Chapter 741 Why Do You Like Me

Maia hesitated whether to answer the phone, but if she didn't and Tim heard it, she had no idea about how to explain to him.

The phone kept ringing, and Maia was nervous.

She had no choice but to answer it.

"Hello?"

"Maia, how dare you keep me waiting for so long. Do you want me to cut off your brother's fingers?"

The man on the other end of the phone said in a dangerous voice.

"Don't hurt my brother!"

"If you don't want me to hurt your brother, you'd better be obedient. How's it going? Does Tim trust you completely now?"

Hearing this, Maia got sad and guilty.

"Not yet."

"Don't lie to me. I'm not an idiot. I know he is even willing to die for you. Maia, if you don't listen to me, I will make your life a living hell."

"Please don't hurt my brother, and I will do whatever you want me to do."

Maia pursed her lips and was almost heartbroken.

"Let's not waste any time. I also don't want to hurt your brother. Find the seal of Tim's company and get a copy of it for me."

"Seriously?"

Maia was surprised.

"Do you know his company's seal is so important that I have no access to it?"

"You can figure it out on your own. Anyway, you must bring me the copy. If you fail, you know what I will do."

After the man finished speaking, he hung up the phone.

Maia felt as if she were thrown into utter despair.

She knew what would happen if she got a copy of the company's seal for that man.

She didn't want to betray Tim. She fell in love with him, but if she didn't do so, her brother would be in danger.

Maia pursed her lips with tears in her eyes.

Why did she have such an unfortunate life?

Tim did not know how Maia was going through, so he bought something on the Internet and had it delivered to her. However, when he turned around, he didn't see Maia.

"Maia? Where are you?"

When Tim ran out and saw Maia was leaning against the wall with tears in her eyes, he frowned.

Chapter 742 Maia Is Not Who You Think She Is

Maia was trembling.

"Take it! Come on. You know, money is always needed for medical treatment. I know what you are thinking. You don't want to owe me anything. But you should at least take it for your brother, right?"

Tim shoved the bank card into Maia's hand.

Maia did not refuse.

She looked at the bank card in her hand with mixed feelings.

"Tim."

Maia's voice was somewhat hoarse.

"Hmm? What's up?"

Tim thought Maia was going to say something. However, to his surprise, Maia suddenly gave him a kiss, standing on tiptoe.

"Make love to me."

Her voice wasn't loud, and it carried a hint of shyness.

Tim lost himself for a moment before realizing what Maia said. He pushed Maia away, the moment his blood boiled.

"I gave you money, but I'm not trying to get you to do like that. I admit I have feelings for you, and I even wanted to spend my life with you. But Maia, I don't want you to pay off your debts with your body! Don't insult yourself and me. I don't need to get women in this way."

After saying that, Tim left the ward.

Maia felt like a cold wind was blowing and it made her tremble all over.

She really wanted to tell Tim that she didn't mean that.

It wasn't because he gave her money that she wanted to make love to him.

She was just afraid that she and Tim wouldn't have a future together.

But there were some things she couldn't say and some things she couldn't do.

Maia crossed her arms and squatted down, crying bitterly.

Actually, Tim didn't go far. He was just outside the door.

Hearing Maia's cry, he felt upset and even wanted to go in and hold her in his arms to comfort her. However, he didn't.

He could feel Maia's feelings for him, but he knew that she was not willing to be with him now.

To be honest, he was disappointed that Mia chose to make such sacrifice for only a bank card.

He refused to believe the girl he fell in love with was greedy. And he didn't believe that Maia would sell her body for money. However, what Maia said just now did hurt him.

Tim stood up and left the hospital. The air outside was fresh, but Tim didn't feel refreshed.

A man walked up to Tim.

"Mr. Tim, Mr. Jase wants to see you."

Tim glanced at the man and said in a leisurely manner, "Do I have to go if he wants to see me? He really thinks highly of himself."

"Mr. Tim, Mr. Jase said it's about Miss Maia. If you don't want to hear it, then forget it."

"Wait."

"I'm not lying to you. Tim, to be honest, I wanted to get rid of you because you caused me trouble the moment you came here. But I have figured out that you and Samuel are friends and I don't want to offend you. I just hope that you won't interfere in this matter. She's not worth your effort, and you know she has hidden motives."

As Jase spoke, Tim's face darkened.

