

Ex Convict 2081

Chapter 2081

"It does seem fast." Lina touched her stomach before looking at Kyla. She asked, "By the way, Kyla, is Nelson doing okay? Are there any other kids at school who are picking on him?"

"He's doing okay. I don't think he gets bullied at school anymore. After you backed him up, the principal and teachers learned that he has the Reed family and the Stephenson family supporting him. So they're cautious with him!" said Kyla.

"That's good," said Lina.

The three chatted as they ate. When talking about Chase Harper's daughter Juliet Harper, Lina also said she would like to see the adorable child after giving birth.

Just then, the waiter served a plate of beef entrails. Lina said, "Hey, try this out. Beef entrails are this restaurant's specialty. I didn't like them before, but now I love them."

The spicy smell rushed to the tip of her nose, and Kyla suddenly felt nauseous. She instantly got up, covered her mouth, and hurried toward the washroom in the private room.

Kyla bent over the sink as she threw up.

After some time, she had thrown up everything she ate and felt a little better.

After rinsing her mouth, she looked up at her pale face. She took a breath, cleaned herself up, and left the washroom.

"Kyla, what was that? Are you not feeling well?" asked Grace.

"It's just that... the beef entrails smell a little intense. I suddenly had the urge to throw up. It's nothing. I think it's because I haven't had spicy food in a long time," said Kyla.

"If the smell is intense, let's take it away," Lina said quickly.

"No, I feel much better now. You should continue eating. I'll just watch you eat," Kyla said quickly. Lina loved the dish and had recommended it to everyone, after all.

When the meal was over, the three walked out of the restaurant.

Lina suddenly trembled and stopped.

"What's the matter?" Grace and Kyla also stopped and looked at Lina.

She seemed a little pale as her hands covered her bulging belly with a deep frown.

"The baby's kicking hard. It's a little different than usual," said Lina.

The baby usually would not kick this hard. They kept kicking, making her uneasy.

Grace and Kyla froze. Having the baby kicking abnormally in the third trimester was never a good thing.

Grace said to Lina, "Let's go to the hospital! I'll drive you there!"

Just then, a tall figure and another short figure headed toward

Lina.

It was a middle-aged man in his 30 and a little boy who looked to be about seven or eight years old.

The little boy was good-looking. He was like a flash of bright color. He stood out in the crowd.

He already looked like this when he was young. Who knew how good-looking he would be when he grew up?

The boy walked up to Lina. His beautiful eyes stared at Lina's bulging belly closely as if he was looking at something.

Grace and her friends did not have time to bother about the strange child. Grace said to Kyla, "I'll go get my car. Wait here with Lina."

"Okay!" responded Kyla.

Chapter 2082

Lina's face looked paler and paler.

Just then, the strange boy suddenly stretched out his hand and pressed his small palm on Lina's belly.

Kyla and Lina were startled. Kyla raised her hand to remove the little boy's hand from Lina's belly.

However, the middle-aged man standing behind the little boy suddenly said, "Don't touch him. You can't afford the consequences of touching Little Young Master."

Kyla froze. The man spoke so confidently. It was as if something bad... would happen if she removed the little boy's hand.

Just as she hesitated, Lina gasped and said, "Kyla... It... It's alright..."

She could feel the strong and rapid kicking of the baby slowing down and becoming normal after the boy put his hand on her belly.

Kyla did not touch the little boy when she saw that Lina was seemingly getting better.

The little boy withdrew his hand after a while. He looked up and stared at Lina. "What would it take for you to give her to me?"

Lina froze. She was still in a trance. When she saw the boy's fingers pointing to her belly, she realized the child was talking about the baby.

Although the little boy and the middle-aged man behind him looked rather peculiar, Lina thought they did not mean any harm.

Especially since her baby's kicking calmed down a lot after the child touched her.

"This baby is my treasure, so I can't give them to you," Lina said with a slight smile.

"You can't?" The boy frowned. "But I want to be with her. I can give you anything you want."

Looking at the little one's seriousness, Lina could not help laughing. "The baby's still in my belly, and I don't even know if they're a boy or a girl. Yet you want to be with the baby?"

"It's a girl!" the boy said with great certainty.

Lina looked surprised. She did not even know the gender of the baby, but the child was so sure that she was pregnant with a girl.

The child was too serious at making things up.

Kyla was also visibly surprised.

Lina then quipped, "If you want to be with my daughter, you can marry her after she's born!"

