

Ex Convict 2751

Chapter 2751

They replied with a smile, becoming friendlier with Valda Theller.

Just now, it seemed that Young Master Hart had decided to follow his girlfriend's advice, which showed that she was important to Young Master Hart.

During the meal, Valda Theller found out that the person she ran into was an important person in tMason Swansonty government. Now, she was dining with directors or assistant directors of the government office.

She had only seen these people on the political news.

It was rather like the last time she had accompanied Brian to the banquet and met people she would not normally meet.

"What do you do, Miss Theller?" someone asked.

"Oh, I draw comics," said Valda Theller.

"Comics? That's good. There'll be a comic festival in tMason Swansonty soon. Miss Theller, just let me know if you're interested in attending." The speaker was someone from the cultural affairs department.

"The magazine I work for has already signed up and applied for a booth," said Valda Theller, who had attended all of tMason Swansonty's comic festivals over the years.

Chapter 2751

"Okay, do come and show your support when the time comes," the person said.

2/4

Valda Theller smiled but did not take it to heart. She only thought they were being polite.

When eating, Brian would help her get helpings of food that were inconvenient for her to reach. He would also help her peel the shrimps.

Valda Theller said with a slightly red face, "I can do it myself."

"It's alright. I'll take care of it," he said.

His long fingers peeled the shrimps for her. Valda Theller even found his movements elegant. 'If Brian really wants to date, he'll be the perfect boyfriend,' she thought.

Everyone at the table watched and only smiled meaningfully.

After the meal, Valda Theller's face was already flushed.

When they left the restaurant, Brian took a box from the waiter.

"What is this?" Valda Theller asked curiously.

"It's the dessert you had at dinner just now. I noticed that you like it, so I asked the manager to make another one for takeaway. If you ever want to eat it again, you can call them. Their business card is in the box, and they'll charge the bill to me," he said.

Chapter 2751

Valda Theller was stunned. She did not expect Brian to pay attention to such details and notice that she liked the dessert.

3/4

"Thank you," she said.

"What's there to thank me for? My girlfriend enjoys it. As the boyfriend, I should give indulge her," said Brian as he looked at the time. "Where else do you want to go?"

She blinked. "Is this a date?"

"It's a date," said Brian.

"Then... why don't we go to the night market?" Valda Theller thought about it and said, "We're just in time for a stroll after dinner."

She wished she could be a part of his world. Similarly, she wished he could be a part of her world too.

Brian gazed at the woman in front of him and replied, "Okay, let's go to the night market."

They got into the car, and he drove off toward the night market.

Valda Theller chose a pedestrian street in Emerald City, where night market stalls were set up at night.

Chapter 2751

Chapter 2752

1/3

*She enjoyed coming here. Firstly, the prices were affordable, and she could bargain with the stall owners. Secondly, there would be some unique trinkets every now and then, like commemorative coins or handmade items. She would buy some when she saw them.

Brian's car stopped at the parking lot next to the night market. Valda Theller and Brian got out of the car and began to walk around the night market.

Many couples came to the night market. Valda Theller looked at the couples. They either linked their arms or were holding hands. People could tell they were a couple in one glance.

‘What about me... What do Brian and I look like to others?’ Valda Theller thought to herself as she glanced down at Brian’s hand drooping at the side.

His hands were pretty as his fingers were well-defined and slender. They looked just like the fingers of a comic’s male protagonist.

Suddenly, she felt an urge to hold his hand but was a little timid. What if her touch made him uncomfortable?

“What’s the matter?” His voice suddenly rang over her head.

Chapter 2752

2/3

She suddenly looked up into his dark phoenix eyes. Her confused face was reflected in his eyes.

“I...” Valda Theller seemed to muster up all her courage as she said, “I want to hold hands with you... Is that okay? We’re... a couple now. We’ll bond easier if we hold hands...” However, her voice grew quieter as it went on.

A look of surprise came over his eyes. Then, he came to his senses. “I hadn’t thought of that,” he said, actively reaching out to hold Valda Theller’s hand.

She felt a pang in her heart as she felt her right hand burn when he held it.

He... was holding her hand.

Though they had held hands in front of people before when they were pretending to be dating, she had never been so aware of his warmth reaching her body as they held hands.

For some reason, a familiar phrase crossed her mind all of a sudden... ‘Grow old together.

‘Can we do that?

