

Ex Convict 3041

Chapter 3041

Is Brian looking at Jason, as if they are willing to live and die together?

So what about him? With whom can he share life and death? If one day Valda really faces danger, will he make the same choice as Jason?

The meal came to an end and the children had finished playing. Jasper mentioned that they were going to the zoo tomorrow to see the animals. Simon asked, "Can I come along tomorrow too?"

So in the end, a few people decided to go to the zoo together tomorrow.

In the evening, when George came to pick up Simon, Valda briefly explained tomorrow's schedule to him.

"Can Simon join us to the zoo tomorrow? Are you available?" Valda asked.

Without waiting for George to speak, Simon said, "I want to go!"

He wants to go to the zoo not just because he wants to go with Jasper and the others, but also because Auntie Grace will talk to him about his mom and he wants to hear more about her.

George looked at his son and they locked eyes for a moment. After a while, George looked away first and said, "I'll have to trouble you both again tomorrow."

"It's okay, I'm actually quite happy to take Simon out today!" said

Valda.

George left with Simon, and Valda murmured, "One wrong step can lead to a series of wrong steps."

"Why are you suddenly saying this?" Brian asked.

"I just feel like there's a distance between Simon and George, and George looks so lifeless now. If he hadn't been suspicious and had believed Amber's words, they would be happy now," Valda said.

Instead, they are separated and suffering, and their children are also in pain.

"One wrong step leads to a series of wrong steps?" Brian murmured. He would never let himself end up like George! "Okay, let's rest early. We have to get up early tomorrow."

“Okay,” Valda replied.

Meanwhile, in the Barlow House, Jasper was in William’s room, propping his cheek and looking at him strangely. “William, are you unhappy?”

“No,” William answered.

“But why do I feel like you’re not happy?” Jasper muttered.

William pursed his lips. “What would you do if I’m not happy?”

“Of course, it’s to make you happy,” said Jasper naturally.

William bit his small lips with his teeth and remained silent for a moment.

Jasper blinked his eyes and said, “You’re really unhappy, aren’t you? Why is that? Can you tell me?”

She feels very happy today and even met Simon, who wants to learn how to play the piano! However, even though she is so happy, William is not happy.

“Do you... like that Simon?” William asked.

“I like it,” Jasper nodded his little head.

But her response clearly added a few more points to his unhappiness, “Why?”

Chapter 3042

“He said he wants to learn piano, and I talked to him about many things related to piano, and he listened carefully,” she replied.

“So... if he learns to play the piano well in the future, you will like him more, won’t you?”

She nodded her head slightly, saying that if Simon played the piano very well, she would definitely like him more!

“If he plays better than me, would you like him more?” He spoke with possessiveness and unease in his tone.

This emotion is actually called jealousy!

Jasper was thinking very seriously, while William was anxiously waiting, afraid that she would say the word “yes” out loud.

The piano was his most powerful weapon in making her fall in love with him.

From the very beginning, she fell in love with him because of his piano skills. So now, it seems only natural that she would fall in love with someone else because of their piano skills.

But besides the piano, what else does he have?

What else can he boast about? Does he have good grades or exam scores?

Or perhaps he is now the young master of the Barlow family?

But it seems like she hasn't really cared about any of these things.

"Even if Simon plays better than William, I still prefer William," Jasper said.

William felt the tightness in his chest disappear all of a sudden. The small fist that he had tightly clenched by his side due to nervousness also relaxed.

"Really?" he asked.

"Yeah," she said, "because besides liking the piano that you play, I like many other things too!"

"Other things?" he asked, looking puzzled.

"You play dolls with me, and you always listen to me and are so well-behaved," she began counting on her fingers, listing all the things she liked about him.

"And most importantly, William, you also like me very much! Of course, I will like you too! We promised to be forever good friends, right?" she said.

He suddenly felt a warm feeling in his heart, and his previous anxiety and fear slowly faded away.

"My favorite is Jasper, always!" he hugged her with all his might, as if she were the only floating wood in his world.

Jasper was stunned for a moment, then giggled and hugged William back, "I will always like William too!"

Two little people hugged each other, giving each other warmth.

However, there were some things he understood too early, while she didn't understand at all!

In a house outside the Barlow House, people inside were using a high-powered telescope to spy on the Barlow House.

Due to the Barlow House's security measures, they couldn't be too obvious and could only watch from the outside, afraid of being caught.

Chapter 3043

After a moment, the person put away the telescope and turned to look at the woman sitting in the chair.

