

Escape Wife 591

Chapter 591 You Do These Things on Purpose

Jacob was a little worried and asked, "Mr. Green, Mrs. Green is...."

"Ask Blair to have a check."

Samuel was also worried. However, when he thought of that she helped outsiders to kidnap Nicole, he couldn't help but feel uncomfortable and depressed.

Wendy was dragged to the sea, and no one had the guts to plead for mercy.

Samuel got into the speedboat and calmly watched Wendy struggling in the sea.

Whoever hurt Nicole, he would kill him.

The people around held their breath for the homicidal Samuel. For a moment, the atmosphere was thick with tension.

Samuel held the medicines that Blair had prescribed in his hand, didn't say anything and tossed the medicines into his mouth.

He knew that he had neuralgia and knew how painful it was when he suffered a neuralgia attack, but he didn't care about it.

Nicole was too weak. Vincent captured her. How could she escape by herself?

Moreover, he didn't know what kind of person Vincent was.

Wendy's voice became lighter. And her voice was weakened by the sea wind and waves.

Someone reported that Wendy couldn't hold on any longer and asked if Samuel really didn't care about her. After all, she was a human and they didn't have the guts to kill her.

Samuel looked at the dying Wendy and sneered, "Get her out of the sea. Wait for her to recover and let her continue."

He said indifferently, but their hair stood on end.

This torture was not enough. Wendy would experience it again and again and receive psychological abuse. If they were Wendy, they would rather that Samuel killed them.

Samuel no longer looked at Wendy and closed his eyes to take a rest.

He had a neuralgia attack again.

Even if he took the medicines and tried his best to bear it, it still hurt so much that he couldn't bear it anymore, and it became more serious.

He clenched his fists tightly. Blue veins stood out on his hands and his forehead was covered with sweat. However, he didn't say anything and sat on the deck. The people around thought that he was deep in thought or sleeping.

Samuel had a headache and his desire to kill was getting stronger.

He stood up. His eyes were scarlet.

No one had the guts to say anything to Samuel, and Samuel was inexplicably furious and berserk.

Thinking about that he didn't know Nicole's situation, he wanted to kill even more.

Vincent didn't care about the honor or disgrace of the Green family, nor did he care about Samuel's safety. He just wanted the person who injured him before?

Who was that person?

How could Vincent not care about Samuel's safety?

Did he hate Samuel so much?

Nicole looked at Vincent. But Vincent did not explain anything. There were too many emotions hidden in his eyes, making her unable to tell what he was feeling now.

Vincent looked away from her eyes and continued, "That person has disappeared since that operation. Neither the military nor I can find any information about him. Maybe only you guys can find him. I've been looking for him for five years, but fail. So, tell your superior to bring that person to Dungeon in one day. Then, I will naturally exchange Nicole for him. However, if you don't come in one day, I will kill Nicole and ruin your plan."

"Wait for a moment. I will contact the superior right now. You are not allowed to act rashly. Vincent, you must keep Nicole safe. Now I want to hear her voice."

Hearing Kemp say this, Vincent was generous to give Nicole the phone.

"I'm fine."

Nicole only said three words before Vincent snatched the phone back.

"You hear? She's fine. Don't try to find me. Since I can lure Samuel over, I am also capable enough to hide for a day. Kemp, don't provoke me. You know, I can do anything. I don't care about Samuel's safety even if he is my brother. Do you think I will care about the life and death of an outsider? Nicole is useless to me. But I think you know better than me how important she is to you."

"Vincent, you are so ruthless. You really prove yourself to be Samuel's younger brother! You wait!"

Kemp hung up the phone in anger and quickly contacted his superior.

Nicole looked at Vincent and finally asked, "Why?"

"What do you mean?"

"Why did you do this? Do you really hate your brother so much?"

"You also think this person should be sliced to pieces, right? But do you know what? This person is from the Don family!"

Nicole was shocked.

"What are you talking about?"

"It's unbelievable, right? It is said that the Don family's sons are brave and serve our country well. All of them are heroes and martyrs. Apart from Jason, who was disabled and retired from the army, all of them died. Your family really has a great reputation. But who knows that the son of the Don family would defect and be afraid of death? At first, I had thought that it was your family who was protecting him. But in the past five years, I've been investigating them for a long time. Jason and Mrs. Don didn't know about it at all. So, I didn't do anything to the Don family."