‘Can we grow old together?’,

Valda Theller held hands with Brian and they strolled around the night market in a daze. She could feel many people’s eyes on them. It must be because of Brian.

Chapter 2752

He was like a spotlight.

Suddenly, she heard someone whispering, "This guy is so handsome. He looks just like the crown prince of the entertainment industry!"

"Come on. Would the crown prince walk around a night market holding a woman's hand?" someone else said.

"But he does look like him."

"I guess they just look alike."

Valda Theller looked at Brian and muttered, "Will anyone recognize you?"

"It's alright if they do," he said nonchalantly.

Chapter 2753

"But... But it might go viral if it gets on the news. Will our relationship be exposed?" she said worriedly.

1/3

"You don't want our relationship to be exposed to the public?" he asked.

She said awkwardly, "I just think it'll draw too much attention and..." She was silent for a moment before saying, "I have a dark history when I was in university. It'll be bad if people use it against you and cause you trouble."

Brian stopped and turned to look at the woman beside him. He thought she was afraid that the exposure would bring her trouble. He never thought it was him she was worried about.

"No matter what history you have back then, you don't have to be afraid of causing me any trouble. If we date on the premise of marriage, then our relationship will be exposed sooner or later. But I won't let my relationship go viral. I'll suppress the news about it when it happens. Don't worry," said Brian.

No one in the entertainment industry would go against the crown prince.

Valda Theller only nodded without saying anything.

Chapter 2753

“By the way, does your so-called dark history refer to your relationship with Raymond Bowman in university?” he asked.

2/3

She replied in a mutter, “Yeah. I got a bad reputation in university after that. Some people thought I tried every means to bother Raymond Bowman.”

Valda Theller’s eyes dimmed as she recalled how strangers called her shameless whenever they saw her.

Her gloomy appearance made Brian feel uncomfortable. He liked to see her usual self, not dejected like this.

Brian suddenly said, “Do you want me to help you get justice? I can get Raymond Bowman to clarify the incident and tell everyone who misunderstood you the truth.”

Valda Theller looked blankly at Brian.

“What’s the matter? Do you think it’s impossible? Since I said so, I can do it,” he said. It was because he wanted to get rid of the gloom in her eyes.

“No, no. Of course, I know you can do it.” Valda Theller bit her lip slightly and said, “But there’s no need for it. Even if he makes it clear, people will only think Raymond Bowman was forced to say that because of you. People will only think what he said is false.”

After a pause, she said, “As long as you don’t think it’ll affect you, then it doesn’t matter to me. I’m too old to care about it anyway.

Chapter 2753

3/3

I’ve lost contact with my university classmates except for Camille now that it’s been so many years.”

With that said, she faked a relaxed smile and said, “Alright, enough about that. There are a few stalls I often visit. Some of their knickknacks are pretty delicate. Accompany me to have a look.”

Brian’s eyes glimmered slightly before he said, “Okay, let’s go.”

Valda Theller and Brian came to a stall with handmade dolls and accessories.

Valda Theller and the stall owner were obviously familiar with each other as they greeted each other.

“By the way, didn’t you say you could custom-make dolls last time?” Valda Theller asked.

“Yeah, how would you like it?” the stall owner asked.

Valda Theller said, “Please hand me a paper and pen. I’ll draw it for you.”

The stall owner replied and handed over a paper and pen. Valda Theller quickly drew on the white paper.

Chapter 2754

In just a short while, two adorable cartoons were sketched out with simple brush strokes. Brian could see at a glance that these cartoons were based on him and Valda Theller.

“Let’s do it like this.” Valda Theller finished the drawing and handed the pen and paper back to the stall owner.

The stall owner was amazed as they looked at the drawing. Then, they replied, “Okay, you can pick them up in a week. These two dolls cost a total of 220 dollars.”

Valda Theller was familiar with the stall owner and knew that the price was the lowest they could offer. She was about to pay when Brian said, “Let me pay.”

With that said, he took out his phone and scanned the code to pay.

“Anything else?” he asked.

“Why don’t you look at some jewelry? We got a new batch of handmade jewelry. They’re 100% handmade,” the stall owner said enthusiastically.

Brian had no interest in such jewelry, of course. However, Valda Theller looked at them with interest.

Chapter 2754

2/4

She suddenly saw a pair of silver bracelets. The bracelets were neutral and suitable for both genders. They were also adjustable, so one did not need to worry about whether they fit.

-Valda Theller picked up the bracelets and looked at them carefully.