"Phoebe, you want me to pretend to be Grace and infiltrate the Barlow family tomorrow. What if it doesn't work? I'll be in trouble, but you can escape easily! Why should I believe you that I'll be safe and get a lot of money in the end?" Whitney glared at Phoebe.

Phoebe smiled slightly, "I trust your determination to see Valda suffer! We both loved Brian and hated Valda, so my plan is the best plan."

As she spoke, she looked at Whitney's face, which was similar to Grace's, and with the right clothes, hairstyle, and makeup, she could almost pass for Grace.

But unexpectedly, Brian loved Grace so much that he didn't want Whitney to stay. He would rather let Whitney leave Emerald City for fear of Valda's misunderstanding.

"Besides, didn't you hear what we overheard today? Tomorrow, Grace and the others are going to the zoo. You can enter the Barlow family alone and find a suitable excuse. No one will suspect anything," Phoebe said. "Or do you want to leave like this with nothing? Then the Hart Group will just give you an ordinary job with a meager salary. Are you willing to settle for that?"

Phoebe's words sparked a determination in Whitney's eyes!

How could she settle for that? Brian had saved her and treated her well, making her think she had reached the top. Her friends thought the same and people were constantly flattering her. But in the end, she became a laughingstock!

She didn't even mind being a substitute, as long as she could stay by Brian's side. But because of Valda's appearance, everything came to an end!

If that's the case, then if she couldn't live well, Valda shouldn't either!

"Okay, I promise you, but you have to keep me safe and give me a billion dollars, otherwise you won't have it easy either!" Whitney said fiercely.

Phoebe smiled, "Of course, no problem. I promise to keep my word."

She wanted to send Valda to hell, make Brian hate Valda, and make Brian understand how ridiculous his feelings for Valda were!

The Cross family was ruined because of Valda, so now she was going to ruin Valda too!

The next day, Valda and Brian met up with Simon and Jason job with a meager salary. Are you willing to settle for that?"

Phoebe's words sparked a determination in Whitney's eyes!

her well, making her think she had reached the top. Her friends thought the same and people were constantly flattering her. But in the end, she became a laughingstock!

The next day, Valda and Brian met up with Simon and Jason

Grace at the entrance of the zoo.

Four adults and four children make up a grand and impressive group.

Simon and William are both from Deer Capital, but it's clear that Simon, who grew up in Deer Capital, knows the place better. He has been to this wildlife park many times with his family before, so he can almost be considered a half tour guide. He knows where to find different animals so well that he doesn't even need to look at the park map to tell you.

Jasper was quite impressed, and his starry eyes kept falling on Simon from time to time, which made Simon feel very pleased.

Although William was a bit uneasy, Jasper's small hand was holding onto his hand, which helped to calm his emotions and prevent a repeat of yesterday's incident.

Anyway, he will remember this place, so the next time they come here, he can introduce it like this.

Valda can't remember the last time she visited a zoo. Today's visit was quite enjoyable for her.

Especially as she looked at those cute animals, cute cartoon images popped up in her mind.

Perhaps after returning, she could paint some animal posters or something similar.

In the morning, we visited the animals in the zoo. At noon, we went to a nearby ancient water town to have lunch.

During mealtime, they can see a small river outside the restaurant, where several small boats are waiting to serve tourists.

Chapter 3044

A few children clamored to go for a boat ride, so after finishing their meal, everyone got on the small boat.

A small boat was sailing on the river when suddenly Jasper exclaimed in surprise and pointed to the distance, saying, "What is that?"

The boat owner smiled and said, "That's a reservoir. It usually drains before the rainy season, so there won't be much activity otherwise. Some kids around here like to swim and play over there in the summer. The water is cooler over there during the summer.”

“But if we go swimming over by the reservoir, won’t it be dangerous?” Valda said.

“You’re right! Someone drowned a few years ago,” said the boat owner. “But it didn’t help, people still go swimming there every year. However, I heard that downstream of the reservoir, they’re building a rafting project and our Deer Capital’s largest outdoor swimming pool has been under construction for half a year. It seems like it will be completed in a few months. When that swimming pool is finished, it will be open for free to nearby residents like us.”

“That’s quite good,” said Valda.

A few children started discussing whether they could swim or not. Mick and Simon can swim, while Jasper and William cannot swim yet.

Grace said, “It’s necessary to learn how to swim, after all, it’s a survival skill.”