Hearing Bruce say this, Nicole felt upset.

There were many heroes in the Don family. However, there was also such a scum.

"Perhaps there is something hidden in this?"

Hearing Nicole defend that person, Bruce sneered, "Something hidden? What kind of thing would require Vincent's life? Your Don Family owes the Green Family a life, do you understand?"

Nicole suddenly didn't know what to say.

Samuel cherished his younger brother so much. If he knew that people from the Don family killed his younger brother, how would he face her?

She had thought that she could live with Samuel without worries after so many things. Unexpectedly, there would be another life between them.

Why were they so ill fated?

"Does Samuel know about this?"

"You are talking nonsense. If he knows, can I still be Vincent? Only Laurel knows about this."

What Bruce said made Nicole's eyes open wide.

"Laurel?"

"Yes, Laurel. The last person Vincent saw before he died was Laurel. With the help of Laurel, I had plastic surgery and used Vincent's identity to enter Night Elf Empire to search for clues. If it weren't for Laurel, my operation in the Green family wouldn't have been so smooth. Perhaps she also wants to recall Vincent through me. Our only goal is to find Mark."

"Mark? That scum from the Don family?"

"Yes."

Nicole suddenly fell silent.

When Laurel found out that she was a member of the Don family, she still defended her. Laurel treated her even better than Mrs. Don treated her. Now, when Nicole remembered this, how sad and miserable did Laurel feel at that time?

Chapter 594 You're Not Welcome Here

"Damn it!"

Kemp was so angry that he threw the phone away. But after thinking for a while, he picked it up and dialed a number.

Samuel left Dungeon and directly went to the hospital where Satan King stayed.

There were quite a few people in the hospital. They must be sent by Kemp to protect Satan King.

Samuel walked in without saying anything.

When the nurse saw Samuel, she hurriedly stopped him and said, "You are not welcome here."

"Scram!"

Samuel was in a bad mood, so he hated anyone present.

The nurse had wanted to stop Samuel but hid aside after seeing his ferocious face.

Samuel quickly arrived at Satan King's office.

"Who let you in? Get out!"

Satan King thought it was the nurse, so he scolded sternly without looking up.

Samuel sat down in front of her and whispered, "Where is Joseph?"

Hearing the different voice, Satan King raised her head. Seeing that it was Samuel, she was slightly stunned and said angrily, "What are you doing here? Are you going to take your son back in less than a week?"

"I just want to know if he's doing well."

"He's gone to school."

Satan King's words surprised Samuel a little.

"School?"

"What? Shouldn't he be attending school now? A four-year-old child should go to kindergarten. Don't worry. I've sent him to the most expensive kindergarten in City A. He can receive the best education there."

Satan King thought that Samuel was worried about Joseph's education, so she hurriedly said.

Samuel quickly recovered and said, "Nothing. I'm just a little surprised."

"Why? Are you afraid that I don't give him a good education? I'll treat him like my own son for the next ten years. Don't worry. If there's nothing else, don't come here too often. I don't want to see you."

Satan King did not conceal her dislike for Samuel at all.

I don't know who he is, but his call is absolutely more important than me and the child. Perhaps he belonged to some organization, but I didn't ask him about it. Chapter 595 The Original Love

Bruce smiled at Nicole's hesitating eyes.

"You're not confident. You're not sure if Samuel will be estranged from you. Your relationship isn't as strong as you think."

Hearing that, Nicole face turned pale.

"What? Are you annoyed? If one can't trust his or her lover completely and be tolerant enough, it's fine to end the relationship. Nicole, you're not a crybaby. You have your own ideas, but you're too humble in love"

Nicole was a little shocked.

"Humble?"

"Yes. When you fell in love with Samuel eight years ago, were you still yourself? What do you look like in your three years' marriage? Every day, you live for Samuel and put his mood as priority. You even lose yourself. If you hadn't been buried in flames for Riley, Samuel might still not have been able to notice his feelings for you. I have to say, you are lucky. At the very least, Samuel has fallen in love with you. Assuming he doesn't love you, you deserve everything you suffer. You put your life at the mercy of someone else."

Hearing that, Nicole frowned slightly.

