Chapter 126: Mrs. Olivia Marshall, think carefully, do you want to get to know me?

Olivia Jenkins sarcastically said, "Even for removing a cast at the hospital, you want me to accompany you. How melodramatic!"

There was a thin layer of frost on Daniel Marshall's face, with a glimmer of fire flickering deep within his eyes. "This is Mrs. Marshall's duty. You have no right to negotiate with me. I'll give you two more minutes. If you don't come down, you'll have to face the consequences."

Though Daniel's voice was slow and seemingly calm, it was filled with formidable power.

Even though Olivia was reluctant to go, she had to consider the current state of Jenkins Group and avoid making things worse.

Upon considering it, Olivia had some doubts and wanted to inquire about some news from Daniel.

She switched off her computer, instructed her secretary, and then came down.

Sitting next to Daniel, Olivia tentatively said, "Matthew told me that you and Benjamin Johnson are friends, both of you studied abroad, from high school all the way to university. Although you were in different departments, you were still schoolmates. Your story doesn't match Matthew's, are you hiding something from me?"

The hard lines on Daniel's face softened a bit as he looked at Olivia with interest. "So, you're interested in getting to know me?"

Olivia met Daniel's gaze, her sharp eyes shimmering with keen observation,

"It's not that I want to know you, I am forced to. Your brother also told me that Benjamin Johnson and Xiang Fu are very close, and they're good friends."

“If you’re not interested in getting to know me, wouldn’t it be presumptuous of me to say too much?”

“Then let’s forget it, I really couldn’t care less,” Olivia rolled her eyes at Daniel, a flicker of disdain flashed across her beautiful face.

Daniel locked Olivia in his hawk-like gaze and his handsome face remained emotionless. ‘You don’t listen to a word I say, preferring to heed others. They could sell you out, and you’d still be counting money for them.’”

Olivia huffed in displeasure, “What have you ever told me? I bet you fart more than you talk!”

Pfft... Simon Howard couldn’t help but laugh.

With a voice as cold as a thousand-year-old glacier, Daniel glared at Simon Howard, “Just focus on driving!”

In an instant, a chill ran down Simon’s spine.

Even though he desperately wanted to laugh, Simon suppressed it.

Olivia couldn’t stand it anymore and glared at Daniel, “Look at you, always drawing attention. It’s as if you’re afraid people will ignore you.”

“Your mouth sure has plenty of free time, doesn’t it?” Suddenly, Daniel moved closer, his face enlarging in front of Olivia’s.

The warm breath he exhaled dominated her face.

His sexy lips were about to kiss Olivia.

After staring for three seconds, Olivia quickly turned her head and looked out the window.

She remained silent afterwards.

Daniel didn't immediately adjust his posture but maintained it.

His nose greedily inhaled the fragrance coming off Olivia.

Moving a little closer, he was now against Olivia.

His lips gently brushed against Olivia's neck.

Instinctively, Olivia shivered and her body tensed up.

Looking at Olivia in this state, a devilish grin appeared at the corners of Daniel's mouth as his eyes narrowed.

"Mrs. Marshall, think carefully before asking me, think carefully about whether you want to know me or not. Only a three-year-old child would believe everything others say, only they would not have the ability to discern. Hearsay is unreliable."

Olivia rolled her eyes at him.

She won't listen to Daniel, and she won't allow him to control her.

Ha... All he can do is criticize others, he never reflects on himself. He never realizes how arrogant he is!

Does he even know how annoying he is!

Suddenly, Daniel pulled her closer, making Olivia face him, "Mrs. Marshall, keep your distance from Benjamin Johnson, and stay away from Matthew.."