Tupier LUUL

The little boy blinked his beautiful eyes. Then, he turned to the middle-aged man and asked, "If I marry her, can I be with her all the time?"

The 'her' referred to the baby in Lina's belly.

The man replied respectfully, "If a man and a woman reach the legal age and become husband and wife, they can stay together all the time."

"Alright!" The little boy looked up at Lina again. "I'll marry her when she's of legal age."

"Huh?" Lina was instantly dumbfounded, unable to keep up with the little boy's eccentric thinking.

The man standing next to the little boy looked as if everything his little young master said was right.

Just then, Grace had already driven over and said to Lina and Kyla, "Get in the car. We'll go to the hospital."

Chapter 2083

"The baby's not kicking so much anymore. They're behaving just the same as usual," said Lina.

"Huh? They're back to normal?"

"Yeah, the little boy just put his hand on my belly, and I..." When Lina spoke, she looked toward where the little boy was standing but found that the little boy and the middle-aged man had disappeared.

Kyla said to Lina, "Let's get in the car first. We'll go to the hospital and have it checked anyway. After all, it's unusual for the baby to kick intensely all of a sudden."

Lina thought about it and agreed, so she got into the car. Grace then drove to the hospital Lina's obstetric record was registered.

Lina was a VIP patient here. She did not need to wait in line after registering. A specialist instantly consulted her. The specialist took it seriously after learning that the baby had been kicking unusually. They immediately heard the baby's heartbeat and arranged for an ultrasound.

Grace and Kyla waited nervously outside.

Just then, Kyla's expression suddenly changed. She instantly stood up, covered her mouth, and ran toward the hospital's washroom.

"Blaargh... Blaargh..." She threw up at the sink for quite some time before she finally stopped.

Kyla gargled her mouth and looked at her pale face in the mirror. 'What's wrong with me? I've thrown up twice in a row today.'

When she came out of the washroom and returned to the ultrasound waiting area, she saw Grace looking at her anxiously.

"Kyla, what was that just now? Are you okay?" asked Grace.

Kyla said, "It's probably just my stomach. I just threw up and am feeling better now. Maybe it was something I ate that's upsetting my stomach. I'll just take two pills for my stomach later."

Grace hesitated a little before asking with hesitation, "Kyla, did something... happen between you and Martin Weiss recently?"

When she went to the store to visit Kyla and Nelson, Mrs. Corbyn had mentioned Martin Weiss visiting Kyla.

Kyla's expression instantly changed when she heard that. Then, the color in her face suddenly disappeared as if she had recalled something.

Grace could not help sighing to herself when she saw Kyla's reaction. It seemed that something did happen between Kyla and Martin Weiss.

Besides, Kyla must have paled because she had also thought of that possibility.

"Kyla, we're in the hospital right now. Why don't you... take a blood test?" Grace said euphemistically.

"No thanks." Kyla shook her head in a fluster. She stumbled a little as if she could not stand on her feet.

"Grace, I suddenly feel a little sick. I... I'm gonna go home first. I'm sorry that you have to look after Lina alone. Let... Let me know if you need anything."

Kyla said and almost fled the hospital in a panic.

Grace looked at Kyla's back and understood what she was afraid

Kyla had been trying to distance herself from Martin Weiss, but if Kyla were pregnant with Martin Weiss's child just as she expected, then... their relationship would probably have to be more chaotic!

Even though Grace wanted to help Kyla, she did not know what to do all of a sudden.

Just then, Lina walked out of the ultrasound room. When she did

Chapter 2084

Grace said, "She's not feeling well and has gone home first. What about you? How are you?"

"I'm fine. Everything is normal, but the doctor still told me to pay attention to the baby's kicking. I have to come to the hospital immediately if the baby is suddenly kicking unusually again," said Lina.

"Then you have to be careful. Why don't I send you home?" said Grace.

"Sure," Lina answered. After a while, she said, "Oh, I wonder what's wrong with Kyla. She didn't seem well this noon."

Grace could not make any comment. After all, it was only her speculation, and Kyla had not done any tests either.

Grace told Jason about Kyla's possible pregnancy in the evening.

"If Kyla is indeed pregnant, what do you think will happen to her relationship with Martin Weiss?" asked Grace.

Jason smiled faintly. "I can't say for sure. But judging from Kyla's previous attitude toward Martin Weiss, I'm afraid she won't get together with Martin Weiss just because of a child."

