Chapter 911 Who Was Playing the Violin

"Just do as I say, and don't waste my time."

Harley snorted coldly and left.

Nicole felt that people here were all behaving like Elvis. They treated people harshly with bad attitude.

She checked on the rooms, they were well equipped with all sorts of modern household facilities, and all required ID identification.

Audrey, on the other hand, didn't care much about these things. She quickly found the right pills from the medical kit and gave them to Nicole.

"Just take them, and you will feel better soon."

Nicole took a close look on the pills. It was indeed for her conditions. So, she took them and washed them down with some water.

Then Audrey helped her to get on bed and said, "Have some rest before Elvis come back with other crazy ideas. Take the chance to get better soon."

Nicole nodded.

Audrey was worried and her face turned a little red, so Nicole suddenly asked, "Mom, Do you also feel unwell in the new environment?"

"I'm used to it. For years, I was transferred among different countries. Sometimes, I went to several countries in a year, so I was well trained in adapting to new environments. Gradually, my physical condition was getting better. But you are with child now, and even followed me to such a place. I am so sorry."

"That's alright. I've never seen my father before. I also want to see him this time, it's like a dream come true to me. I only hope that Elvis wasn't lying to us."

As she spoke, Nicole felt extremely tired.

Audrey helped her to lie down. Soon, she fell asleep.

She knew that she must stay alert in this place, but she was just too tired.

After Nicole fell asleep, Audrey stood up.

She stood by the window and was pondering over something while staring at the ocean.

Nicole slept well. No one interrupted her or came to interrogate her, it was as if they were forgotten here.

She woke up and was so hungry.

Seeing Audrey standing in front of the French window and staring at the sea, Nicole knew that she must be thinking about her father.

Nicole got up and Audrey was pulled back to the reality.

She quickly turned back.

"You wake up, are you hungry?"

"Do we have food here?"

Nicole was a little surprised.

Elvis wouldn't be so kind.

She was sure of that.

Audrey smiled and said, "I just take a look outside, there is a kitchen with all kinds of food inside. I guess they want us to cook by ourselves. I made some porridge for you, it should be done by now. After you get better, I'll cook something else."

Main hall?

Generally speaking, no one else could live in the main hall other than the master.

The owner of this place was Elvis. Could it be him?

Recalling what Elvis had done, Nicole thought it was beyond the bounds of possibility.

The more puzzled she was, the more anxiously she wanted to leave. Just as they were about to reach the main hall's entrance, someone suddenly stopped them.

"Ms. Nicole, Ms. Audrey, you seem to have gone to the wrong place. I told you that no one was allowed to come here."

Harley's sudden appearance did not surprise Nicole.

A note went wrong at the violin.

Nicole suddenly shouted.

"It should be a high note. You played it wrong."

As soon as she finished, the music stopped abruptly.

"Who is outside?"

Elvis' voice suddenly came, carrying a trace of anger.

Harley trembled and hurriedly said, "It's Ms. Nicole."

"Nicole?"

"It's me. I just want to know who played this violin. It's not bad, but it seems that he hasn't received any special training. There are some mistakes about fingering."

Elvis' face darkened as he heard it.

"Scram! Stop talking, or I will...."

"Kill me? That's right. People like you will do anything. However, even if you kill me, I still want to say that you played in rhythm, but your fingering was wrong."

"Let her come in."

Just as Nicole finished speaking, a pure voice sounded.

This was not Elvis' voice, but a girl's.

Nicole was immediately stunned.

Was there really a girl?

Was her previous guess correct?

Elvis kept a woman as his lover, and he loved this woman?

Nicole frowned slightly.

She heard Elvis say in a lower voice, "Don't have to listen to her nonsense. You played very well."

"Elvis, I know that you are flattering me, but I have a clear understanding of my weakness. She is right. No one teaches me music and I learn everything by myself since my childhood. I have always longed for a teacher, but.... Since I have an opportunity now, can you let us exchange our views?"

The girl's voice was especially gentle and comfortable, just like her music, pure and clean.

A lifetime?

Nicole was surprised.

"You and Elvis knew each other a long time ago?"

"Yes, I've known him for more than twenty years. If I hadn't met him, perhaps I would have died a long time ago. Over these years, he has been nice to me as we first met. He even refuses to get married or have children because of me. I feel guilty for him."

