same man. She killed her son because of postpartum depression. Now she sees Joseph as her own son. She will definitely treat him well."

Samuel explained the cause and effect to Nicole, but she was still very sad, not giving much reaction.

"Nicole, did you hear me?"

Nicole said sadly, "It's all my fault. Had it not been for me, Joseph would not have done that."

"It's not your fault. If you really want to blame on someone, then blame me."

Nicole did not argue with Samuel anymore. But apparently, she did not recover from this.

Seeing her like this, Samuel could not say more. He brought her home.

Nicole got off the car. She refused Samuel when he tried to hug

Samuel?

Nicole was slightly shocked.

Didn't he follow Mrs. Green to the hospital?

Something was wrong!

He wasn't Samuel, but Vincent!

Nicole struggled. But because she was still weak, she couldn't even be counted as an opponent of Vincent. Soon, Vincent managed to control her.

"Vincent, are you crazy? What can you get from provoking your brother? Or do you hold grudges against me? When did I offend you?"

Nicole panted. Right now, she couldn't do anything to stop Vincent.

Why people always went against her when she was at her weakest?

Nicole was depressed.

Looking at Nicole, Vincent said coldly, "Shouldn't I hold grudges against you? If you didn't fall in love with Samuel, how could Riley leave France? If she stayed in the Seapolis City, why would she treat me as a substitute for my brother? You ruined my life love! Tell me whether I should hate you? Riley is my wife. Shouldn't I hate you for her death?"

Nicole was stupefied for a moment. She never thought that Vincent would say this.

"So you came back to revenge on me? Then why did you save me in the first place? Wouldn't it be better if you let me die when we were at the base?"

"I want to kill you myself! I know what you're up to. You're stalling for time and waiting for someone to save you, right? Don't waste your time. My mother sent all the people in the family to the hospital. Even my brother went there. Lucas was the only one left. But do you think I'm afraid of him? Besides, Lucas is probably sleeping soundly now."

Hearing Vincent's words, Nicole suddenly figured out something.

"Are you saying that Mom is behind all this?"

"Between her daughter-in-law and her son, who do you think mother will choose? Moreover, because of you, my brother and I are not as intimate as before. My brother even seized my power and wanted to imprison me. If it weren't for Mom, I might have become your prisoner. So, Nicole, you can only blame yourself. You shouldn't fall in love with my brother and marry him!"

After Vincent finished speaking, he struck on Nicole's neck, which put Nicola in a coma. Then he carried Nicole on the shoulder and jumped out of the window.

When Nicole woke up, she found herself tied to a bed. The layout of the room was strange to her, but it was nice. It looked like that she was at a hotel.

Nicole looked at Karina. She looked at this child. She asked in disbelief, "Tell me that all of this is not true?"

However, Karina did not dare to look at her eyes and turned her head away.

Vincent smiled, "You're so stupid. I gave them their names. If it wasn't for me, they would have died a long time ago. Their lives are all mine. They will do whatever I say."

"You're an animal!"

Nicole cursed angrily.

Vincent laughed.

"I'm an animal? You didn't see how Samuel broke up a family in the business world overnight, did you? You didn't see how he killed people on the battlefield, did you? Why is he a beast for such behavior? And I am an animal for what I did!"

"That's different! No matter what he does, he never loses his conscience and bottom line. But you? You've used everyone you can. So, Fiona is also one of yours?"

Nicole remembered the hatred that Karina had for Fiona when talked about her. That hatred was so real that it shouldn't just be disguise. After all, Karina was just a child. It was impossible for her to fake that kind of hatred.

Vincent shook his head, "No, she is not one of mine. I only know that she is Tim's lover, and she is quite greedy. She wants to be Tim's wife. Karina said to Fiona that she was looking for you. But Fiona doesn't know anything. Naturally, she doesn't want you to know that Tim is at her place. So she will definitely kill Karina. I just took advantage of her jealousy."

"You're really scary!"

Nicole's words sounded like praise to Vincent.

"Thank you for the compliment. Alright, now you know everything you should know. I guess Samuel is doing his best to look for you. With you in my hands, I'm not afraid that he won't let me out of the city. From now on, Karina will take care of your daily life. Although she is young, she can do a lot of things. You can rest assured. Tell her if you want anything. But don't think she will tip you off. That's not gonna happen."

Vincent stood up and was about to leave.

"Wait a minute. Did you deliberately leave Hedy at Blair's house?"

Vincent paused for a moment, "I am not that capable. It's fortunate for Hedy to be adopted by Blair."