“Yes, the younger you learn, the better. Sometimes it’s not easy to learn when you grow up. I’m a negative example,” Valda said.

“Valda, you can’t swim?” Grace asked.

“Well, when I first started working, I wanted to learn, but I couldn’t even after splashing around in the pool for a long time,” Valda said. Camille tried to teach her for a long time, but it ended in failure.

“Then let me teach you next time,” Brian said.

“You’ll teach me?” Valda blinked, and suddenly imagined Brian in swimming trunks...then her face couldn’t help but turn red.

“Auntie Valda, why is your face so red?” Jasper asked, staring at the blush on Valda’s face with his focused eyes.

As soon as he spoke, everyone’s gaze focused on Valda’s face, and her face became even redder.

herself with her hand next to her face.

What’s wrong with her? What is she even thinking about?

At this moment, on the other side of the Barlow House, Whitney is wearing clothes similar to those Grace wore before leaving today and applying makeup that resembles Grace's usual look.

Whitney's hairstyle, clothing, and makeup were all very similar to Grace's. In addition, Whitney had previously intentionally imitated Grace. Therefore, when she appeared at the Barlow House's doorstep, she did not arouse suspicion from others.

The Barlow family's servants were simply surprised and asked, "Mrs. Reed, how come you came back alone?"

"After I went out today, I noticed a slight cough, so I came back on my own and let Jason continue to play with the children," Whitney imitated Grace's tone and deliberately coughed a few times. This way, even though her voice was different, it wouldn't arouse suspicion. "By the way, how is Jasmine doing now?"

"Miss Jasmine just drank milk and has fallen asleep now," replied the servant.

"Take me to see Jasmine, I really miss her today," said Whitney.

She didn't actually know which room Jasmine Reed was in because the high-powered telescope could only show some of the Barlow family's surroundings.

Fortunately, the servant didn't ask any more questions and instead followed the instructions, bringing Whitney to a room where Jasmine was peacefully sleeping in her crib. There was also a nanny watching over her.

"You go out first and take a rest. I want to take care of Jasmine by myself for a while. I'll call you if I need anything," said Whitney.

"Yes." The nanny responded and left the room.

Chapter 3045

In the room, there are only two people left: Whitney and Jasmine.

Whitney took out a small bottle of liquid from her body and then a piece of cloth. She carefully sprinkled the liquid on the cloth and covered the baby's mouth and nose with it.

The little baby seems to be feeling uncomfortable. Their eyes are closed, but their mouth opened and they made a couple of "uhh" and "ahh" sounds before going silent again.

Whitney finally put down the handkerchief in her hand.

The handkerchief contains a strong anesthetic. Once the little one is sedated, she can leave with her child later without arousing suspicion.

Whitney quickly opened a foldable backpack that she had secretly brought in, put the child inside, and then carried the backpack on her back. She walked out of the room and quickly headed towards the villa outside.

At the same time, he also called Phoebe, but after thinking for a moment, he hung up without saying anything.

This is their secret code between her and Phoebe, telling Phoebe to wait for her outside the Barlow House with the car.

As she walked along, even though she encountered some of the Barlow family's servants, they only assumed she was Grace, a distinguished guest of the Barlow family. Even though she was carrying a large backpack, which was a bit unusual, no one approached her to ask any questions.

As she approached the gate, the guard stationed there looked at her and asked, "Mrs. Reed, why are you out again? And what's in the bag you're carrying on your back?"

"I...I'm coughing and feeling a bit uncomfortable. I think I should go to the hospital to get checked. I've packed some food and water in this bag, so I won't get hungry at the hospital. My car is already outside, so I'll leave now," Whitney said, and hurriedly ran out the door.

Phoebe's car is already outside, but at this moment, Whitney caught a glimpse of a car driving not far away from them.

This car... She has been observing it for the past few days, so she knows it's Philip's car!

Philip is back!

With a start, Whitney quickened her pace and ran to the side of the car. She opened the car door and swiftly got inside.

Inside the car, Phoebe was sitting in the driver's seat. As soon as she saw Whitney getting in, she started the car and drove away from the Barlow family mansion.

Two cars passed each other closely.

Philip parked his car outside the Barlow family mansion and rolled down the window to ask the security guard at the gate, "Was that Mrs. Reed who just left a moment ago?"

"Yes," the security guard replied, "Mrs. Reed wasn't feeling well today, so she came back alone. She only stayed for a short while before leaving again with a big bag. She said she was going to see a doctor and it seemed like she had packed some food and water in the bag. It was quite heavy, but I don't understand why she would need so much food if she was just going to see a doctor."