The stall owner nearby began to talk, “This is a pair of couple bracelets. They’re best worn by a man and a woman. Besides, they go with anything you wear...”

Valda Theller turned to look at Brian. “Well... Would you mind wearing this?”

His eyelashes quivered slightly as he looked at the bracelet she was holding. 'A silver bracelet? What a coincidence. Grace also gave me a silver bracelet when she was a child.'

The silver bracelet became his obsession for years. He used to carry the silver bracelet with him all the time. It was not until Grace got married that he finally stopped wearing it and put it away.

Now... Valda Theller was asking him if he would wear a silver bracelet as she held two in her hands.

He wanted to reject her almost subconsciously, but the words of rejection were stuck in his throat when he saw hope in those round eyes.

Chapter 2754

3/4

'Couple bracelets... Since we're now a real couple, it makes sense to wear couple bracelets.

'Besides, maybe... I can better hide my feelings for Grace after wearing it. I can use the bracelet to remind me that I should love Valda Theller!'

"If you want me to wear it, I'll do it," said Brian.

"Really?" Valda Theller's eyes lit up. Brian only found her eyes to be twinkling like stars. They look exceptionally beautiful.

"Yes," he replied as he reached out to take one of the bracelets she was holding and slipped it onto his left wrist.

Although it was only a common silver bracelet, it was not ugly to wear on the wrist.

Valda Theller wore the other bracelet on her right hand and put it next to Brian's left hand.

The two identical bracelets did look good on the wrists of the man and woman.

"I'll take these bracelets. How much are they?" Valda Theller asked.

"The cheapest I can offer you is 700 dollars for the pair," the stall owner said.

Chapter 2754

4/4

Brian was about to pay when Valda Theller quickly said, "You've paid for the dolls just now. Let me pay for this."

"I'm not used to women paying," he said.

Chapter 2755

-“But we’re a couple now. Think of it as a gift from me. I’ll feel weird you have to pay for a gift I got for you.” Valda Theller insisted.

Brian glanced at the bracelet on his wrist... ‘A gift?’ He now had mixed feelings in his heart.

He finally said nothing more. Valda Theller paid the bill and looked happily at the bracelet on her wrist.

“Do you like the bracelet so much?” he asked.

She smiled sheepishly. “It’s my first time wearing couple bracelets, and it feels new.”

“What do you feel?” he asked.

“I feel like I’m not alone anymore,” she said. She finally had company.

Brian’s eyes glimmered slightly. ‘Not alone anymore?’ He suddenly recalled how the woman beside him always looked optimistic but in truth, she lost her parents when she was little. She was dependent on others until she started university.

“Brian, can you wear this bracelet whenever we go on dates? It’s a cheap bracelet, but I... think we look more like a couple if we wear the same bracelets,” Valda Theller said in anticipation, afraid that he was unwilling to wear the bracelet.

Chapter 2755

2/3

After all, even the button of his shirt probably cost more than the bracelet.

“I’m gonna wear it all the time,” said Brian.

She smiled. “Really?”

“Do you think I need to palter with you?” he asked casually.

She touched her nose, feeling indescribable delight deep down.

After the night market, Brian drove Valda Theller back to her apartment. Valda Theller said, “By the way, the gown and jewelry I wore to the banquet last time are still at home. Why don’t you wait here for a while? I’ll bring them downstairs to return them to you.”

He smiled lightly. “The dress and jewelry are meant for you.”

“No, no!” She waved her hand quickly. She did not know their real value, but she knew they were worth a lot. “Let me return them to you. I don’t usually have a chance to wear them. I don’t know what to do with them if you give them to me.”

“How could you have no chance? Since you intend to continue dating me on the premise of marriage, you’ll need the gown and jewelry again. Besides, who do you wish me to give them to, if you return them to me?” he said.

3/3

She was rendered speechless instantly.

“Alright. You’re my girlfriend, and your boyfriend willingly gave them to you,” he said.

Valda Theller blushed. The word ‘willingly’ made her heart melt.

After getting out of the car, she waved and entered her apartment block. As she got into the elevator, she lifted her hand to gently touch the silver bracelet on her right hand.

At least... it was a good start. They were no longer acting but becoming more and more like a couple.

Maybe Brian could get over Grace one day and truly accept her.

At least it was what she expected.

In the car, Brian leaned heavily on the back of the chair and closed his eyes. ‘This must be what it’s like to date.’

