

Ex Convict 2931

Chapter 2931

Camille Strickland also spent a night in the hospital and only learned about what happened last night from her friend the next morning.

"You mean to say that I was drugged and then passed out?" Camille Strickland exclaimed in surprise.

"Yes, yesterday really scared me. I came back from the bathroom and couldn't find you. I called the police, but they didn't accept the case due to the short time. In the end, I had to go to Brian Hart to find you. Fortunately, he helped me find you. If it had been a little later, you might have..." Valda Theller recounted the scene from yesterday at the hotel.

Camille Strickland shuddered at the thought. Fortunately, Valda Theller came in time, otherwise she would have been in serious trouble!

"By the way, you said Brian Hart took a knife for you. How is he doing now?" Camille Strickland asked.

"The doctor said it's not a big deal, but he needed eleven stitches and will need to stay in the hospital for a few more days for observation," Valda Theller said.

Camille Strickland was amazed. Eleven stitches, that's really a long wound.

Chapter 2931

murmured.

2/4

After all, in this day and age, how many people are willing to take a knife for someone else?

Valda Theller remained silent.

On the other side, in the VIP ward, Mr. and Madam Hart looked at their son lying on the hospital bed with grim faces.

"You got injured and hospitalized, and you didn't even tell your family. If your father and I hadn't decided to look for you today, were you planning to keep it from us?" Madam Hart said angrily.

Thinking that her son had been stabbed in the waist and abdomen and almost had to undergo surgery, she felt weak in the legs.

They only had one son, and if something really happened to Brian Hart, it would be like the sky falling.

"It's just a minor injury," Brian Hart replied calmly.

“A minor injury? You needed eleven stitches for the wound. Is that a minor injury? What’s a major injury then? Do you want me and your father to receive a death notice before it’s considered a major injury?” Madam Hart shouted.

The elegant and graceful lady was now losing her composure in the face of her son’s injury.

“I heard that you were injured for Valda Theller?” Madam Hart changed the subject.

Chapter 2931

Brian Hart pursed his thin lips. Since his mother asked, it was obvious that she already knew what had happened.

3/4

Seeing her son remain silent, Madam Hart continued, “You brought The Cross Family to the brink of bankruptcy for this woman, and you even took a knife for her. If you really think it’s worth it, I won’t say anything, but you’ve already broken up. What does this mean? What are you thinking?”

“I know exactly what I’m thinking,” Brian Hart said. He just wanted to protect Valda Theller and didn’t want anyone to hurt her!

“If you know, then why...” Madam Hart was obviously getting angry again, and Mr. Hart quickly patted her shoulder gently. “Alright, Brian Hart has always been sensible and has his own ideas. Don’t say anything more.”

“Yes, he has been sensible and hasn’t caused us any trouble in other matters, but have we had less trouble in matters of the heart over the years?” Madam Hart said.

One Grace, and now there’s Valda Theller.

She didn’t know what her son would have to go through in matters of the heart.

“Mom, everything I did for Valda Theller was voluntary and what I wanted to do. She had nothing to do with it, and you shouldn’t blame her,” Brian Hart said.

Chapter 2931

4/4

“Blame her?” Madam Hart raised her eyebrows. “Are you afraid that I’ll go and scold her? You’re injured and hospitalized. Where is she? Even if you’ve broken up, she should at least be by your bedside! Your injury was suffered for her. If this were ancient times, she should have offered herself to you...”

Chapter 2932

The sound of a head hitting the door made the family of three in the hospital room turn towards the door.

1/3

The door opened a crack, and a head slowly poked out from the gap, revealing Valda Theller, the main character that Madam Hart had mentioned earlier.

“Sorry... um, I didn’t mean to eavesdrop,” Valda Theller said, looking embarrassed.

She had just returned from Camille’s hospital room and happened to overhear them talking about her. She didn’t want to intrude, so she stood outside the door, planning to wait until they finished talking before going in. But then she heard Madam Hart say something about offering herself, and she stumbled, hitting her head on the door.