When the woman said this, she was sad. The entire room seemed to be shrouded in endless sadness.

Nicole paused for a moment and asked, "Did his parents agree with him?"

"His parents? Isn't Elvis an abandoned child just like me? Because of my illness, I was abandoned by my parents. I don't even know who my parents are. I met him in an orphanage."

"He went to the orphanage to help some orphans. I happened to meet him. At that time, I was bullied and was on the verge of death. He saved me. If it weren't for his appearance, I might have died."

As the woman spoke, she took out something under the pillow and handed it to Nicole.

She smiled in joy.

"Look, he gave it to me. At that time, I didn't even know I could play such good music. He told me that as long as I liked it, I could play the best music in the world. I believed him. I kept training this music score. Now, I can finally stop. I know that I have many shortcomings. Can you give me some directions? After all these years, you are the first outsider to set foot here. I think you and Elvis are friends, right? No, Elvis is old enough to be your father. What is your relationship? "

When the woman finished speaking, she clutched the quilt tightly. Nicole could tell that she was very nervous and cared about this.

This woman loved Elvis.

After confirming it, Nicole hurriedly said, "We are relatives."

"Relatives?"

The woman looked up in surprise.

"Yes, he is my husband's second uncle. I should call him uncle, right?"

Nicole saw the woman's purely baby-like eyes, and she didn't have the heart to tell the truth.

"So that's how it is. Did Elvis find his relatives? He didn't tell me that. I thought...."

"Do you think I'm his girlfriend?"

Hearing it, the woman blushed embarrassedly.

"I am shameless, right? I can't bear children for him. I can't even do what a woman should do. Every time he sees me, he has to suppress his desire. I know that a woman like me should never live in the world, let alone yearn for love. But I just can't control myself. I know I'm not worthy of him, and I shouldn't waste his time. But if I don't have him in my life, I think I'll go crazy."

Nicole was thrown into shock again.

"What do you mean you can't do what other women do?"

Hanging in shame, the woman then said with a bitter smile, "I can't sleep with a man."

"What?"

"It's true. Once I have sex with a man, that man will die miserably. Blood will ooze from his eyes, nose and mouth. That's why they call me a monster. Perhaps I really am."

The woman turned her face away, the tears at the corner of her eyes being exceptionally dazzling.

Nicole was completely surprised.

Chapter 914 What If He Was My Son

Nicole knew what Audrey thought, but she also knew that not everything could be what she wanted.

She sat at the dining table and ate.

"Mom, we'll find a way to get in touch with them."

"Do you think Elvis will agree with your terms? If he allows you to make an outside call, this place will definitely be exposed. I don't think he will give you permission."

Audrey also sat down and ate.

Audrey thought Nicole was right. Whether the food was poisonous or not, they had to eat. Furthermore, if Elvis really wanted to do something to them, it was impossible for them to prevent it every time.

Seeing that Audrey had begun to eat, Nicole whispered, "Even if he doesn't agree, I can find some other way."

"You mean the woman in the main hall?"

"Yes, her name is Una. Elvis loves her very much."

"He loves her? Does he?"

Audrey thought it was ridiculous.

"Elvis is a heartless man. You can tell from he treats Samuel and Petty. He even doesn't like his own children, so I don't believe he will truly love a woman. Don't be ridiculous."

"Mom, sometimes men who don't like children can have a beloved woman. Elvis' eyes told me. He looked at Una as if he could see her only love. Moreover, Una has a congenital genetic defect. Does this remind you of anything?"

Audrey was a little stunned.

"Congenital memory defect? You mean Gerry?"

"Yes, Gerry No. 1. Elvis said that Samuel and his brothers were IVF babies. In order to ensure the survival rate, they did two more times and three babies survived. In fact, only Samuel and Vincent were alive today. As Gerry No. 2 was created by gene editing, it was very likely that he deliberately caused Gerry No. 1's defect. The fact that Gerry No. 1 is still alive may have something to do with Una. "

Hearing that, Audrey frowned slightly.

"Are you saying that Elvis kept Gerry No. 1 for research? For Una's defect?"

"Otherwise, is there any other explanation? If it weren't for Una, perhaps none of this would have happened. However, we still don't know when Elvis met Una."

