Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 781 I Want a Divorce

"What are you laughing at? Nicole, stop the nonsense. I did nothing! I didn't do it! It has nothing to do with me!"

Nicole did not refute. She just looked at Bella with a smile on her face.

Bella suddenly felt a little cold.

She touched her arms and subconsciously looked around. Seeing her guilty look, people reacted differently.

"That's it. Bella, I don't want to talk about what you have done to me anymore. Tell the police about it. I don't want to see you anymore. Your things are packed up. Remember to bring that when you leave."

Martha spoke like the owner of the house. Bella found it hard to accept.

"I have worked for this family for nearly twenty years. How could you behave like the owner of the house and talk to me that way?"

"She is my wife and the real Mrs. Louis! That's why!"

Ballard's words instantly angered Bella.

"Ballard, that's not what you said when you slept on the same bed with me! You scum! It's all you! If you have given me the title of Mrs. Louis, Martha will be no one now! These years, I've given so much to your family, but in the end, I get nothing! I won't submit to such treatment!"

As she spoke, Bella pounced towards Ballard.

Jacob frowned and stopped Bella in time.

"Mom, that's enough! Wake up, okay? Can you stop behaving like a clown? Cornell is my real father, but you brought me to the Louis family. You don't feel shameful! But have you ever considered my feelings? What am I to you? Other children are loved and spoiled by their parents, but me? Since you don't love me, why did you give birth to me? Why?"

Jacob had a breakdown.

Although he was strong-minded, what happened just now made him unable to stay calm.

Seeing Jacob's red eyes, for a moment, Bella didn't know what to say.

"Jacob, mom loves you! Mom did all this because of you. The Louis family is very rich. Mom has lived a poor life since young. I don't want you to suffer from what I have experienced. If it wasn't for this, I won't let Cornell throw you away! You are my child! You have been in my belly for nearly ten months! You are my flesh and blood!"

Bella's words made Jacob feel sad.

"Money! Money! Money! All you see is money! To get money, you abandoned all the ethics and morals. You abandoned your son. The Louis family is rich? You think the Louis family is rich? If you're short of money, tell me and I'll give it to you! These years, I followed Mr. Vincent and invested in several venture capital companies. I also dabbled in other areas, such as gold and new energy. Tell you the truth, the Louis Family doesn't necessarily have more money than me! If you need money, just tell me. We can earn money by our hands! Why did you have to step on such a wrong path? Why must someone die? Which is more important, money or a life?"

"Martha, please give me another chance. I won't hurt you again this time. I will be there with you until the last minute of your life. This is our promise. Do you remember?"

Ballard's words angered Tim a little.

"What are you talking about? My mother still has a long life ahead. Besides, things are already like this. There's nothing you could do about it."

"Leave me and your mother alone."

"You think I want to get involved? If it weren't for my mother, I wouldn't even talk to you. You're just a scum. You cheated on your wife. You hurt your wife and child. What makes you think your apology will make us trust you again? What makes you think you can get forgiveness just by saying you're sorry? Did you really love my mom? Ask yourself, did my mother ever had a place in your heart these years? Even if she gave birth to your child, even if she settled herself for you, you are still not satisfied. Don't say that all men will make that mistake. You are insulting us."

Tim and Ballard got into a quarrel.

Seeing they are dealing with their family matters, Nicole said, "Auntie, Jacob and I got to go."

"Wait a moment. I'll sign and leave with you."

Martha's words made Ballard's eyes immediately wet.

"Martha, do you have to be like this? We've been married for so many years. Just let me accompany you, okay?"

"I've already said what I want to say. Now you can do whatever you want."

Martha didn't say anything else and directly signed the divorce papers. Then, she turned to look at Nicole and smiled, "Take me back."

"Mom, I'll take you back."

Tim frowned and felt that Martha was not as dependent on him as before.

He felt a little disappointed in the heart.

Martha patted his hand and smiled, "Did you forget that Trevin is still in the hospital? You can't let Samuel keep staying in the south, right? I don't like Maia. But I know her brother is not her. I won't vent my anger on her brother. Don't worry about me. Nicole will bring me back."

Hearing Martha's words, Tim finally breathed a sigh of relief.

"Alright, if you need anything, just tell me. I'll write you the phone number."

Tim's words made Martha laugh. She said, "Do you think your mother has become an old-timer after living in the sanatorium for so many years? You think I don't know how to keep your number on the phone?"

"No, I'm just afraid it will trouble you. I thought writing it down would be better."

Tim did not admit that he underestimated his mother.