The security guard muttered, but Philip furrowed his brow, feeling like something was not quite right.

her makeup and hair to imitate Grace. At first glance, it's easy to mistake them for each other.

Could it be that the person who took Jasmine from the Barlow family is Whitney?!

Chapter 3046

When Philip returned to the mansion, a sudden thought crossed his mind. He remembered looking at "Grace" through the car window earlier, and it seemed like she had also noticed his car. He saw a hint of panic on her face.

Nervous?

What's there to be so flustered about?

The more he thought about it, the more uneasy Philip felt. He took out his phone and dialed Jason's number directly.

He hadn't even spoken yet when he heard a woman's voice on the other end of the phone asking, "Jason, who's calling?"

Is that...Grace?!

Although the voice is a bit distant and unclear through the phone, the only person who would shout "Jason, Jason" is Grace!

If Grace is currently with Jason, then what was the deal with the "Grace" who was alone earlier?!

As Philip thought about it, he suddenly asked urgently, "Jason, was Grace with you the whole time and didn't go back to the Barlow family?"

Jason was taken aback, then said, "Yes, she's been with me all along. What happened?"

"Just now, a 'Grace' came to the Barlow family, but she quickly left with a big package. When she left, I happened to be returning to the Barlow family in my car and only caught a glimpse of her from the side. She looked a lot like Grace," Philip said.

After a moment of silence, Jason suddenly asked, "Where is Jasmine now?"

"Jasmine should still be..." Philip's words trailed off as he suddenly realized something. Then, as if he had just reacted, he ran towards the room where Jasmine was.

He quickly opened the door, but the room was empty. The baby crib that should have had a baby in it was empty too.

Philip took a deep breath and on the other end of the phone, Jason seemed to sense something and asked, "What's going on? Did Jasmine disappear?"

"Yes, I'm sending people to find her and track down the car from earlier!" Philip said. He couldn't believe someone had the audacity to come to the Barlow family and take their child.

“We’ll be right back!” Jason said quickly. “Besides sending people to track the car, gather all the servants who have seen that woman in the house and see if they know anything.”

“I understand,” Philip said.

After the call ended, Philip immediately ordered his subordinates to act, and the entire Barlow family was suddenly on high alert.

On the other side, after finishing the call, Jason instructed the boatman to dock the boat.

Grace was standing nearby and although she didn’t hear what Philip was saying, she had a feeling that something might have happened to their youngest daughter, Jasmine. She quickly turned to Jason and asked, “Jason, what happened to Jasmine? Is everything okay?”

Jason repeated what Philip had said on the phone.

Grace was stunned when she heard it, her face filled with anxiety and unease.

How could this happen? She was still with the Barlow family, but somehow she was taken away by a woman who looks very similar to her?!

Even the servants of the Barlow family mistook it!

When Valda heard about the woman who looked a lot like Grace, she suddenly pictured a woman in her mind – Whitney!

Whitney looks very similar to Grace, and she intentionally styles her makeup and hair to imitate Grace. At first glance, it’s easy to mistake them for each other.

Could it be that the person who took Jasmine from the Barlow family is Whitney?!

Chapter 3047

Valda turned to look at Brian, but noticed a hint of suspicion in his furrowed brow and eyes.

Clearly, Brian had also guessed something.

"The Barlow family should have surveillance, right? Send me the footage of the woman I was with," Brian said to Jason after they got off the boat.

Jason looked up. "Do you have an idea?"

"I want to know if it's the person I know!" Brian said, his eyes flashing with anger.

If it was her, then Whitney deserved to be punished!

Jason called Philip and soon received a clip of the woman's surveillance footage.

Brian and Valda watched the video and quickly recognized the person in it – it was indeed Whitney!

"It really is her!" Brian gritted his teeth.

"Who is she?" Jason asked.

"I saved a woman while I was abroad. She came to Emerald City recently, but I sent her back abroad not long ago. I just didn't expect her to do something like this!" said Brian.

At this moment, he only regrets being kind to Whitney before!

If he hadn't saved Whitney abroad in the first place, this wouldn't have happened now!

Jasper and Mick are very worried about their sister, especially Jasper who is almost in tears. They are asking their sister directly if she has been kidnapped and if they will ever see her again.

"Daddy will definitely find your little sister!" Jason comforted his daughter.

"Really?" Jasper said with red eyes.