“Valda Theller,” Brian Hart called out.

Hearing her son’s words, Mr. and Madam Hart immediately recognized who this woman was, even though they had known of her existence for a long time, this was their first meeting.

At this moment, Madam Hart said, “Since you’re here, come in.”

Valda Theller pushed the door open and walked up to Mr. and Madam Hart, politely saying, “Uncle and Auntie Hart, hello.”

Chapter 2932

Valda Theller was taken aback.

“Okay, whether to break up or not is a matter of the children’s feelings. As for my son’s injury, Brian Hart said it was willingly done,” Mr. Hart said, trying to smooth things over.

2/3

The couple were both scrutinizing Valda Theller at the moment. The woman in front of them had a slightly timid expression on her face, with a small round face and round eyes that made her look both delicate and cute, but she was completely different from Grace in appearance and temperament.

Originally, they thought that their son had found a woman who looked or had a similar temperament to Grace. After all, their son had loved Grace for so many years. But who would have thought that the woman who broke up with their son and made him willingly get hurt would be this little woman in front of them.

“Speaking of which, why did you break up with my son?” Madam Hart asked Valda Theller.

In the eyes of a mother, her own son was always the best. In fact, their son was tall and handsome, with outstanding education, family background, and abilities. No matter how you looked at it, he shouldn’t be the one who got dumped.

“Um, Brian Hart and I... um, are not very compatible,” Valda Theller found a more dignified way to explain.

“Not compatible...,” Madam Hart murmured, “then what’s wrong with my son? Is it because he’s not good-looking? Or is he not gentle and considerate enough to you? I have to say, although my son has the potential to be a playboy, he is definitely not one. And once he truly cares for someone, he will treat that person very well.”

Chapter 2932

3/3

“I... I know that Brian Hart is very good, and he’s very good to me too, it’s just...” Valda Theller hesitated, she couldn’t tell his parents that her feelings for him were far less than what he had for Grace.

Chapter 2933

After all, Grace is now married and if anyone should reveal Brian Hart’s true feelings, it should be him, not her. Valda Theller struggled to find a response.

“Could it be... that you and he are not compatible in that aspect?” Madam Hart guessed.

Brian Hart and Mr. Hart immediately understood and their expressions changed, but Valda Theller did not comprehend. However, Madam Hart’s words gave her an excuse for her “just friends” relationship, so she quickly nodded and said, “Yes, that’s right. So, we are not really suitable for each other.”

As soon as she spoke, Mr. Hart looked at his son with surprise, while Brian Hart wore a helpless expression. He knew from Valda Theller’s response that she did not understand his mother’s meaning at all, but he did not know how to remind her of it.

Madam Hart quickly grabbed Valda Theller’s hand and said, “I assure you, my son is perfectly healthy in that aspect. It may be due to stress or something else that caused your disharmony. I will find a way to get him some supplements to ensure that he is full of energy. You should also understand that he has little experience. Although some women prefer men who have been through many battles, lack of experience also shows that he takes relationships seriously.”

Chapter 2933

2/3

Brian Hart could not bear to watch anymore and said, "Mom, this is between Valda Theller and me. Please don't interfere."

"What do you mean don't interfere? This is a serious problem. You should know how many couples divorce because of disharmony

In that aspect. Valda Theller thinks you are not good in that aspect, so she wants to break up with you. If you were good, I might have had a grandchild by now," Madam Hart said.

Valda Theller finally understood what Madam Hart meant. She felt embarrassed and wished she could bury herself.

What did she just say? Especially in front of the Hart family!

"Um... Brian Hart is fine in that aspect, really fine. He doesn't need supplements, and lack of experience is also good..." Valda Theller tried to say something to make up for her mistake.

But as soon as she spoke, she wished she could bite her tongue off. What was she saying? It would have been better not to say anything!

Mr. Hart and Brian Hart looked at her with a wry smile.