"You'd better not. Otherwise, I won't let you off! Even if Samuel lets you off, I won't!"

Nicole knew what Hedy meant to Gabrielle and Blair. If they knew that all of this was a long-planned conspiracy, Gabrielle might not be able to withstand its blow.

Vincent looked at Nicole and said coldly, "You should care about yourself first."

With that, he walked out.

Only Nicole and Karina were in the room. Karina was a little nervous.

Looking at the child in front of her, Nicole thought that her kindness had been used. She couldn't help but feel a little annoyed, but she didn't snap at Karina.

"You can go out. I don't need you to take care of me."

Nicole's words made Karina pause for a moment, but she did not go out. She took out a pen and paper and wrote, "I can't go out. I will stay here with you."

"I don't need you to stay here with me!"

"This is my task."

Karina's words somehow depressed Nicole.

She wanted to ignore her and even threw her out. No one would be happy if one's kindness was used. But Karina was just a child, reminding Nicole of Zoe and Lucas. As a result, she couldn't turn her thoughts into action.

Chapter 586 Such a Wily Old Fox

Just like that, Jacob's car went right past Vincent's car.

After Vincent had driven the car into the alley, he realized that it was a blind alley.

Samuel's people were everywhere outside, so it was impossible for Vincent to get out.

Vincent knitted his eyebrows tightly.

Holding Nicole in his arms, he carried her to a nearby house owned by a family.

Although Samuel was searching for Vincent and Nicole's whereabouts by using lots of money and men, he would never reveal to others that it was his own brother and his wife that he was looking for.

Otherwise, it would harm Nicole's reputation, if rumors were spread. People might think that Vincent had eloped with his sisters-in-law.

That was why Vincent dared to show his face.

He gave the family a large amount of money for renting their house for two days.

Seeing that they could earn so much money by just renting out the house for two days, the owner of the house immediately said yes with great joy.

When Nicole woke up, she found herself at a different place again. She gave a puzzled glance at the house. It was a bungalow with simple but warm decoration.

She didn't know where she was. She could only see that Vincent was smoking and sitting not far away from her.

The way he smoked made him look exactly like Samuel.

That scene made Nicole's heart hurt a little.

She had only left Samuel for a few hours, but why did she feel that she had left him for ages?

She wondered how Samuel was now.

"You're up? Have some food then. We must carry on with our journey later."

Vincent threw her a bun which was still warm. He must have brought it from somewhere near here.

Nicole took a look at the bun carefully, but she could not tell which bakery it came from. She couldn't help but feel a little depressed.

Vincent seemed to be very anxious.

He stood up and walked back and forth in the room.

When he was looking, Nicole broke the bun into pieces and threw some of them under the bed.

If her guess was correct, this bun must be containing something that could make her powerless and sleepy.

Not long after Nicole finished eating did she begin to feel drowsy.

When Nicole almost fell into a deep sleep, Vincent walked into the room to check on her.

Nicole held her breath and tried her best to keep her breath steady to make herself look asleep.

Vincent looked at her for a while before he got up and took out his phone to dial a phone number.

"Hello? I need your help now."

Nicole did not know who Vincent was calling, but at that moment, she felt excited. If she could track down the person behind Vincent by following clues, could she help Samuel a little?

Just as Nicole was in a dilemma, she saw Vincent's coat on the chair.

Developments in technology had made people become lazy. Nicole had thought of tying this note to a 100-euro banknote, but she was so used to using Apple Pay and PayPal to transfer money that she didn't even have any cash with her. Besides, she was kidnapped, so her cell phone was also not with her.

Now when she saw Vincent's coat, Nicole could only pray that there was money in his pocket.

Nicole looked outside and saw that Vincent was still on the phone, roaring at somebody from time to time.

She got off the bed stealthily and walked on tiptoe to the chair. She then reached her hand into the pocket of Vincent's coat to take out his wallet.

Fortunately, Vincent had a lot of cash in his wallet.

It seemed that Vincent was quite cautious of not exposing himself. As long as he didn't use electronic transfers or bank cards, Samuel could not find their whereabouts by using computer technology.

Nicole took out four 100-euro banknotes from his wallet.

She didn't dare to take too much, or Vincent might be suspicious of it.

Nicole took out one of the banknotes, tied the note to it and threw them under the bed.

Vincent did not have the mood to check what was under the bed. He seemed to be very impatient and anxious about leaving this place. Therefore, Nicole guessed that he might not stay here for too long. Didn't he say that they would leave the Seapolis City after 11 o'clock in the evening? If that was true, somebody would definitely come here to clean everything up tomorrow. At that time, that person would probably pick up the note and read it when he saw the 100-euro banknote.

