

Escape Wife 941

Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 941 Do You Think I'm Too Ruthless

The cold voice made Henk shiver involuntarily. When he saw who the person in front of him was, he was scared out of his wits.

"Mr. Bradford?"

"It seems that you have a problem with my daughter."

Everyone knew that Steven loved his daughter the most. How dare Henk pick on her on her birthday party! It was an embarrassment for Steven, who gave a cold look toward Henk.

Only then did Henk realize who the little girl was, but it was too late.

"Sorry, Mr. Bradford, I didn't know she is your daughter. I..."

"Who brings along this man? Throw him out! Don't let me see him again ever!"

Steven did not listen to Henk and directly kicked him out. Meanwhile, he also squatted down and picked up Yasmeen.

"Are you hurt?"

"My ears hurt."

Yasmeen pouted, aggrieved.

Steven got angry immediately.

"What does this man do? I don't want to see him show up in his industry again."

This undoubtedly shut Henk out completely.

Henk regretted what he did and wanted to beg for mercy but he was thrown out with his mouth covered by someone.

Ashley stood aside and watched. She talked to Nicole with a smile, "Nobody would get in my way now."

Nicole looked at Ashley and said somewhat incredulously, "How could you make use of your daughter?"

"What's the big deal? Yasmeen could protect herself. There won't be any problems."

Ashley didn't seem to care at all.

Nicole felt that something was wrong, but she just couldn't tell.

"But wouldn't it be better for you to directly tell Mr. Bradford?"

"I have nothing to say to him."

Ashley sounded cold, but Nicole could tell she was mad at Mr. Bradford.

Nicole thought to herself, "This couple seemed to be in a fight with each other."

Nicole didn't feel like being part of the relationship problem between them, so she could only give a perfunctory smile and said, "Thank you. If there is something I can be of help in the future, I will definitely be there for you."

"Mm, looks like you want to start a film company."

"I am planning on it."

Nicole did not hide her thoughts from Ashley.

"I'd like to buy in as a partner."

Ashley handed a bank card to Nicole as she was talking.

"Mm... I might not be able to start this company eventually."

Chapter 942 What if I Give You the Opportunity to be Powerful?

Nicole had no feelings about this kind of danger because of all of her experiences with Samuel.

"It's not a big deal, right?"

She looked at Samuel and yawned wearily.

Normally, Nicole would have been lying on the bed to rest at this time, but now, she had to stay up late with him. Samuel was a little worried about her.

"It's nothing. I can get it under control. If you're sleepy, you can take a nap. I'll wake you up later."

"Alright."

Nicole just ignored whoever around them and then fell asleep.

Samuel took off his coat and draped it over Nicole's shoulders so that she wouldn't catch a cold.

Samuel's face then darkened and put on a cold look.

He quickly stepped on the accelerator and directly rushed towards the car in front of him.

Perhaps they didn't expect Samuel to dash forward directly even if he was together with Nicole. They slightly stunned for a moment. When they realized that Samuel still rushed towards them without hesitation, they were finally scared and started to back the car at the fastest speed possible.

Samuel directly dashed out when they panicked.

Samuel kept driving fast and continued to speed up instead of slowing down even if they dashed out.

The cars behind continued to follow them for a while. However, those cars just disappeared when Samuel drove on the main road after passing through two intersections.

Samuel contemplated for a while and kept the intersection in mind. He then drove the car to the hotel.

They arrived at the entrance of the hotel and Nicole still slept soundly.

A gentle smile spread over Samuel's cold face.

He gently got out of the car, held Nicole in his arms, and went straight to the guest room.

Nicole slept comfortably in his arms and she even smacked her lips as if she dreamed of something delicious.

Samuel's eyes grew tender.

He tucked Nicole in and started to think about what Brian said about Booth's legs. He couldn't help but frown when he thought that what happened to Olivia and Booth would continue to bother Nicole tomorrow. He then stood up and went to Booth's room.

The care worker wanted to say something when he saw Samuel, but Samuel gestured for him to keep quiet.

Samuel saw Booth carefully translating the documents without even noticing someone else was here.

"I don't know. I'll have Ernesto to investigate it."

Samuel restrained the emotions in his eyes and answered in a low voice.

Nicole didn't have to know. Anyway, Samuel would deal with all these matters, so she didn't ask anymore.

"I'm sleepy. Let's go to bed."

"OK."

Samuel patted Nicole on the shoulder and watched her fall asleep before closing his eyes.

