

Escape Wife 981

Don't Try to Escape, My Wife!

Chapter 981 Let's Form an Alliance

Zayn was a little surprised when he received Samuel's call. After all, not everyone could find out about what was happening there, and he had just succeeded when Samuel called him. Zayn couldn't help but be a little surprised. He was a little more fearful of Samuel from the bottom of his heart.

"I don't understand what you're saying."

Zayn wasn't an idiot. It wouldn't do him any good to expose himself now since he was not getting along well with Samuel.

Samuel was very clever. When he heard Zayn's words, his voice became a bit deep.

"Zayn, I am not your enemy, so you don't need to be so cautious. Melissa is not famous. She suddenly disappeared just as she went there. I can't think of anyone but you who can do this so secretly. But aren't you afraid that your siblings will notice? It's not easy to nurture your own power these past few years, is it? Why don't we form an alliance?"

Samuel's words shocked Zayn slightly.

He was surprised.

For so many years, he had been alone. He lived alone, planned alone, and moved on alone.

Now Samuel suddenly mentioned the alliance, which caught him off guard.

"I remember Mr. Green telling me not long ago to stay away from Nicole."

"This is also my attitude now. Stay away from Nicole. I formed an alliance with you because of the blood relationship between you and Nicole. I also know how difficult it is for you to live there. As a businessman, forming an alliance with you is beneficial to me."

Samuel completely threw Nicole out.

He didn't want his wife involved in the political turmoil.

Zayn frowned tightly.

"Before my mother died, she was still concerned about Nicole. She told me to find Nicole no matter what, so I...."

"Nicole is doing very well now. I think your mother is comforted as well. After all, no mother wants her child to be dragged into a political turmoil. You can't avoid it and have to struggle. But Nicole can have a different life. I think you can't deny that. She is the safest without you."

Samuel interrupted.

Zayn fell into deep thought for a moment.

If it wasn't the best for Nicole, he would have already recognized her. How could Samuel have spoken to him like this?

However, putting aside Nicole, Zayn admitted that Samuel was right from the point of view of a businessman and a politician.

"I don't have much ambition. I just want to live. Therefore, Mr. Green, I may not be able to give you the wealth you want."

Samuel looked at the traffic outside and suddenly laughed, "Zayn, if you don't have power to stand at the top of the power, do you think you have a chance to live? It would be fine if you are really willing to be insignificant, but you are not. You said you wanted to live, but what about your subordinates? You've been hibernating for so long. If you really don't have any ideas, do you believe it yourself?"

Zayn narrowed his eyes and became nervous.

Few people had ever been able to guess what he was thinking.

"What? Shouldn't I be getting an infusion?"

Nicole asked subconsciously.

The nurse's eyes lit up for a moment, and then she looked down and said. "It's the order. I don't know."

There was something wrong with what she said.

Nicole frowned.

"Have we met before?"

A trace of panic flashed through the nurse's eyes.

"I have an ordinary face, so you might feel familiar with it. Hurry up, I have to go to another ward later."

As the nurse spoke, she took the item and came to Nicole.

Nicole's doubts deepened.

She glanced at her, who was not wearing a work card.

"Where's your work card?"

"On the nurse's desk, Mrs. Green, please cooperate."

As she spoke, the nurse started, almost semi-compulsively giving Nicole an injection.

Under such circumstances, Nicole naturally wouldn't cooperate.

This nurse didn't have a work license, and this voice was obviously somewhat familiar. In addition to her panicked gaze just now, Nicole felt that she might not be the nurse of this hospital.

"I won't take it. Let your head nurse come!"

Nicole avoided the nurse.

The nurse was a little annoyed and continued to catch Nicole.

"Mrs. Green, don't be willful. Your injuries need to be injected now. I guarantee that I'll be gentle."

As she spoke, she grabbed Nicole again.

Nicole had a bad temper, and now she was even more irritated.

"I told you that I wouldn't take it. Let your head nurse come!"

She shook off the nurse, but because of this, her wound split open, and cold sweat broke out from the pain.

The nurse no longer cared about camouflaging anything and rushed towards Nicole with the needle in hand.

Nicole quickly kicked her needle out of her hand and shouted at the door.

"Are all the people standing outside the door dead?"

Nicole's face turned pale with pain.

This damned nurse was obviously here for her!

Who was she?

When the bodyguards outside heard the sound, they quickly pushed open the door and ran in. They saw the nurse get up and grab the things beside her and head towards Nicole again.

"Any other clues?"

Samuel asked when looking at the information in his hand.

"That's all we've got now," Ernesto whispered.