"Don't meddle in my relationship. Even though she has hidden motives, I like her and want to take care of her. What can you do to me? I have over a hundred saber cuts all over my body, and don't you give me any compensation?"

Tim said coldly.

Jase became somewhat gloomy.

"Just tell me how much you want. I apologize."

"You think I'm short of money?"

"Then what do you want?"

Jase had never seen Tim so arrogant.

Tim sneered and said, "Admit your mistake to the higher-ups and tell them you took the money. You must prove Maia's parents innocent."

"Are you crazy? I have such a big family business, and you want me to turn myself in? Tim, how dare you? Do you really think you can get out of here?"

Jase looked at Tim as if he was looking at a madman.

But Tim smiled.

"We shall see whether I can get out. As for you, two ways. First, surrender yourself. Second, I'll take you to surrender yourself. Choose one. Screw your big family business! You know whom your money used to build up your business came from!"

"Tim, don't go too far."

Tim's tough attitude irritated Jase.

"What's the point of proving Maia's parents innocent? Maia can't go back. Listen, many people say she finds a sugar daddy and is not pure anymore. She might have slept with men many times. It is only you who still adore her."

"I don't allow you to curse her!"

Tim punched Jase and knocked out two of his teeth.

Seeing the blood, Jase stood up angrily and wrestled with Tim.

Jase was less strong than Tim who beat him down to the ground in a few moments.

Just as Tim was about to take Jase to police, his phone rang.

It was from Samuel. Tim frowned slightly, but he let Jase go.

"Samuel, you'd better have something urgent, or else I won't forgive you."

Overwhelmed with anger, Tim spoke rudely.

Samuel whispered, "Are you at the Jase's?"

"You know the answer."

"Don't hound him. Blair received a call from Emory, and he was told that there was someone behind Jase and the evidence of Jase embezzling public funds has been found. The reason why we don't make a move now is to discover the person behind him. So, be patient and don't get involved. I know you're doing it for Maia, but as a soldier, you should know which is more important. "

After Samuel spoke, Tim frowned.

"Why is this so coincidental? There was no evidence before my investigation. But once I started, the evidence popped up.

Tim was unconvinced.

Samuel said proudly, "Believe it or not, I have a smart son who found out the evidence and sent to the higher-ups."

No way!
Maia would be fine!

Tim kept reassure himself, but his hands were trembling.

Life wouldn't be so cruel.

He was just about to cherish her. How could it be so cruel?

Tim got into the car, trembling, and drove to the airport at top speed.

There were many traffic policemen after him, to which he was too worried to pay attention.

The airport lobby was in a mess, full of crying people.

Tim went straight to the front desk.

"Which flight was in the accident?"

"I'm sorry, sir. All we know now is that Flight FG38594 is out of contact. We don't know what's going on."

"You don't know? How could there be an accident on the plane? It's clear here. How could there be an accident?"

When Tim found out that the flight in accident was Maia's flight, he almost collapsed.

He grabbed the stewardess by the collar and shouted, "Where are the people up there? Where did they get out of contact? Where are they?"

The stewardess was frightened by his excitement and cried, "I don't know, I really don't know, sir. I know you're in a bad mood, but now we can only wait for rescue and search. Please calm down and wait."

"Calm down? It's my fiancée up there. How can I calm down?"

Tim was about to go crazy. He even wanted to destroy everything.

The security guard stepped forward and grabbed Tim.

"Sir, don't be like this. We understand your feelings. Please don't make things difficult for our stewardess. She is not on that flight. Our company is looking for it, and we will find out the cause of the accident for everyone."

Tim collapsed on the bench.

He could still recall Maia smiling back and telling him to take good care of himself.

At that time, he felt somewhat uneasy.

Why didn't he make Maia stay?

Even if she couldn't stay, why didn't he go with her? Even if she didn't allow it, at least he could die together with her.

But what should he do now?

It was so high, and Maia was so petite. How scared would she be if she fell from the sky?

He still didn't know if she was awake or not.

Tim hurriedly took out his phone and called Maia, but her phone was turned off.

Turned off?

That meant she was still on the plane, and she was in the accident.

Tim blacked out.

Chapter 745 Thank You, Honey

"Enough. Go to bed now."

Overcome by jealousy, Samuel grabbed Tim's arm, pulling him onto the bed.

Tim was still very emotional.

Samuel asked the doctor to have him sedated so that he could fall asleep for the moment.

