

Escape Wife 951

Chapter 951 It Was Not an Accident

After getting the idea, Nicole decided to take actions.

After they left the Bradford's, Nicole and Oliva rented an apartment in the suburbs.

Olivia wanted to keep Nicole accompanied, but Nicole wanted her to find shooting opportunities. And Nicole said she wanted to go out for a walk alone.

Olivia was a little worried about Nicole. But Nicole was too stubborn and she couldn't persuade Nicole. As a result, Olivia had no choice but to do things in Nicole's ways.

After Nicole left the rented apartment, she called Melissa.

"Let's meet. I want to talk to you."

Melissa was stunned at first. Nicole's call surprised her. After hearing Nicole's words, she sneered, "What made you think I'll agree to meet you? Nicole, who do you think you are?"

"I'm no one. You can refuse my request. But I wonder if you will be interested in the words I am gonna tell Major's parents."

Hearing such words, Melissa immediately became anxious.

"Nicole, if you dare to say anything to them, I will make you pay!"

"I'll be waiting for you at the café near the Seaside Road."

After that, Nicole hung up the phone.

When Melissa arrived, Nicole was already there.

Although Nicole was in a café, she didn't order any coffee. There was only a glass of water on the table. As for herself, she was looking out of the window, thinking. And she looked a little sad.

There was sorrow in Nicole's eyes?

Melissa couldn't believe what she had seen.

Samuel got Nicole's back. The Dons and the Shaws would protect her. Was there anything on earth that would make her sad?

Thinking of Nicole's family background and the fact that Nicole had used her identity as the lady of the Bush family for so many years, Melissa felt very unhappy.

"You invited me over for coffee. But you are drinking water. Nicole, I don't think you are serious enough."

Hearing Melissa's words, Nicole regained her senses. Nicole raised her head. Her exhausted look and swollen eyes made Melissa stunned for a moment.

"You cried?"

"Some dust got in my eyes. What will make me cry?"

Nicole answered indifferently. Then she drank all the water in front of her in one breath.

Melissa felt she had asked a stupid question.

Nicole was living an enviable life. She would in no way cry!

Moreover, she was pregnant. And for that, the Greens were especially caring for her now.

Melissa was wearing a slightly ugly look on her face.

"Tell me, why do you want to meet me? Although I don't know how you knew things about Major, I warn you, you'd better stay out of his business. Otherwise, you won't be able to bear the consequences. Don't think that you can do whatever you want with Samuel's support. Nicole, you are in City B, not the Seapolis City."

Melissa said confidently.

If she was in the Seapolis City, Nicole would say something to decrease Melissa's arrogance. But now she knew the person behind Melissa was Major. So there was no point in trying to argue with Melissa.

"How much did you get from selling the house of the Bushes in the Seapolis City? Give the money to me. I don't want to sell the house."

Nicole directly told Melissa her purpose.

Ernesto went to investigate. Samuel stayed outside of the operating room. The unbearable pain almost suffocated him.

Ashley was ready to try her best to save Nicole, but Nicole was using her hands to protect her belly. Ashley couldn't manage to move her hands away.

It was a mother's obsession.

Perhaps the moment she was knocked flying, Nicole knew that her baby would die. But she still used all her strength to protect her baby.

At this moment, Ashley's eyes suddenly became moist.

"Nicole, let go of your hands. This is the only way to save you and let your baby rest in peace."

Ashley's voice was not loud. She whispered such words in Nicole's ear. She knew that Nicole could hear her.

Sure enough, a line of tears rolled down from the corner of Nicole's eyes, and the strength of her hands loosened a lot.

Ashley also felt terrible.

She had undergone countless surgeries, but to be honest, she had never received such an operation. If the patient wasn't Nicole, she probably wouldn't do such an operation.

It was simply too sad.

Nicole was still unconscious. And Ashley's operation had begun.

The operation took more than an hour.

When Nicole was pushed out of the operating room, Samuel was unable to stand firmly.

"How did the operation go?"

"She's fine, but the baby is gone."

Ashley's voice was not loud, but it was like a bolt out of the blue for Samuel. Even if he had thought of this possibility, he still couldn't bear the loss.

"Don't tell her. I'm afraid she won't be able to handle it."

Samuel said this in a hoarse voice.

Ashley looked at him and asked in a low voice, "What kind of misunderstanding is between you? Can't you just tell Nicole?"

"No!"

"Why?"

"I can't tell you."

Hearing Samuel's words, Ashley wanted to beat him.