"I want to know who is behind Eleanore and who she contacted after she left the crew."

"Yes, Sir."

Then Ernesto went away.

Nicole was still changing the dressing inside. Samuel wanted to go in, only to find that the room had been locked.

There were only Ashley and Nicole inside. It was probably because Nicole feared that Samuel would feel uncomfortable and deliberately did this.

Samuel sighed slightly with a more serious expression.

Whoever wanted to hurt Nicole was unforgivable now!

In the room, Ashley cut off Nicole's clothes, finding the wounds inside. She sighed, "What kind of luck do you have? It seems all the people bear grudges on you everywhere you go."

"I don't know either. I guess I'm too pretty. They are jealous of me."

Nicole smiled and teased, but she suddenly almost jumped up to exclaim.

"What a smart mouth! Look at your injuries. Why don't you keep your nose clean?"

Ashley glanced at her and said calmly. But she did it more gently.

Nicole naturally knew that Ashley got more bark than bite. She couldn't help but smile, "Dr. Ashley, when will I recover?"

"Your bones have been hurt. Are you still expecting to leave the hospital in a few days? Stay well, and don't expect to leave the hospital for a month."

Ashley looked at the wounds on Nicole's body seriously.

"Don't you think about dealing with the burn on your body?"

Ashley did not know much about the stuff between Nicole and Samuel. She did not gossip, but the burn had obviously been on Nicole's body for years.

She was just curious about what happened on earth. Why such a beautiful woman like Nicole got injured all over?

Nicole was slightly stunned.

If Ashley hadn't mentioned it, she would have forgotten about the burn on her body.

"Where's the burn? Isn't it a pretty tattoo?"

Nicole smiled.

"Do you think I'm blind? Don't talk if you don't want to. Stop bullshit. I find your tattoo has some allergic reaction, but your burns can't be covered. I know a good dermatologist. If you want, I can help you contact the doctor. Just take advantage of this hospitalization opportunity to deal with all the injuries on your body. As a woman in your twenties, you make your body so old. Doesn't Samuel feel disgusted?"

"How dare he!"

Nicole was firm.

The two chatted for a while as Ashley had treated the wound.

"Fine. I will leave you alone. I guess Samuel would like to kick the door open now. I'm gone. Call me anytime."

"OK."

Nicole nodded, with her back drenching in cold sweat.

Samuel feared Nicole would crack her teeth as she gritted it so hard.

"You..."

He intended to remind Nicole to be careful. But just after he spoke out one word, Nicole gave up and said in an upset voice, "Your skin was too rough to be delicious."

Samuel smiled.

"You are taking me as delicacy. Aren't you a foodie?"

He stretched out his fingers and gently wiped the water at the corner of Nicole's mouth, not even looking at the bite marks on his arm.

Samuel's eyes were very beautiful, like deep sea or starry sky, thumping Nicole's heart.

What a handsome man!

Nicole smiled with curved eyebrows.

"Have you ever heard of 'being beautiful enough to feast the eyes'?"

"Yes, I have. So, Mrs. Green, do you want to eat me?"

"Yes!"

Nicole nodded immediately.

Samuel smiled louder.

"No, you can't do it now. When you're well, I'm at your disposal."

"I have your words, Mr. Green."

"Yes, Mrs. Green."

Samuel touched her head and asked gently, "Are you hungry?"

"A little. But I'm sleepy."

Nicole rubbed her eyes.

She didn't know if the drops contained hypnosis or else. She just wanted to sleep.

Samuel knew that this was because Nicole was too weak.

This calamity caused great damage to her.

A trace of heartache flashed through his eyes.

"Then go to sleep. I'll stay here with you."

"Don't you have work to deal with?"

Nicole couldn't open her eyes.

Samuel smiled and said, "You are the most important."

Those words instantly made Nicole feel very comfortable.

She knew that she was being a little pretentious.

However, when one was sick and injured, he or she was inevitably fragile. At this moment, Nicole did not want to pretend. She just wanted to act in pettish character.

Samuel and she were husband and wife. No matter what they did, they were allowed by law. They got the support of state policy, didn't they?

Thinking of that, Nicole smiled, and her eyes seemed to be shining with brilliance.

"Mr. Green, you are so sweet."

"I do mean it. Go to sleep."

Samuel would not say these words in the past, but the more they experienced, the more he involuntarily said that.

he was a little embarrassed. But when he saw that Nicole enjoyed it and even smiled, Samuel felt that everything was

"What's wrong?"

Samuel naturally saw the change in Nicole's expression.

"I seem to have seen this person somewhere before."

Nicole experienced too many things lately, and her memory was indeed not as good as before. But this man did look familiar.