The doctor and the nurse wiped sweat from their head as they showed their gratitude towards Samuel.

"Mr. Green, thank you so much for today."

"Sorry about that. His wife is on that plane. Thank you for your understanding."

Samuel said vaguely.

"Never mind."

After that, the doctor and the nurse left.

Nicole watched Tim and sighed, "Fate has played a joke on them, hasn't it?"

"They are destined to meet and fall in love but never get a chance to be together anymore. Tim is probably going to feel despondent for a while."

Even though Tim was unconscious, his brows drew together.

Samuel knew the feeling of losing a loved one. It was as if the whole world had collapsed and he could never get over it and move on.

If Laurel hadn't stopped him, he would have ended his life when he heard Nicole had died in the fire.

He sighed and said in a low voice, "I'm going to book a hotel. We'll be staying here for a while. Tim won't leave until Maia is found."

"Thank you, honey."

Nicole looked at Samuel with some guilt.

Samuel caressed her head and said, "I'll be fine as long as you don't wear yourself out."

"Alright."

Nicole knew Samuel cared about her, so she wouldn't do anything that worried him.

Samuel left for the hotel. Nicole had someone investigate the air crash. Soon, she found out about the crashing spot.

It was already evening when Tim woke up.

He was fine with being sedated. The first thing he asked was, "Have you found her plane?"

"I have. But you have to make sure you are strong enough to go there. I don't want to carry you back. I know your feeling, but you have to calm down and be rational. If you can do that, we'll take you there."

"Cut the crap! Just tell me! Where is she?"

Tim did not give a direct answer.

Samuel knew how he felt. So he just brought some anti-inflammatory drugs, got into the car with them and headed for the place where the crash happened.

"Did Trevin send you his address?"

"Yes. Let's go."

Nicole nodded as Samuel looked at her.

When they drove to the address Trevin had given them, they did not see him.

Samuel called Trevin again, but the phone had already been switched off.

"Who are you looking for?"

An old man asked when he saw them.

"Sir, we want to know if Trevin lives here."

Nicole hurriedly stepped forward and asked with a smile.

The old man looked at Nicole and nodded, "Yes, he lives here, but they moved out nearly an hour ago when his sister came."

"Moved out? Do you know where did they go?"

Tim stepped forward and asked urgently, which scared the old man to take a step back.

"Who are you? Why are you looking for them?"

The old man was a little vigilant.

Nicole shook her head and pulled Tim back.

"Sir, sorry to disturb you. We are Trevin's friends. He sent us the address. Look, this is the address that Trevin sent us."

Nicole handed Samuel's phone to the old man.

When the old man saw that it was indeed Trevin's Twitter, he whispered, "So Trevin sent it to you. I don't know what happened. After his sister came, she urged him to leave together and seemed to have applied suspension of schooling for him. Trevin did not agree and had a violent quarrel with his sister. However, Trevin was a filial child and agreed to leave when his sister cried. They didn't say where they are going and I didn't dare to ask, as his sister seemed fierce. "

Hearing what the old man said, Tim narrowed his eyes.

"She's evading us."

"So what? We can't do anything even if we know she's hiding from us. Right now, we don't know where they are or where they went. I think we need to give it further consideration."

Nicole knew that Tim was in a bad mood right now. No one could stand being fooled like this.

However, they lost track of them now. They could only wait for Trevin to turn on the phone and contact them before they could find Maia.

Tim sat dejectedly on the stone and whispered, "If she came to me with ulterior motives, I should have lost something. Now that I didn't lose anything and her goal was not reached, why did she escape from me?"

"Perhaps it was because she fell in love with you and couldn't bear to hurt you anymore. Therefore, she gave up her mission and disappeared."

Nicole's words made Tim laugh cynically.

"How could she be so kind? I'm afraid she's preparing another trick to deceive me."

After stopped by the Bushes' family and having dinner together, Nicole decided to go to the mall to buy something for the children.

"I forgot to buy gifts for the kids this time because I came back in such a hurry. Let's go to the mall and get something for them."

Nicole smirked as she talked to Samuel.

Samuel shook his head, "I know you are busy. Therefore, I already have the gifts ready for them. You do not have to worry anymore."

"Wait, when did you get them? How is that possible that I have been with you all the time but did not notice you prepared the gifts?"

Nicole felt that some parts of her memories must be lost. Otherwise, why didn't she see Samuel shopping for the children and her parents?