"I can ask Una about this later. If it coincides with the time when Elvis suddenly became interested in the genetic data of Master Green, then everything makes sense."

Nicole nodded.

"Yes, so we don't need to rush into anything. I know that Samuel might be looking for us, but for now we could only save us by ourselves."

"Lord Elvis, what's the matter..."

When his subordinates saw Elvis looking at Nicole, they thought that Elvis liked Nicole. And they hurriedly asked but only received Elvis' furious glare.

"I'm not interested in her. I just..."

Elvis did not continue to say but his lips curled.

Nicole felt like that someone was looking at her. She suddenly opened her eyes and looked directly at the camera.

At the same time, Elvis was also staring at her face through the screen.

Nicole smiled faintly. She turned around and continued to sleep.

Elvis seemed irritated by that.

She was too arrogant.

Did she really thought I wouldn't hurt her?

See what she was doing!

Was she really a hostage?

She was more likely to be a tourist!

"Ask Nicole to clean up the warehouse."

Elvis suddenly said.

He didn't want to put Nicole at ease.

"Yes."

The subordinates immediately arranged for her.

Nicole was sleeping soundly when she was called.

"Lord Elvis ordered you to clean the warehouse. Here are some tools."

Harley threw a broom and other tools in front of Nicole.

Audrey was instantly enraged.

"Are you kidding me? My daughter is pregnant, and you ask her to do cleaning? If you insist, then let me do it."

"Mom, they asked me not you. Don't worry. I'll go. Besides, I'm pregnant for a short time, so it's fine."

Nicole didn't really care.

She took the broom and rag and followed Harley to the warehouse, notwithstanding Audrey's advice to the contrary.

There were only some clothes in the warehouse.

Harley brought Nicole over there and left.

Nicole found the warehouse was quite large but was in a mess.

As she was free all the time, she was happy to do something. She then packed up.

There were many cloths and some old clothes. She didn't know how to deal with them. Throw away?

Nicole gathered the clothes together and suddenly saw one that had blood on it.

The coat looked old as the blood stains on it had already darkened. She wouldn't have found it if she looked at it carelessly.

Nicole frowned slightly. She sniffed the coat and couldn't smell the blood.

"What do you want?"

Lillian was so frightened that she retreated in a hurry. But her hasty movement slammed herself on the wall and she howled in pain.

Nicole felt so sorry, saying, "I just wanted to see you clearly. There's no signal here, but the torch of my cell phone still can work. "

Hearing that, Lillian whispered, "Please, don't. I'm afraid I would scare you."

"Don't worry about that. You said you were Petty's mother. I have to confirm it, right? Otherwise, how could I tell you how Petty is going?"

Lillian said nothing when hearing Nicole's words.

Nicole took out her phone quickly and turned on the torch of it. However, she almost let out a scream when seeing Lillian clearly.

Lillian no longer looked like a normal person.

She had gone way too skinny because of malnutrition. Most importantly, her face was dented.

"How come your face..."

"Elvis said that I looked too seductive, so he spoiled my appearance for the sake of everyone."

Lillian was saying it with a faint smile, but her smile seemed scary to Nicole.

Lillian's face was ruined by sulfuric acid. Except for the facial features like her nose, eyes and mouth, almost each inch of her face looked terrible.

Nicole felt so sorry for her.

"I heard from Petty that she would make a video call to you every once in a while. She hasn't known what happened to your face, has she?"

"It's been a long time since I got a video call from Betty. And we haven't been in touch for long. Elvis is irritable and he has lost his temper frequently these days. What he could do was vent his anger on me and forbid me to meet Petty. I used to think Petty might have been killed by him. No one would actually hurt their own children, but he would. He doesn't like Petty, who was given birth by me. He abandoned Betty two days after her birth. Later, I finally got to know where she was, and I thought he would bring her back as how he took Una and me away from the orphanage like a prince long before, but I was wrong. He was as vicious as a demon, not to mention a prince. Maybe he would only be nice to Una."

Lillian was stunned.

She couldn't see Nicole's face clearly, but she did know something about Xander's dead body.

"Ms. Lillian?"

Nicole couldn't help but ask since she didn't hear her response.

