

Escape Wife 641

Chapter 641 I Don't Want You

Samuel felt a piercing pain.

Once he was the most important to Nicole. But now did she fall in love with someone else? Were he and Nicole really done?

It wasn't that Nicole hadn't seen Samuel's injured look. She just didn't know how to explain it. What would happen if she explained it?

She could only look at Samuel with a complicated expression.

Samuel was unable to do anything.

Under Nicole's gaze, what else could he do to Booth?

Booth, however, ignored Nicole. He got up from the ground and directly threw a punch at Samuel.

Ever since he was born, he had never suffered such a loss.

Samuel didn't want to fight with Booth anymore, but this man was so reckless and he provoked Samuel again.

This time, Samuel directly kicked him away.

"Ah!"

Booth cried out in pain and was thrown out hundred meters away.

Nicole looked at Samuel with some complaints, and then hurriedly ran towards Booth.

"Oh my god, my ribs are broken! Stretcher! I need a stretcher! No, it hurts!"

Booth was shouting, grimaced.

Seeing how miserable he was, Nicole supported him.

Booth leaned his head on Nicole's shoulder and held her waist tightly. He shouted in grievance, "It hurts! It really hurts!"

Nicole felt really sorry about him.

Compared with Booth, Samuel was closer with her and she didn't need to feel guilty about him. However, Booth was different. Samuel had beaten him so hard. What could she explain it to Olivia? How could she be worthy of Booth's care over the past month?

Seeing Booth like this, Samuel really wanted to beat him again.

This asshole definitely did it on purpose!

Seeing how Nicole was struggling to support Booth, Samuel walked forward.

"What are you doing? I'm telling you. I'm injured now. If you hit me again, my daddy won't let you go."

Booth's tone was like a child.

Samuel sneered, "Are you a little kid?"

"What do you mean?"

"You even complain when you are an adult. Are you a real man?"

Samuel returned Booth's mocking words to him.

Booth's face flushed with anger, but he could not defeat the man in front of him.

He then leaned against Nicole's embrace and said in a wronged voice, "Nicole, he bullied me."

"Childish."

Chapter 642 It's Man's Responsibility to Protect Women

Would she be able to speak again?

Nicole had always wanted to know the answer.

Booth mentioned an expert who, however, was always occupied. They even couldn't make an appointment with him.

She waited with great expectation at first, gradually got disappointed, and finally accepted the fact that she was a mute. However, when she saw Lucas' expectant eyes, Nicole realized that Lucas minded.

He minded that her mother was a mute, and he wanted her to speak. She wanted to be able to speak again too. But was it possible?

Nicole subconsciously touched her throat. It reminded her of Laurel's terrible face.

Nicole still could not forgive her.

How could Laurel die like that?

Wasn't it too easy for her to die just like that without paying the price for her wrongdoing?

However, Nicole could not bring a dead person back to life.

Noticing Nicole's expression, Lucas immediately realized that he had put his foot in his mouth. He hurriedly said, "Mommy, don't be sad. I will accompany you. In the future, I will be your eyes and your voice. Don't worry, I will study sign language hard, so that I can be your interpreter in the future."

Nicole instantly felt warm, and the sad past seemed to be not so unbearable for her.

She touched Lucas' head again and smiled. Then, she said in sign language, "How about letting Joseph stay here with you? Mommy has lived in the Kent's for a long time. I want to find another house and move out of the Kent's. After you leave the hospital, you can live with Mommy, okay?"

Lucas was so smart that he instantly understood what Nicole meant.

He whispered, "Mommy, are you going to divorce Samuel?"

Nicole didn't know how to answer this question.

Seeing her son's innocent eyes, Nicole felt that she was cruel.

"I'm sorry, Lucas."

Nicole knew better than anyone how much her two children had yearned for a family and how much they had wished for a daddy around them, but she really couldn't grant their wishes.

Although she knew that this matter had nothing to do with Samuel and it was all Laurel's fault, she thought of Laurel every time she looked at Samuel.

How could she continue living with Samuel in such case?

Lucas smiled reluctantly, but he still comforted Nicole and said, "It's fine, I've been used to it. Wherever Mommy is, I'll be with you always. I'm Mommy's little lover. I want to protect Mommy for the rest of my life."

Nicole's eyes got moist again.

What did she do to deserve such a sensible and cute son?

Joseph remained silent.

He didn't quite understand why Nicole wanted to divorce Samuel, but he also decided to protect Nicole, with sadness in his heart though.