Samuel rubbed Nicole's head with a smile, "There is another me."

"No. Seriously! When did you go out to buy them?"

"I bought them on my way back when I headed out to deal with Johnnie's business.

Hearing Samuel's words, Nicole felt a bit ashamed.

Samuel remembered to bring gifts for her family even when he went to the police station and looked for Johnnie. Instead, she was the one who forgot of it.

"I am so glad to have you around."

"Is that so? Now you know how good I am?"

There was no doubt that Samuel enjoyed Nicole's praise.

"But if you want to go shopping, we can do it."

"Forget it. Let's go home. The children must be waiting for us."

Nicole wanted to go shopping at first because she was going to buy gifts for the children. Now that Samuel had finished the task, there was no need to go to the shopping mall anymore. She preferred going back and seeing the children as soon as possible.

Seeing that Nicole was eager to go home, Samuel got on the car with her together and returned to the Green's old house.

Nicole had a complex feeling with she arrived at the Green's.

When she left, she thought that she would never be able to return. She even felt that she would never see Samuel for the rest of her life. But now, she was standing here again. Looking at this ancient building, Lauren also came to Nicole's mind.

Although Lauren already passed away, Nicole could still imagine her showing up around once seeing the house.

Seeing Nicole stop moving, Samuel knew that she recalled those bad memories.

"Maybe we can just move to the villa instead of this place."

"I am fine. Sooner or later, we will have to move in. Don't worry about me."

Nicole turned to Samuel and made a smile.

But Samuel could tell that Nicole was trying to hide her feeling of hurt and exhaustion.

"Don't worry, Nicole. No one will hurt you from now on. Lauren has already dead."

"I know."

Nicole held Samuel's hand and walked into the Green's old house.

Everything here was so familiar to Nicole. Someone was still taking care of the flower garden that Lauren liked.

Nicole always felt that Lauren was still sitting in that garden and taking care of those plants.

She knew that all of this was her imagination.

After Samuel installed the astronomical telescope for Joseph, he walked down the stairs to the living room, only to see Nicole in a daze.

"What's the matter?"

"I can't get through Lucas and Blair. They aren't on the plane either. Don't you think there is something wrong?"

Nicole was nervous and took every bush for a bugbear.

Seeing that she was so worried, Samuel hurriedly comforted her. "Blair is with Lucas. He will be fine.
Don't worry, maybe they were delayed by something. Wait a bit longer, we'll hear from them."

"I can't help it. I'm scared."

Nicole put her arms around her knees and said something that made Samuel very uncomfortable.

Ever since Nicole came back with the children, things had happened one after another. She felt very insecure.

He knew better than anyone else that Nicole wanted to protect the children, but now it seemed she had this psychological shadow.

"Trust me, Lucas will be fine."

"Alright."

Nicole nodded, but she didn't look less worried at all.

Samuel knew that as long as she didn't know Lucas' whereabouts, she would keep worrying.

He quickly took out his phone and called a few people. Not long after, news of Lucas came.

"Mr. Green, you have a good son. At such a young age, he is capable of hiking into the internal defense network of our military region. Don't worry! He and Blair are now in the military region. The leaders want to see him. He is a talented child. Why not train him properly from a young age? Don't you think so?"

Nicole and Samuel were surprised.

Samuel hurriedly said, "The child is ignorant. I will teach him a lesson later."

"No, no. This child is quite talented. We plan to train him from now, but I don't know what you think. Do you want him to have a military career?"

Nicole didn't expect that.

Samuel smiled and said, "We will consider it. When can Lucas come back?"

"In the afternoon. With Blair here, what do you worry about? Relax. Your son is precious to us now, and we prefer to hide him rather than do anything to him."

Samuel joked about it and the two chatted for a while before hanging up the phone.

Nicole felt like she was dreaming. After Samuel hung up the phone, she hurriedly asked, "Was I in a dream just now?"

"No."

Samuel looked at her with amusement.

Nicole suddenly slapped him.

Chapter 749 I Beg You to Let Her Go

Mrs. Louis got emotional.

This made sense. After all, she hadn't become Ballard's legal wife after living with him for more than twenty years.

Seeing Mrs. Louis' angry expression, Ballard also flew into a rage.