"Then you plan to let her keep misunderstanding you like this? Samuel, do you know that the misunderstanding between you will get bigger and after she loses her baby? And you will never be able to make up for it. You may even miss her for the rest of your life. Even so, you still plan to not tell her?"

Samuel's hands were tightly clenched together.

He looked at Nicole. She was unconscious. She was biting her lips. And because of that, her lips were broken. Some fresh blood oozed out of the corner of her mouth.

Chapter 953 Don Not Let Me Find Out Again

"Let go of me."

Nicole did not turn around.

She did not dare to turn around, nor could she turn around. She was afraid that she would embrace him again if she turned back.

It might only take a second to fall in love with someone, but it might take a lifetime to forget someone.

She loved Samuel, but she could not stand to know that he was involved with another woman.

The lipstick mark was like a brand iron, fiercely landing on her heart. It made her full of wounds, dripping with blood, painful to the heart, and hard to recover.

However, Samuel did not explain at all.

If nothing really happened, why didn't he say a single word?

He never lied to her, so if he didn't explain it, it meant that he admitted, right?

Nicole wanted to break free, but she couldn't.

"Samuel, what else do you want to keep? When you were cheating on me, did you ever think about me?"

"I wasn't cheating on you."

Samuel insisted.

Nicole smiled bitterly and tears were rolling in her eyes.

"Then why don't you explain? Where did you get the lipstick mark? Who is that girl? What's your relationship?"

"No. I have no relationship with her."

The corner of Nicole's lips curled into a bitter smile.

"So it's a one-night stand. You can't suppress your desire for the first three months of pregnancy, can you? Or do you think I'm a woman who can tolerate you cheating during my pregnancy?"

Anyway, Nicole turned around, the traces of tears were clear on her eyes.

"I want to leave some dignity for each other, but why don't you just let me go? Since you've done it, don't think about keep me around. Don't you know what kind of person I am? Some mistakes that can be forgiven, but if you break my line, I can't forgive you."

Nicole shook off Samuel.

It wasn't because she shook hard enough, but because Samuel didn't want to hurt her.

"Anyway, I won't agree to a divorce!"

In the end, Samuel could only say that.

"Whatever."

Nicole did not argue anymore and left with Olivia's help.

It was drizzling outside, but it still felt cold when the rain dripped on the body.

Samuel gave his coat to Nicole and whispered, "No matter how much you hate me and my stuff now, you have to take care of yourself."

This time, Nicole did not refuse.

She and Olivia stopped a taxi and left the hospital.

From the rear-view mirror of the car, she saw Samuel standing in the rain and watching them leave.

His eyes were a little dark. She couldn't tell his emotion from his eyes, but her heart ached for him.

He was the one who cheated on her, but why did she feel so sad and reluctant to part with him?

"I've found out. That car accident was related to Melissa."

Nicole didn't react to Laurence's information.

"Mrs. Green, did you hear me?"

"I need evidence. I know it's her. I had an accident just after I met Melissa and told her about the ownership of the house. I won't believe it if someone tells me that she has nothing to do with it. But I need evidence."

Nicole's words caused Laurence to pause for a moment, and then he whispered, "The driver who caused the accident has been found dead. It is said that his car directly hit a stone by the road that night. The car flipped and he died on the spot."

"This is a dead end, isn't it?"

Nicole couldn't help but feel a little angry.

Laurence didn't know what to say. That was all he found out.

"Alright, go get some rest first. Leave me alone for a second."

Nicole was especially depressed.

Laurence and Cara didn't dare to disturb her. They felt that after this accident, Nicole became silent and gloomy, making it hard to figure out what was in her mind.

After Cara left the room, she called Samuel with nobody around.

"Mr. Green, don't bring things here anymore. Mrs. Green has found out. She warned me that if I accept your things again, I will be fired."

Hearing this, Samuel didn't speak and seemed down.

"I see."

After hanging up the phone, Samuel wanted to smoke.

He smoked more and more during these days.

He subconsciously lit a cigarette and heard Ernesto walk in.

"Mr. Green, I have found out that the driver who caused the car accident had another car accident that day and died on the spot."

Samuel frowned.

"What a coincidence."

"Yes, his family has already taken his body back and cremated it on the next day in a hurry. And on the third day, his wife took their child out of town. She said that they would visit their relatives, but she hasn't returned yet."

Samuel narrowed his eyes.

"Where is his wife now?"