Bruce continued, "You came back five years later with hatred for Samuel. You planned to take Samuel's kidney and save your daughter. Only then were you yourself. But after you realized that you misunderstood everything and confirmed Samuel's love, you lost yourself again. You gave up your career and your ambition. You lived for Samuel just like eight years ago. The only difference is that Samuel would respond to your love. But Nicole, although you don't need to earn money to support the Green family, is a marriage without love what your original love looks like? You wait for Samuel to come home every day, crying and laughing with you. Is this really the love you want?"

Nicole was shocked again.

"No. I just have too many things to do. You know, when I came back then five years later, I was so busy that I had no time to do what I want to do."

"Stop making excuses. You might deceive others. But can you persuade yourself? The invitation letter for the car design competition had been sent to you. Why didn't you accept? You think you are Mrs. Green now, and Samuel loves you very much, so you choose to stay at home and give up the chance. You could have shone in the design community, but unfortunately, you didn't. You are content with mediocrity and only want to stay with Samuel. You are willing to wait for Samuel in the Green's small old mansion every day. Is this the love and marriage you want? If the contrast in ability between you and Samuel is too big, how dare you require him to treat you well and to be affectionate all the time? He's making progress but you remain where you were. Maybe there is no problem now, but what about ten years later? Are you sure this love won't change? He has been training and growing up, but you would become a caged bird. Would you have any common language with him by then? Nicole, you've been married for eight years and suffered a lot, but you still don't understand the true meaning of love."

Bruce paused for a moment. Then he looked at the sky outside and said, "Love is always beautiful at the beginning. It's an instant heartbeat and a hormonal impulse. But after all, such a beautiful thing only lasts for a moment. Neither waiting passively nor accompanying quietly can maintain it. A woman can wrong herself for love for the rest of her life, but a man won't. Perhaps Samuel will treat you well for the rest of his life. But are you sure that's the love you want? He has been advancing with the times, but you keep your original appearance. He may treat you well because of love at the beginning, but over time it will become a responsibility. When a beautiful love becomes a responsibility for a man, how much love is left? Have you ever thought about it? You can't keep yourself outstanding and shining all the time. But there will always be many women in the world who are outstanding enough to attract the attention of any man. What can you do then?"

Nicole was completely silent.

Nicole sank in thought.

Bruce was preparing for the next.

Samuel's men came to report on the information they got.

"Mr. Green, we've got the content of Kemp's phone call."

"Speak."

"An hour later, Nicole will be taken to Eastern Dock."

Samuel stood up after hearing this.

"Lead a group of people there to get prepared."

"Yes."

Satan was a little shocked, but she hid it well. She continued her experiment, but was somewhat distracted.

Samuel glanced at her and whispered, "You don't go?"

"Yes. I have nothing to do with him."

Satan's voice was cold. But Samuel could tell her hesitation from her slightly trembling hand.

"I will try my best to avoid hurting him. I just want to rescue Nicole. I'm not intended to hurt anyone. Don't worry."

Satan didn't give any response. But Samuel knew that she still cared about Kemp.

"Keep a few people in the hospital. Don't disturb Satan. Do you understand what I mean?"

"Yes!"

Samuel arranged everything, turned around and left.

An hour passed quickly.

Nicole got out from deep thinking. Bruce was about to take action.

"Let's go. To be or not to be, it's up to fate. Nicole, I give you another chance. You can give Samuel a call. Perhaps you can survive."

Nicole was thinking about it.

She looked at Bruce who looked like Samuel very much. She almost regarded him as Samuel.

'If I ask Samuel to save me, he will get involved in the conflict between Bruce and Mark. What's the consequence if Samuel knows the cause of Vincent's death?'

Nicole didn't know what she should do.

As she was hesitating, Bruce looked at the time and said, "If you still keep silent, I'll take it that you give up this chance. Now let's go."

Maybe Nicole didn't want Samuel know Mark killed Vincent. That's why she hesitated. She didn't give Bruce reply, but stood up and followed him.

They arrived at Eastern Dock soon.

Bruce was really resourceful. Nicole admired him for this and even hoped he was Vincent.

Samuel looked at Nicole.

Nicole actually interceded with him for this kidnapper.

He couldn't figure out why she did it, and was a little disappointed.

Nicole knew that Samuel misunderstood her. But she didn't have time to explain it. She said, "He is Joseph's father. We should think for Joseph. Even if this man is culpable, Joseph don't do anything wrong. That child has only been with his father for a few days. He is in City A. If he knows his father dies, how can he bear it? We should think for that innocent child."