Seeing Tim and Martha having a warm talk and ignoring his existence, Ballard felt complicated. Words failed to describe his feelings.

He wanted to say something, but before that, he saw Martha holding Nicole's hand and saying, "Nicole, let's go." In the end, he said nothing.

"Alright."

Martha had made up her mind. Nicole made no comment about that. She just brought Martha away from the Louis family.

At the gate of the Louis', Nicole saw Jacob.

Instead of following Bella to the police station, he smoked beside the car.

"Auntie, why didn't you answer the phone?"

Nicole asked subconsciously.

"It's a sales call. You know, there are too many junk calls like this. There is no need to answer such phones. I feel so tired now. I want to have a rest. So forgive me for not letting you in."

Martha said with a smile, but the rejection in her eyes was obvious.

Although Nicole still had doubts in her heart, she knew Martha didn't want to talk about that, so Nicole stopped asking.

"Alright, I got to go. Auntie, if you need anything, call me at any time."

"Alright."

Nicole turned around and left.

Just as she got in the car, Martha entered the house and closed the door.

How to describe Nicole's feelings now?

She felt bad.

Even though Martha was tired, Nicole still could not understand why Martha didn't want her to enter the house. After all, she was Martha's nephew!

Nicole shook her head, feeling she might have overthought Martha's behavior. So many things had happened. All this was a big blow to Martha. Perhaps she just needed to be alone.

Thinking of this, Nicole drove directly to the hospital.

She met Samuel at the entrance of the hospital.

"Samuel, get in the car. I'll take you home!"

Nicole naughtily put out her tongue at Samuel.

Samuel was slightly stunned, then he smiled and got into the car.

"Didn't you send Auntie home? I thought you would accompany her there for a while."

Samuel fastened his seat belt and enjoyed not being a driver.

Nicole sighed, "I want to accompany her, but she doesn't need me to do that. She keeps sending me away. She closed the door before I left. Perhaps she was too tired. Someone called, but she directly hung up and even turned off the phone. Perhaps today is indeed a bad day for her. So many things happened at once. And she has known her health situation. It is indeed hard to handle all of this."

"What's wrong with her health?"

Hearing Nicole's words, Samuel asked.

"She has been poisoned. It was a kind of chronic poison. Poison inside her body gradually accumulated. It is hard to remove all the poison from her body. Gabrielle said it's very troublesome. Perhaps she can't be cured. There's also a risk of sequelae."

Nicole told Samuel what she knew.

Samuel pondered for a while and said, "Things has become like this. We have done everything we can. So don't overthink it. You have been so tired for so long. Bella has been arrested and Zedd is also under control. Shouldn't you have a rest and relax?"

"Okay. Tim and Trevin..."

"I've made all the arrangements. Tim respects Maia's last wish and lets Trevin work in our company. If something happens to Trevin, Tim probably won't sit idle. They're going to bury Maia, so I come back."

"What project?"
Nicole turned to look at Samuel curiously.
Samuel smiled and said, "Nothing much. We are looking for partners for a project approved by the board. Since Uncle has said so, of course I will keep this within our family."
"Good to hear that. I'll go to your company tomorrow morning and we'll talk about it in detail."
Jason was decisive and Samuel nodded.
Mark couldn't stand it.
"Jason, look at the monger you have turned into. You have become so unscrupulous as to send Nicole and the children away for a project? This isn't a nice thing to do."

"Mark, even if there is no project, Nicole and the children have to go back. After all, they are part of the Green family. If you like children, find a woman to have one yourself. No, as many as you like. Nobody will care."

Mark picked up a cushion and threw it at Jason upon hearing this.

"Fuck off! You sound like you have a girlfriend."

"I do. I just found one on a blind date."

Hearing Jason's words, Nicole became interested.

"Uncle, you had a blind date?"

"What choice do I have? I'm a cripple. It will be a blessing to have someone marry me. I can't leave our family no descendants. Otherwise, I won't have the gut to face your grandmother after I die."

"Save your crap. You just want a woman. Don't use grandma as an excuse."

Mark didn't humor Jason.

Nicole couldn't help laughing when she saw them quarreling like this.

"Tell me, who is she? How was it going with the date?"

Seeing that Nicole was interested, Samuel smiled and shook his head. He took off the coat, rolled up his sleeves, and walked to Mark's side and said, "Do you need my help?"

"Of course I do. Are you going to eat lunch here?"

"I was going to eat at home, but Nicole is so excited. When she finds out about Uncle Jason's blind date, she will probably be starving. So I'm gonna stay."