If it were true that they could get together because of a child, Kyla would have gotten together with Martin Weiss because of Nelson.

"But if Kyla really doesn't want to be with Martin Weiss and she's indeed pregnant, will Martin Weiss want everything to go on as usual? Or... will he do anything to get Kyla?" Grace said worriedly.

"It makes sense if Martin Weiss does anything. If it were me, I would too," Jason said nonchalantly.

Grace froze and looked at Jason. "You would too?"

"Yes, I would." He looked straight at her.

She suddenly recalled what had happened. "When... I was pregnant... If I had refused to marry you, would you... have done anything to force me to marry you?"

Jason's eyes glimmered slightly as he gently took Grace's hand and said, "Would you hate me if I said yes?" Perhaps he could follow her thinking and tell a lie that would please her.

However, he did not want to do so. He had promised to be honest with her and would no longer hide things from her.

Grace looked blankly at Jason. Although she did not like people 'doing something' to her to get what they wanted, there was no way she could hate it when that person was Jay.

She shook her head and could not help asking, "What would you do?"

"What's the matter? Do you want to guess what Martin Weiss would do from my answer?" asked Jason.

“...” Grace said nothing as if she was saying yes tacitly.

“If it were me, I would grab your weakest point. I’d just hold on to anything you can’t afford to lose and the things you value the most,” said Jason.

His elegant voice sounded like a violin, but it made Grace tremble.

What he said was lethal, just like his usual style. It was why many would warn others not to mess with Jason in Emerald City, or you would not even know how you died.

“If you still refused, then... maybe I’d keep you with me for the rest of my life, or...” He paused as his gorgeous peach blossom eyes looked at her gently. “I’d let you leave and drive myself insane.”

Chapter 2085

If it were in the past, he would have chosen to lock her up and keep her with him forever with no hesitation. However, when you love someone so deeply, you would feel unbearably miserable when they were miserable.

Grace’s heart ached. Although it was just a hypothetical situation, she thought it was cruel to make him answer it upon hearing him say this.

“You won’t drive yourself insane, and I won’t leave you!” She flung her arms open and embraced him hard.

Jason looked down at the person hugging him, and a smile appeared on his lips. He slowly leaned over and rested his head on her shoulder. “You won’t leave me, and I won’t leave you.”

Grace hugged him for quite a long time before calming down. Then, she laughed at herself. “Hey, what’s wrong with us? We were just talking about Kyla and Martin Weiss, but...”

She paused. “Is Martin Weiss really going to do that to Kyla?”

“Maybe.” It was all Jason could say.

After all, he was not Martin Weiss, and his assumption might not be 100% accurate. Besides, the human heart was fickle. Anything could change.

“Then...” Grace hesitated as if she was wondering what to say.

“What’s the matter? Do you want me to help you? Do you want to protect Kyla if Martin Weiss is going to force Kyla?” Jason seemed to have read her mind.

“Yeah.” She nodded. “But this will cause conflicts between the Reed family and the Weiss family, which might impact the Reed family’s business.”

After all, Martin Weiss was influential in the market. If the Weiss family did declare war on the Reed family, it was hard to say how much the Reed family's businesses would be affected and how much they would lose.

'But... Kyla!' Grace pitied Kyla.

Besides, everyone had concerns about her ex-convict identity when she was looking for a job back then. Only Kyla was willing to give her a chance and treat her with kindness.

Kyla was kind to her, and she wanted to protect Kyla as best she could.

"So what?" Jason smiled casually. "If you want to protect Kyla, then I'll do it for you."

He spoke so nonchalantly as if it was an easy thing to do.

"But what if Martin Weiss..."

"No matter what Martin Weiss wants to do, I'll protect the person you want to protect. Grace, I told you I can give you everything you want, even my life. Let alone protecting a person," said Jason.

Grace's nose felt a little sore.

This was the man she loved. The man loved her with all he had!

How could she not love him?

"Jay, thank you, and..." She cupped his face and put her lips on his. "I love you!"

She loved him. It was as if she loved him a little more every day.

"Me too!" He responded to her kiss like he was intoxicated.

She was the only person who could make him so infatuated!

Kyla was ill at ease all night. She even signed the wrong page when her son needed a parent to sign his homework.

"Mommy, what's come over you?" Even Nelson saw that something was wrong with his mother.

"N-Nothing, I'm just a little tired today." Kyla hurried to find an excuse.