"Then what do you want me to do? I've already lost a son for you, and now Tim refuses to return home. After I die, my sons are the legitimate heirs to the family's fortune. Also, as the breadwinner, Tim makes your luxurious lifestyle possible! He is indeed a little disrespectful to you, but he never kicks you out of this house. Although you don't have a marriage certificate, I've always regarded you as my legal wife! Don't be too greedy!"

Frightened by Ballard's angry roar, Mrs. Louis suddenly broke down in tears.

"So you blame everything on me now? When sleeping with me back then, you forgot that you still had a wife and Tim was just a child, didn't you?"

"That's enough! If you keep being ridiculous, then get out of this house!"

After saying those harsh words in anger, Ballard slammed the door and left. Mrs. Louis was so furious that she cried loudly in the living room.

The servants didn't dare to say anything, so they just focused on their work and kept silent.

After coming out, Ballard was still depressed.

For so many years, he had always been guilty after quarrelling with Tim. If he hadn't betrayed his wife back then, his family wouldn't have been like this. However, as Tim's father, he found it hard to put aside his pride and admit his mistakes.

Judging from Jacob's words, he guessed that Tim might have gone into trouble. This made Ballard feel sorrier for him.

Tim had been used to solving problems by himself, and he hadn't asked him for help for a long time. Tim even turned the tide by himself when the Louis family almost went bankrupt last time.

Ballard wanted to ask Tim how he had revitalized the family business. However, in fear of Tim's sarcasm, he didn't dare to ask him.

No matter what, Ballard had always been proud of Tim, even though he never admitted it.

On this point, Ballard appreciated his first wife. Without her guidance, Tim wouldn't have become such an excellent man.

For the first time, Ballard wanted to go visit his first wife.

So many years had passed, and he wondered how she was doing in the sanatorium.

In the past, Ballard didn't have the heart to go see her, but now, he didn't dare to go. But for the sake of Tim, he still mustered up the courage to set off.

Employees in the sanatorium knew about Ballard, but they weren't familiar with him. After hearing that he was Martha's husband, they wanted to call Tim, but Ballard stopped them.

"I just came to see her. Don't inform my son."

"But Mr. Tim said that no one is allowed to see Ms. Martha Close except him."

Hearing the nurse's words, Ballard was a little sad.

"There's no need."

With that, he went straight to Martha's room.

Sitting in her wheelchair as usual, Martha was staring at the sky in a daze.

"You are the foodie! Why are you laughing? You are the one who married a foodie." Nicole snapped.

Her words made Samuel laugh.

"Just kidding. Now, hurry up. Let's go to the sanatorium."

"Why are we going to the sanatorium?"

Nicole was a little dozy.

"Are you planning to set up a place for us to retire at this age?"

"Are you still asleep? Oh, please. Nicole, wake up!"

Samuel shook Nicole's head twice, almost making her dizzy.

"Samuel, what are you doing?"

"Are you awake?"

"What's wrong with you? Why are you acting so childish? You are just like Tim now."

Nicole felt that Samuel was acting more and more like a child.

She pushed Samuel away, frowning slightly.

Samuel smiled and said, "Well, there is a thing involved Tim. He called and said that Ballard went to the sanatorium to see Martha. He was afraid that his mother could not take this and would hurt herself. He wanted us to go and check on her. You know, if it weren't for you, I wouldn't care about this crap. Are you coming or not? If not, I'll go back to work."

Hearing this, Nicole quickly grabbed Samuel's hand and said, "Yes, yes! I'll go. Why didn't you tell me earlier?"

"I just thought that you can sleep a little more. And Nicole, you are so enthusiastic about Tim's stuff, aren't you?"

Samuel said bitterly.

Nicole hugged his head over and gave him a kiss.

"Be good. Don't be jealous. Tim is in Bordeaux. It will take him at least six to seven hours to get back. Besides, what if something happens to Aunt Martha? This is a life-and-death matter. Let me just change. I'll be ready soon."

Nicole rushed to the dressing room.

Samuel shook his head with a smile. He touched the place where Nicole had kissed him.

It felt good.

It was as sweet as sugar and warm as a pie.

Samuel went to change his clothes with a foolish smile. After a while, Nicole came down.

"Let's go."

"Samuel, shall we buy Martha some fruit or other presents?"

Nicole asked nervously.

"No need. Martha can't recognize us now. We just need to go over and see if she's fine. Let Tim take care of the rest when he comes back."

Nicole hesitated,

"Are you sure that's a good idea?"

"Okay, we can buy some fruit."

"Samuel, be serious!"