"Well, sometimes disharmony in that aspect can be resolved with good communication," Madam Hart said. "Valda Theller, my son is serious about you. Even if you have any conflicts, as long as you talk about it, you can solve it. Think carefully before you break

He is not the kind of man who easily sacrifices himself for a woman, but if he does, it means he is serious about you."

Madam Hart's last sentence was spoken with great emphasis.

She was humiliated then the carbon the ived was het her

"Sorry, I made your pane think that you." Valda heller blushed and felt embarrassed.

Chapter 2934

"Did you mistake me for someone else? Did you think I couldn't handle it?" Brian Hart raised an eyebrow.

Valda Theller's face turned even redder, quickly changing the subject, "How is your injury? Does it still hurt?"

"It's alright, not too painful," he replied, looking at her blushing face. He sighed and said, "Also, my mother's words earlier, you don't have to worry about them."

"Huh?" She looked at him in confusion.

1/4

"The breakup, since it was your decision, I respect it. You don't need to worry about me taking the blame for it," he said, even though he wanted to keep her by his side, take care of her, protect her, and even felt that she was the only woman who could pull him out of the emotional quagmire.

But...he still wanted to respect her decision.

He didn't want to force her, let alone see her tears.

"Okay, I understand..." Valda Theller said dryly, feeling a heavy weight in her chest.

Although he was willing to respect her decision, she couldn't feel happy at the moment. Instead, she felt a sense of sadness.

Chapter 2934

Brian Hart needed to stay in the hospital for two more days, so Valda Theller continued to stay with him.

2/4

Camille Strickland, on the other hand, had woken up and undergone some tests to confirm that there were no problems. She was able to leave the hospital, but before she did, she came to Brian Hart's ward.

She had to express her gratitude to her savior.

"Thank you, Mrs. Hart, for saving me yesterday," Camille Strickland said.

"It was Valda Theller who saved you. I just helped her," Brian Hart said.

"Well, anyway, both you and Valda Theller are my saviors," Camille Strickland said. She didn't expect that drinking a little alcohol would cause such a big commotion.

"Oh, by the way, Camille, do you know the woman who approached you at the bar yesterday?" Valda Theller asked.

"I don't know her. How could I know that she would do something like that? But didn't you say that I was brought out of the bar by that woman? How come there was a man in the hotel room later?"

Camille Strickland asked in confusion.

"It's a gang organization that specializes in finding a single woman in a bar and then attacking her. They also take various videos and photos and use them to threaten and extort the victims. Many women have fallen victim to them but because it involves privacy, often don't want to report it to the police," Brian Hart explained.

Chapter 2934

"How do you know?" Valda Theller asked in surprise.

"The police have already received news. I just knew it a little earlier, Miss Strickland, I'm sure the police will inform you soon,"

Brian Hart said.

3/4

Valda Theller didn't expect Brian Hart to know the investigation results of the police so quickly while he was still in the hospital.

After chatting for a while, Camille Strickland said, "I'll go back now. Valda Theller, take care of Mrs. Hart, and don't worry about work. You can take a few days off!"

As she spoke, she even winked at Valda Theller, making her feel embarrassed.

After her friend left, Valda Theller looked at Brian Hart and said, "Um...would you like an apple? Let me peel it for you."

"Sure, thank you," he said.

"It's not a bother," she quickly said, taking an apple from the fruit basket and washing it before slowly peeling it with a small fruit knife.

However, her peeling skills were limited, and she couldn't peel the apple skin continuously. When she finished peeling the apple, it looked a bit ugly.

Volda Theller said awkwardly.

Chapter 2934

"It's okay," he said, taking the apple from her and eating it slowly.

Valda Theller sat quietly beside him, watching Brian Hart. He seemed to have lost some weight and his complexion was paler than before.

He said he was willing to get hurt for her. He said she couldn't move, but that was a lie.

How could she not move when a man she loved was hurt for her? How could her heart not be moved?

But in addition to being touched, there was always a voice reminding her that he truly loved Grace! So she was cautious and didn't want to let her emotions run wild.