Chapter 2756

1/3

He felt relaxed spending time with Valda Theller. Maybe it would be a good choice to continue things with her like this.

If he could fall in love with Valda Theller, it would be the best for everyone.

Opening his eyes slowly, Brian looked at the silver bracelet on his wrist. “Grace, I’ll fulfill any wish you have.”

He would also try his best to fall for another person!

The next day, the executives of Hart Group were surprised to find their boss wearing a silver bracelet on his wrist. It was hard to imagine someone like the crown prince wearing silver. Someone even searched for the bracelet on luxury platforms, but no one found it.

The silver bracelet became part of the employees’ gossip.

When Patrick came looking for Brian, he naturally saw the silver bracelet too. He was not an employee, so he asked right away, “Why are you wearing a bracelet like that? Did you get it from street stalls?”

Patrick had a keen eye. He had seen countless fine jewelry and could easily tell that the bracelet was not of any high quality.

"Yeah, it's 700 dollars for two," Brian said indifferently.

Patrick was confused. "Why would you buy things from street stalls?"

"I didn't. It's from Valda. They're couple bracelets," said Brian.

"Pfft!"

Patrick almost spat out the tea he was drinking. "Couple bracelets?"

2/3

Compared to Patrick's shock, Brian looked calm.

"I didn't expect Valda Theller to make you wear such bracelets."

Patrick lamented.

"I'm serious about her," said Brian.

"How serious?" Patrick was curious.

"We're dating on the premise of marriage."

Patrick really spat out his tea this time.

Brian frowned as Patrick quickly took out a tissue to wipe it. Patrick said, "Are you planning on marrying her someday?"

"I'll marry her if our relationship is stable," said Brian. When she hapter 2756

3/3

fell for him and he could fall for her, it was only natural for them to get married.

Sometimes, he even felt he would marry her even if he did not love her.

He was willing to make her Mrs. Hart, provide her with a good life, and let her be under his protection for the rest of his life.

However... t would seem unfair to her.

Even if he was willing to have a marriage like this, she might not.

Patrick was dumbstruck. "What a... surprise. I thought you were never going to get married. Do your parents know?"

"I haven't told them yet. I'll tell them when our relationship is more stable," said Brian.

Chapter 2757

"They'll be elated if they find out." Patrick knew that Brian's parents would not interfere with Brian's marriage as long as he was willing to marry a woman.

“Did you come to see me about something?” Brian asked.

Only then did Patrick realize what he had come here for, but he was a little embarrassed to speak. “It’s about Queenie Mack. I didn’t want to bother with it at first, but her family makes a scene at my company every day and causes a lot of trouble, so I—”

“Do you want me to cut her some slack?” Brian asked as he raised his eyebrows.

“That was the idea, but I don’t think that’ll happen now,” said Patrick. Brian was serious about Valda Theller, so he would not go easy on Queenie Mack, who harmed Valda Theller on the film set.

The Huo family’s plans were now in vain.

“It’s best if you don’t have such ideas now. Since that woman dared to do such a thing in the first place, she should now suffer the consequences,” Brian said indifferently. His dark phoenix eyes glimmered with malice.

2/4

Jason’s men had subdued the people who put Grace in the hospital that day. They also learned from those people that L City was full of rumors about Martin Weiss having an affair.

Martin Weiss had not made any statement about these rumors. It was as if he was planning to let people forget it with time.

Martin Weiss was not a celebrity, so it did not go viral but just spread in L City on a small scale.

Several people happened to recognize Kyla that day, so they wanted to make a video or get some special content to sell to Martin Weiss at a high price.

If they could not sell them, they could create some buzz online too.

However, they did not expect the Reed family’s mistress, Grace, to be with Kyla, let alone frighten her so much that she was hospitalized.

It was no use crying over spilled milk now. The Reed family had decided to sue them. The Reed family’s legal team was nationally renowned. The lawsuit would inevitably cause them to give monetary compensation and take corresponding responsibilities.

Grace called Kyla and told her about Jason’s findings.

“Why didn’t Martin Weiss explain? We’re divorced, so it’s not an affair,” said Kyla.

"Is it because he took someone else to the banquet before your divorce took effect?" Grace asked.

"Even then, he could have argued against it with all sorts of other reasons so he wouldn't be called a cheater. Especially if he only attended it with a companion." Kyla was puzzled. It was a little far-fetched to call him a cheater when he only brought a companion to the banquet.

Perhaps... there was something else?