Once the person read the note, he would be able to contact Samuel. And at that time, Samuel would know where to find her.

After finishing doing all those things, Nicole quickly went back to bed and pretended to be asleep with her eyes closed just like before.

When Vincent finished the call and came inside, he looked at Nicole. He couldn't feel relieved until he saw that she was still sleeping just like when he went out of the room.

He didn't order takeout, either. Instead, he picked up a bun to eat.

How impressive his endurance was! He could even live such a difficult life.

Nicole sneered at him in her heart, but she did not do anything again.

Nothing had happened between them until the evening came. Nicole's heart was a little excited now.

She would be able to see that person soon. She would get to know who had been helping Zama and Vincent.

After Vincent packed his stuff up, he thought that Nicole was probably about to wake up. He then walked to her, forced her to open her mouth, and put three sleeping pills into her mouth again.

Although Nicole was cursing Vincent in her heart, she didn't dare to do anything. She could only let Vincent put the pills into her mouth.

She hid the pills under her tongue secretly, trying her best not to let them melt, but since Vincent was staring at her intensely, she could only take a swallow.

Thinking that Nicole had swallowed the pills, Vincent let out a sigh of relief and then turned around to do his business.

Nicole found an opportunity to spit out the pills, but it was already impossible for her to get out the powders she had swallowed down with her saliva. She only hoped that she could resist the slight drowsiness caused by the drug.

The minutes were ticking away. It was finally eleven o'clock in the evening.

Vincent's phone rang on time, and Nicole immediately pricked up her ears.

"The car is right outside. Take your mate into the car. Your mate better knows nothing. Otherwise, don't blame me for abandoning you guys."

Vincent was very surprised. Nicole also couldn't believe her eyes.

She quickly closed her eyes after a glance, pretending that she hadn't woken up yet.

Without the hat, the woman was somewhat panic. She subconsciously turned to see who Vincent was carrying on his shoulder, but Vincent turned around and dodged her vision.

"I didn't expect that you were the spy in our family! Wendy, good for you! My mother trusts you a lot, but you actually work for Zama!"

Vincent sneered.

Wendy was a little flustered.

"Mr. Vincent, please, please don't tell anyone else. I haven't contacted Zama since she was captured. Now, I only did it to help you. I'm going to retire in less than a year. Mr. Vincent, please. I want to retire safely. If Mr. Green knows what I've done, I will be dead."

Wendy looked at Vincent with fear.

Vincent smiled and said, "But I don't think you're that scared of Samuel, are you? Otherwise, how dare you do such things behind his back? No wonder Samuel couldn't find Nicole or Lucas even if he had spent a lot in manpower and resources. It turns out that the enemy is so close to him. Samuel is a fool. He fired some people after Zama was captured, but he didn't suspect you. Good for you. My mother trusts you that much. She has no idea that you actually work for Zama, right?"

Wendy wiped the cold sweat off her forehead and said, "Yes, Mrs. Green doesn't know it. So please keep it as a secret. You know that Mrs. Green is on your side. Otherwise, she would have done nothing when Mr. Green seized your power and imprisoned you. Mr. Vincent, I will be loyal to you from now on. I will do whatever you ask me to do. I only hope that you won't tell Mr. Green what I've done."

"Do I look insane to you? Samuel is trying to catch me now. Why would I tell him that you are a spy? To help him? I don't care you are a spy or what. Anyway, I have no interest in the property of my family. But if you dare to hurt my mother, I swear that you'll be dead."

Hearing that, Wendy hurriedly nodded.

"I know. I know. I will take good care of Mrs. Green."

"That's good. How is my mother?"

"There's nothing wrong with Mrs. Green's heart. She is just creating an opportunity for you. As you know, you have nothing to worry about."

Wendy said with a flattering smile.

Vincent coldly looked at her and said, "Of course my mother is on my side. I don't need you to tell me that. Alright, let's part here. When you go back, don't do anything without asking me, no matter what happens, and no matter who asks you to do it. Do you understand?"

"I understand. Mr. Vincent, is that Mrs. Green on your shoulder?"

"It's none of your business."

Vincent's face darkened.

Wendy hurriedly said, "My bad. My bad. Mr. Vincent, please take care of yourself."

"I will. Go back soon in case Samuel finds out you are a spy."

With that, Vincent carried Nicole onto the speedboat.