"Then you should rest earlier, Mommy!" Nelson said sensibly.

Chapter 2086

"Okay." Kyla smiled.

After her son went to bed, she suddenly felt hungry, so she cooked a packet of instant noodles to eat.

However, that nausea came back again after only a few mouthfuls.

She immediately rushed to the kitchen sink and threw up.

“Blaargh... Blaargh...” She kept vomiting. Though she tried desperately to suppress the feeling, it only became more and more intense.

Finally, she stopped when she almost collapsed from throwing

1.

Kyla trembled as she gargled and washed the sink clean. Finally, she sat down in a chair with the soggy instant noodles in front of her.

Her hand slowly touched her belly. She vaguely knew the answer, but she did not want to admit it nor face it.

If she was pregnant, what was she going to do? What would happen to her relationship with Martin Weiss?

“No, it won’t be that coincidental. It was just one time. How is that possible...” she murmured. She wanted to deny it, but tears were already running down her eyes. Kyla was sleepless that night.

In the following days, Kyla’s morning sickness continued. Mrs. Corbyn even caught her vomiting a few times.

“What’s come over you? Are you having an upset stomach? Why don’t I get some medicine for your stomach?” asked Mrs. Corbyn.

“No thanks. I... I’ll go to the hospital this afternoon,” said Kyla, looking a little pale. No matter how she denied it, her frequent vomiting reminded her of the reality she did not want to face the most.

In the afternoon, Kyla came to the hospital and registered to see a gynecologist.

She only needed to do a blood test to find out whether she was pregnant. It would only take half an hour!

However, when she saw the numbers on the blood test, Kyla felt like she was struck by lightning.

‘Pregnant! Am I really pregnant?’

‘I got pregnant again... from that one time!’

She tried to distance herself from him, but reality slapped her hard.

The gynecologist looked through her blood test results and said, "You're pregnant. When was your last period?"

Kyla gave them a date.

The doctor said, "You're four weeks pregnant. Come back the next day for a blood test to see if the numbers double."

Kyla walked out of the hospital in silence. 'Pregnant... I'm really pregnant. What should I do... with the baby?

'Having an abortion would be the most sensible thing to do.

'Abort the child and act as if nothing ever happened. Martin Weiss and I would proceed our lives with the way it's supposed to be.

'That's what I want, right?'

'But... that's human life! The baby is growing in my womb now. Am I willing to abort them?'

When she was unjustly imprisoned, she was reluctant to abort Nelson even under such difficult circumstances. She was willing to give up her life to give birth to Nelson, let alone now!

Things were so much better now. Giving birth to the baby would not be as difficult as it was back then.

Chapter 2087

Kyla returned to the store with a lot on her mind.

Mrs. Corbyn asked, "What was it? What did the doctor say about your vomiting?"

"They just asked me to... eat blander food," said Kyla. After a pause, she said, "Mom, what will you say if I have another child?"

She was now 35 years old. Although she was considered an older mother, many people could still give birth after 35 with the help of modern medicine.

Mrs. Corbyn froze, then said with a laugh, "Oh, you. Have you finally come around after I've been nagging you all these years? You're still young. You can find the right person, start a new family, and have another baby. Your relationship will grow stronger too."

Kyla immediately knew that her mother had misunderstood when she heard that.

However, Mrs. Corbyn continued saying, "Are you interested in Chase? I think Chase is a nice man. Juliet and Nelson hit it off too. I approve it if you're thinking of starting a new family with him."

"Mom, no. What are you thinking? I'm not starting a new family with anyone. I just... suddenly wondered if I could have more children."

“How can you get more children if you don’t start a new family? Don’t tell me you’re adopting,” said Mrs. Corbyn. After all, her daughter was not well off. She could not afford to adopt another child.

Kyla shook her head with a bitter smile. “No, it’s not what you think.” With that said, she went to work on other things without waiting for her mother to answer.

A day later, Kyla went to the hospital for a blood test again.

Even she could not explain why she did it. She could just abort the baby if she did not want them. There was no need to take a pregnancy test.

Perhaps... she had tacitly agreed to keep the baby?

Kyla was deep in a trance in the hospital’s blood drawing hall. She did not notice Martin Weiss standing at the entrance.

Martin Weiss did not expect to run into Kyla here.

He came to the hospital today to see the hospital’s liver transplant specialist. He was still a little worried about Kyla’s occasional pain in her liver, so he made an appointment to consult the specialist.