Hearing her words, Samuel couldn't help but feel nervous.

"You have seen him? Where?"

"I can't remember. I just feel that."

Nicole wanted to recall it, but she failed.

"Don't think about it anymore. I'm not in a hurry to know about it."

Seeing Nicole acted like this, Samuel was worried.

"But Olivia needs to know who this murderer is. Gosh, what's wrong with my brain recently?"

Nicole was anxious and hit her head.

Samuel hurriedly held her hand and said softly, "Stupid girl, stop doing that. Since he looks familiar, you will remember who he is sooner or later. You are still sick and leave these matters to me, OK? No matter what, I will revenge Jacob and I will not let the murderer go unpunished."

"This driver is just used as a pawn, right? Who is the person behind him?"

Nicole was not stupid.

No one would do this personally, especially Samuel and Nicole had unshakable status in the Seapolis City.

And if Samuel and Nicole found out about this, they would put those who hurt their friend into jail.

Samuel nodded at Nicole.

"Yes, the person behind the driver is Major. You're right, this may have something to do with Melissa."

"Undoubtedly, it's her. At that time, she had a conflict with me and Olivia. Sure enough, she would make things difficult for Olivia."

Nicole's face was somewhat gloomy.

"This Melissa deserves to die."

"If you want, I will have her to die with nobody knowing it in Country F."

A trace of hatred flashed in Samuel's eyes.

However, Nicole held his hand and shook her head, "No. Sometimes, living is more painful than dying. I'll have Melissa live in pain. She wants me to have nothing, but she failed. And I will destroy everything she cherishes and have her to wish she was dead."

If Melissa was only targeting herself, Nicole wouldn't be so angry. But Melissa had gone too far. She actually injured Jacob, and even planned to kill him.

Thinking that Jacob was reduced to the intensive care unit and hadn't wake up and that Olivia was fighting so hard for Jacob and Harper, Nicole wished she could tear Melissa apart.

Samuel hugged her tightly in his arms and whispered, "Do whatever you want. I'm behind you and support you forever."

"Idiot, we can deal with it together. I'm your wife. Don't worry, I won't do anything against the law. Even so, I will have Melissa to pay the price!"

Nicole was confident in this.

Seeing Nicole who was confident and positive, Samuel breathed a sigh of relief. He didn't care about others.

"Alright, I just want you to be happy."

Nicole was slightly stunned. She noticed what he had said and immediately smiled, "Aren't you afraid that I'll make a mistake?"

"No. Your husband is me and I'll correct you."

What Samuel said shocked Nicole.

"From your husband?"

Olivia thought that Samuel called Nicole and was about to give her some privacy. But she was stopped by Nicole.

"No."

"Huh?"

"It might be a sales call."

After saying that, Nicole hung up the phone.

She didn't answer the call from an unfamiliar number.

However, the number's owner who called, again and again, was too stubborn. It was annoying.

Olivia whispered, "If you don't want to answer, just blacklist it."

"I think I'd better answer it. Perhaps we'll get some clues."

As Nicole spoke, she answered the call.

A female voice was sounded immediately.

"Mrs. Green, please save my son!"

As soon as that person spoke, Nicole realized that the caller knew her identity. Then she furrowed.

Olivia suddenly grabbed the phone.

"Mrs. Mead? Where is Jack?"

What a coincidence! They were looking for Jack, and his wife called them.

They had just found out that Jack was the driver who caused the accident, but they didn't expect his wife would call them.

Nicole was slightly stunned.

Jack's wife?

Nicole naturally did not think that Olivia was wrong, but she was a little puzzled. How did Mrs. Mead get her phone number?

Mrs. Mead didn't expect Olivia to be with Nicole. They had been neighbors for so long, and she could naturally recognize Olivia's voice. Then Mrs. Mead subconsciously wanted to hang up the phone.

"Don't hang up. Don't think that no one knows what Jack had done. Since I asked you that, I knew Jack had caused that incident. Mrs. Mead, I have no grudges against you. Actually, we're close. Why did your husband almost kill my boyfriend?"

Olivia was rather excited.

If it was someone else who did that, she might not be so furious. But someone, with whom she was familiar almost killed her boyfriend. Olivia was extremely indignant about that.

Mrs. Mead was a little choked up.

"I'm sorry, Miss Olivia. I'm really sorry. Jack was forced to do so. We're in trouble."

"In trouble? Is this the reason why you guys escaped after hitting someone?"

Olivia was trembled because of anger.

If Mrs. Mead was in front of her, she would not hesitate to slap her.

"What?"

