

Every Night 64

Chapter 64: Share Some Wonton with Me

Before seven o'clock, Adam Howard brought breakfast over.

Adam's eyes were filled with laughter, "I'm so happy, I couldn't sleep all night. When I left this morning, no one was following me anymore. I called Simon, and he said that those people had withdrawn overnight."

With a sharp glint in her eyes, Olivia asked casually: "What happened that made you so happy?"

Adam fell silent, looking at Daniel Marshall.

Daniel's expression remained unchanged, he prepared to eat the porridge Olivia had served him.

He did not even glance at Adam.

The boss did not change his face or warn him, meaning he could tell his sister-in-law. Adam quickly turned his gaze and told the truth.

"I had a chat with the dean and heard that Sebastian Thompson's condition is pretty serious. Due to drowning for too long, burst diseases can be severe, such as brain damage, lung sensation, and so on. Although he managed to survive, I guess he's in for a difficult time, and he suffered enough."

Olivia frowned slightly, "I can imagine how sad my mother-in-law must be, she definitely won't recover for a while."

Daniel slightly raised his eyelid to glance at Olivia, "Aren't you going to have breakfast?"

"These date cakes are delicious, of course I'm going to eat them. There are also dumplings, which I love. Don't worry, I won't eat your porridge, nor will I fight with you for it."

Olivia glanced at Daniel, then started eating her dumplings, ignoring him.

Sensing the atmosphere was off, Adam hurriedly left.

Olivia was enjoying her meal, while Daniel didn't take a bite of his porridge, instead his gaze was fixed on Olivia. "Pass me two dumplings."

"I've eaten, they've got my saliva."

"Haven't you eaten mine before?" Daniel retorted confidently, his hawk-like eyes focused on Olivia.

Olivia immediately rolled her eyes.

Reluctantly, she shared two dumplings with Daniel, and also gave him a serving of soup.

Just one serving, Daniel finished the two dumplings.

He also finished the soup.

"Tomorrow morning, I want to eat dumplings too. Don't give me porridge anymore. Can we remove the urine bag today?"

Her long eyelashes trembled slightly, Olivia looked at Daniel, "It should be able to remove it in the afternoon.'

"Share me some more dumplings." Daniel's voice was warm and deep.

Olivia narrowed her eyes and frowned.

After hesitating for a few seconds, Olivia simply stopped eating and gave the thermal box to Daniel.

Daniel ate the dumplings with the spoon that Olivia had used, his thin, passionate face was extremely calm, and his gaze was unusually peaceful.

Olivia pursed her lips, glanced at Daniel.

This bastard has no shame!

She was annoyed, but Olivia did not show it.

Before her grandmother could speak, Hannah softly stated, "Dad, George and I are not here to work at the Jenkins Group, we are here to persuade you to move back home with grandmother."

Mrs. Jenkins opened her eyes wide in surprise.

Before she could respond, Hannah reassured her, "Grandma, we are sorry! We really don't want to see a broken family. We all need dad. George and I discussed, and we won't join Jenkins Group. George wants to start his own business, and I will make a name for myself through my own abilities. You don't need to worry about us."

Mrs. Jenkins felt deep love for her darling grandchildren, "With your grandmother backing you, you can have a stable position at the Jenkins Group.

After all, the Jenkins Group originally belonged to you."

Hannah shook her head, "In my heart, a happy family is the most important. I only want us to be together as a family, everything else can be given up."

Mrs. Jenkins glared at Andrew, "Look, the children are more sensible than you.

If you continue to favor Olivia, you are really not worthy to be a father..”