Samuel had an affectionate expression.

Seeing him like this, Mark stopped being harsh.

"Were you so busy with work? You left her and the kids at my place without caring about them. I wonder how you do this."

"There are some moles in the company and I have to clean them up. Otherwise, I'm afraid that Nicole and the children will be plotted against after they return. I'm scared."

"Keep a low profile on this. Find a reason suggesting that you have to give up. Don't offend anyone. You know that how things are linked in the business world."

"Got it. Thank you."

Jason waved his hand.

When Nicole came back from making tea, she saw Samuel and Jason playing chess and was surprised.

"Aren't you discussing business? Why are you playing chess?"

"It is an excuse. I just don't want to exhaust your husband. Let Mark deal with it."

Jason's words astonished Nicole.

"Jason, Mark will be sad."

"It's better than upsetting you."

When Nicole heard this, she couldn't help laughing.

"That's right. It's better to have someone else suffer. Then I'll leave him sad."

Nicole placed the tea on the table and turned to look outside. She said, "Where are the children?"

"Playing outside, but I haven't heard their voices. I'm going out to take a look."

"I'll do it."

Nicole stopped Jason and was about to go out to take a look, but Samuel pushed the chessboard away and stood up.

"I'll go with you."

Jason was so cheerless.

"Samuel, how can you do this? We're in the middle of a game."

"Chess is just for fun. I will let you win, okay?"

With that, Samuel grabbed Nicole's shoulder and walked out.

Jason was furious. He was about to win, what did he mean by "let him win"?

However, when he raised his head again, Nicole and Samuel had already left the living room.

"I can go by myself. Just play chess with Uncle Jason."

"I'm a lousy player. I'm gonna be at my wit's end if I continue. Thank you, my darling, for saving me out of it."

Nicole couldn't hold back her laughter.

What did he mean by "a lousy player"?

Even an amateur like her could tell that Samuel wasn't doing his best on purpose.

It must be hard for him.

"If you don't want to play, then don't. It's not like you're a kid. Just say that to Jason."

Seeing that Nicole cared about him, Samuel couldn't help but be delighted.

"It's fine. He is a lot older than me. Also, he's your uncle, only when he is happy will you be happy, isn't it?"

"Mrs. Green, just relax. She'll be fine. There is no immune rejection and the fever has gone now. But it was pure luck. You must pay more attention to Miss Green's health in future and avoid catching a fever again."

Seeing Nicole's anxious look, the doctor told her about the situation hastily.

Hearing that Zoe was fine, Nicole's legs became so weak that she almost fell down. Just then, a pair of strong arms held her around her waist from behind.

"Doctor, any tips for us?"

Samuel asked.

"Recently, you should pay attention to her diet. She needs a low fat and low sodium diet. The child is a little overweight and that's not a good sign. Balanced nutrition with the combination of meat and vegetables is necessary. Her recovery after the operation is good. There is no need to worry. Just keep it that way. She is still young. She'll get stronger and better as she grows up. Don't worry about it." The doctor said.

"Thank you, doctor."

Samuel replied with a polite smile.

"No problem. The ordinary ward today will do. Be careful not to let her have a fever again."

"Alright."

After the doctor left, Zoe was pushed out.

Nicole still felt the fatigue. Samuel helped her sit down.

"Zoe is fine. Don't overthink it. I'll watch out for Zoe here today. You and Joseph can go home and have some rest. You can go to Uncle Jason's place if you want somewhere quiet."

Nicole really wanted to stay, but somehow she felt feeble.

"You're already so busy with your work. I should stay, not you."

She struggled to get up, but was stopped by him.

"Look at you. You should really have some rest. You've been worn out in the past two days. Don't worry, the company can still run without me. I'll take good care of Zoe. I can't let you fall ill when Zoe merely gets better. Listen to me, go home and rest."

Samuel fixed Nicole's collar for her and said to Joseph, "Are you up to a task to take good care of Mommy?"

"Of course I am!"

Joseph came to hold Nicole's hand.

Nicole watched as Zoe was pushed out and her look became softer. She touched Zoe on the forehead and felt relieved. Her temperature was normal again.

"Alright, I'll go back now. Call me if something happens. I don't know what's wrong lately. I'm always having a headache. Perhaps it's just because I haven't slept well working on the design."

Nicole rubbed her temples, feeling a little tired.

It bothered Samuel a little.

"Why not go and have a check-up? I'm worried about you."

"It's fine. I just didn't sleep well and I was tired from what happened these days."