Olivia was a little surprised, but when she saw little red bumps on Nicole's arm, she immediately rang the call bell at the bedside.

"Why is that? Aren't you only allergic to peanuts? There are no peanut in the food, so how can you be allergic?"

Olivia was so anxious that she broke into a cold sweat.

Nicole was having difficulty breathing now.

Few people knew that she was only allergic to peanuts and most of them were close to her, so it should be a secret to others.

But now, allergens were in the food. Nicole could not believe that was a coincidence. After all, the Golden Restaurant belonged to Samuel, and he knew exactly about her taste and peanut allergies, so he definitely would not let anyone cook this kind of food.

Her breaths were coming faster and faster.

"Olivia, take these foods for testing."

Nicole went into a coma after saying these words, which let Olivia scream. Fortunately, the doctor had arrived and immediately sent Nicole to the emergency room.

Olivia was in panic, but she had to try to calm down because Samuel was not around.

Following what Nicole said, Olivia sent the food to the lab for Ashley to test, and then called Samuel.

When Samuel knew that Nicole was in a coma, his face was suddenly clouded over with anger.

This was definitely a planned murder!

Nicole remained in the emergency room when Samuel arrived at the hospital. Olivia was standing in the corridor and looked close to tears.

"How's it going?"

"I don't know yet. Nicole hasn't come out yet, but the test result came back. Someone grounded the peanuts into powders and sprinkled them into the food, which caused her allergy."

Olivia could not help trembling.

That was terrible!

They just had a meal and she never expected that Nicole would fall in front of herself.

Was this the dark side of the wealthy clan?

Why they seemed like the spy drama and filled with conspiracies?

Samuel put on a serious face.

"Ernesto, go find out who made this meal, who handled it, and who sent it from the Golden Restaurant. Check them out for me one by one."

As soon as Samuel said that, Ernesto went to do it.

Later, news came from Ernesto.

"Mr. Green, it was Jane who delivered the meal, but we found that she was knocked unconscious in the back alley of the hospital and hasn't woken up yet."

"Where's the surveillance video?"

"The back alley is a blind spot for surveillance."

"I can't get through to Melissa. Is she with you?"

Braden went straight to the point.

Major paused for a while and whispered, "No, but I sent her to Country F. There won't be any danger. Don't worry."

"How can I not be worried when I can't get through to her?"

Braden was infuriated when he heard this.

Major also was not a good-tempered person. Moreover, in his status, how many people dared to speak to him so rudely?

His face clouded over.

"Mr. Bush, I will try to contact her."

Although he said this, Major's tone became much colder.

Braden was not an idiot, so he naturally recognized it.

He relented and said, "There are some rumors about me on the Internet. Can you manage to remove them? You know, it's very bad for my reputation."

Major curled his lip and smiled ironically

It turned out that Braden just wanted his help, but in such a bad tone. He was just like Melissa.

"OK, I'll take a look. However, Mr. Bush, you know that these things on the Internet only will be popular for a short while, so you don't have to care about that, they will be replaced by other news in less than a day."

Mr. Bush was furious.

It was not he who was scolded

Braden hung up angrily.

Major's eyes filled with apathy.

Seeing his face, the subordinate beside him hurriedly said, "Major, Melissa's father is so haughty. Do you need us to teach him a lesson?"

"What are you talking about? He is Melissa's father. How can we attack him? Just take a look and find what happened on the Internet?"

Major said hypocritically.

His subordinates hurried to investigate

Not long after, the information came that someone was targeting Braden and it could be Samuel because except him, no one could pull that off.

Major said nothing and lost in thought.

"Did you find Melissa?"

"Not yet. Our team is searching everywhere. But we still can't find her even with the First Prince's help. She just disappeared without a trace."

Major frowned at this information.

How could a human disappear from the world inexplicably?

"What did Samuel's subordinates do?"

"They are still same."

"How about Nicole?"

"Just got rescued."

Chapter 989 I Don't Deserve It

"What?"

Olivia was still perplexed when she heard what Nicole said.

Nicole signaled Olivia to stop talking, then lay down there and pretended to be asleep.

Mrs. Bush came in, and she didn't dare to look up but just swept the room around. She didn't expect Olivia to be here. Fortunately, Samuel wasn't here now.

Nicole was still asleep.

Only then did Olivia understand what Nicole meant. She snorted coldly in her mind and said indifferently to Mrs. Bush, "Go clean that table."

Mrs. Bush quickly walked over.

To be honest, Mrs. Bush had not suffered much in these years of marriage. There were always many servants at home, so she did not need to do anything, let alone doing housework. Even when the life was not easy back then, Samuel and Nicole did not let Mr. and Mrs. Bush suffer much.