Lillian sighed, "I know something about Xander's dead body, but I have no idea where it is. I only know that Elvis collected the ice all over the world to freeze Xander's dead body. It hasn't been dissected and it's not used in any experiment. Elvis has just frozen it, and he didn't allow anyone to move it. As for where it's placed, I know nothing about it. But I'm sure he wouldn't place it on this small island which is a fancy world for him and Una. As I told you earlier, he wouldn't let anyone set a foot on this island if not necessary. There's a research center here, which is established to cure Una. I don't know what Elvis has been doing outside these years, but he is quite rich. Those researchers in that center were either caught here or hired through a large sum of money by Elvis."

"They have to observe Una's physical condition every day and then make a good diet for her. No trash can be seen here, because the place is thoroughly tidied up and even disinfected several times a day, as you have seen. Because Elvis thought that would be good for Una's health. I mean, a dead body wouldn't be placed in a place like here."

Nicole was shocked.

Why Elvis used Xander's dead body as a threat to bring her and Audrey here was to restrict them. If the dead body wasn't here, why would Elvis bring them to this place?

Besides, his attitude towards them was different, not that harsh she they had imagined.

Nicole felt that there must be something she didn't know.

Lillian thought Nicole must be depressed when finding her silent again, so she started to comfort her. "Don't be too sad. Even if your father's dead body isn't here, it might be placed in another place that I know."

"Where is it?"

"In a private burial plot outside the country."

Lillian's words startled Nicole.

"In a private burial plot?"

"Yeah. Elvis bought it. He said that he'd like to be buried there with Una after they died. He also mentioned that he was driven out of the Green's, so he wouldn't be buried alongside the Greens and he didn't care about it. He bought a burial plot himself. I think there would be the only place where he placed your father's dead body."

Nicole quietly kept what Lillian said in mind. However, she did not understand why Xander's dead body would be placed in a private burial plot. And why did Elvis hide it?

Nicole couldn't figure it out, no matter how hard she tried.

It was so freezing here that she somewhat shivered.

Lillian felt sorry to say, "I've got used to the temperature here. Besides, Elvis wouldn't give me clothes to survive cold. I'm afraid that I couldn't help you. But you can get up and do some exercise, then you won't feel that chill. We're under the sea where it's several times colder than the places on land. You look delicate. I guess you're supposed to come from a rich family. It must be the first time that you've gone through such a hard time, right?"

"I'm fine. That's not that hard for me. But I'm pregnant, I'm afraid the cold might do harm to the baby in my belly."

Nicole stood up and began to do some exercise as Lillian said.

Chapter 918 Are You Planning Anything

After Nicole was caught by Audrey, she walked towards the side hall. Then she happened to see a helicopter landing nearby.

"Is someone coming?"

"It should be the doctor Elvis found for Una."

Audrey's words surprised Nicole.

"There's no doctor on the island?"

"There is a doctor. But he was probably killed since he had offended Elvis. Now we can only find a doctor from the outside world."

Hearing what Audrey said, Nicole frowned slightly.

"I know what you're thinking, but it's too risky. This person is trusted by Elvis. Even if he were not, it was still uncertain whether he would transmit information for us. So I won't let you go!"

Audrey's words instantly made Nicole depressed.

"Mom, we have to try. This is our only chance. If we don't try, we might have no time. And I heard from Lillian that Dad's body isn't here. What does Elvis want by bringing us here? I don't know even now."

Audrey was stunned.

"Are you telling the truth?"

"There is no reason for Lillian to lie to me, right? She said that this is Elvis and Una's paradise, a corpse must not be here just now. And she said my father's body was not hurt, so I just don't understand why he wants us here? He may be playing tricks by saying my father's body is here. Perhaps he wants to kidnap us to threaten Samuel and get the data. He already got your data and now he needs Samuel's for comparison. We are hostages."

Nicole analyzed the situation.

Audrey frowned.

"No, if Lillian was telling the truth, why did Elvis bring us here? He could have sent us somewhere else, but why did he choose here? And why does he have to exchange the data here?"

"I don't know."

Nicole was also puzzled.

"No matter what, let's go back first."

The weather outside was getting colder. Afraid that Nicole would get a cold, Audrey hurriedly pulled her back while she began to think fast.

It was certain that Elvis needed these two pieces of data, but was Lillian lying or Elvis?