Samuel was dumbfounded.

Joseph's cute face appeared in his mind.

The little child followed behind him and called him daddy. But he changed after his mother died. Samuel's decision began to shake. Joseph was really pathetic.

He could do anything to others. But this child couldn't get hurt.

Samuel looked at Bruce and hesitated.

Bruce clearly knew what Samuel was thinking. He mocked himself.

He wasn't a good father.

He was sorry for Joseph!

For taking revenge, he did not give Joseph any warmth, but Joseph attached to him. Even if he hit Joseph, Joseph still liked him and got close him.

Perhaps this was the power of family affection. Bruce knew Joseph was really eager for paternal love.

Tears wet his eyes.

Kemp looked at them, and said, "Mr. Green, we can settle it in a peaceful way. We want the blueprint and the authorization contract. If you give them to us, we won't hurt Vincent and Nicole and let them go. Is it a deal?"

Samuel looked at Bruce with mixed feelings. There was still hatred in his eyes.

Samuel could not forgive Bruce for Bruce simulated his brother, deceived him and hurting his wife! But as Nicole said, Bruce could give Joseph great comfort. He had to consider for Joseph.

Bruce smiled ruefully and met Samuel's eyes, said word by word, "I am sorry."

"Isn't it too late to say sorry? Why do you do it? Let's settle the grudge between us later. For Joseph, I'll spare you. But remember, you owe me, you owe the Greens. I'll get it back from you one day."

Samuel said coldly. Bruce smiled bitterly and said nothing.

Only then did Nicole let out a sigh of relief.

She struggled and looked at Mark with hatred. "I feel sick for you are my uncle. You make me feel disgusted."

Mark smiled and said, "Oh? But it is the fact that you are my niece. You can't change it!"

Nicole was so furious. Mark turned to look at Samuel.

"Mr. Green, do you agree to it? Is that okay? We only want the blueprint and the authorization contract."

"Joseph!"

Nicole wanted to go up to check him, but she was stopped by Mark.

"Let me go! He fainted. Don't you see it?"

Nicole had no good impression of Mark.

Why would he look like her father?

Why?

Unfortunately, Mark didn't care about her hatred for him at all.

Bruce saw Joseph faint and rushed towards him, but was captured by Kemp's people again.

"Let go of me! That's my son! I swear to god if anything happens to him, I will kill you, Kemp."

Bruce was just like Vincent.

Bruce had been feeling guilty about Joseph since Nicole had talked of him. Why would such a child have to bear adults' grudge?

He was only four years old!

He was naïve, lively and cute, and he would call him Daddy with his sweet voice and always be so respectful and attached to him.

Seeing that Bruce was truly worried about Joseph, Samuel finally felt less angry.

"Kemp, if anything happens to my nephew, you'll know the consequences."

Samuel did not move, but what he said was absolutely shocking.

Kemp smiled and said, "Mr. Green, don't worry. Joseph is Satan King's disciple and he was your precious nephew. Of course I won't hurt him. Hey you! Bring Young Master to Satan King for treatment. Make sure about his safety."

Then Joseph was carried away.

Bruce had been looking at Joseph. If possible, he really wanted to take the responsibility as a father to accompany Joseph there, but...

He turned around and looked at Mark with hatred and killing intent.

Samuel did not miss that.

Did Bruce hate Mark?

Had he been doing everything to snare Mark?

Samuel was thinking when he heard Kemp say, "Mr. Green, you see my sincerity, right? Can you give me the blueprint and the authorization contract now?"

"Alright. I'll give you what you want, but you'd better make sure my people are safe. Otherwise..."

"Don't worry. We only want money."

Samuel nodded slightly.

Samuel looked at Mark. Although he did not know why Mark was still alive, nor did he know the relationship between Mark and Bruce, but for the sake of Nicole, Samuel said, "You really embarrassed the Don Family. Let go of your niece!"

"I never meant to hurt her."

Mark smiled indifferently and released Nicole.

The instant Nicole was freed, she raised her foot to kick Mark's calf.

"You son of a bitch! I hate you! If I had a choice, I would rather not have a relative like you!"

This was one hard kick.

Chapter 599 I Cannot Save Him

"Watch out!"

Nicole saw a person suddenly appear behind Samuel. The man was holding a fire hydrant and trying to smash it at Samuel's head. However, Samuel seemed to be feeling uncomfortable as his cold sweat dripped down his face and his entire body was stiff.