"I've found her. She is in the countryside. And I've heard from her that the driver who caused the accident had terminal liver cancer. He wouldn't live long. After the accident, someone transferred some money into their account. His wife ran away with their child afterwards. She didn't bring anything with her because she was afraid that others would notice. She only said that they were going to visit relatives."

Ernesto told Samuel what he knew.

Samuel looked at the files and asked coldly, "Did she say who gave her the money?"

"Yes, it's Melissa. She has the transfer record of Melissa. Although Melissa has another Twitter account, the registered phone number belongs to her."

"Make sure she is safe and tell her that as long as she is willing to testify in court, I will double her remuneration and guarantee that her child will go to a good university. Moreover, I will provide her child with a job in the future. I only want Melissa to be punished."

Samuel's voice was very cold, making others tremble.

Ernesto nodded and immediately worked on it.

Samuel looked in the direction where Nicole's rented apartment was and felt a slight pain in his heart.

He wondered if she had lost weight and if she took meals on time.

In the future, Cara could no longer give him the information about Nicole,

Nicole hid in the car and didn't get off until Samuel left.

The police came and took Melissa away.

Samuel did everything that Nicole originally wanted to do. Nicole's feeling was very complicated.

If the affair didn't happen, they might still be the most loving couple. She was still like the treasure held in Samuel's hands, but now everything was different.

She couldn't let go of her feelings, but she had to force herself to move on.

Nicole was in a bad mood, but she also knew that she couldn't keep acting like this.

Olivia was in her special training, so Nicole had to start her career by herself.

Right now, she had no idea where to start.

She said that she wanted to start a film company, but she had no idea that what she should prepare and who she could ask for help with.

Nicole asked Laurence to look for help, while she took the opportunity to improve her violin skills.

Just as Laurence was asking around about the film company, the car design competition in Seapolis City started.

Although Nicole gave up, she still turned on her computer on this day and watched the live broadcast.

There were ten contestants in the preliminaries.

When everyone's design blueprints appeared on the big screen, Nicole's eyes lit up.

Everyone had their own design ideas, and the things they created were also different.

Nicole watched attentively and was suddenly attracted by a design.

She frowned slightly and photographed the design.

This was designed by Jessie Curry, a new designer. She had never designed any products before.

Nicole narrowed her eyes.

She couldn't help but notice that Jessie's design was similar to her design. Though she made several changes on the details, the overall frameworks were still similar.

Jessie copied her design!

When Nicole realized it, she couldn't help but feel a little annoyed.

All the designers treated their designs as their own children. If others stole them, it would be equivalent to kidnapping their own children. The feeling was disgusting and irritating to them.

Nicole contacted the competition site directly.

"Jessie's design was copied from me. Although I didn't participate in the competition, I can't let someone take my design and fool everyone. This is Catherine."

Nicole directly popped out her name as a designer.

After receiving the call, the hosts of the competition were shocked. They announced that the competition was temporarily stopped, and they would seriously investigate the plagiarism.

Nicole gave them her address, and she was asked to provide original manuscripts and time of design. request caused Nicole to

It was Mr. and Mrs. Bush!

Nicole knew why they came.

"Nicole, how are you?"

Mrs. Bush's gaze showed that she felt ached for her.

Just like before, she looked at Nicole with concerns, making her heart feel a little moved.

"I'm alright."

She took a step forward and took over the things in Mrs. Bush's hands.

"Your father and I bought this for you, and it's good for your body. Remember to take it."

Mrs. Bush's eyes were kind, and Nicole felt a little bitter.

"OK, thank you."

"Where do you live now? What's wrong with you and Samuel? Why didn't he come back with you?"

Mr. Bush frowned slightly. Nicole didn't know how to answer the questions she asked.

"I have things to do here. I won't return to the Seapolis City for a while."

"What's more important than your body? You've already miscarried. How can you be here alone? What's wrong with Samuel for leaving you here alone? If you say that there's nothing wrong with you two, I don't believe you."

Mr. Bush's was an impulsive person.

When Nicole heard that they were concerned about her, her tone couldn't help but soften a little.

"I'll settle the matter with him myself. Are you here for Melissa?"

When Nicole mentioned Melissa, the expressions of the Mr. and Mrs. Bush changed.

Noticing the changes on their faces, Nicole felt depressed again.

"Mom and Dad, if it's because of Melissa, then you can go back. I can't do anything about it."

"Why can't you do something? Nicole, if you let it go, the police surely won't charge her. They will let her go. Your father and I have only one daughter in our lifetime. Can you spare her for the sake of us raising you for so many years?"