However, he did not expect to meet her in the hospital.

‘Is she... ill?’

Martin Weiss wanted to walk up to her but suddenly stopped after taking two steps forward!

His mind flashed back to what she had said to him that day in the hotel room.

What had happened between them that night was just a nightmare for her.

Everything he longed for was not what she wanted.

Her angry, tearful accusation was an excruciating punishment to him. Perhaps he should just keep his distance from her, just like how he had silently hidden in the dark and left her alone before this.

Martin Weiss turned sideways, found a spot in the corner, and quietly looked at Kyla.

Kyla finished drawing her blood and sat in a chair to wait for the blood test report. Half an hour passed by quickly. Kyla read the blood test report after she got it. There was a bitter smile on her face as she headed to the outpatient department.

Kyla never realized Martin Weiss was here.

Martin Weiss’s eyes were full of confusion.

‘What’s on her blood test? Why did she show such a bitter smile after reading the blood test? Is there... something wrong with

Chapter 2088

Martin Weiss only felt his heart clench at the thought of this. Even his body was trembling faintly.

‘Nothing can happen to her! Nothing!’

She meant more to him than anyone else. He could not live in a world without her!

When Kyla left the hospital, a black car followed her slowly.

Martin Weiss was looking at Kyla’s back when his phone rang suddenly.

Martin Weiss picked up the phone and asked sternly, “What’s wrong with her?”

“Mr. Weiss, Miss Corbyn isn’t sick. She’s pregnant.” The person on the other end of the line told him their latest findings. “Miss Corbyn is now four weeks pregnant. She took another blood test today, and everything is fine...”

The person on the other end of the line was still saying something else, but Martin Weiss could no longer hear them.

He was focusing on the figure not far away.

‘She’s... pregnant?’

Without thinking twice, he was confident that it must have been from that night. The baby she was carrying must have been from that night!

The baby was their child!

Martin Weiss’s eyes were suddenly full of warm tears.

Child... Child... He did not cherish and take good care of their first child, causing her to have such a hard time giving birth to Nelson. He was even born deaf.

This time, he would not make the same mistake again!

He would protect their children. He would spend his whole life... treasuring this child and not letting them get hurt!

Kyla was still struggling with what to do. If she gave birth out of wedlock, she would have to face all sorts of gossip. What would her mother and Nelson do, then?

“If you don’t want the baby, medical abortion has to be done within 49 days of pregnancy. Of course, the earlier the better. And the easier it is to get rid of the baby. If you do it after more than 49 days, surgery is the only option and it’s more damaging to your health.” The doctor’s words echoed in Kyla’s ears.

As Kyla was about to board the bus, a hand suddenly seized her wrist.

Kyla froze. Turning her head, she caught sight of Martin Weiss’s face

Panting, he grabbed her and would not let her board the bus.

“Hey, are you getting in or not?” the driver asked impatiently.

“Yes,” Kyla said quickly and tried to withdraw her hand.

However, Martin Weiss continued gripping it and said to the driver, “She’s not boarding the bus!”

Kyla watched the doors close before her eyes, and the bus slowly drove away from the station.

“You...” Kyla glared at Martin Weiss. “What on earth do you want? I thought we made things clear the other day!”

Martin Weiss said, “Not at all. You never said anything about what we should do if you got pregnant!”

Kyla instantly stiffened as her pupils constricted suddenly. ‘Does... Does he know I’m pregnant? He knew what I never even told my mother?’

Chapter 2089

Martin Weiss seemed to see the panic and tension in her eyes and said, “Yes, I know you’re pregnant! You’re four weeks pregnant. The baby is from that night!”

He was not even asking but affirming!

It was as if he was confident that she was carrying his baby!

Kyla only felt her palms and back breaking out in a cold sweat. Even so, she still denied it. “I don’t know what you’re talking about. I’m not pregnant. Martin Weiss, you’re overthinking.”

He suddenly sneered. “Do you want me to take you to the hospital and meet the doctor who diagnosed you so that you’ll admit it?”

“You investigated me?” Her voice sharpened.

“I didn’t mean to investigate you. I just happened to see you in the hospital and was worried about your health. I wanted to know what was wrong with you,” he said, but it was from that incident that he found out about her pregnancy!

“If I never found out, were you going to keep it a secret from me forever?” he asked as he moved closer to her.

She pressed her somewhat dry lips together. “It’s none of your business.”