Would he never see his uncle again after their divorce?

Samuel looked at Joseph's gloomy eyes and whispered, "Do you want Daddy and Mommy to get a divorce?"

"No, I don't."

Joseph hugged Samuel tightly.

The corner of Samuel's mouth was turned up slightly. He said with a smile, "If you don't want Daddy to divorce Mommy, can you help Daddy?"

"How?"

"Come closer to me."

Samuel and Joseph started to work on their plan in the car.

After learning Samuel's plan, Joseph nodded and quickly returned to the ward.

Nicole and Lucas were still worried about Joseph. Just as Nicole was about to go out to look for Joseph, Joseph returned.

"Joseph, where have you been? Mommy is so worried about you."

Lucas knew that Nicole couldn't directly express her feelings.

So he apologized immediately, "Sorry, Mommy. My tummy hurt, so I went to the bathroom."

"It doesn't matter. I'll ask Uncle Booth to bring your blanket over tonight, okay?"

"Alright."

Joseph had no objection.

Nicole made sure that Joseph and Lucas were fine before leaving the hospital.

Samuel watched Nicole return to the Kent's and left.

Nicole felt she had forgotten something. It wasn't until she returned to the Kent's and saw Olivia that she remembered it.

Jesus!

She had forgotten about Booth!

Nicole didn't know how Booth was doing.

Nicole walked out, but Olivia stopped her.

"What's wrong? You just came back. Why are you going out again? Where's Booth?"

Nicole was a little apologetic and didn't know what to say. She could only say in sign language, "Booth was beaten by Samuel."

"What?"

Olivia was instantly enraged.

She rolled up her sleeves and said angrily, "Samuel not only bullied you, but also bullied my younger brother. What does he want? Does he think I won't beat him up?"

Olivia walked out, but was stopped by Nicole.

"It's my fault. It's all on me. Don't go. I'm already guilty enough of Booth's injuries. If you got hurt, I would be overwhelmed. Do you still want me to stay in Land City?"

Olivia looked at Nicole and couldn't help but sigh, "You're always so kind. Which hospital is Booth in? I'm going to see him. You stay here and have a good rest. By the way, where is Joseph? I've consulted the sanatorium, the family of their patient is allowed to be the companion."

"No need. Joseph has already started to speak. I don't think we need to send him to a sanatorium. After all, it is not good for children."

"Can he speak now?"

Olivia was a little surprised but very happy.

"What? Something else?"

"Yes."

"Send it over."

Not long after Samuel hung up the phone, Jacob sent over the information of the doctor.

He had the doctor investigated thoroughly so that the information was quite detailed.

Samuel read it and frowned slightly.

The doctor did have some skills, but he was a bad person especially when treating female patients.

He would grope or even rape the patients on the pretext of the treatment. Some of the female patients were afraid of people's gossip and couldn't accuse him in public so they had to swallow the insults painfully. Some wanted to sue him, but he had connections to settle things down.

Samuel really didn't want to use a doctor with such a reputation.

He directly called Morgan.

"How much longer does Adela need?"

Samuel's question surprised Morgan.

"What? Is Adela's treatment your business now?"

"No. I just need to know your schedule."

"I didn't agree to treat you."

Morgan thought that Samuel wanted to ask about hypnosis and intended to hang up the phone, but she heard Samuel say, "I'm asking for Nicole."

Morgan paused for a moment.

"You guys have made up?"

"Do you want us not to?"

"Of course. Nicole has suffered too much with you. Only by leaving you can she live up to her full potential."

Morgan's words silenced Samuel for a moment.

Was that really the case?

She could reach her potential only by leaving him?

Samuel did not comment.

"Cut the crap. Can you get Nicole's voice back?"

Samuel had no intention to talk about things that would only make him sulk with Morgan.

Morgan did not conceal anything.

"Yes, but it's very risky. If anything goes wrong, her life will be in danger."

Samuel's hand suddenly stiffened.

"How could that be? Isn't she just dumb? How could her life be in danger?"

"You won't understand the terms even if I tell you. In short, the effects of the mute powder are very strong and difficult to eradicate completely. Because of the precious herbs she had taken after her last operation, the powder was absorbed quickly. To cure her, there will be a great risk to take."

Chapter 645 Beat Him Without a Word

Samuel stopped Nicole when she was about to go out.

"I know you're anxious to get your voice back. I'm more anxious than you are, but this expert has a bad reputation treating women patients. There are other ways. Listen to me, don't go."