Mrs. Bush suddenly grabbed onto the corner of Nicole's clothes. Her pitiful look was especially dazzling in Nicole's eyes.

"She is your daughter, and I am not, am I? Didn't I treat you like my biological parents after all these years? Mom, follow your heart and tell me if I did anything wrong. Now she has not only given others my design blueprints which were the results of my hard work, but also bought someone to kill me. Do you think that Melissa didn't do anything wrong? I could have been killed. "

Nicole felt a little heart broken.

Mr. Bush frowned and said coldly, "Aren't you alright now?"

"My child was dead! Is it alright to you?"

Nicole looked at her father as if she was looking at a stranger.

Since when did they treat her so coldly?

Mr. Bush didn't dare to look directly at Nicole. He hurriedly turned his head and whispered, "You can still give birth to another child. Besides, it's not like it was your only child. Don't you have Lucas and Zoe? It's acceptable to lose a child. However, Melissa isn't married yet."

Samuel was silent.

The longer Samuel was silent, the more scared Nicole was.

She couldn't help but tremble at the thought of the woman's death just now.

"Just now, a female body was found here, and it was sunk into the sea before. Do you know what I saw?"

"Nicole, come back if you're scared. I'll send a helicopter to pick you up."

Samuel finally spoke.

Nicole's heart ached inexplicably.

"Did you do it?"

"No."

Samuel replied indifferently.

He didn't do it.

He was not lying.

Nicole held her phone and remained silent for a long time, only hearing each other's breathing sounds.

She didn't know what to say, but in the end, she said, "I should go. I'm tired. Go back to sleep."

Then she hung up the phone.

However, Nicole felt that her body was cold.

She knew what kind of person Samuel was the most. The relationship between them was not strong enough to make Samuel cheat on her. If Nicole didn't see the woman's body, perhaps she wouldn't have thought so much about it, but now she couldn't help but think about it.

She didn't know how she walked home, but her mind was filled with everything that had happened during this period.

Nicole suddenly realized what Samuel was hiding something.

What was he trying to hide?

If that woman was just seducing him, he didn't have to hide it. But he did it anyway. Did it mean that there was a secret that Samuel did not want her to know? And this woman happened to know about it.

Nicole only felt a splitting headache.

She simply emptied her mind and directly fell asleep in bed.

She dreamt of a woman chasing after her. The woman was covered with blood, so scary that she screamed and woke up. Then, she couldn't sleep.

It was still dark outside.

Nicole was sleepless.

Olivia wasn't around, so she couldn't help but feel lonely and cold.

Nicole got up and started to prepare for the filmmaking company.

Now that the registered capital was not in place, she needed to work it out. Then she had to find an office. She couldn't start a company at home, could she?

Nicole took out her phone and looked at the rental page on it. She searched one by one, and unknowingly, it was dawn.

The news of the sunk female body yesterday was all over.

Nicole felt as if her heart was blocked, so she directly left the rented house and went to the bustling area to find an office.

Nicole did not nod but took the glass to the balcony.

Since when did she like to drink alcohol? She liked to drink but she would not drink too much. A glass of wine at night made her sleep tight. But when she woke up and found that she was alone in such a big bed, suddenly, she felt cold.

Daisy felt that Nicole knew something. She took a picture of Nicole's lonely back and sent a Twitter message to Samuel.

"Mrs. Green's mood isn't very good. She told me to thank you. She probably noticed it a long time ago."

Samuel looked at the phone for a long time and suddenly said to Ernesto, "Get the helicopter ready. I'm going to City B."

He knew that he shouldn't go, and he knew that Nicole didn't want to see him, but he still couldn't help it.

Nicole's lonely back was like a blunt knife, slowly cutting his heart.

She lost weight.

She lost so much weight.

He heard from Daisy that she would drink in recent social intercourse.

Didn't this woman know that people were evil?

Moreover, she was such a beautiful woman!

Samuel came to City B with a worried heart.

Nicole's celebration banquet was held at the Royal Court Leisure Club. She did not get a private room but held it in the hall. However, she was not used to the noise and hid on the balcony alone, feeling the cold wind.

The night was very dark and the starry sky was very resplendent, but there was no one by her side who could watch the stars with her anymore.

When Samuel came, he saw Nicole's back standing on the balcony.

Daisy hurriedly greeted him.

"Mr. Green, Mrs. Green is..."

"I see. Take care of the others. Don't worry about me."

Samuel's voice was a little hoarse, and there was a trace of blood in his eyes. It seemed that he usually didn't sleep well.

Daisy didn't say much and quickly retreated to the side to take care of other guests.