"Seriously, when has Dad ever lied to you?" Jason said. If the other person dared to have any ideas about his daughter, they could forget about living peacefully for the rest of their life!

Although William didn't feel much towards the little baby, he still felt a sense of sadness when he looked at Jasper's red eyes.

"I will also help you find your sister," William said to Jasper.

“I can do it too!” said Simon. “My dad knows a lot of people, I’ll ask him to help us find it together!”

By the time the group returned to the Barlow family, there were already many police officers present. The servants who had contact with Whitney were also lined up and being questioned by the police.

When William saw Jason and Grace, he looked guilty and said, “I’m sorry, I never thought something like this would happen! Don’t worry, as long as they haven’t left Deer Capital, even if I have to turn the whole place upside down, I will find Jasmine.”

Grace is currently forcing herself to hold her body up, and if it weren’t for the children present, she would probably have already burst into tears.

But because she was afraid that her emotions would make the children more anxious, she almost exhausted all her strength to restrain her tears.

Four children were taken to a room on the second floor and looked after by the servants, while the adults stayed in the hall on the first floor and continued to cooperate with the police, trying to figure out how to find Jasmine.

Until this moment, the tears that Grace had been holding back finally surged out of her eyes.

Chapter 3048

Jasmine was so young that someone took her away, and to make matters worse, she was a premature baby! Premature babies are already weaker than full-term babies, and we don’t even know what the person who took Jasmine away wants to do with her!

And the thought of her carefully protected daughter being stuffed into a large backpack and carried out by Whitney without any crying from the baby made her even more uneasy.

I am afraid that my daughter may have encountered some unfortunate event!

Jason and Philip are both using their connections and resources to search the entire city for Whitney.

And Brian naturally began to use his network of connections at Deer Capital to search for the child.

For him, the guilt in his heart is far greater than Philip's, because Whitney is the person he saved.

In the evening, the police found a new lead that someone had helped Whitney with the kidnapping. In fact, a few days ago, Whitney had rented a house near the Barlow family with that person to observe their situation.

When Brian caught sight of the figures renting the house with Whitney, he was suddenly startled.

That is... Phoebe!

Phoebe was actually the one who conspired with Whitney this time!

In an instant, Brian's body trembled slightly as he realized that both Phoebe and Whitney, the two women behind this plan, were somehow connected to him!

Could it be...

At this moment, Jason also recognized Phoebe, after all, she used to be part of their circle.

Jason knew that Phoebe had always had a crush on Brian, and it was because of him that the Cross family recently went bankrupt.

Jason looked towards Brian.

Brian looked deeply guilty, "I'm sorry, I didn't think that the two of them would get together. I will do everything in my power to find Jasmine, I will....."

"Find it. What if you can't find it? Brian, what responsibility can you take for my daughter?" Jason said in a cold voice.

"I..." Brian trailed off, speechless.

"Jason, this matter has nothing to do with Brian. Don't take it out on her. Right now... the most important thing is to find Jasmine..." Grace said tearfully.

"Is that so?" Jason hugged his wife, looking at Brian, and said,

"It's nonsense."

Brian's face turned pale, but he couldn't say anything to refute it.

Yes, how could it be irrelevant?

The Cross family is the one he caused to go bankrupt, and Whitney is the one he rescued while abroad.

And both of these women know that Grace is the woman he loves. They secretly took Grace's child away, and he is inextricably linked to them!

Brian suddenly stood up and walked towards the outside of the house. He couldn't bear to stay inside and watch Grace's tear-streaked face any longer. It made him feel suffocated and unable to breathe.

After Brian left the room, Valda quickly followed him outside. She saw him walk to the wall and then fiercely pound it with his hand.

Chapter 3049

Valda took a deep breath and quickly stepped forward, grabbing Brian's hand. "What are you doing?!" she exclaimed.

The knuckles of the hand that hit the wall are now red.

"It's me, all my fault! It's because of me that Jasmine was taken away!" Brian murmured, his phoenix eyes filled with pain.

"No, don't think like that. It's because they have malicious intentions that they would do something like this!" Valda said urgently.

"How could I not think this way! If I didn't love Grace, how could they possibly target Grace's child? It's because I didn't handle their affairs properly in the first place, that's why Grace is now suffering and Jasmine is in pain. It's me, everything is my fault!" Brian said hoarsely.

Valda's heart felt a sharp pain, he loved Grace.

He is very aware of this, and Phoebe and Whitney are also very aware of it.