He said, “How is it none of my business? You’re carrying our baby. I’m the father, and you’re saying it’s none of my business?”

“This baby...” Kyla had just started speaking when the familiar feeling of nausea suddenly surged again. She could not help but throw up all over him.

His crisp suit was stained with her vomit, but she continued vomiting.

“Blaargh... Blaargh...” Kyla bent over as she threw up violently.

Martin Weiss seemed flustered as he could only blankly watch her throw up non-stop.

The last time she got pregnant, she was sent to jail. He was never involved in her pregnancy, nor did he know that morning sickness could be so severe that it was as if one was going to throw up everything in one's stomach.

When Kyla finally stopped throwing up, she looked up and saw Martin Weiss's pale face.

However, he looked worse than she did now.

"Your clothes..." Then, her eyes fell on his suit that was stained with her vomit.

"Why did you throw up like that?" he asked in a mutter.

"It's just morning sickness."

However, her explanation did not put him at ease. He unbuttoned and removed his vomit-stained suit jacket. He grabbed her toward the car parked by the roadside.

She twisted her wrist as she struggled. "Martin Weiss, where are you taking me?"

"To the hospital!" he said.

15 minutes later, Kyla returned to the consultation room she was in earlier and faced the doctor she met not long ago.

The doctor explained to Martin Weiss that throwing up like that was normal. Only when the mother was throwing up too much and it affected her nutritional absorption did she need drug treatment and intervention.

The doctor said, "We generally don't recommend medication to stop throwing up during the first trimester of pregnancy."

"Should I just let her throw up so much, then?" asked Martin

Weiss.

The doctor suggested, "She can eat some food that will help with the vomiting, such as prunes, oranges, and so on. Anything with a slightly sour taste might help pregnant women with the vomiting."

Chapter 2090

Kyla sat at the side, thinking of what to do next.

Martin Weiss knew she was pregnant now. Then, in the future...

Just then, a whisper rang in Kyla's car. "Hey, is this man your husband? Your husband seems so concerned about you. Mine never cared about my morning sickness. You're lucky."

'Lucky?' Kyla smiled bitterly.

This woman would not call her lucky if she knew what she had been through.

When Kyla and Martin Weiss left the hospital, Martin Weiss said, "I think we need to find a place to talk."

She hesitated a little but did not refuse.

After all, they did need to talk through this situation.

“Let’s find a place close by. I don’t want to walk very far,” said Kyla.

Martin Weiss found a private room in a restaurant near the hospital and ordered some desserts. “Your stomach is empty after throwing up so much. Eat something. The doctor said you can eat something light if you have severe morning sickness early in the pregnancy.”

Kyla did not touch her chopsticks but looked at Martin Weiss and said, “You don’t need to do these for me. I’ll handle my pregnancy myself and won’t bother you.”

Martin Weiss instantly turned ghastly pale. “What do you mean you’ll handle it yourself? What do you mean you won’t bother me?”

Kyla took a deep breath. “Everything will go on as usual. Just like what we said before. It was an accident. Let’s pretend nothing happened!”

Martin Weiss suddenly sneered. “So are you going to pretend that the baby in your belly doesn’t exist?”

“I’ll take care of the baby myself,” she said.

“How?” he asked.

Her body shivered when she met his eyes. “How I take care of the baby is my business. It has nothing to do with you!”

“Kyla, how can you say I have nothing to do with this baby? They’re our baby. How could they have nothing to do with me?” said Martin Weiss as his deep eyes were full of pain.

Kyla looked away. Martin Weiss’s eyes made her feel indescribable guilt and panic.

“What am I guilty of? What am I panicking about?”

It was clear that Martin Weiss was responsible for everything that happened from the very beginning, while she was the one who suffered!

Martin Weiss got up, walked around the table, went to Kyla, and knelt. “Kyla, give me a chance to take good care of you and our children, okay? I did nothing when you were pregnant with Nelson, causing you to suffer. Will you let me do what I should do this time?”

Kyla looked down at Martin Weiss in front of her as a complex emotion welled up within her.

“I screamed your name over and over again in prison and wanted to die many times. It was the baby I was carrying that yanked me back from the brink of death and helped me survive...”

She mumbled about everything that had happened, and he unconsciously trembled.

Everything she said was stabbing his heart like the sharpest swords, telling him what pain was.

Unfortunately, this pain had no cure. As time went on, it became the pain of his life.

He did too many bad things in the past that he could not make up for it even now.
