

Every Night 50

Chapter 50: Honeymoon?

Bella Thompson, always astute, certainly understood the implications in Fiona's words. A smirk tugged at the corners of her mouth, her eyes twinkling with a hint of amusement.

"Does Jay Bennett know that Daniel Marshall is married? I'm actually worried that she may not be able to handle that."

Fiona's gaze was dark, "I didn't ask, so as not to open up her old wounds."

Her eyes flashing brilliantly, Bella deliberately revealed: "Daniel and Olivia

Jenkins are going on their honeymoon. I thought he would have told you all."

Fiona's face quickly darkened, "We had dinner together last night, and he didn't mention it. He has been quite busy lately. Maybe they postponed the honeymoon. "

Having achieved her goal, Bella chimed in, "That must be it."

Fiona's expression turned sour, "Auntie, I don't have time to chat now; I'm quite busy here."

Bella's smile carried an inscrutable meaning, "You go ahead, then. I'll hang up."

As soon as she hung up, Fiona immediately called Daniel.

But there was no answer, and the call went to voicemail.

Without leaving a message, Fiona quickly made her way towards the vice president's office.

At this time of day, Daniel had yet to arrive at the Marshall Corporation which was quite unlike him. Consequently, Fiona went to find Adam Howard.

“Where is he? How come he isn’t at work?”

Fiona asked coldly, her voice carrying an authoritative tone and imperious demeanor that suggested she was the mistress of Marshall Corporation. Upon seeing this, Adam frowned and gave her a stern look.

“Have you lost your mind, Fiona?”

Fiona glared resentfully at Adam, showing a readiness to defy him, “You must know where Daniel is.”

Adam looked very serious, “Don’t you realize you’re becoming neurotic?”

Fiona was agitated and yelled at Adam, “It’s all because of Daniel!”

Adam said sternly: “Wake up, Fiona! If Daniel liked you, he wouldn’t have kept you waiting for so many years. The fact is that he doesn’t consider you. Even as a substitute, you are unworthy. You should let him go. There’s no point in clinging.”

Fiona’s eyes flickered with hatred, “Does he like Jay Bennett?”

Adam found Fiona ridiculous. His sister-in-law was the best.

Fiona’s foolish infatuation needed to be brought to an end by his sister-in-law.

“I’m not sure. If you want to know, ask him yourself. Fiona, as a friend for many years, I’m advising you not to play with fire. It’s not your place to meddle in Daniel’s private affairs. If there are things you shouldn’t say, even they rot inside, don’t carelessly utter them. Otherwise, he won’t forgive you.”

Fiona ignored Adam’s warning. She gave him a fierce look and walked off arrogantly.

Adam frowned and immediately sent a message to his boss's private phone.

[Just now, Fiona questioned your whereabouts. It seems that Bella has been inquiring about you.]

Very soon, Daniel replied.

[Ignore her.]

[She asked about you and Jay Bennett.]

[Jay Bennett's performance was canceled. She's leaving Serene City today. She and Fiona don't know each other well, and she doesn't want to deal with her.]

[I'm just worried that Fiona will start making irresponsible remarks.]

[If she still wants to stay in Marshall Corporation, she'll keep her mouth shut.

If she dares to harm Jay Bennett, she knows I'll kick her out immediately.]

[That's settled then, have a good rest.]

Having finished reading the messages from Adam, Daniel put away his private phone.

At this moment, Olivia Jenkins emerged from the bathroom, paying no attention to Daniel.

However, Daniel kept his eyes on her.

After her bath, Olivia's delicate skin had taken on a rosy glow, shimmering with a pearly lustrous under the light...

Her captivating charm made her irresistibly attractive.

Effortlessly, her presence aroused his interest.

Unconsciously, Daniel narrowed his deep-set eyes, "Olivia Jenkins, you're deliberately seducing me!"