So, are they trying to get revenge on Brian by choosing to kidnap Grace's little daughter?!

She has been ignoring the fact that Brian loves Grace, but this event is now mocking her ignorance.

Right now, Brian, Grace, and Jason are feeling more pain than Valda's own pain.

Especially Brian, who loves Grace so much. Now that Grace has gone through so much trouble to give birth to their child, only to have the baby taken away secretly because of his connection, his feelings can be imagined.

Valda held Brian, suppressing her own pain, "It's not your fault. Don't blame yourself for everything, just like you told me when my parents died, it wasn't my fault, it's the same thing."

Brian leaned on Valda's shoulder, like a tired person who had almost lost his strength, needing to rely on the woman in front of him to continue struggling!

"But, Valda... if... if something really happens to Jasmine, I won't be able to forgive myself." Brian murmured.

Valda's hand gently stroked his back, "It won't happen. Jasmine will be fine. Whitney and Phoebe probably have other motives, maybe they will demand a ransom or something. After all, if they took such a big risk and didn't get any benefit, they would be foolish, right?"

Valda analyzed, "Moreover, with the police and the Reed family and the Barlow family's people, it shouldn't be difficult to find them in Deer Capital."

"But if something happens to Jasmine..."

"Jasmine won't have any accidents. If they want to benefit, they won't let anything happen to Jasmine. If something happens to Jasmine, they won't benefit, right?" Valda comforted.

Although sometimes she herself was unsure, now she could only desperately say everything positively. Otherwise, she was afraid that the man in her arms would really collapse!

"Really?" Brian asked in a hoarse voice.

"Really, Brian, believe me or not, my intuition is very accurate. My intuition is telling me that Jasmine will be fine!" she said.

He slowly lifted his head and looked at her with his dark phoenix eyes. But at this moment, his eyes seemed to be covered with a layer of mist, almost being overwhelmed by pain, self-blame, and guilt.

"Believe me, Jasmine will be fine!" Valda reiterated.

He stared at her blankly, always thinking that he was much stronger than her and that he was the one she relied on.

But at this moment, he realized that she was the truly strong one, and that she had become his support!

Chapter 3050

“Yes, she’ll be fine. She definitely won’t have any problems,” he said softly, as if he wanted to convince himself with those words.

In the evening, George rushed over to the Barlow family’s place after receiving a call from his son.

The Gregory family has a significant local network. Having them help in finding someone is definitely a good thing.

For George, he wants to contribute to this matter as a way of repaying Grace and the others for helping Amber before. It could also be to make himself feel better.

Just Phoebe and Whitney, they disappeared as if out of thin air.

Phoebe’s parents were also sent abroad by her earlier.

In other words, they have lost all leads at this point.

Two mothers with one child need to hide in a city, which is an easy task.

As time passes by, people are becoming more and more anxious.

The longer the time drags on, the more disadvantageous it is for the hostages.

The likelihood of Jasmine getting into trouble is continuously increasing.

Over the past few days, everyone has not been sleeping well and has been anxiously waiting for news. Especially Grace, who only sleeps for one or two hours a day. Even during this short period of time, she falls asleep and wakes up suddenly.

“Jasmine!” Once again, Grace woke up from a nightmare, and the light that met her eyes told her that it was just a bad dream.

But that dream felt so real, so real that it scared her immensely!

Two arms wrapped around her and pulled her into an embrace.

“Don’t be afraid, nothing happened.”

“So... Jasmine still hasn’t been found, right?” Grace murmured.

“No news means that Jasmine is still safe, and there won’t be no news forever. We have already coordinated with the police and will increase the search efforts. The police will also use advanced technology, so those two women cannot escape! It won’t be long before Jasmine is found.”

Grace’s emotions gradually calmed down. “What about Jasper and the others?” she asked.

“They are fine, just very worried about you and Jasmine.”

“I... will go check on them,” Grace said, forcing herself to sit up. As a mother, she didn’t want her children to feel scared and anxious, even if she herself was feeling the same way.

“They are already asleep now. You can go check on them when they wake up. For now, you should rest well,” said Jason.

But Grace couldn’t fall asleep again!

At that moment, there was a sudden knocking sound on the door. Shortly after, Philip burst into the room and said, “Phoebe called!”

As soon as these words were spoken, Jason and Grace were immediately startled. They hurriedly followed Philip to the living room, only to find Valda holding her phone and talking to Phoebe on the other end.