If there is a chance in the future, she will definitely repay him for his life-saving kindness.

Chapter 2935

"What's wrong? You've been staring at me." Brian Hart's voice suddenly rang out.

"I was just thinking about how I should repay you for saving my life," she murmured.

His pitch-black eyes fixed on her, "Valda Theller, you don't need to repay me for anything, nor have I ever thought about you repaying me."

"Whether you want me to repay you or not is up to you, but it's my responsibility to do so," she replied.

"What do you want to repay me with? Money? Gifts? Or perhaps, your body?" he retorted.

She blushed and didn't know what to say.

"Anyway, Valda Theller, to be honest, I didn't think too much when I saved you. By the time I realized it, the knife was already in your body. It was just my instinct to save you. So you don't need to feel guilty or blame yourself."

"Regardless, if we ever encounter any danger in the future, I will protect you and risk my life to do so," she said seriously.

He looked at her earnest little face, as if she was always serious about everything.

Chapter 2935

"Are you planning on encountering danger again in the future?"

he asked.

“Huh?” She realized her words were inappropriate and awkwardly bit her lip. “Well...um, forget what I said. We won’t encounter any danger in the future, we’ll be safe and sound!”

Her embarrassed expression was adorable, and Brian Hart couldn’t help but smile. With her around, his mood always seemed to improve.

Just then, a nurse came to change Brian Hart’s bandages.

Valda Theller trembled and held her breath as she watched the nurse remove the gauze and reveal the eleven stitches on his wound.

Every time she saw his wound, she felt like she couldn’t breathe.

Brian Hart’s face remained expressionless as the nurse changed his bandages, but Valda Theller’s face twisted in pain.

After the nurse finished, she finally let out a sigh of relief.

“If someone didn’t know any better, they would think you were the one injured. When the nurse was changing your bandages, your expression looked like you were in so much pain that I thought you were going to scream,” Brian Hart joked.

“Because it really looked like it hurt,” Valda Theller said, looking at Brian Hart’s calm expression. “You...you’re not really in pain?”

Chapter 2936

“It doesn’t hurt,” he said. “So you don’t need to worry.”

“With such a long wound, I don’t know if it will leave a scar in the future,” she muttered.

“Even if there is a scar, it doesn’t matter,” he said. “I am a man, and I don’t care about having a few scars on my body. But if you don’t like it, I can do scar removal treatment later.”

She was taken aback. He seemed to be trying to cater to her preferences.

Cater? Valda Theller quickly shook her head. What was she thinking? “The nurse just said you have two other pills to take after changing your medicine. You...you should take the pills first.”

As she spoke, she quickly picked up the two pills that the nurse had left on the bedside table, measured out the dosage, poured a glass of warm water, and handed it to Brian Hart.

Brian Hart took the pills, mixed them with water, and swallowed them.

“Valda Theller, if you feel uncomfortable here, you can go back. There are doctors, nurses, caregivers, and enough people to take care of me,” he said.

She hesitated, and he could tell she was uncomfortable!

Chapter 2936

take care of you,” she quickly said,

A hint of sadness flashed in his eyes. Responsibility? She stayed here not just because of responsibility, but for other reasons too!

Well, Brian Hart, what are you still fantasizing about? He silently said to himself.

Because of the medicine, Brian Hart soon fell asleep, and Valda Theller silently watched him sleep.

Even when he was asleep, he seemed fragile, and his pale face made her heart ache.

Was she really just staying in the hospital to take care of him out of a sense of responsibility? No, she knew it was more than that.

She wanted to take care of him personally and do things that she could do to help him, even though...any caregiver could do those things. But she still wanted to do them herself!

Valda Theller stared at Brian Hart for a long time until the door of the ward was pushed open, and a figure walked in, snapping her out of her thoughts.

But when she turned her head, the person who came in was Patrick Weiss, a friend of Brian Hart whom she had met before.

“You...you’re here to see Brian Hart, right? He’s asleep and may not wake up for a while,” Valda Theller said.