Nicole yawned.

Zoe was pushed into the ordinary ward, and Samuel seemed proficient in this.

Nicole finally felt relieved.

Samuel asked Micah to take Nicole and Joseph home.

After returning to the Green's, Nicole asked Petty to take care of Joseph while she went to the bedroom and took a nap.

Technically speaking, with Zoe still in the hospital, she should have trouble falling asleep. But the truth was that she fell asleep the moment her head touched the pillow.

Joseph was a little concerned about her. But Nicole wasn't aware of it at all when he walked in the room and checked on her.

Petty saw how exhausted Nicole was and whispered, "Joseph, look how tired your mommy is. Shall we go out and leave her be?"

"Alright."

"Nicole!"

"Mommy!"

Samuel and Zoe were both shocked. Fortunately, Samuel quickly held Nicole.

Nicole was a little confused.

"What's the matter?"

"What's the matter? I want to ask you what's the matter! I have to find Gabrielle for you."

Samuel helped Nicole sit on the sofa and was about to call Gabrielle.

"It's too early. Gabrielle has just started work. She has a lot of things to handle. Stop calling her. I probably just slept too much."

Nicole hurriedly stopped Samuel.

"Sleep won't make you like this. Nicole, you can do anything you like. But today, you have to listen to me."

Zoe also held Nicole's hand worriedly, "Mommy, is there something wrong with you? Daddy said that you were scared by me yesterday. Sorry, are you feeling better? Can I get you some water?"

Zoe then wanted to pour a glass of water for Nicole, but Nicole stopped her.

"Baby, Mommy is fine. I just felt a little anoxic. Don't worry, I will be fine. Mommy hasn't brought you out to play yet, right?"

"Yes!"

Zoe hurriedly nodded.

Seeing that Nicole looked better, Samuel relaxed a little. But he was still worried.

"You're not going anywhere this morning. Just lie down and rest. I'll have Gabrielle come over at noon, OK?"

"I'm not that vulnerable."

Nicole felt that she was just a little uncomfortable. But Samuel was too nervous.

Nicole thought Samuel was plagued by imaginary fears.

However, Samuel insisted, "It's not that simple. I just hope that you will do well. Don't argue with me. It's not busy at noon, so it's fine for Gabrielle to come over. If you're afraid that she'll be too hasty, I'll go pick her up."

"That's not what I meant."

But what else could Nicole say?

"Alright, I'll ask Gabrielle to come over. Don't worry. Zoe, have you eaten yet? Petty is preparing food now. I'll bring the dishes."

Nicole was about to stand up, but she was stopped by Samuel.

"Lie down and rest. I'll do it. Zoe, take care of Mommy."

"Alright."

Zoe sat directly opposite Nicole and looked at her with a smile.

"Mommy, don't get sick, OK?"

"I won't get sick."

Zoe was full of energy. Nicole was gratified.

"Come here."

Chapter 788 You Deserve It

Seeing Samuel anxious about Nicole, Gabrielle felt happy for her from the bottom of her heart.

"Don't worry. I'll have her a complete check-up."

Taking out some medical devices, Gabrielle set about checking.

Even so, Nicole didn't wake up.

Standing by the side, Samuel was observing with worry.

He couldn't wait to ask when Gabrielle finished checking, "How is it? What ails her?"

Gabrielle shook her head with a smile, "She should be pregnant. It is shown that she is in the early stage of pregnancy. The progesterone looks great."

Samuel was dumbfounded.

"What did you say?"

Not to mention Samuel, even Gabrielle thought it a miracle.

She smiled at Samuel, "The analysis is here. She is pregnant. Although I don't know why she is in such a situation, in general, it's a bliss, right? She should have a good rest. Those symptoms are normal. They won't matter as long as she is a good eater and sleeper."

Like a child, Samuel spun around and grinned from ear to ear.

He was going to be a daddy!

Last time, it was too late for him to experience the feeling of being a father since the child was already four years old. And now he was given one more chance. He felt himself too lucky.

He struck Gabrielle when Blair knew her pregnancy. They were exactly the same.

She smiled, "Alright, I know you're happy. And pay attention to her nourishment. After all, she's somewhat weak."

Samuel turned to be worried.

"That's right. These days, Nicole was in poor health. Is it okay for her to get pregnant now?"

"What if not? Don't you want this child?"

Gabrielle put a question deliberately.

Samuel was hesitant and upset.

"Yes. I was eager for this child. After all, I have missed the growth of our kids last time. I don't even know what they looked like when they were first born. But if it threatens Nicole's health or even life, I would rather abandon him."