However, Mrs. Bush had to obey Olivia's order to do housework now, which made her awkward.

She walked over and didn't dare to look into Nicole's or Olivia's eyes at all. She lowered her head and wiped the table.

"Throw this away. I won't eat it anymore."

Olivia deliberately threw the banana onto the ground.

Mrs. Bush paused for a moment, then squatted down and picked it up unwillingly.

The banana was half-eaten and slimy. Mrs. Bush didn't wear gloves, so she had to directly touch the banana peel, which made her feel disgusting. However, she thought of her husband who was taken away, so she had no choice but to keep her temper and throw the banana into the garbage can.

Nicole coughed suddenly.

It was a perfect timing.

Olivia hurriedly stepped forward to help her up.

"Are you alright? How do you feel? Does it hurt? Melissa is really a bitch. How can she beat you like this! If I met her, I will make her feel sorry."

Olivia said in a loud voice that Mrs. Bush couldn't help but pause a second.

Mrs. Bush glanced at Nicole and saw her blood still oozing from the wound. The blood red looked very harsh.

Mrs. Bush knew what Melissa did to Nicole, but she always told herself that Melissa was measured. Melissa just disliked Nicole and gave her a mild punishment. However, Nicole looked very weak with a pale face, which made Mrs. Bush a little panic.

She was flustered and did not know what she should do now.

Nicole took a peek at Mrs. Bush and saw a hint of hesitation and struggle in her eyes.

In the end, this woman still had feelings for her.

If Mrs. Bush left this place now and did not plead for Melissa anymore, Nicole felt that she could let Mr. Bush off the hook. After all, they were her adoptive parents, and it was not easy for them to bring up her these years.

Chapter 990 He Fell into the Trap

What Mrs. Bush did was out of Nicole's expectation.

Nicole thought that Mrs. Bush might kidnap her to threaten Samuel, but she didn't expect that Mrs. Bush would threaten her with her own life!

Nicole wanted to laugh at Mrs. Bush.

"Just kill yourself if you want to. Do you think that you can threaten me with your life? You should have thought that I would never compromise with you when you constantly challenged my bottom line and killed my love to you. Besides, look at me now. Do you think it will work on me? At worst, the two of us die together, so Melissa does not have to kill me again."

What Nicole said made Mrs. Bush stunned.

Mrs. Bush suddenly realized that she didn't really know Nicole now.

In the past, Nicole cared about them very much, but now it didn't matter to her even if Mrs. Bush died in front of her.

When did they become so distant?

Only then did Mrs. Bush realize that she and Nicole could no longer have the connection between mother and daughter.

Mrs. Bush stared blankly at Nicole. When she found that Nicole didn't care about her anymore, she couldn't help but cry.

"Nicole, are you really going to watch your father being destroyed like this? What the hell do you want?"

Mrs. Bush was falling apart.

Seeing that Mrs. Bush put down the glass fragment, Nicole said in a low voice, "It's simple. I want Melissa."

"We don't know where she is either. I will let her apologize to you, alright?"

Mrs. Bush's words made Nicole's heart ache.

She smiled and said, "How about I whip her three times and then make an apology?"

It was a fake smile.

Mrs. Bush became nervous immediately.

"How can you do that?"

"So why should I take the three lashes from her? Get out of here. I need to rest."

Nicole was going to lie down after finishing the words.

Mrs. Bush was unwilling to leave. She planned to run to Nicole's bed to approach her. However, at this moment, the door suddenly opened. Samuel came back sometime before. He stood outside the door and looked at Mrs. Bush quietly.

"What do you want to do?"

Samuel's presence destroyed Mrs. Bush's hope immediately.

Mrs. Bush was not an idiot. She had been afraid of Samuel for a long time. Even in that five years when Nicole was not here, Samuel treated them very well, but she was still afraid of him.

Now, Melissa had done so many things to hurt Nicole, so Mrs. Bush was even more scared of him.

She was trembling, wanting to say something, but she was too nervous to speak.

"Piss off!"

Samuel shouted impolitely.

If this woman still treated Nicole as her daughter, he would definitely not talk to her like this. Unfortunately, Mrs. Bush did not deserve it now.

Mrs. Bush trembled. She wanted to say something, but when she looked into Samuel's cold eyes, she was suddenly speechless.

"How do you do your job as a bodyguard? Do you want to be fired?"

Samuel was so angry that he wanted to fire the bodyguard outside, but Nicole stopped him.

"I let her in on purpose."

"Don't you know what your situation is? What if that woman did something bad to you?"