Chapter 2936

Patrick Weiss looked at Valda Theller. “I heard from Brian Hart’s men outside that you've been taking care of Brian Hart here for the past two days. You've worked hard."

"He was injured to save me, so it's only right that I take care of him," she quickly said.

3/3

"How is his injury?" Patrick Weiss asked. He had only learned about his friend's hospitalization from Mr. Hart and Madam Hart, and had rushed to the hospital.

"He was stabbed in the waist and abdomen and had eleven stitches. Fortunately, he didn't hit any vital organs. The doctor asked him to stay in the hospital for observation. If there are no problems, he can be discharged in a few days," Valda Theller said.

Patrick Weiss muttered, "Hmm...it seems he really cares about you. He was willing to make a heroic move to save you. If it were me in danger, he would probably just look on coldly."

Valda Theller, who had been saved like a damsel in distress, felt a little embarrassed. "He...he would save you too. You're his friend, he..."

"Okay, I know his personality," Patrick Weiss shrugged. "He's always very indifferent to people and things, except for the people he cares about. It was Grace back then, and now it's..."

Chapter 2937

1/3

Patrick Weiss's voice faltered, and now it was him who was feeling embarrassed. "Haha... Grace, I hope you don't mind," he chuckled nervously.

"It's okay, I actually already knew," Valda Theller's eyelashes fluttered as she lowered her gaze. "I know that Brian Hart loves Grace, and has loved her for many years. If Grace hadn't married Jason Reed, then maybe Brian Hart would already be with her now."

"He's just too stubborn when it comes to love. Once he's made up his mind, he'll stick to it," Patrick Weiss said.

Valda Theller's face showed a bitter smile. Of course, but it was precisely his deep affection and stubbornness that made her unknowingly fall in love with Brian Hart while admiring Grace.

"But," Patrick Weiss's tone changed, "you are the exception to his stubbornness in love all these years."

"Exception?" She was puzzled.

Patrick Weiss said, "I've been friends with him for many years and have seen all the women who have come and gone in his life, but I've never seen him make an exception for anyone. It was because of his childhood encounter with Grace that he has been looking for her ever since they lost contact. His previous girlfriends were abled Grace in

Chapter 2937

Substitutes? Valda Theller's eyes flickered.

"He is both deeply affectionate and ruthless. For those he doesn't care about, even if you die in front of him, he will remain indifferent. Grace is the one who led him into a dead end, but you are the one who is slowly pulling him out of it," Patrick Weiss said, looking at Valda Theller.

Valda Theller said bitterly, "You think too highly of me."

"It's not about whether I think highly of you or not, it's the truth. For so many years, you are the only woman who can make him laugh and feel sad. He will be restless for you, happy because of your phone call, and even get drunk because of breaking up with you, and even hug me and talk nonsense," Martin Weiss sighed. "All of these things, can't they prove something? Even your appearance has nothing to do with Grace. Even if he considers you a substitute for Grace, this reason cannot hold. In my opinion, his feelings for you may be far more than he thinks. Valda Theller, can't you be with Brian Hart?"

"I...", Valda Theller bit her lip. "I broke up with him because... I feel like I can never replace Grace in his heart. In the future, he will definitely find someone he can truly love, but that's not something

I can do."

She had tried her best, but the result was still a failure. An accident, his turning away, was enough to prove it!

"Do you really think you can never replace her?" Patrick Weiss asked. "Then let me ask you, how long have you known Brian do you know that Brian Hart has loved

Chapter 2937

Valda Theller was stunned.

3/3

"You've only known Brian Hart for less than a year, but Brian Hart's feelings for Grace have been more than 20 years. In less than a year, you have already made Brian Hart care so much about you. So if time goes on, do you still think you can't replace her? I don't think so!"

Chapter 2938

Valda Theller was lost in thought, wondering if it was possible for her to replace Grace in Brian Hart's heart if given enough time.

