

Ex's Brother 1215

Chapter 1215

he was an actor, and the most successful character he had played was the man called "the man called ji wei."

!!

however, as she was acting, she put her heart into it.

before lu chen became the king of the silver screen, he was secretly hired by a female ceo called ji wei.

the first time they had met, in the hotel, she had said three words to him: "strip, kneel, and get, out!"

at that time, he had thought that whoever dared to marry such a cruel woman in the future would be a fool. in the end, he became that idiot.

...

the female lead was ji wei, also known as the commission for discipline inspection.

the commission for discipline inspection was a little beautiful, but also a little overbearing.

in the face of other flirtatious women trying to please her, she said, my principle of keeping a mistress is only seven words: thick enough, long enough, and good-looking enough. and you happen to be lacking all of them.

facing lu chen, she said, 'of course you have freedom, it's within my permission. she also said, "shut up, my hands are not tired yet, so you can't shoot." she also said, 'lu chen, you can be the nation's best actor, but you can only be mine.'

for him, she had given up everything. please give our ceo ji your full support!

the male protagonist was lu chen, who was also known as 'chengcheng' and 'brother lu' by the people of the martial arts world.

the male protagonist had a pair of long legs, a pair of red phoenix eyes, and an infatuated heart.

this is a heartwarming story about how i treat ceo ji like my first love after he abuses me a million times.

as the love letter in the novel wrote,"i've spent my whole life with you, deskmate, bed mate, and coffin mate."

believe in ge 'er, she won't let you down. please support your new book!

to all the readers.

ge 'er's new book,"mr. best actor, please be favored!" it's already over 100000 words, and it's currently in xiaoxiang academy's 2p. the pk data isn't very good, and it needs everyone's support. please move next door and pay more attention to the new book, click on the favorites, follow up on the novel, and cheer for ge 'er.

new book introduction

he was an actor, and the most successful character he had played was the man called "the man called ji wei."

however, as she was acting, she put her heart into it.

before lu chen became the king of the silver screen, he was secretly hired by a female ceo called ji wei.

the first time they had met, in the hotel, she had said three words to him: "strip, kneel, and get, out!"

at that time, he had thought that whoever dared to marry such a cruel woman in the future would be a fool. in the end, he became that idiot.

...

the female lead was ji wei, also known as the commission for discipline inspection.

the commission for discipline inspection was a little beautiful, but also a little overbearing.

in the face of other flirtatious women trying to please her, she said, my principle of keeping a mistress is only seven words: thick enough, long enough, and good-looking enough. and you happen to be lacking all of them.

facing lu chen, she said, 'of course you have freedom, it's within my permission. she also said, "shut up, my hands are not tired yet, so you can't shoot." she also said, 'lu chen, you can be the nation's best actor, but you can only be mine.'

for him, she had given up everything. please give our ceo ji your full support!

the male protagonist was lu chen, who was also known as 'chengcheng' and 'brother lu' by the people of the martial arts world.

the male protagonist had a pair of long legs, a pair of red phoenix eyes, and an infatuated heart.

this is a heartwarming story about how i treat ceo ji like my first love after he abuses me a million times.

as the love letter in the novel wrote, "i've spent my whole life with you, deskmate, bed mate, and coffin mate."

believe in ge 'er, she won't let you down. please support your new book!