The next day, when the sun rose, Nicole was still asleep. Samuel got up.

He gently went to the cubicle outside and called Ernesto.

"Check from where the car that blocked me yesterday was? I remember the license plate number, but it would be fake. Check it carefully."

"Yes, Mr. Green."

After hanging up, Samuel went to the balcony and lit a cigarette.

Who did it?

Who was behind Brian?

Why was he targeted at the Kents?

Why would he attack me?

A series of questions flashed in Samuel's mind, but he had no correct answer.

When Nicole woke up, she saw Samuel smoking on the balcony.

It had been a long time since he smoked, and he would probably be in a bad mood.

Nicole wanted to comfort her, but the phone in her pocket rang.

She looked down at the phone and saw that it was from Ashley.

Nicole was a little surprised.

'Doesn't Ashley perform operations? Even if I visit Booth who will have an operation on his legs, I'll go in the evening. Why is she calling me early in the morning?'

Nicole was full of doubts, but she still answered the phone.

"Ashley?"

Nicole and Ashley were congenial, so they naturally became good friends.

"Do you have time? Have breakfast together?"

Ashley was straightforward.

Nicole was slightly stunned. She glanced at Samuel outside and said hesitantly, "Don't you stay with your husband and daughter?"

"He took away my daughter. I'll go to the hospital later. Whatever you want. If you don't have time, forget it."

As she spoke, Ashley was about to hang up the phone.

Nicole hurriedly asked, "Where should we eat?"

"We can eat below your house and opposite the hotel."

"OK, see you."

Although Nicole did not know what Ashley invited her, this was the first time Ashley asked her out. She wanted to go.

However, Nicole felt a little sorry for Samuel.

When Samuel saw that Nicole had woken up, he extinguished the cigarette and stopped

"Good morning, honey."

"Morning."

Nicole's delicate appearance made Samuel's heart

Samuel smiled faintly.

Henk seemed to be very afraid of the man Melissa mentioned. Although he was still very angry, he lowered his volume under Melissa's threat.

Nicole was even more curious about that person.

Seeing that Henk's anger had subsided, Melissa whispered, "Hurry up and leave here. I'll ask him to help you. Even if Mr. Bradford cuts off your financial path, he'll give you another. Don't worry."

"OK, thank you."

Henk came aggressively, but he left dejectedly.

Nicole frowned tightly.

Melissa yawned and went back to the room.

Ashley pulled Nicole away from the courtyard quietly.

After coming out, Nicole heaved a sigh of relief and asked, "Do you know who that 'he' is?"

"I know, the one who sold the house to me."

Ashley took out a few papers from her pocket and said, "This is the information about the man inside. He should be Melissa's boyfriend now. I saw you targeting Henk at the banquet last night, so I investigated him. But I found something quite interesting. So, I took this opportunity before I go to work and brought you here to take a look."

Nicole took the papers from Ashley's hand and turned unhappy.

"Thank you for this."

"You're welcome. Handle your troubles as soon as possible so that you can start the television company to earn money."

Ashley smiled, then patted Nicole's shoulder and whispered, "Do you need me to send you back?"

"No, thank you. I'll walk by myself."

Nicole didn't want to go back so quickly, so, she parted ways with Ashley here.

Her mind was in complete disarray now.

Melissa had a boyfriend who seemed to be quite influential, but why didn't she tell the Bushes?

Why did she still act like she's poor?

Nicole sat down on a bench and took the paper out of her arms.

That man was Major. It was said that he was the boss of a large company and did a lot of overseas business. But few people knew what he was doing overseas. He was almost thirty and was not married. He was Melissa's boyfriend then.

However, Ashley marked one on the back.

"Major seemed to be someone Elvis had nurtured from the orphanage."

Nicole's eyes suddenly narrowed.

Melissa had been in the orphanage since she was young, probably Major was someone who worked for Elvis. But Nicole was confused. Why was Major not affected since Elvis was captured and had no power?

'And what did he want?'

'The person behind Brian was him?'

'He was also the one who destroyed the Kents?'

Nicole linked the two matters together, but she couldn't find any clue.

She stayed outside for a long time until Samuel called her, then Nicole pulled herself together.

Nicole was shocked. She saw it was Samuel and let out a sigh of relief.

"Where are you?"

It was a little noisy over the phone.

Nicole whispered, "I'm back at the hotel. I just came out of Booth's place."

Then Nicole thought for a moment and said, "I happen to have something that need your help with."