Samuel wanted to go forward and put his coat on Nicole's shoulder. She didn't wear much and was still standing outside in the wind. Wasn't she afraid of catching a cold?

However, he didn't go over. Instead, he chose to sit down in the shadow and watched Nicole silently.

After finishing the wine in her hand, Nicole felt a little cold.

She turned around and left the balcony, heading straight to the bathroom.

The light in the club was very dim, and Nicole was in a bad mood, so she didn't pay attention to the people coming towards her. "Ouch!" She directly collided with the people in front of her.

"Damn it. Watch your steps."

The man said in a rough voice and was in a bad mood.

Samuel's face went an ugly green.

"Samuel, stop messing around! Go home!"

He wanted to hold Nicole in his arms, but she dodged him with a flash.

"Go away! Who will go home with you? I won't! We've got divorced. No more our home!"

After drinking, Samuel belched and shouted to Samuel, still dazed.

Samuel's icy cold gaze almost froze the air.

When employees saw what happened, they didn't know what to do. Some immediately called Daisy.

Samuel took a deep breath and tried to suppress his anger. He stepped forward again and held Nicole against her will.

"Put me down! Samuel, you bastard! We're divorced!"

"Shut up!"

Samuel got more and more furious.

"Ms. Bush..."

Someone wanted to stop Samuel but quickly took a step back, frightened by Samuel's cold eyes.

"Coward!"

Nicole frowned and muttered, suffering intensive stomachache.

She patted Samuel and whispered, "I want to vomit."

Samuel frowned again.

When he saw how uncomfortable Nicole was, he felt pity for her and carried her to the bathroom.

Everyone else was driven out by Samuel.

He carried Nicole and placed her on the bathtub.

Nicole kept puking air in front of the bathtub.

"You drank without eating?"

Samuel's voice was as cold as the winter snow.

Samuel shivered and glanced at him in a daze, "It's none of your business."

"Mind your words!"

Samuel felt that Nicole was getting on his nerves. He was dazzled by the way she squinted her eyes after drinking.

He couldn't control himself anymore.

Samuel was naughty at this time. She wouldn't listen to Samuel.

"I won't! I won't! Leave me alone"

She retched again.

Seeing that she was only puking air, Samuel carried her on his shoulder and walked out.

The company staff waited outside and walked closer when Samuel came out.

Chapter 960 The Most Familiar Strangers

"What did Samuel say?"
Nicole wanted to clear her mind. After all, Daisy was assigned by Samuel. There was no need for Nicole to hide the secret from her.
Daisy was stunned for a moment and asked with doubt, "Ms. Bush, do you mean this is Mr. Green's decision?"
"Isn't that so?"
It sounded that Samuel had nothing to do with it.
"I haven't heard Mr. Green mention this before. I'll confirm it first."
Nicole knew from Daisy's words that it had nothing to do with Samuel. Thinking about their awkward relationship not long ago, Nicole hurriedly said, "No need. I'll talk to him myself. Give me the phone number of Zayn's manager."
Nicole was the boss of the filmmaking company, while Daisy being the director. If Nicole could go personally, she could show more respect to him.
After all, she was flattered that a popular star would sign a contract with her small company.

Daisy gave Nicole the number of Zayn's manager and asked, "Ms. Bush, why don't I go with you?"

"No need. I'll talk to him myself."

After hanging up the phone, Cara came back from shopping.

"Mrs. Green, are you going out?"

"That's right. Follow me if you're free."

Satisfied with Cara's image, Nicole hurriedly made a request.

"With pleasure."

Although Cara didn't know why Nicole brought her along, she trusted Nicole and agreed.

They straightened their clothes and went out.

Cara offered to drive.

Nicole checked Zayn's information sent by Daisy on her phone.

Zayn made his debut three years ago and was currently a movie star and singer. He hardly encountered any difficulty and had zero negative news.

But there was little information about Zayn's background.

Nicole frowned slightly.

Zayn was either a normal person with no background, or a man with a powerful background so that no one could find out anything about him.

Nicole would rather believe in the latter.

If he had a powerful background and had been successful these three years, why would he suddenly want to contract with a small obscure company?

If it wasn't because of Samuel, then the reason behind was worth pondering.

Nicole called Zayn's agent and made an appointment.

She would figure it out at the meeting.

The car stopped at a club.

Nicole booked a single room and went in with Cara.

Since Zayn was busy with work, they had to wait for an hour. Nicole didn't complain. After all, he was a famous star and worth waiting for.