Nicole looked at Samuel. She knew that Samuel would not say these words aimlessly, but she was really too anxious.

It would be fine if she couldn't speak from birth. Now that she had this chance to recover, she wanted to give it a try no matter what.

Nicole nodded at Samuel, then walked past him, heading towards the address given by Booth.

Seeing that Nicole didn't listen to him, Samuel immediately arranged for someone to protect Nicole.

Nicole arrived at the door of the expert's temporary clinic. Looking at the magnificent clubhouse in front of her, she frowned slightly.

Perhaps because Samuel's words worked, Nicole was a little nervous. Since she had already come, she still hoped to come in and take a look.

Nicole took a deep breath and walked into the clinic.

The expert was surprised when he saw Nicole. Perhaps he didn't expect such a beautiful woman to be dumb.

His gaze wandered unscrupulously around Nicole's body.

Nicole had a special feeling of disgust.

The look in his eyes upset her.

She turned around and left.

Seeing that Nicole was about to leave, the expert hurriedly stepped forward to stop her.

"Beauty, don't you come here to have your voice back? Why do you leave before I can have a look? I happen to know some sign language, so it's convenient for us to communicate."

The expert spoke while using sign language.

Nicole hurriedly replied, "No need."

"Why? I haven't checked you yet. Come, let me check you carefully."

Without waiting for Nicole to react, he hurriedly grabbed Nicole's hand and walked inside.

This hand was so tender!

A lecherous look flashed across the expert's eyes.

Perhaps because of what Samuel had reminded her, Nicole was quite alert. When she saw his lecherous expression, she was prepared for the worst.

After walking into the room, the expert poured a glass of water for Nicole.

Nicole clearly saw the movement of the expert's fingers.

Her face instantly darkened.

Originally, she did not believe Samuel's information. Now that she saw the expert was like this, she was extremely disappointed.

Perhaps she had come with great hope, but now when she saw him acting like this, she knew that his medical skills would not be any better. If he treated her seriously, it would be fine. However, he wanted to get something else from her. Nicole felt disgusted.

She got up and left.

"Don't leave, beauty. Drink a glass of water first."

Fiona looked at Booth as if she couldn't understand what was going on and she was asking him for help.

Booth had no idea what Nicole planned to do. But when he saw Nicole's confident expression, he conveyed her intentions to Fiona.

When Fiona heard that Nicole wanted to give her money, she was so happy that she squinted.

"Good. It's a deal. I promise that my uncle will treat you well."

The expert did not quite understand, but when he wanted to say something, Fiona pulled him aside and they began to discuss something.

Nicole revealed a cold smile.

Booth poked Nicole curiously and whispered, "What's your plan?"

Nicole did not intend to tell Booth about the expert's character, but now such being the case, she told
Booth why she had beaten the expert.

After hearing this, Booth was so angry that he almost went all out to fight with the expert, but he was stopped by Nicole.

"Nicole, you should have told me earlier. I would have killed that bastard."

The more Booth thought about it, the angrier he became.

No wonder Nicole had come back soon. So this was the truth.

Nicole gestured, "Don't worry, I won't let myself suffer losses. Since they are so greedy, then let's see how much they can pay for their greed."

Booth looked at the smile on Nicole's face and suddenly he realized that she looked exactly like Samuel.

Seeing that he was dumbfounded, Nicole asked, "What's wrong?"

"Nothing."

Booth hurriedly shook his head.

At this time, Fiona and the expert had already discussed it.

The expert who was angry just now was laughing so happily that he squinted.

"It's a misunderstanding! Misunderstanding! So it turned out that we have been acquaintances. I didn't expect that my niece know you, Ms. Nicole. Since that's the case, I'll treat you well."

Nicole sneered and didn't say anything.

Fiona smiled and said, "Miss Finger, oh no, Ms. Nicole, when do you think we'll start?"

"Right now."

Nicole gestured.

The expert had planned to treat Nicole at his place, but Fiona stopped him and glared at him.

The expert was a little afraid of Fiona, and reluctantly came to the Kent's to treat Nicole.

Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 647 It Still Tasted the Same

After Samuel came out, he felt that he was a bit cowardly. How could he forget all about being angry after being scolded by Nicole?

She didn't even say anything out loud. She just used sign language. He didn't even fully understand the meaning of her gestures, but from her expression, Samuel knew that Nicole was not happy.

When his wife was not happy, the consequences would be serious.