"Go on."

"Get a helicopter to bring Olivia back. I hope she can be there for Booth's operation tonight."

Just as Nicole finished speaking, she was worried that Samuel would find it troublesome. She heard Samuel say, "By the way, I also need to ask you something. Steven said that Dr. Ashley gave you a business card and asked you to take Olivia to Bahman, the arranger, right?"

"The arranger? I didn't notice it. I thought it was the director."

Nicole felt she was so careless.

Samuel smiled and said, "He is like the god of arranger. Those who he composes music for all became popular. So I also want Olivia to come over. Since you have already told her, I will go bring her over right away."

"Alright."

Nicole was very pleased.

If Olivia could really be a singer, it would be easier for her to enter the entertainment industry than being a background extra. Moreover, Olivia indeed got a quite beautiful voice.

Nicole told Olivia this good news via WeChat.

Olivia was very happy for sure.

After all, she got nothing to do. Nicole went directly to the airport to wait for Olivia.

Less than an hour later, Olivia arrived at City B and she hugged Nicole tightly upon seeing her.

"You really helped me a lot! If I could make it, everything would turn out fine. No! I will definitely make it!"

Seeing the strength in Olivia's eyes, Nicole felt both sad yet happy for her.

"Let's go see Booth first. Tell him that you're here so he'll feel much more at ease. When his surgery is done, we'll visit Bahman tomorrow."

"Alright."

Nicole and Olivia drove back to the hotel.

Booth was happy to see Olivia and was more than excited to know that Olivia had the potential to become a singer.

Time passed in their laughter.

Seeing Ashley, Nicole hurriedly stood up.

"Here you are. Take a look at his leg. Is it possible for him to recover with a surgery?"

Ashley was pulled to Booth's side by Nicole.

Booth was a little shy seeing the doctor was a lady, but in order to stand again, he could only endure the embarrassment.

Ashley didn't care about gender as a doctor. After examining Booth, she pondered for a moment and said, "I can do the surgery and he can again stand, but it won't be perfect."

"What do you mean by that?"

Olivia was very worried.

Nicole's body stiffened slightly. Samuel acutely sensed it though it disappeared in a flash.

"What's the matter?"

"Nothing."

Nicole smiled faintly and then let go of Samuel with her expression remaining the same.

Although Samuel was puzzled, he did not pursue it.

"Are you hungry? Let's go out and eat something."

Samuel wanted to hug Nicole, but she dodged.

"I'm not hungry, but a little sleepy. I want to sleep."

After saying that, she left Samuel and walked to the room.

Samuel was bewildered.

"What's the matter?"

"I'm just sleepy."

Nicole did not say anything else. It was not because she did not believe in Samuel, but because the scent of the perfume from him made her feel uncomfortable.

Samuel observed that Nicole was in a bad mood. He asked her but didn't get anything, so he followed Nicole into the room and saw Nicole had already taken off her clothes and lied down with her back to him.

He knitted his brows slightly and went to the bathroom without saying anything.

When taking a shower, he saw a bright lipstick mark on the collar of his shirt, and he frowned immediately.

It occurred to him that Nicole's behavior might have something to do with the mark.

Could it be because of this?

Samuel groped in his memory and thought it might be done by the woman in the club.

A trace of coldness flashed through his eyes.

He walked out and called the manager of the club. Back in the bedroom, Nicole still remained the same posture

"Get me the contact information and address of the woman who recently sold drinks in Room 3087. She should compensate me because she dirtied my shirt, plus this made my wife uncomfortable. I will take legal approaches for all my loss."

As Samuel hung up the phone, he saw her slightly move under the quilt.

The shower gel diluted the fragrance of perfume, bathing him in freshness.

Nicole subconsciously curled up, but Samuel immediately leaned to her.

"Why didn't you tell me you were uncomfortable? I didn't know the mark got on my shirt. It was by a salesgirl who wanted to kiss me, but I dodged. Don't think too much about it."

He said with the gentlest voice in the world.

"Alright."

She replied sullenly, not in the mood to talk to him.

A passage she saw not long ago jumped into her mind. It is said that men are the most likely to cheat on women when they are pregnant. Did it mean that Samuel would cheat on her as well?

These days Nicole had repeatedly refused intimacy with him. Thinking of this, she became disturbed.

Chapter 947 I'd Advise You Not to Ask for Insult

"What's the matter?"

Olivia asked when she saw Nicole worried look.