Samuel was extremely pained in heart.

He never knew that it was so painful for a man to part with his child.

He had been down for a long time since the loss of last child. And if this....

He simply didn't dare to imagine.

Gabrielle sighed, "You should believe in Nicole. Mothers are great. For the sake of you and your kids, she will manage to be fine. Besides, I've checked her. She's just a little weak. Perhaps it has something to do with the herb in the ancestral hall which Zama told you before her death."

It reminded Samuel.

Chapter 789 I Don't Want to Depend on You

"What's wrong?"

Samuel was startled.

"I have to participate in the preliminaries. It won't work if I keep sleeping all day. I can't be like this anymore. You know I have dreamed about taking part in the competition. But now I am pregnant," said unpleasantly Nicole, touching her belly.

The more she talked about it, the sadder she felt. Nicole finally leant on Samuel's shoulder and burst into tears.

Nicole found herself sensitive and emotional after she got pregnant. She didn't want to cry, but it was out of her control.

Samuel couldn't help but laugh at her.

"It doesn't matter. We've still gotten a month before the competition begins. You won't sleep for a month, right?"

"Then what if I do?"

Nicole's watery big eyes twinkled at him, which touched the heart of Samuel.

"Take it easy. With your talent, you don't even have to work hard. Besides, you have already finished the first draft of your design paper, haven't you? I will touch it up if you are not satisfied with it."

"No. I have to do it by myself. I don't want you to help me."

Nicole puckered her lips, looking much like Zoe. Samuel was fascinated by her.

He lowered his head and gave her a kiss.

"What are you doing?"

Nicole blushed and pushed him away.

Samuel liked to see her like this.

"Well, what about we give it up, if that's what you want. We can't let this unborn baby stand in its mommy's way, can we?"

When Samuel said this, Nicole was anxious.

"What do you mean by this? It is our baby! It is not easy to get the baby. How could you say that? You are awful!"

Then she saw Samuel smiling at her mischievously, so she understood that he was joking with her.

"Samuel, stop kidding!"

She tried to give him a punch.

Samuel held her hand and put it on his chest, saying softly, "Actually, you are happy with the pregnancy, aren't you? Between the design competition and the baby, you chose the latter in the first place. I know that you think it is a pity to give up the competition for the baby. That's why you want to hear my opinion. But Nicole, no matter what I say, you've already made a choice, haven't you?"

Nicole didn't answer him. Samuel knew her so well.

"Samuel, I'm pregnant now. Can't you just say something nice for my comfort?"

he changed his attitude at once, "Alright, it's my fault. But I don't think being pregnant will affect you. You can win the

"What's the matter?"

When he got in, Samuel saw that Nicole was anxious to get out of bed, so he asked.

"My parents are answering my call and their phones are turned off. I want to go over to check. I haven't visited them lately, nor even called. I'm such a bad daughter. They must feel sad."

Nicole blamed herself.

Samuel held her in his arms and whispered, "It is my fault. My problem. I'll go, and you rest at home."

"No, I'm going. I haven't seen them for weeks, and they're not answering my calls now. I feel uneasy. If I don't go by myself, I can't rest."

Hearing Nicole's words, Samuel did not insist any more.

"Alright, get ready. Eat something before leaving. Otherwise I won't let you go. You are not well."

Nicole nodded at Samuel's words.

"Alright, I'll have some. Will it be okay for the children to stay at home?"

"It's okay."

Nicole nodded.

Samuel brought some food.

After some preparations, Nicole sat down to eat. Although she felt sick from time to time, she tried her best to cover it up.

Seeing that she had eaten everything, Samuel said softly, "I'll go to the garage now. Wait for me at the door."

"Alright."

Nicole went downstairs with her stuff. When seeing Petty, Nicole gave a few instructions, then left with Samuel.

Samuel knew that Nicole was on edge, but he didn't rush. In a while, they arrived at the Bush's but found the door locked.

"Not home?"

Seeing this, Samuel asked.

"I will go in and check."

Nicole took out the key and went in. The house was as clean and orderly as usual. However, Nicole just felt that something was wrong.

Samuel came in after her and found nothing.

"It seems that they're out."

"Where's the servant?"

Only then did Nicole realize what she had neglected.

Because her parents were old and Nicole couldn't come back to take care of them frequently, she hired a servant for them, in addition to the housekeeper. Therefore, it was unreasonable that nobody was home.

Samuel frowned slightly.

"Do you have their phone numbers?"

"Yes, one moment."