He didn't care what other people thought of him. Even though he knew that those people might laugh at him for being a henpecked husband, he came out sullenly.

However, after coming out, Samuel was still angry. Since he couldn't get angry at Nicole, the shitty expert who triggered this chain of events should pay for what he had done.

Samuel took out his phone and called Jacob.

"I don't care what method you use. Just make sure that shitty expert stays in prison for the rest of his life. Also, make sure he doesn't have a comfortable life inside."

When Jacob received the order, he knew that this expert had offended Samuel. He didn't say anything and did as he was told.

Shortly after Nicole was brought to the emergency room, Olivia and Booth rushed over.

When they saw Samuel sitting in the corridor outside, they anxiously asked, "How is Nicole?"

Samuel looked at them and said coldly, "How is she? Do you still care? You always say that you care about Nicole, but why did you indulge her in doing this? Don't you know that allergies can kill people?"

Booth was petrified to say anything when he was scolded.

He knew that Nicole was up to something, but he didn't expect her plan to be like this.

Olivia was not afraid of Samuel, and she scolded him.

"What are you shouting for? What good would it do? If you're so angry, why didn't you stop that shitty expert from showing up in this city?"

Speaking of this, Samuel became angrier.

"I tried to stop him from coming here, but who has sent a plane to pick him up? I sent the people to guard at all the road intersections for nothing."

Hearing Samuel's words, Booth coughed to conceal his embarrassment and looked away.

Olivia instantly realized that it was Booth who had brought that expert to this city.

But so what?

Olivia continued with an angry tone, "Even if we brought the expert here, so what? We were doing it for Nicole. Do you want her to be a mute forever? That's right. Nicole was turned into a mute in your place, wasn't she?"

Her words were like a sharp dagger stabbing into Samuel's chest and making his heart bleeding.

He instantly fell silent.

Booth felt that Olivia was going too far. He immediately pulled Olivia's arm and whispered, "Olivia, I think it's enough."

"No, it's not! Why can't we retort when he tries to bully us? Why are you so afraid of him? Did you lose your courage after being punched by him?"

Olivia was furious.

Chapter 648 I Saw Something Amazing

"What are you doing here?"

Samuel directly blocked Morgan out.

Morgan was not surprised at all when she saw Samuel. She did not take much reaction to his obstruction. She only said blandly, "It seems that you don't want me to cure Nicole?"

"No. I'm just a little worried. You said that the chances of success are not high."

Hearing what Samuel said, Morgan whispered, "It seems that you didn't tell Nicole about this."

"You are not needed here. Go back first. I will contact you if needed."

Samuel knew Nicole was determined to recover her voice. However, he was really scared.

If Nicole really wanted to give it a try, what would he do?

Morgan looked at Samuel. She did not leave, nor did she go further. She waited for a while before saying, "I will be at Land City these days. Contact me if necessary."

"Why are you here? For Nicole?"

Samuel became vigilant.

Morgan shook her head. She did not want to hide it from him, so she said, "I have something to deal with here. I happened to know Nicole is here, so I came to take a look. It is up to you whether to receive the treatment. But I was here for my disciple. Is he better?"

Hearing Morgan's words, Samuel heaved a sigh of relief.

"Joseph is much better now. But still, he can't go with you now."

"Mr. Green, I just want to know, is that promise which said that Joseph would stay with me for ten years still valid?"

Samuel darkened his face when hearing this.

"Joseph just got better. Is it appropriate to mention this now?"

"I'm just asking. You can start following this promise at any time. I just don't want him to delay his medical research."

Morgan left after finishing speaking.

Samuel stared after her. He couldn't regain his senses for a long time.

Olivia saw Samuel staring blankly at one direction when she came out.

She couldn't help but follow Samuel's sight. But she didn't find anyone or anything special.

Samuel abruptly turned back when he felt the breath of someone else. It was Olivia. She stood beside him and stared at a certain direction.

"What are you doing?"

"This is what I wanna ask. What are you doing here?"

Olivia thought that there must be something going on when she saw Samuel like this.

Samuel was still calm and composed, "You are in charge of what I gonna do now?"

"I don't even want to bother that."

Olivia glanced at Samuel and left. However, she stopped after a few steps. Then she turned to Samuel and said, "You'd better leave Nicole alone. Although you are kind of good, I still don't want Nicole to be with you."

"None of your business."

With that, Samuel turned around and went to the ward.

Chapter 649 What They Need Is Time

Samuel was planning the trip very fast.