So Nicole grabbed Samuel's arm and pulled him to the side. At the same time, she raised her foot to kick the man. Unfortunately, here came another man with a fire hydrant.

Samuel's headache was severe, and his vision was blurry. He tried his best to see clearly, but he could not.

Nicole couldn't take care of him right now and could only drag him out of the attack circle. However, she was alone and she couldn't handle all the attacks at the same time.

The heavy hydrant slammed into her arm.

Nicole felt extremely painful, but she had to keep retaliating. However, she was unable to lift her right hand.

Samuel's headache had finally gone. When he saw this, he felt so anxious.

"Nicole!"

He quickly stepped forward to kick the two men away and hugged Nicole in his arms.

"Are you OK?"

"I'm fine. Let's go!"

Nicole endured the pain and spoke.

Sweat had already oozed from her forehead, and her face was pale.

Samuel looked at the people in front of him. He really wanted to kill them all. This feeling ran through his chest, making him want to burn everything into ashes.

"Mr. Green, madam."

Jacob brought his men over at this critical moment.

"Why are you here? I remember I've asked you to stay in the Seapolis City."

Samuel frowned.

Nicole didn't care where Jacob should be right now. She sensed that something was wrong with Samuel's body, so she pulled Samuel and said to Jacob, "Jacob, I'll leave everything here to you. Samuel and I have to go to the hospital first."

"Alright."

Jacob nodded.

Samuel wanted to say something, but the neuralgia attacked again.

He wanted to suppress it, but he failed and even snorted, making Nicole so worried.

"Are you sick?"

Nicole couldn't take care of her own arm at all.

Samuel wanted to say no, but he couldn't stand the pain anymore. He could only say, "I'm fine. You don't have to worry about me."

Chapter 600 Are You Happy with the Result

"Daddy, will you die?"

Joseph kept asking, but Bruce could no longer answer him.

The sudden silence in the operating room almost suffocated everyone.

Nicole could not help but walk in and pulled Joseph out of Bruce's embrace.

There were still tears at the corner of Bruce's eyes, but he had already stopped breathing.

However, Joseph still looked at him and asked, "Daddy, will you die?"

"Joseph, don't be like this!"

Nicole was extremely sad and distressed. She hugged Joseph tightly in her arms, but Joseph was still asking, "Will Daddy die?"

"Daddy will be watching over you in heaven."

"Daddy won't die."

Joseph finally shed tears, his voice so fragile and heartbreaking.

Nicole wanted to carry Joseph out, but Joseph grabbed Bruce's hand tight and wouldn't let go no matter what.

"Daddy, you promised me to hang out with me, to tell me stories, and many other things. But you haven't done them yet. Daddy, get up. Don't sleep. Please get up!"

He broke free from Nicole's embrace, shook Bruce's arm, and pleaded again and again.

"I will be good and listen to you. I promise you. I won't talk back anymore no matter what you say. I promise I will listen to you. Daddy, please! Get up! Get up!"

Seeing Joseph like this, Nicole realized what she worried about the most ended up happening. She held Joseph's hand and said, "Joseph, don't be like this. Otherwise, your daddy will be sad."

"I want Daddy! Mommy, can you tell Daddy to respond? I was not a good kid, but I promise I'll definitely listen to him. Can you tell him to talk to me?"

Joseph's eyes were full of tears. Seeing him so sad, Nicole felt extremely heartbroken.

"Joseph, I'll take you home."

"No! I want to be with Daddy! I want Daddy!"

"Joseph, you still have me, Samuel, Lucas, your grandma, and Zoe. You still have many families, and we will all love you!"

"But none of you is my daddy."

Hearing this, Nicole was stunned immediately.

She always felt that she treated Joseph very well, but she did not expect that for Joseph, the most important people were still his relatives by blood, especially his parents.

Joseph started to show his partiality on the day he knew who his biological parents were. Now this person that meant everything to Joseph was also gone. Looking at Joseph's expression, Nicole was really worried about him.

"Joseph, as long as you agree, Samuel and I can be your daddy and mommy."

Joseph leaned against Bruce's arm without saying anything. Then, he even took off his shoes and went on the operating table, lying in Bruce's arm.

He hugged Bruce's waist and whispered, "Daddy, can you hug me? I want your hug. Please hug me as you did just now, would you?"