"Nothing, let's go eat first."

Nicole still kept this matter a secret.

She thought to herself, "As for the money, I'll figure it out later. I don't know how much money Ashley has in her bank card. But first, I'll check if Olivia and Bahman would work out."

Seeing that Nicole would not say anything, Olivia asked no further questions.

The two of them grabbed some food at restaurant downstairs, and then went to Bahman's home according to the address Ashley had given them.

Unfortunately, the two of them knocked at the door for a long time, but there was no answer. Nicole thought that he was not at home, so she called him up. However, a phone rang in the room, then was rudely shut off.

Olivia and Nicole looked at each other and clearly felt that he didn't want to see them.

Nicole still didn't want to give up, but she didn't expect Olivia to hold her hand, shook her head and say, "Forget it, maybe this is how it's meant to be."

"But we're already here. We should try again no matter what."

Nicole didn't want to give up like this.

This was a great chance for Olivia. Besides, she had so many things to deal with that she needed money badly.

However, Olivia shook her head and said, "If he really doesn't want to see us, he'll hate us even more if we keep pestering him like this. Let's put the matter aside for the time being."

"Then what do you do now?"

Nicole felt it was a pity to miss the opportunity.

Olivia shrugged her shoulders and said with a smile, "It doesn't matter. How about I become a bar singer? Or a 'bridge' singer? I don't believe I really don't stand a chance."

Nicole really admired Olivia when she saw her optimism.

"Alright, if you want to sing in the street, I can play for you."

"Oh, that's right. I almost forget. You play the violin very well. And you are Seuss' disciple?"

Olivia's words reminded Nicole of Melissa.

Nicole thought, "If Melissa knew that I was Seuss' disciple, she would probably think that it was me who prevented her from becoming the last disciple of Seuss."

But there was something really weird about this.

Since Seuss had asked Mr. Bush to bring Melissa to meet him, that meant that he would consider taking her as his disciple, but why did he go back on his word?

Seuss was not that unprincipled.

Nicole did not understand, but she knew that she could not ask now, because she knew that Seuss had a concert about to be held recently.

Nicole pushed the matter aside for the time being. Then she smiled and said, "With a great violinist like me accompanying you, I don't believe that your talent will be buried."

"Of course. Let's go, the violinist of the future."

Chapter 948 I Want to Divorce You

It was Samuel!

Even if Nicole suspected him, she didn't expect to see Samuel bringing a woman to a bar so soon. Her heart ached like it was torn apart.

Nicole quietly left the stage and quickly went to the bathroom.

She slapped her face with water. The water was chill and she was heartbroken.

Looking at herself in the mirror, Nicole chuckled. But her tears oozed out from her eyes.

Nicole once considered her marriage and relationship indestructible. However, they were actually so fragile during her pregnancy.

It was as if she was defeated overnight. But also it was as if she had grown up overnight.

Nicole didn't know how long she had stayed in the bathroom. She didn't become sober until Olivia called her.

It really was like a dream. As she woke up, it was time for her to face the reality.

Nicole took a deep breath, patted her face, and answered Olivia's call.

"Hello?"

"Where have you been? Why did you leave me on the stage? You don't even know how nervous I was just now. Nicole, where are you?"

Olivia complained in a sweet voice, which could tell that she was in a good mood.

Maybe it was because Olivia's performance got a big round of applause.

Nicole was frustrated. But she didn't want to influence Olivia. She forced herself to smile and said, "I was uncomfortable. I'm in the bathroom. Could you come over and help me to the hospital?"

She knew that Olivia devoted to singing just now, so she might not see Samuel. But if she stayed, she would encounter him.

Olivia was a person with a bad temper. Nicole didn't know what Olivia could do if she knew that Samuel was with a woman. So she decided to leave with Olivia.

She was not a young girl anymore.

She could handle her own things.

When Olivia heard that Nicole was uncomfortable, she became worried and hurriedly ran towards the bathroom.

"Nicole, are you alright? Are you feeling uncomfortable because of me? Look at me. I'm really careless. I always let you worry about me."

Olivia was guilty.

Nicole felt a bit warm.

"No. Not your fault. Don't be too nervous."

Nicole patted her shoulder and said tiredly, "I want to go back to the hotel. Olivia, shall we go now?"

"Of course! You're feeling uncomfortable. How can I ask you to stay? If Samuel knows, he would definitely tear me apart."

Olivia muttered. Nicole knew that she didn't see Samuel with a woman.