If Xander's corpse wasn't here, then why did Elvis bring her and Nicole here?

Audrey could not understand.

Nicole was a little tired from cleaning in the afternoon. In addition, she got a cold in the basement. So she fell asleep after drinking the ginger soup Audrey cooked for her.

Audrey thought it was strange. Looking at the crowd outside, she had lots of thoughts in her mind.

"Misled? You mean Lillian didn't leave this island?"

"Very likely."

Nicole's eyes suddenly narrowed.

"If she was at a place that we don't know, Mom, is it possible that she hid my father's corpse? Perhaps Lillian hid something from me. It's very likely that my father isn't on this island, but it may also be somewhere nearby that only Lillian knows. That is why Elvis brought us here instead of elsewhere."

As Nicole analyzed, Audrey listened carefully.

She whispered, "If you are correct, your father's body may be nearby, right?"

"Mom, what do you want to do?"

Nicole saw that Audrey's eyes were somewhat crazy and infatuated, so she asked worriedly.

Audrey suddenly shook her head with a smile and said, "The porridge is cold. Hurry up and eat it. Even if you're not hungry, you still need to think of the baby. You have to eat something."

"Mom."

"Alright, eat something first. No matter what, you have to fill your stomach first, right?"

Audrey did not say anything else, but her stubborn attitude was a handful to Nicole.

She took the millet porridge and ate it.

She felt warm after that.

The outside was still noisy because of Una's illness. The hall was filled with people. In addition, they had to look for Lillian, so no one would care about them.

Nicole leaned against the bed and whispered, "Actually, Una has lived a happy life. She is lucky to meet a man who loves her. He even stands against the whole world for her."

"This kind of luck is not a good thing. They have done so many bad things and they may not have a next life."

Audrey's words surprised Nicole. She smiled and said, "Mom, do you still believe in the next life?"

"Yes, if this life is not easy, we can expect to get what we want in the next life."

Audrey sat down beside Nicole and smiled.

Nicole held her hand and whispered, "Mom, not everything can be perfect. Even if we live another life, there will still be many regrets. This is the life. Take it easy. I know you miss my father, but we need to consider it carefully, right?"

"I'm fine. Do you want to take a rest?"

Audrey wanted to help Nicole lie down.

Nicole shook her head and said, "I've slept enough. I don't need to rest anymore. Let's watch what will happen and see if Elvis can find Lillian. I'm curious that why Lillian lied to me. If she tells me where my father is and we reach an alliance, we are more likely to escape from here."

"But what if she doesn't want to escape at all?"

Hearing Audrey's words, Nicole was slightly stunned.

"What do you mean? Didn't she think of escaping? Didn't she want to look for Petty? I can see that she really cares about Petty."

Chapter 920 I'm Going to Crush Your Bones into Ashes

Just as Nicole was struggling, Audrey woke up.

"What's going on outside?"

"I'm not sure. Mom, stay here. I'll go out and take a look."

Nicole did not want Audrey to be too tired.

Originally, Audrey wanted to go out herself. Considering her poor health condition, however, she had no choice but to nod.

Nicole stood up and left at the sight of Audrey's nod.

Once Nicole was out, Audrey spat out a mouthful of blood.

Her stomach was burning with pain.

She struggled to get up, thinking that there should be a clue in the basement. How could she not find it?

Audrey put on her shoes.

Everyone outside rushed to the main hall. Audrey tottered out of the side hall alone and went to the basement again.

The basement was locked.

Audrey frowned.

There was nothing in the basement. Why would it be locked again?

Could it be that Lillian was caught back?

But if Lillian was caught back, why would everyone outside go to the main hall?

Audrey felt that there was something hidden in this basement.

She looked around to make sure that no one was there before taking out her tools to open the basement door.

She learned this skill abroad from a gangster. She had not expected that she would use it here.

Audrey entered the basement again. With the experience before, she put on more clothes before walking down.

Audrey followed the previous route cautiously and tried to find some clues, but she failed.

She walked all the way to the end, but she found nothing.

Impossible!

Audrey firmly believed that there should be some clues. How could she find nothing?

She continued to grope and suddenly touched something cold and stiff.

Audrey gently twisted it and the wall in front of her opened all of a sudden.

A secret door!

Audrey became excited at once.

After she walked in, the wall closed automatically.