"There must be something else. But this rumor only spread in L City on a small scale. The people that day had no idea too. They only heard he was having an affair. How about this? I'll ask Jay to look into it again," said Grace.

"No thanks, I'll call Martin Weiss and ask him myself. I want to ask why he didn't make any statement to refute it," said Kyla.

"Okay," said Grace, knowing she did not want to bother her.

Besides, this was between Kyla and Martin Weiss. It was indeed inappropriate for her to interfere.

"Grace, I'm sorry about that day. I've put you in so much danger," Kyla said apologetically.

"Don't say that. The baby and I are fine now," Grace reassured.

However, she would have to stay in bed until she gave birth.

"Kyla, you'd better find out what happened to Martin Weiss as soon as possible, lest it affects your children."

Chapter 2758

Kyla replied and ended the call.

She should deal with this as soon as possible. Otherwise, Nelson would be criticized again if the same rumor spread in Emerald City.

She could not help but feel anguished when she thought of the criticism her son had endured because of her prison sentence and for having a single-parent family.

She did not want the past to repeat itself.

Taking a deep breath, she dialed Martin Weiss's phone, praying that he would pick up her phone call.

Moments later, Martin Weiss's voice came from the other end of the line. "What's up?"

"I'd like to ask why we're already divorced but there are rumors about you cheating in L City. Even if you brought Nurse Ruan to the banquet, such rumors shouldn't exist. And why didn't you issue a statement that you're divorced?"

Kyla asked a series of questions, while Martin Weiss only replied with one sentence. "We're not divorced yet."

Chapter 2758

"What?" Kyla froze, thinking she had heard it wrong.

"I haven't filed for divorce, so we're still married," said Martin Weiss.

Kyla was dumbstruck. "Why... haven't you done it?"

'Didn't he want me to sign the divorce papers to get rid of me sooner?'

She had signed the papers, but he had not gone through the formalities.

2/4

"I have no time." He blurted out four words indifferently.

"..." Kyla did not know how to describe her mood for a while. "You can ask the lawyer to do it. Doesn't Weiss Group have a legal team?"

"The company's legal team only takes care of company affairs. It doesn't include the Weiss family's private affairs!"

"Then... why don't you send me the agreement and I'll take care of it?" she asked again.

The other end of the line was silent. After a long while, his voice came, "Kyla, do you want to divorce me that much?"

'He's the one who wants to divorce me!'

3/4 "Since we both want a divorce, I think it's better to go through the formalities as soon as possible. You'll be divorced soon, so there's no such thing as you having an affair. I also don't want it to affect Nelson and cause him trouble."

"Have our children always mattered the most to you?" His voice grew colder.

'No! He has become as important as our children to me, perhaps even... more important,' she told herself.

'But what's the point of that now? I'm only humiliating myself. He'll laugh at me.'

"Yes, my children matter the most to me," she replied.

The other end of the line was quiet for a long time.

Kyla waited a long while before finally saying, "Martin Weiss, are you... still there?"

"I'll take care of it. You don't have to worry about the kids," he said and hung up the phone, leaving Kyla staring at her phone.

'What the hell is going on? Why didn't he go through with the divorce formalities?'

If Martin Weiss had not resisted her so much and refused to lift his hypnosis, she would even think Martin Weiss was reluctant to divorce her.

Chapter 2758

'Reluctant...' Kyla laughed sarcastically at herself. She was overthinking.

That man had no feelings for her anymore.

In a mansion's study, Martin Weiss's fingers gripped the phone hard, almost crushing it.

Chapter 2759

He knew what answer she would give him, but he went ahead and asked! It just gave him another heartache in the end.

'Heartache?' He was startled. His hand loosened suddenly, and the phone fell to the floor.

His hand covered his heart. Every heartbeat seemed to be tingling with pain.

He had already hypnotized his feelings. Why would his heart still ache for her?

'Stop! Stop!'

He kept screaming to himself in his head, but the pain continued and did not stop...

It was as if the pain would continue as long as his heart kept beating...

A week later, Valda Theller and Brian went to the night market again to pick up the custom-made dolls.

The cartoon figures she drew were suitable for making dolls. They looked almost exactly like the ones she drew.

Looking at the two dolls in her hands, Valda Theller smiled, looking happy.

2/4

Brian felt that the woman in front of him was easily content as he watched her. She looked like she had gotten something precious when all she had gotten was some cheap dolls.

In the past, the women he dated usually looked this happy because they had been given jewelry or good film resources.