"If you believe that Brian Hart cannot fall in love with you, then how long do you think it will take for him to find someone he truly loves? After being rejected by Grace, it took him so many years to find you. So now, after you reject him, how long will it take for him to find the person you speak of? Ten years? Twenty years? Or will he never find them? Valda Theller, how many years do you think you have left in your life?" Patrick Weiss's words felt like heavy stones pressing on Valda Theller's chest, making it hard for her to breathe.

"Valda Theller, I still believe that you are the only one who can pull Brian Hart out of his despair, and he is the person you cannot afford to miss in your life. If you miss him because of your own arrogance, I bet you will regret it for the rest of your life!" Patrick

Weiss said with conviction.

Valda Theller's gaze fell on Brian Hart, who was still sleeping on the hospital bed, and she remained silent for a long time.

When Brian Hart woke up, he only saw Patrick Weiss in his hospital room, but not Valda Theller.

"Where is Valda Theller?" he asked.

Chapter 2938

2/3

Brian Hart's eyelashes trembled slightly, and his phoenix eyes lowered. She went back... it was only natural for her to leave after taking care of him for two days. Besides, he didn't want her to stay just out of a sense of duty, did he?

Since she had gone back, wasn't it better this way?

But there was a faint feeling of pain in his heart.

"Why do you seem upset when you hear that Valda Theller has left? If you want her to come back, why don't I call her right away?" Patrick Weiss said.

"No need," Brian Hart said, looking up at Patrick Weiss. "Why are you here?"

"Of course, to visit a patient," Patrick Weiss said. "You were injured so badly, and you didn't even tell me. If I hadn't run into your parents, I wouldn't have known about it until you were discharged."

"It's just a minor injury," Brian Hart said lightly.

"Yes, a minor injury that required eleven stitches," Patrick Weiss retorted. "You're so reluctant to let Valda Theller get hurt that you'd rather take the hit yourself?"

He pursed his thin lips and murmured after a while, "Yes, I am reluctant."

"You-" Patrick Weiss paused. "By the way, have you fallen in love with

Chapter 2938

Valda Theller? If a man is willing to take a stab for a woman, it's safe to say he's in love, right?"

3/3

Brian Hart remained silent for a while before slowly saying, "I don't know."

"How could you not know? Didn't you love Grace?" Patrick Weiss asked, puzzled.

Chapter 2939

Valda Theller was lost in thought, wondering if it was possible for her to replace Grace in Brian Hart's heart if given enough time.

"If you believe that Brian Hart cannot fall in love with you, then how long do you think it will take for him to find someone he truly loves? After being rejected by Grace, it took him so many years to find you. So now, after you reject him, how long will it take for him to find the person you speak of? Ten years? Twenty years? Or will he never find them? Valda Theller, how many years do you think you have left in your life?" Patrick Weiss's words felt like heavy stones pressing on Valda Theller's chest, making it hard for her to breathe.

"Valda Theller, I still believe that you are the only one who can pull Brian Hart out of his despair, and he is the person you cannot afford to miss in your life. If you miss him because of your own arrogance, I bet you will regret it for the rest of your life!" Patrick Weiss said with conviction.

Valda Theller's gaze fell on Brian Hart, who was still sleeping on the hospital bed, and she remained silent for a long time.

When Brian Hart woke up, he only saw Patrick Weiss in his hospital room, but not Valda Theller.

Chapter 2939

Brian Hart's eyelashes trembled slightly, and his phoenix eyes lowered. She went back... it was only natural for her to leave after taking care of him for two days. Besides, he didn't want her to stay just out of a sense of duty, did he?

Since she had gone back, wasn't it better this way?

But there was a faint feeling of pain in his heart.

"Why do you seem upset when you hear that Valda Theller has left? If you want her to come back, why don't I call her right away?" Patrick Weiss said.

"No need," Brian Hart said, looking up at Patrick Weiss. "Why are you here?"

"Of course, to visit a patient," Patrick Weiss said. "You were injured so badly, and you didn't even tell me. If I hadn't run into your parents, I wouldn't have known about it until you were discharged."