Nicole heaved a sigh.

Then she followed Olivia and left the bar.

Chapter 949 She Would Never Show up Again

Samuel met Olivia at the door.

"What happened to Nicole?" Olivia asked.

Samuel said coldly, "She has a fever."

"A fever? Oh my, it's all my fault. I shouldn't ask her out with me yesterday. I shouldn't take her to the bar."

Hearing this, Samuel stopped abruptly.

"What did you say? Nicole was there with you in the bar yesterday?"

Samuel's face was very frightening. Olivia was shocked and said, "Yeah, we sang together in the bar at first. But then Nicole said that she felt a little uncomfortable and went to the bathroom alone."

"When did it happen?"

Olivia was at a loss, facing Samuel's sudden query.

"I don't remember. But when we went on stage, I glanced at my phone. Maybe it was around two o'clock. It was five past two!"

Hearing Olivia's words, Samuel seemed to be more annoyed.

'Five past two?' he wondered.

He and Alisa entered the bar at ten past two. So Nicole saw them.

'This was why Nicole became so upset.' Samuel figured out the reason.

'Damn it!' Samuel was angry.

He wished he could fish Alisa out of the sea and whip her.

Olivia realized that Samuel was angry. She thought that Nicole fell ill because of her. She hurriedly apologized and said, "I'm so sorry. I promise that it won't happen again."

"Not your fault. Come to the hospital together and take care of her."

"What?"

Olivia thought she misheard Samuel.

She wondered why Samuel asked her to take care of Nicole.

It had always been Samuel who took care of Nicole.

Olivia suddenly recalled that Nicole once told her about Samuel having an affair.

Olivia squinted at Samuel.

"Samuel, tell me the truth. Are you having an affair?"

"No."

Samuel answered firmly. He then stopped talking to Olivia and left.

Olivia was stunned.

'Samuel seldom told lies and cared so much about Nicole. He wouldn't cheat on Nicole.' Olivia thought.

She didn't understand and followed them worriedly.

Samuel took Nicole to Steven's house.

"Where's Ashley?" he asked.

Steven was surprised that Samuel suddenly came and looked for his wife.

"No, you can't just barge into my house and ask for my wife without my permission. I am still here."

Chapter 950 I Don't Want to See Him Again

Seeing Olivia was still there, Samuel frowned slightly.

"Anything else?"

Olivia was slightly stunned.

"You asked me to stay and take care of Nicole, didn't you?"

Olivia felt that Samuel was very conflicted. Perhaps he himself was also conflicted now, but she still spoke of Samuel's arrangements.

Sure enough, Samuel got restrained a little.

"That's right. Go prepare a room for Booth first. I'll call you later."

Olivia knew that he wanted to stay there with Nicole, so she said nothing and left their room.

When they were alone in the room, Samuel felt completely relaxed.

He held Nicole's hand and sighed slightly, "What do you want me to do? Why don't you believe me after we've been through so much together? Do you think our love is so fragile? You do want to get divorced and even get abortion, don't you?"

Nicole remained silent, still asleep.

Samuel kissed her hand and said softly, "I won't agree. Forget about it. Even if you force me with a knife, I won't divorce you. I keep you from something for your own good. Actually, all you need to know now is that you are Mrs. Green. I'll handle the rest."

Nicole still didn't move.

Samuel accompanied her and occasionally touched her forehead. The high temperature was receding little by little, but Nicole did not want to wake up.

He knew that Nicole still felt uncomfortable.

Samuel stayed with Nicole for more than two hours. Only when Nicole totally returned to normal did he feel relieved.

Somebody called him.

Samuel looked at the number, then let go of Nicole's hand and walked out of the room.

Outside, Olivia was sitting on the sofa looking at something. Seeing that Samuel come out, she hurriedly stood up.

"Is Nicole up?"

"Not yet. You go take care of her. I need to go out."

"OK."

Olivia did not ask him where he was going or what he was going to do. She directly went to Nicole's room.

Nicole's fever had gone, but her exhausted appearance made Olivia feel a little distressed.

Olivia tucked her in and then saw Samuel drive away.

Nicole felt pain all over, hot and uncomfortable, and suddenly very cold.

She dreamt that Samuel and another woman left together arm in arm. Samuel would not turn around no matter how she shouted.

Nicole sat on the ground alone, feeling that she was really ridiculous.

She wondered, 'He is a cheating man whose heart is no longer on me. Who am I crying to? Who cares about me?'