"Hey, do you wanna watch a movie?" Valda Theller asked Brian.

"Okay, is there a movie you'd like to watch?" Brian asked in reply.

"Yes, but... uh... it's an animated film." She hesitated and said. "Do you watch animated films?"

"Animated films?"

"It's not for kids. It's mainly for adults. The film is called Clear Blue Skies and is about..."

Valda Theller wanted to tell Brian about the main content of the film, but he said, "I know this animated film. Hart Group's film company invested in it."

"Huh?" Valda Theller was dumbfounded. 'Is he one of the investors for the movie I want to watch?'

3/4

"So you've seen the movie?" she asked.

"I haven't seen it. I've only read some written reports. Although Hart Group invested in them, I don't watch all the films I invest in."

Valda Theller thought about it and agreed. Hart Group invested in so many films. If he watched all of them, who knew when he could finish them?

"Let's go and have a look," said Brian.

"The voice actors for the film are famous. The trailer looks good too. I think the country's animated films are slowly improving," Valda Theller said excitedly. After all, animation and comics were related. "I wonder if I can have the chance to direct a big-screen animated film like this one day."

"What's the matter? Do you want to be an animation director?" He seemed surprised.

"I only have the thought, but I'm still a long way from it. It's a step-by-step process. Of course, I might end up just thinking about it." Valda Theller smiled lightly. After all, she was lucky enough to be doing what she loved.

Talent was only part of the process of becoming an

Chapter 2760

If an animated film was to be played in cinemas, the time and money needed were far greater than ordinary films, which was why there were so few animated films.

"I can help you if you really want to be an animation director," said Brian.

Valda Theller was startled. She would have thought it a joke if it had come from an ordinary person. However, it would... come true if it came from Brian's mouth.

It was because Brian could do so.

She hurriedly said as she waved her hands. "No, no! I'm not good enough to direct an animated film yet. Besides, animations are investments with huge risks. I don't want you to help me when I'm incapable of it yet. You'll lose a lot of money. I'd better stick to doing what I'm capable of."

"It doesn't matter even if I lose a lot of money. But since you don't want to, I'll invest in your animation when you think you're capable enough in the future, okay?" said Brian.

Valda Theller smiled and did not refuse. Instead, she said, "Okay, it's a deal!"

2/4 When the two came to the movie theater, Valda Theller suddenly said, "Please wait here for me. I'll only take a minute." With that said, she ran to the other side.

Brian saw her run to the concession stand to buy popcorn and two bottles of soft drinks. Then, she jogged back to him while holding a big bucket of popcorn in her arms.

"Let's have popcorn together later. By the way, I got us Coke. Do you want some? I'll get you another one if you don't drink Coke,

"she said.

"No thanks. Coke is fine," he said, only thinking she looked like a child as she held the big bucket of popcorn in her arms.

Valda Theller booked the tickets when Brian was driving. Valda Theller looked around after they walked into the theater. Although the animated film had a wide audience and was not childish, many families of three came. They could see many children in the theater hall.

"It seems many kids came to watch it," said Valda Theller.

"The animated film is suitable for a wide age range," said Brian.

"I wonder when I can bring my kids to watch animations too," said Valda Theller.

She said it unintentionally, only lamenting.

3/4

Brian looked at her and asked, "Do you want to watch animations with your children?"

"Yeah..." She suddenly paused and blushed. She said it like she could not wait to have children.

Valda Theller blushed as she stammered, "I... I'm just saying

I want to watch animations with my kids someday. I... I mean nothing else. Don't overthink it."

As if amused, he looked at her blushed face. "What do you think I'll 'overthink'?"

'Gosh, forget I ever said anything. Her face was almost buried in the popcorn. Fortunately, the movie soon started, and Valda Theller was finally relieved.

Clear Blue Skies was a story about a little girl who saved a little white dragon by chance. The little white dragon wanted to repay the kindness when he grew up. He desperately searched for his savior. However, when he met the little girl who had grown up, he mistook someone else for his savior as he did not recognize her.

The little white dragon harmed the girl to repay the fake savior. It was too late when he found out who his true savior was. The girl had turned into dust and disappeared.

Therefore, the little white dragon kept looking for the person the girl reincarnated into. However, he learned that the girl already had someone she loved when he finally found her. She loved that person very much. Unfortunately, the girl fell seriously ill. Even the doctor diagnosed that she was near death.

4/4