Nicole was just as shocked as Vincent.

Chapter 589 Everyone Made Me Worry

"Mr. Green...."

Jacob looked at Samuel with worry.

Samuel felt that his chest was a little uncomfortable, and then he had a taste of blood.

He said coldly, "Take my mother home for rest. No one is allowed to visit her without my permission. Capture Wendy and bring her to me soon."

"I understand!"

Jacob hurriedly replied.

After Samuel finished speaking, he suddenly held his heart and fell down.

"Mr. Green!"

Jacob hurriedly supported him, but Samuel was already unconscious.

The corner of his mouth gushed red.

Jacob knew that Samuel was so furious that he fainted with angina.

It must be hard for Mr. Green to choose between his beloved wife and his respected mother. The Greens used to be harmonious. Why would they begin to go against each other just because of that person who pretended to be Mr. Vincent?

Jacob knew how Samuel felt. He was betrayed by the person closest to him, whom he respected the most. His mother did all these to him for an outsider. No one could stand it.

Jacob sighed and said to the people beside him, "Call Mr. Blair to the Green's."

"Mr. Brown, Mr. Green said that we should go to City A."

They didn't know what to do.

Jacob said indifferently, "I will take all the responsibilities. Even if he must go, he should see Mr. Blair first. Mr. Green has fainted. It will be too dangerous if he goes now."

"Alright!"

The people beside him immediately agreed. Someone quickly went to find Blair.

Jacob moved Samuel into the car and drove back to the Green's immediately.

Before Blair arrived, Lucas woke up.

When he saw that Samuel was lying on the bed and Jacob looked anxious, he couldn't help but ask, "What's wrong? What happened to Samuel? Where's my mother?"

Jacob looked at Lucas and didn't know what to say. After thinking for a while, he said, "Doctor Farley took away your mother for treatment. They can't be disturbed now."

"Then why didn't Mommy tell me? Also, why did I fall asleep?"

Lucas felt a little puzzled.

Jacob smiled and said, "You fell asleep because you were tired. Alright, go and rest. Mr. Green has some health problems. Mr. Blair will come over for a check."

"Is it because of what happened in Dungeon last time?"

Lucas sized up Samuel carefully. Suddenly, he noticed the blood stain at the corner of Samuel's mouth. He was dumbfounded.

Was that blood?

To Lucas, this was a big deal.

"What happened to Samuel?"

Lucas' gaze became sharp.

Jacob suddenly felt that Lucas' gaze was extremely similar to Samuel's, and it was becoming more and more imposing.

Laurel attempted suicide but was saved.

When Blair and the others knew that, Blair sighed and said, "Mrs. Green is a drama queen."

Jacob smiled bitterly and went to deal with it.

After Samuel was saved by Blair and woke up, Samuel shook his head to sober up and said, "I have to hurry to Dungeon."

"Calm down. It's not good for you to get angry. You know that your nerves have been hurt for hypnosis. Don't be so careless."

Blair said to Samuel and made up the prescription.

Samuel put on his coat carelessly and said, "You're here. I trust you."

"I am a human, not a god. Don't think too highly of me and my wife. So does your wife."

"Anyway, I'm not available to cooperate with your treatment."

Samuel said as he walked out.

"Wait. Take the medicines three times a day. It can temporarily relieve your neuralgia. It must be painful. Nicole doesn't know that, does she? If you'd like me to tell her, don't listen to me."

Samuel paused for a moment and accepted Blair's medicines.

"Mind your mouth."

Blair smiled and said, "You bear the pain alone. You're so manly. However, I might have to tell you some bad news. Mrs. Green attempted suicide and Jacob went to stop her."

Hearing this, Samuel frowned.

"When did it happen?"

"Not long ago."

"I see."

"Aren't you going to visit her?"

Noticing that Samuel didn't plan to visit Laurel, Blair couldn't help but ask.

Samuel said indifferently, "She won't die. If she dies, I won't let Vincent off. Besides, she won't commit suicide for that person. She did that to stop me from going to Dungeon."

"You're carefree and look at the bright side. I'm very curious. Doesn't Mrs. Green like Nicole very much? Why does she ignore Nicole's safety this time? Aren't you and Nicole important for Mrs. Green? It doesn't make sense. If that person were Vincent, it would be fine for Mrs. Green to help and cherish him. However, Mrs. Green knows that he isn't Vincent. Why does she still protect that person like this? Mrs. Green is even against you. What is the relationship between that person and Mrs. Green?"

Samuel frowned even more tightly for what Blair had said.