"It's just a minor injury," Brian Hart said lightly.

"Yes, a minor injury that required eleven stitches," Patrick Weiss retorted. "You're so reluctant to let Valda Theller get hurt that you'd rather take the hit yourself?"

He pursed his thin lips and murmured after a while, "Yes, I am reluctant."

"You..." Patrick Weiss paused. "By the way, have you fallen in love with Valda Theller? If a man is willing to take a stab for a woman, it's safe to say he's in love, right?"

3/3

Brian Hart remained silent for a while before slowly saying, "I don't know."

"How could you not know? Didn't you love Grace?" Patrick Weiss asked, puzzled.

Chapter 2940

"It is precisely because I have loved Grace that I am unsure now," he once knew that his feelings for Grace were love, but later on, love gradually turned into obsession. Now, his feelings for Valda Theller are different from those for Grace, but... "However, I am very clear that I like Valda Theller and do not want her to be hurt in any way."

"Hey, I really don't understand you," Patrick Weiss raked his hair and said, "It's so simple for others to fall in love, why does it become so difficult when it comes to you?"

"Okay, if you're not busy, then please leave. I want to rest," Brian Hart issued a direct order to leave.

"Hey, I came all the way here to see you, and you're just going to kick me out like this?" Patrick Weiss complained.

"Do I have to keep you in my hospital room for dinner?" Brian Hart retorted.

“...” Patrick Weiss choked on his words, “Are you taking it out on me because Valda Theller left?”

Two sharp gazes stared directly at him.

“Okay, I’m leaving!” Patrick Weiss quickly said, knowing that the patient’s wishes come first. He got up and walked to the door.

Chapter 2940

the room.

2/4

In the hospital room, only Brian Hart remained.

He was stunned for a moment, and then he raised his hand to cover his forehead, awkwardly smiling for a while.

Just now, he was feeling down because Valda Theller had left, but now, because of Patrick Weiss’s words, he was feeling elated.

All his emotional ups and downs were all because of Valda Theller.

What was wrong with him... Even though he liked Valda Theller, this was too much...

At this moment, the door of the hospital room was opened again.

“What are you doing back here? Do you have something else to say to me?” Brian Hart sighed, thinking that it was Patrick Weiss who had come back.

“Um... if you don’t want me to come back, then I’ll just stay outside the room,” a timid voice sounded.

Brian Hart suddenly froze and looked up at the figure standing at the door.

She was carrying a backpack and standing there with a puzzled expression on her face. Her round eyes were as cute as a squirrel’s, and he wanted those eyes to always look at him like that.

Chapter 2940

3/4

His heart was beating fast, and he slowly opened his mouth, “No, I really like it.”

He liked her being by his side, he liked her looking at him, he liked her so much that he couldn't even describe it.

Was his feelings for her really just liking her?

At this moment, he couldn't help but doubt it.

Valda Theller went back to take a shower, changed her clothes, and brought her sketchbook, intending to draw when the hospital was quiet.

After all these years of drawing, if she didn't draw for a day, she would sometimes feel itchy.

At night, Brian Hart took his medicine and fell asleep, but Valda Theller still couldn't sleep.

She held her sketchbook and drew Brian Hart while he was sleeping.

Now, only when he was asleep, she dared to draw him. If he was awake, she wouldn't have the courage to draw him, afraid that when she was drawing him, she would meet his gaze and couldn't control her own feelings.

As she finished the last stroke, she looked at him on the paper, feeling a little dazed.

The painting reflects the heart. This painting seems to be telling how much she loves this man.

Chapter 2940

Some emotions, even if she tried to restrain and forget them, might not be as controllable as her rational mind thought.

If emotions could be controlled by reason, then perhaps they could not be called emotions.

In her mind, she couldn't help but think of what Patrick Weiss said earlier today.

Was she really the only one who could pull Brian Hart out of the dead end? And if she missed Brian Hart, would she regret it for the rest of her life?