The idea of going on a seven-day trip with Nicole was a sudden decision for him. He was worried that they might not even have many memories together if something bad really happened to them.

As he recalled the time after Nicole had married him, he found that they had spent too little time together. He could almost count the days they had spent together on one hand.

What Mrs. Green had done to Nicole made him feel that he owed Nicole a lot. To think of the two children Nicole had given birth to after they got married eight years ago now, he felt he was in even greater debt to her.

Browsing through various tourist destinations on his phone, Samuel found it hard to decide where to go.

He immediately called Jacob, his hands trembling.

"Jacob, what's the best place for a trip at this time?"

Jacob froze before he responded quickly, "Mr. Green, are you giving me a vacation to have a trip with Olivia?"

"What are you thinking about? I'm going on a trip with Nicole. You stay here at the company."

Samuel's words made Jacob gloomy.

"Mr. Green, you can't do that to me. This is your company."

"If you want it, I can give it to you. I don't have time to run the company now."

What Samuel said was indeed the truth.

Jacob became even gloomier.

"Hurry up. Where sounds more fun? I need to book plane tickets now."

"Plane tickets? You guys are not taking your private plane?"

Jacob wondered.

Samuel looked at the corridor outside and said softly, "No, I want to live an ordinary life with Nicole. I want to experience how ordinary couples live with her."

"How ordinary couples live? It's all about daily necessities such as bread and butter. Nothing so special."

Samuel was stunned as he heard Jacob's words.

Just daily necessities such as bread and butter.

That didn't sound too bad, did it?

As long as the two of them could be with each other, even just staying at home was like a vacation. But Samuel still remembered the longing look on Nicole's face when they just got married and she wanted to go on a honeymoon trip.

He owed Nicole a honeymoon trip!

Samuel whispered, "Where can we enjoy good scenery?"

"If you're looking for somewhere with mild temperature, then I recommend Bordeaux. There's good food and drink in Médoc, and Pomerol is also great fun. It's a good place to relax."

Samuel was convinced by Jacob's words.

"Then help me book two tickets to Bordeaux. The earlier, the better. Today's tickets would be the best."

Chapter 650 A Basic Principle of a Good Man

Samuel's face clouded over.

He walked forward and said to the man, "Sir, would you please change places with me?"

The man glanced at Samuel and said lazily, "No."

Samuel tried his best to suppress his anger and said quietly, "She's my wife. Please change places with me. How about it? As long as you are willing to change places with me, I will give you a thousand dollars."

The man paused for a moment. Then he looked at Nicole and Samuel. Noticing that Nicole did not say anything and was quite pretty, the man said, "No."

Samuel would like to throw the man out, but Samuel suppressed his anger when he saw Nicole's mischievous expression.

"Two thousand dollars!"

It caused uproar in the crowd.

"If we change places with you, will you give us two thousand dollars?"

Noticing that they were so interested in that, Nicole couldn't help but sigh.

Money was so attractive!

She looked at Samuel helplessly and agreed to the proposal of the people behind her.

The man in the middle became anxious.

"Madam, are you really his wife? I'd like to change places with him. You didn't say anything, so I thought he would harass you."

Samuel felt awkward.

'Do I look indecent?'

Nicole smiled and shook her head to show that she agreed with Samuel and respected Samuel.

Samuel still remembered how the man misunderstood him and said coldly, "Sorry, we won't change places with you."

Samuel and Nicole changed places with the people behind them.

Sitting together with Nicole as he wished, Samuel became happy and smiled.

Nicole felt that he was as easy to satisfy as a child.

She liked to lean against the window and look at the blue sky and white clouds outside. Samuel did not grab the seat with her and sat in the middle seat.

Soon, the plane took off. The people around quieted down.

Nicole noticed that Samuel shifted uncomfortably and adjusted the seat sometimes. She knew that Samuel was not used to economy class.

The room of economy class was relatively narrow. He was 1.85 meters tall and sat in the middle seat. There were people on both sides of him. He felt more uncomfortable.

She stretched out her hand, tugged at Samuel, took out her phone and wrote, "Why don't you upgrade your class? It will take you more than six hours to arrive. You will feel uncomfortable along the way."

"Will you sit beside me?"

Seeing his expectant gaze, Nicole compromised.

It didn't matter to her where she sat, but Samuel felt uncomfortable.

When Nicole hesitated, Samuel noticed that Nicole liked the atmosphere of ordinary people.

He held Nicole's hand and whispered, "Forget it. Just stay here. It's good."
