

Read Reincarnation: I Married My Ex's Brother

Chapter 2 English: Twin sister

"Look at me, you have forgotten, you are now dumb and can't speak."

'Qiao Jiusheng' deliberately made an annoyed expression. She pinched the woman's chin and forced her to open her mouth.'Qiao Jiusheng' glanced at the woman's tongueless mouth with a smile, and then let go of her hand in disgust.

"Today is August 15th, it's your and my birthday. I'm coming to see you." said the beauty.

The women on the ground reacted faintly.

August 15th?

That said, she has been imprisoned for six months. Before, she felt that time flies so fast, but now she feels that time flies so long, so long, she feels that being alive is a torture.

"A good thing happened recently. I can't wait to share it with my sister." Qiao Jiusheng said to himself, as he opened the box beside him, there were two delicate mooncakes inside. 'Qiao Jiusheng' opened the moon cake and gracefully fed it to the mouth of the woman below him.

The woman did not open her mouth, and 'Qiao Jiusheng' chilled her beautiful face, and said in a tone of voice, "If you don't eat, I'll break your teeth and you will never be able to eat again in this life."

The pupils of her eyes shrank slightly, and the woman opened her mouth, chewing on the bean paste-flavored moon cake with hatred in her eyes.

In the past, every August 15th, they would eat moon cakes together. It's not how important the Mid-Autumn Festival is, it's just because they were all born on this day. Others' Mid-Autumn Festival is their sister's birthday. Yes, they are sisters, or sisters of identical twins.

They look the same, they are the same height, and there is no difference in their voices. It's rare for twins to look like them.

Seeing the woman ate moon cakes, 'Qiao Jiusheng' smiled with satisfaction. After smiling, she suddenly said, "I'm pregnant."

The lips of the woman on the ground chewing on something suddenly stopped moving.

Smiling and watching the funny reaction of the embarrassed woman on the ground, 'Qiao Jiusheng' touched his stomach and said softly, "Qiao Jiusheng, I am pregnant with Fang Mu's child."

This scene is very strange.

The woman named "Qiao Jiusheng" called Qiao Jiusheng to the woman on the ground who looked the same as her.

No one knows that Qiao Jiusheng, who should really marry Fang Mu, has long been imprisoned by Qiao Jiusheng's twin sister. Six months ago, the Fang's sisters drove to a county-level city in Binjiang City to have fun. The car lost control and fell into the river in heavy rain.

The billowing river swept away the sisters. In the end, although the police found the sisters, they died for a lifetime. The police asked for the name of the rescued girl. The rescued girl looked at Fang Mu who was rushing over, shaking her body, and said with a face of fear, "My name is Qiao Jiusheng."

Fang Mu hugged 'Qiao Jiusheng', without doubting whether her words were true or false.

Qiao Jiuyin and Qiao Jiusheng have been close since they were young, and there is hardly any secret between the two. After getting to know Fang Mu, Qiao Jiusheng often told her sister about her and Fang Mu's affairs. From his sister's mouth, Qiao Jiuyin knew what a good man Fang Mu was.

Later, Qiao Jiuyin also met Fang Mu, a handsome man who was indifferent to many people, but gentle to Qiao Jiusheng. With Fang Mu's good looks for Qiao Jiusheng in his eyes, Qiao Jiuyin's mind gradually became distorted.

Such a good Fang Mu, why should he fall in love with her sister?

Obviously, she looks exactly like her sister!

Qiao Jiuyin surreptitiously changed posts and replaced his sister's existence. No one had ever doubted Qiao Jiuyin's identity, and even Fang Mu hadn't noticed it. Three months later, Qiao Jiuyin dove occupied the magpie's nest and married Fang Mu as Qiao Jiusheng. In another three months, Qiao Jiuyin became pregnant...

Everyone thought that Qiao Jiuyin was dead, but they didn't know that the second grandmother who successfully married into Fang's family was the real Qiao Jiuyin. Everyone thought that Qiao Jiusheng married Fang Mu and lived a happy life. They did not know that Qiao Jiusheng was still alive, and the dead body found was just a substitute for the dead ghost arranged by Qiao Jiuyin early.

The real Qiao Jiusheng had long been salvaged by the people Qiao Jiuyin arranged in the lower reaches of the river, and was imprisoned in a damp room. She had her tongue cut off and became a mute, and watched her favorite man marry her sister who had murdered her.

Hearing Qiao Jiuyin said that she was pregnant, Qiao Jiusheng vomited out all the mooncakes in her mouth. She opened her mouth and began to cry silently without any sound for several hours.

Qiao Jiuyin watched Qiao Jiusheng die better than life, and couldn't help but smile softly.

"My good sister, you will be imprisoned by me for a lifetime, you will watch me and Fang Mu happy for a lifetime, watch me give birth to him, and you are destined to only live in this twenty square hut. There will be no light for a lifetime."

There was a brilliant smile on the beauty's face, but it was a chilling smile.

No data found.